ized. Our enemies will warn the Populists against association with the Democrats, and with unstinted praise commend those who are credited with "putting principle above office." The Republican party will gladly leave the Populists in possession of all the principles, so long as the Republicans are permitted to hold all the offices, because political principles are of no service to the public until they are enforced, through the legislative, executive and judicial departments of the government. The Silver Republicans will be asked to listen to the stern song of international bimetallists, and warned against the contaminating influence of both Democrats and Populists. As an ounce of prevention is said to be worth a pound of cure, so a dollar spent in separating the reform forces will be more useful than sixteen dollars spent in an attempt to overcome their united strength.

In great crises the patriotism of the American people always rises sufficient for any emergency. An emergency is now upon us; it will require all the intelligence and patriotism of the people to rescue the government from the hands of a party which has become the defender and abettor of every form of political vice. In such a crisis there is no time to discuss the ultimate effect of co-operation upon any particular party. We may rest assured that the people will bestow honor where honor is due, and that party which shows the greatest devotion to the welfare of the people will, in the end, receive due credit for every laudable endeavor.

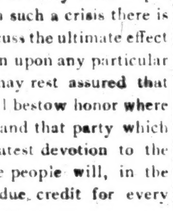
Fourth District Republican Convention.

The Republicans of the Fourth Alabama district met at Calera Tuesday. Two separate conventions were held by the Aldrich and Wilson wings of the party. Both conventions nominated Aldrich for re-election to congress. The two wings harmonized and chose a new executive committee. They reaffirmed the St. Louis platform, endorsed McKinley and declared for Cuban independence.

PUBLISH MY LETTER

So That Women May Know Where to Find Relief.

Such is the request of Mrs. L. M. Haynes, Springfield, Mo. (General delivery). A part of Mrs. Haynes' letter reads as follows: "I wrote to you in May, 1897; I was about to give it up, for I had the best four doctors in the city and they could not cure me. My disease was female weakness, had been troubled with it for five years. Four and a half bottles of Pe-ru-na cured me. I hope all suffering women will take Pe-ru-na. I know it will cure others also. I cannot praise Pe-ru-na enough."



Bear in mind that female weakness is pelvic catarrh, to which women are peculiarly liable, and from which few are entirely exempt. Pe-ru-na cures catarrh wherever located. "Health and Beauty," a book devoted to the phase of catarrh peculiar to women, will be sent free to any woman by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

The Surprise of All.

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones and Son, Cawden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with La Grippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into Hasty Consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. Kings New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottle at J. S. Johnsons Drug Store.

CLANTON, - ALABAMA.

The Uganda Railway has now advanced seventy miles into the interior of Africa. A missionary writes that bicycles are seen every day in the streets of Uganda, and that the missionary rode on his wheel all the way from the coast to Mengo—a three weeks' trip.

The Maine hunters who have shot at men under the impression that they were deer have proved excellent marksmen this season. Though none of the human targets was nearer than 200 yards, and some fully 1000 yards away, of the eighteen shot at fourteen have either fallen dead or died within a few minutes, and of the wounded two will be cripples for life.

In many places agricultural fairs have been diverted from their legitimate purposes and turned into mere circus combinations, says Farm and Fireside. In some places the evils connected with the latter have grown to be intolerable. Fakirs work all sorts of fradulent schemes, disreputable showmen give exhibitions that are grossly immoral, and gamblers run swindling games openly. Such things eventually kill the fair and drive the agricultural society out of existence.

Professor Gates, of the Smithsonian Institution, claims that human viciousness is caused by poisons in the cells of the brain, and that it can be eradicated by medical treatment. Since the removal of a human stomach, without harm to its owner, we are prepared to believe anything, but viciousness is so superabundant throughout the world that we cannot think the medical fraternity will ever be equal to its extermination, even though Professor Gates's theory may be true.

essor Schooling, in a paper before the statistical society, of London, gives for the eight principal causes of insanity, the following percentage of every one hundred lunatics: Drink, thirty-three and six one-hundredths; domestic troubles, fifteen and one one-hundredth; mental anxiety, thirteen and one one-hundredth; old age, thirteen and two one-hundredths; adverse circumstances, thirteen; accidents, six and five one-hundredths; religious excitement, four one-hundredths; love affairs, one and two one-hundredths.

With respect to the number of fatalities charged to suicide during the year 1897, the Chicago Tribune finds that not less than 6500 persons killed themselves during that period of time. As is usually the case, quite a large percentage of these victims were physicians; but the list also includes lawyers, actors, editors, business men and clergymen. The various causes assigned by investigating authorities for these suicides are given in the following table: Despondency, 2889; insanity, 467; liquor, 270; ill health, 356; domestic infelicity, 301; disappointed love, 271; business losses, 124, and unknown, 1922. Of the total number of suicides above indicated, 2384 were brought about by taking poison, 2138 by gun or pistol shots, 870 by hanging, 596 by drowning and 537 by throat cutting. As to the remaining cases there can be no classification made. Some of the parties met death in front of locomotives, others by hurling themselves from high altitudes and others by blowing themselves up with dynamite.

According to a recent London estimate only about 25,000 American tourists visited the English capital in the course of the past season, and this is regarded as a very poor catch. The jubilee was a great disappointment as an attraction for cousins from over the water. It was expected to bring them over in flocks, all eager to spend money, but it seems to have had a deterrent effect, on the whole, and shop keepers and hotel keepers suffered rather than profited by the festivities. Still, even 25,000 Americans are very much better than none, and the calculations as to how much better are decidedly interesting. The average tourist from "the States," we are told, scatters about $1000 while making a three months' trip in Europe. This, multiplied by 25,000, makes $25,000,000, and of that amount, it is believed, London received at least two-fifths. Paris gets more American money than London does, not because more Americans go there, but because the French capital wins the trade of all the women, and this is both larger and more profitable than that of the men, to whose needs and tastes the London shops more especially cater.

Industrial and Scientific Society Meets at Birmingham.

At the annual meeting of the Alabama Industrial and Scientific Society, which met in Birmingham the past week, officers were elected as follows:

President—M. C. Wilson, of Florence.

Vice-Presidents—J. G. Mann, of Blocton; Chas. J. Geoghegan, of Birmingham; Jos. L. Squires, of Helena; Jas. H. Fitts, of Tuscaloosa, Jas. L. Montgomery, of Birmingham.

Treasurer—Henry M. McCalley, of Tuscaloosa.

Secretary—Eugene L. Smith, of Tuscaloosa.

Prof. McCalley, assistant state geologist, displayed geological maps just made of the Warrior coal fields, showing all the coal seams.

Dr. W. B. Phillips gave an exhaustive account of the operations now going on near Leeds by the Sloss Iron & Steel company to develop brown iron beds.

The secretary's report showed 42 members present out of 76.

Using Alabama Coal.

Alabama coal has made a stand in a direction that bids fair to yield great results. The steamer Detroit, which was in Mobile harbor during Mardi Gras, was coaled with Alabama coal, and it is ascertained that during the past few months a number of government vessels have been coaled with Alabama coal at Pensacola, Mobile and other points.

The point that has been established is this: The government has recognized from the tests of Alabama coal that were made several years ago, that the Pratt coal, for instance, is fully up to the standard demanded by the navy. This is a fact that the government has finally accepted, and the result is that, when other things are favorable, Alabama stands a fair chance to coal the government vessels when they are in southern waters.

To Manufacture Fine Goods.

The Tallassee Falls Manufacturing Company at Tallassee, have finished the foundation for thair first new 50,000-spindle mill, for the manufacture of fine goods. The building will be of granite, and the machinery run by water power.

The present Tallassee mills are working most favorably, with orders ahead for months to come, consuming about thirty-five bales a day, averaging 1,000 bales a month. When the new mill is completed the consumption will reach not less than 25,000 bales per annum. The mills in the Montgomery territory, consisting of Prattville, Tallassee, the People's and the Montgomery, including the Alabama Cordage Company, are now consuming about eighty-five bales of cotton daily.

Stills Raided.

Deputy Internal Revenue Collector W. C. Hanlin is out on another trip among the moonshiners. Friday morning he reported two raids. He destroyed twelve fermenters and twenty gallons of whisky near Brookwood, in Tuskaloosa county, and 200 gallons of beer and twenty gallons of whisky at another illicit plant in the same vicinity. The stills had been removed. Other raids have been reported as follows: Near Pevy, Randolph county, one forty-gallon copper still and a quantity of supplies. Near Forest Chapel, same county, one fifty-gallon still and supplies. Four miles south of Fruithurst, Cleburne county, one sixty gallon still and 900 gallons of beer.

Industrial School Suspends.

The Girls' Industrial School at Montevallo has been suspended till March 27th. This action was taken by President Reynolds after a consultation with the governor and faculty of the school, as the result of the smallpox scare of a few days ago.

Waylaid and Murdered.

Jeff D. Burgen, a wealthy young merchant of Pickensville, was waylaid and murdered Friday night. The weapon used was a shotgun, and the entire contents of one barrel was emptied into Mr. Burgen's breast. His assassin was so close upon him when he fired the shot that the clothes and the face of the deceased were very badly powder-burned. Mr. Burgen was on his way from his home in Pickensville to the residence of Mr. Ezell to make a friendly call, when he was shot, and members of Mr. Ezell's household saw the assassin when he ran away, but did not recognize him.

Postmasters were appointed Saturday for Alabama as follows: John C. Donaldson, Bright, Cullman county; A. T. Vaughan, Wheeler, Lawrence county.

COOSA VALLEY COLONY CO.

Important Emigration Company Organized at Piedmont.

A new emigration company has been organized to develop and put on sale the rich lands of North Alabama. Gen. Shelley, of Birmingham, is at the head of the company.

The headquarters are in Piedmont. Although the Piedmont lands are the only ones which will be advertised at the present time, the company intends to develop the rich lands which are to be found in so many parts of North Alabama. Steps have already been taken to establish agencies throughout the north and west and the Alabama lands will be thoroughly advertised.

The company claims to have an entirely new plan for the payment of money due on the tracts sold, and one that is different from any of the other colony companies. Land warrants are issued, valued at $50 each, which are payable at a rate of a dollar a month, the whole being paid in a trifle over four years. Of course, any number of warrants will be sold to one person. Purchasers of these warrants can select land equal to the face value of these warrants at any time after making the first payment and take immediate possession of land so selected.

Recinds Its Action.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the democratic party of Jefferson county, held in Birmingham Saturday, the following resolutions were adopted:

"Resolved, That the plan for holding the democratic primary and convention in this county, as recommended by the sub-committee appointed for that purpose at the meeting of this committee two weeks ago, be amended so as to have the six representatives of this county nominated by the county convention instead of the county primary.

"Resolved, That so much of the action of this committee which referred to the election by primary of representatives in the legislature at its meeting held two weeks ago, is hereby rescinded."

Colonies to be Established.

Mr. N. F. Thompson, secretary of the Johnstown, Pa., Board of Trade, who has been in Alabama for some time, returned to Pennsylvania Friday. Mr. Thompson states that the probabilities are that two colonies of Pennsylvania people will be established in Alabama before long. One of the proposed colonies will be situated in North Alabama and the other in South Alabama.

Col. A. K. McClure, the distinguished editor of the Philadelphia Times, will be the guest of the Commercial Club, of Birmingham, March 20th.

Tom Collins and Hugh Frazier have been indicted for murder in the first degree by the grand jury of Jefferson county, for the killing of J. L. Howell, at Bessemer, last December.

Mrs. Richard Eubank, living near Mountainboro, was eating supper and chatting pleasantly with her family last week, when she suddenly complained of a pain and fell over dead.

The grand jury of Lowndes county, after being in session for ten days, reported thirty-nine true bills. They recommended the repeal of the prohibition law, declaring it an utter failure and loss to the county.

The clothes of Frank, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Harper, of South Decatur, ignited from an open fireplace. The child was horribly burned and may not recover. The mother was severely burned in attempting to rescue the child.

W. C. Harris, Jr., one of the lessees of the O'Brien opera house in Birmingham, has shaken the dust of that city from his feet and his present whereabouts are unknown. Harris' departure is said to have taken place rather suddenly, due to circumstances that cannot be recorded in public print.

Death the Price of a Fortune.

It is said by the steamer from Alaska that several days ago two Canadian police marched into Skaguay with two sleds in tow, over which were strapped two dead men. They were frozen to death on the trail. They were returning Klondikers, and are reported to have had in their possession $160,000 in paper and gold dust.

Ex-President Cleveland has written a letter to the gold democratic party in Pennsylvania warning them to bestir themselves or free silver will control the next congress.

SOUTHERN PROGRESS.

The New Industries Reported in the South in a Week.

The demand for southern lumber, especially hardwoods, is good, the market is strong and every tendency toward higher prices, says The Chattanooga Tradesman in its weekly review. Stocks at the lumber centers are getting low. Interior movement is improving; export demand is, on the average, better, though something must be done to stiffen foreign prices, particularly on pine.

On the whole, the situation is satisfactory.

Southern iron masters would rather see an increased demand at present prices than an advance in price. Pennsylvania would prefer an increased price. Whatever change occurs at all soon, is more likely to be one that would meet the Birmingham wishes.

Somewhat increased consumption may be looked for soon, under normal conditions; but as to prices, the furnaces probably will have to be content with a firmer rather than a higher market.

Mill construction goes merrily on, but in a cool-headed, conservative way that promises much for the future. Cotton mill men, who are new to the Southern country, are moving slowly and making no mistakes.

Movements in cotton are very heavy. The Southern mills show greatly increased takings over last year.

The Charlotte, N. C., Bonded Warehouse company is a novelty in the cotton trade, and handles cotton much as the American Pig Iron Storage Warrant company handles pig iron. Fire insurance companies approve the risk and local banks consider the cotton warehouse gilt-edged security.

This system leaves control of the crop in the planter's hands.

The market continues steady, though a desire to sell has shaded prices slightly on some lines. The advance on wire and wire nails is in effect, and whether the manufacturers do or don't consolidate, they will evidently stay near enough together for a while, to maintain prices on such goods.

Generally speaking, the trade is not complaining. The jobbers and retailers of the South and Southwest report unusually active business for the season.

SPAINS REQUEST WITHDRAWN.

The Dons Back Down and "Consents" for Lee to Remain in Havana.

Spain has withdrawn her request for the recall of Consul-General Lee, and it is now believed that the incident is practically closed.

The withdrawal came Monday in the shape of an official communication from Minister Woodford. It is now stated that the request was never put in the shape of a demand, but that it was merely a suggestion on the part of Spain, and when she found that it would not be pleasantly received by this country she promptly receded.

It is learned that the Spanish objection to Consul-General Lee is based largely upon his sympathy with the Cubans and some of his utterances which have found their way into print.

It is understood that the Spaniards also take exceptions to the friendly relations and companionship existing between General Lee and correspondents of papers which have been decidedly unfriendly to Spain.

TO APPROPRIATE $50,000,000.

Resolution Introduced for Strengthening the National Defense.

Chairman Cannon, of the appropriations committee, Monday introduced in the house a bill "making appropriations for the national defense." It is as follows:

"That there is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury, not otherwise appropriated, for the national defense and for each and every purpose connected therewith, to be expended at the discretion of the president, and to remain available till June 30, 1899, $50,000,000."

It was referred to the committee on appropriations.

Mr. Cannon had an interview with the president Monday morning and at its conclusion went to the capitol and held a special meeting of the appropriations committee. After this meeting Mr. Cannon introduced the national defense bill in the house.

The Montgomery to Carry Supplies.

The navy department has announced that the cruiser Montgomery would relieve the dispatch boat Fern at Havana, and that the Fern would carry provisions and relief supplies to Matanzas and Sagua La Grande. This is understood to be a satisfactory arrangement to the Spanish government, and will relieve the incident of its irritating feature.

Railroad to the Yukon.

The Rothschilds will attempt to build a railroad to the Yukon in Alaska. Men are in the field and steps are now being taken to secure all the necessary rights and titles.

Killed His Cousin.

T. N. Sherman, a prominent farmer, was killed Monday by his cousin, Tom Sherman, at Athens, Tenn. The killing was the outcome of a family feud, which has existed for several years, and in which a number of Shermans have lost their lives.

At Ishpeming, Mich., John F. Armstrong, a mining man of considerable note, while temporarily insane, walked to one of the Lake Superior Mining company's shafts and jumped into the opening, falling 444 feet.

WAR IS NOW INEVITABLE.

An Unconfirmed Report That Lee Has Been Given His Passport.

FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS FOR DEFENSE

Will Be Appropriated by Congress. Negotiations in Progress to Buy Warships. Congress Will Uphold the President.

A special to the Age-Herald Monday night says:

The bill placing at the disposal of the president $50,000,000 as defense will be presented through the house and senate. The bill was introduced at the request of the president. In asking for it, the president told the members of congress, who he called into conference, that hostilities were unavoidable, and that it would be criminal longer to delay buying warships.

The head officials are in consultation tonight considering the various offers to sell ships. The decision has already been reported to buy from Brazil the Nethleroy, one of the greatest dynamite throwing ships in the world. Spain made an offer for this vessel, and it was at once offered to this government. The president has urged the greatest haste in this matter, for at any moment a declaration of war from Spain might prevent the delivery of a single ship.

A number of southern democrats waited on the president tonight and assured him that they would back him up in any stand he sees fit to take.

The president told one of the southern senators who was in conference with him today that if Spain declined to recognize Lee further, and ordered him out of Havana, that he would emphasize his confidence in him by detailing one of the largest battleships to conduct him to the shores of this country. Not only would Lee be escorted to this country with signal honors, but Woodford would be withdrawn from Madrid. Never in the history of this country, it is said at the state department, has a representative of this country received such an indorsement as that given to this old ex-confederate by the president.

The administration, of course, denies that a decision to send the supplies in the Fern is a backdown for this government in any way. The Fern is a warship, though carrying only one gun. It is the first ship decided upon to convey the supplies.

Report That Lee Has His Passports.

The Age-Herald received from its special correspondent at Key West Tuesday morning a bulletin saying a rumor was prevalent that Lee had been given his passport. Up to the hour of going to press it could not be confirmed.

To Acquire Foreign Ships.

Arrangements have been made to acquire several foreign ships and an option has been obtained from the Japanese government for two cruisers under construction in this country for that nation. A proposition is also under consideration by Secretary Long for putting a flying squadron in commission under Commodore W. S. Schley, the Arctic hero, the proposed fleet to be distinct from the North Atlantic squadron. In the war department, the chief work of the day has been toward enlisting 1,600 men for the two artillery regiments authorized by congress. A plan for the naval militia has also been outlined and the work on ships under repair has been pushed. These constitute the chief events of the day in the war and navy departments.

The administration is curious to know what effect Cannon's $50,000,000 provision will have upon Madrid, and the $50,000,000 is only an ante, said a member Monday night.

Replenishing the Asiatic Fleet.

The navy department is making preparations to replenish the supply of ammunition of the United States warships on the Asiatic station. To this end orders have been sent to the training ship Mohican, now at Mare Island, to carry the ammunition. She will carry thirty tons of ammunition for the China fleet and will start almost immediately.

Facts in Possession of Naval Board.

A dispatch from Havana says: The leading facts of the Maine disaster are all now in the possession of the naval board. The divers have continued their work during the absence of the board at Key West. They have discovered nothing to change the evidence gathered which show apparently that the explosion was external.

General Manager Metcalf, of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, met a committee appointed by the conductors engineers and firemen of the system in Louisville, and promised them that the 10 per cent cut in wages made in 1893 would be restored in the course of a few months.

Withdraws from the Senatorial Race.

United States Senator Mills, of Texas, has withdrawn from the race for re-election to the United States senate, which leaves the field clear to Governor C. A. Culberson. Mr. Mills gives as the principal reason for his withdrawal the recent action of the state executive committee, which made a stringent test for all persons desiring to participate in democratic primaries and conventions.

HARMONIOUS UNITY.

APPEAL FOR JOINT POLITICAL ACTION.

National Committees of the Populist, Democratic, and Free Silver Republican Parties Issue Addresses Urging Co-operation.

Following is the full text of the ap for harmony issued recently by Senator Butler and twenty-five other Populist senators and representatives
Representatives Jones and Towne of the free silver Democrats and Republicans simu taneously issued similar circulars to the members of their parties. The Populist appeal is as follows:

The conspiracy of gold and monopo is nearing its culmination. Every advance it has made during the last twenty-five years has been by adroit stealthy processes. These would have been impossible if it had not had the agents and confederates holding positions of public trust in the legis lative, executive and judicial branches of the government. Neither the bene ficiaries nor the tools of this conspira cy have any particular politics. In the last administration was Dem ocratic. The present administration is called Republican, but it has in variously practiced and defended the ruinous policies of its predecessors.
At length the selfish and brutal in terests behind this conspiracy deem themselves strong enough to dispense with the caution and duplicity hither to necessary to their success. The ad ministration boldly avows its indorse ment of their scheme against the lib erty and prosperity of the people.
Within a few weeks it has formulated and sent to congress a bill the leading purpose of which is, in the words of the secretary of the treasury: "To establish it. It is now boldly proposed to legalize what has been done in defiance of law and to use the power secured by false pretenses from long suffering and too trustful peo ple to put upon this infamous design the stamp of alleged popular authoriza tion."

In the pursuit of this purpose of committing the country more thor oughly to the gold standard, the plan of this administration, as of the last, is to retire the greenbacks and other non-interest bearing paper money of the government, to issue interest-bur dened gold bonds, and to increase the powers, privileges, and profits of na tional banks. The achievement would put over the duty of supplying the people's money, the very life-blood of business, to a selfish, heartless, and ir responsible foreign gold syndicate and its American agents and allies.

It must be remembered also that this foreign gold syndicate and its allies have, with the connivance if not the assistance of our government, captured and today control every instrument of power in the nation. In framing our constitution our patriotic fore fathers, with zealous care and with prophetic wisdom, provided that com merce should be regulated by congress.
This tremendous power has been basely surrendered by congress in favor of the gold trust and the banking ring. Money is the first great instrument of com merce; but the gold ring, not satisfied with controlling our financial system, has also captured the other instruments of commerce, including in its grasp the power to coin and issue our paper money. Thus the money power of the country having seized the instruments of commerce, has gained the power to disturb sections and individ competition, to breed speculation, and to create panics in the midst of plenty.
The concentration and maintenance of these industrial trusts have been made possible by conditions which gave them the power to create a few millionaires.
The inevitable result must be to com plete our government into an oligarchy of wealth.

In the accomplishment of this end those evil influences must, shackle opinion and muzzle discussion. They not only subsidize the press and at tempt to seat their well-paid attorneys in our legislative halls, on our benches of justice, and in all other departments of government; but wherever college faculties are susceptible to pretended generosity or inverted philanthropy they carefully maneuver for either ser

The divine right of kings is to b lionaires to run every thing. The people propose to run everything according to the Constitution, and for the general welfare.

The issue is clearly defined. It is the people against the usurpers. It is a contest between the producers of wealth, the toilers in every industrial system, bu sians, professional men, and all who are susceptible to the pen of our patriot Whittier, when he said:

> "Rise, for the day of prayer is come,
> Rise, for the day of action;
> Rise, every valiant heart and soul
> Into the work of satisfaction."

We do not ap peal to any party on partisan grounds. We arraign a system and de nounce a conspiracy. We condemn in dividuals and organizations that sup port this system and aid the conspira cy. A party that is the mouthpiece and agent of this conspiracy is just as dangerous under one name as under another.

In every campaign the gold syndi cate and all the allied trusts and mono polies combine. They select the con ventions they desire to control; they elect the candidates that they have se lected. Of course, they control them after they are elected. Therefore, those who are not their agents and who would not submit to their tyrannous spoliation should strenuously oppose the allied combination of gold and monopoly.

The only hope of the enemy is to di vide us. Therefore let us be more united and harmonious than ever, and further let us organize without delay a vigorous campaign in every state and congressional district, county and pre cinct.

There are but two sides to this mighty and portentous conflict. All of those of whatever party who favor the conspiracy of gold and monopoly, who favor industrial slavery, wide spread poverty and national de struction, should be on one side; and all those of whatever party who oppose this deadly design, who love truth and right, who love their country, who love their homes and firesides, and who believe in the sacred principles declared by Jefferson and reasserted by Jackson and Lincoln, should be on the other side. On this side we solidly stand. Then let us, maintaining at all times party integri ty, invite the harmonious co-operation of all seeking the same end. The om inous dangers threatening the institu tions of the republic make this the highest duty. The line of battle is clearly drawn. We cannot avoid the conflict if we would. Therefore let us appeal to all citizens and to all organi zations and parties that oppose this conspiracy that oppose a government of the trusts, by the trusts, and for the trusts, that oppose and will not submit to the despotism of sordid wealth—to come to the rescue. Patriotism and manhood are not dead. A large part of the American people realize the wrongs and comprehend the dangers, and are ready and anxious to fight this system to the end. The spirit of '76 is abroad in the land and the friends of liberty everywhere are awaiting the patriotic call to fight a common battle against a common foe. Let this be done and we can crush every traitor as did the men of the American revolu tion; let this be done and we shall drive every Tory to ignominious de feat. Let this be done and we shall re establish what is almost overthrown:
A government of the people, by the people and for the people.

"Getting Out of Debt."

Perhaps the most attractive feature of the "sound" money theory is the proposal to "get this country out of debt."

How do the able financiers of the Republican party propose to get this nation out of debt? Simply by redeeming all of its non-interest-bearing notes with interest-bearing obligations. The theory is beautiful in its ingenious simplicity.

What would be thought of the business ability of a merchant who, having creditors perfectly satisfied with his notes of hand, bearing no interest, should say: "Gentlemen, it is true you are finding no fault with my notes, and are indeed anxious to get more of them, although they bear no interest, yet I have resolved to call all of those notes in and to give you interest-bearing paper, which I propose to redeem, or which my children or great grandchildren will redeem in gold?"

Such a course of conduct would be considered foolish, unnecessary and unbusinesslike. But it is exactly such a course as that which is advocated by the gold clique, who wish to retire government paper by refunding it in interest-bearing gold bonds.

Every dollar of United States money is just as good for all purposes in this country as every other dollar, and 100 cents in gold will buy no more than 100 cents in silver, or in paper. Who is it, then who wants gold? The man who deals in money alone, the gold speculator, the exporter and the bondholder.

These are the men who have evolved the brilliant theory of paying a debt by making it larger.—Chicago Dispatch.

A Great Revulsion of Sentiment.

The great bulk of the men employed by the Wheeling Iron and Steel company at Benwood, W. Va., are Republicans, as is the case in most of the Wheeling district iron works. Pictures of President McKinley and cartoons representing the opening of the mills as against the opening of the mills were numerous about the plant in the '96 campaign. Since then the men's wages have been cut twice and another cut is pending. During a meeting in the big machine shop recently some of the men in speaking referred to a picture of President McKinley and spoke smilingly of returned prosperity. Instantly the big picture was pulled down, torn to shreds and trampled under foot amid a round of cheers.

WEALTH AND WAGES.

HOW RICHES DO NOT REACH THE WORKERS.

As the Wealth of the Monopolistic Employers Increases the Wages of Their Employes Fail to Rise—Life's Labor Lost.

With monopolistic control of the natural sources of wealth, the means of transportation and communication, the medium of exchange and the markets is it any wonder that the trusts which thus command production and exchange should rapidly grow rich and that those who have only their labor to sell should, under such system, find themselves becoming poorer and poorer? Prof. Deleon makes the actual situation clear in the following dialogue:

Brother Jonathan looks bright and happy, and rubs his hands.

Uncle Sam—What bit of good luck has fallen to you?

B. J.—I am going to Hawaii.

U. S.—Is it that that makes you so happy?

B. J.—Yes; I can't help feeling happy. Here I've been these last seven months without work. That in itself is bad enough. But it wouldn't be so bad if before that I had had good wages, and had been able to lay by something. It happens, though, that before that my wages were so low that I couldn't get along with them, and ran in debt. On top of that I was laid off. Pretty tough, I tell ye. I never went through such hard days.

U. S.—But what is it that makes you happy?

B. J.—Now after all this suffering I am going to have good times.

U. S.—Where? How? When?

B. J.—Where? In Hawaii; when? when I get there; how? because I can't miss good wages.

U. S.—Me seems you go too fast. Where have you got that certainty from?

B. J.—Don't you know that President Dole of Hawaii is in the country now?

U. S.—I do.

B. J.—And haven't you read what he said to a labor reporter in Washington?

U. S.—No; I haven't. Life is short; to spend that shortness in reading tomfoolery were too long.

B. J. (throws his arms up, tips his hat back, and looks wild generally)—Now, there you have it again. Here comes a good man, with good news to the workingmen, and you call that tomfoolery. Oh——

U. S.—Give us a rest with your whimperings, and let's see what that "good news to the workingmen" is.

B. J.—I have learned the passage by heart; so well did I like it; I can give it to you literally.

U. S.—Do, by all means.

B. J.—He said: "The climate is sub-tropical; that makes the conditions of life easy; then also the planters are rich and growing richer. Taking these two things into consideration there is nothing to prevent white labor from finding at all times profitable employment, work and high wages." There, now!

U. S. raps with his knuckles on B. J.'s forehead.

B. J.—What are you doing?

U. S. (raps again)—Hollow! hollow!

B. J.—What are you at?

U. S.—Poor Jonathan! Because Hawaii has a "sub-tropical climate," and because the planters are rich, therefore you believe you are there sure of work and of high wages?

B. J.—Why not?

U. S.—Man alive, you don't need to go to Hawaii for a sub-tropical climate or for rich employers; we have both right here. Isn't Louisiana's climate sub-tropical enough for you?

B. J.—Well, it is sub-tropical.

U. S.—And has labor there steady and good employment?

B. J.—Darn it, no; it is just the low wages paid down there that our bosses are now giving as a ground for lowering ours up here.

U. S.—Well said. And are the bosses here and in the sub-tropical South not every bit as rich as the bosses in Hawaii?

B. J.—Guess they are richer.

U. S.—And yet that does not insure permanent work or good wages, does it?

B. J. falls into a brown study.

U. S.—Now, Jonathan, you have been working almost a life-time, and still you have not yet got hold of the lesson that your daily experience teaches on wages. You have not yet learned that the wages of the workingmen do not depend upon the wealth of their employer, in so far that their wages do not rise with his wealth, but that, on the contrary, the only relation that exists between them is that the richer the employer the poorer the workingman.

B. J.—What?

U. S.—Are you better off than twenty years ago?

B. J.—I'm worse off; but——

U. S.—Is your boss richer or poorer?

B. J.—Immensely richer.

U. S.—There you have it. Now the matter is this wise in a nutshell. The wages of the workingman don't depend upon the wealth of the boss or on the climate. The wages of the workingmen are the price of his labor; the price of all merchandise depends upon the supply and the demand; the more workers there are in a place the larger is the supply, and the lower are the wages. When President Dole tries to get you and other gudgeons to go to Hawaii, he does so to raise the supply of labor there and thus lower the wages. If he can get enough such gulls as you to go there you will have the chance to run about without work and the enjoyment of Hawaii's sub-tropical climate as the only thing to live on.

Let us hope Brother Jonathan will stay at home and use his ballot instead of going to Hawaii where all who are not property owners are disfranchised.

CURRENT NOTES.

The house by a vote of 143 to 112 unseated Mr. Plowman (Alabama), and gave the seat to Mr. Aldrich. This was the first contested election case decided by the present house against the sitting member.

Abraham Lincoln said: "Thank God we have a system of labor where there can be a strike. Whatever the pressure, there is a point at which the workingman may stop." Which is where President Lincoln differed from the federal courts of today.

An association has been formed in New York city for the public control of franchises, incorporated under the laws of the state. The object of the association is set forth in its platform as follows: 1. All franchises which depend upon exclusive rights in public property should be granted only for public purposes and for limited periods, and should be made to contribute from their value, created by the community, their full share of public expenses, thus relieving personal property, buildings and other improvements from the increasing burden of taxes. 2. Monopoly, the result of special privilege, rather than capital or production, which are the creation of individual effort, should be the primary source of public revenue. 3. The government must control natural monopolies (those public services which from their nature, do not admit of competition), otherwise these monopolies will control the government. 4. Such public services as are not natural monopolies should be preserved to free and open competition. This is the single tax platform in brief.

When the people govern and plutocracy has been driven from power and banished, Populism will have fulfilled its mission.

We like high wheat prices as well as the Republicans; better, probably, as Populists have more wheat to sell than Republicans. That is why we all shall object to the low price at which wheat will sell next fall, and every succeeding fall when there are no great crop failures, as long as we suffer from the single gold standard.

In the meantime, 4-cent cotton for the farmers of the south, together with high prices for trust-produced cotton fabrics and reduced wages for the cotton mill operatives, are fair samples of the workings of the present financial policy. There will have to be a change in this policy before many years have passed.

Why Wait Ye?

I.

I looked across the countless gone,
And saw upon the fading shores of time
The wrecks of things that were. I saw a dawn—
A vision of a coming, better clime—
Break on those shores. I saw arise sublime,
Above those wrecks, the dream of the to be.
I saw, from its long career of crime,
The human race, still struggling to be free,
Strive up into thy light, divinest liberty.

II.

I saw the present; and the insolent few
Ruling the millions with a rod of gold,
I saw the millions toiling 'neath the blue,
Kissing the rod that smote them; wealth untold Piling up, though it crushed them; till they sold
Their rights, their very souls, for leave to toil;
Until I cried, "My God, must we behold
This thing forever? Hast for these no smile?
And for Thy poor on earth waits there no better isle?"

III.

O, ye who wet your crust with sweat and tears;
O, ye, who toil and suffer and are strong,
Ye unto whom the thorny side appears
Along life's pathway; ye who have borne wrong,
Piled on by tyrant hands, and suffered long;
Ye toilers of the earth, to you I speak,
To you whose names have scarce appeared in song,
As though too vile; why wait ye? Rise and break
The chains that round you clank and bind and gall. Awake!

Silver Standard and Prosperity.

El Mundo, of the City of Mexico says, reviewing Mr. Bryan's article on Mexico and its present condition: "Mr Bryan has done justice to the financial work of the government of Mexico. The credit and firmness of the administration, together with the prodigious vitality of the country, have placed us in a very advantageous position among the nations which are marching unhampered to their complete development." The article concludes by emphasizing the determination of Mexico to adhere to the silver standard, "which is bringing prosperity to the country."

TEMPERANCE TOPICS.

NOTES OF INTEREST TO THE ANTI-LIQUOR LEAGUERS.

A Temperance Story Told by a Tramp Whose Manhood Had Been Stolen by the Burning Glass—The Cheek of a Liquor Journal.

Sorrow.

O Thou who hast beneath Thy hand
The dark foundations of the land—
The motion of whose ordered thought
An instant universe hath wrought—

Who hast within Thine equal heed
The rolling sun, the ripening seed,
The azure of the speedwell's eye,
The vast solemnities of sky—

Who hear'st no less the feeble note
Of one small bird's awakening throat,
That the unnamed, tremendous chord
Arcturus sounds before his Lord—

More sweet to Thee than all acclaim
Of storm and ocean, stars and flame,
In favor more before Thy face
Than pageantry of time and space,

The worship and the service be
Of him thou madest most like Thee—
Who in his nostrils hath Thy breath
Whose spirit is the lord of death!

—Charles G. D. Roberts.

A Temperance Story.

It was growing late. The tide of humanity that earlier in the evening had ebbed and flowed through the streets on the great city had swept onward, leaving the strange and almost appalling sense of desolation that comes when the noises of the town are hushed. The elecfric light flared unnoticed on the corners; street cars passed at further intervals, and now and then a night worker hurried by, his footsteps ringing out loud and clear in the stillness. In front of a saloon, whose lights shone out bright and ruddy across the pavement, stood a tramp, unshorn, ragged, dirty, disgusting. He watched with envious eyes the men who passed in and out through the swinging doors, and then he turned his eyes toward two young fellows in evening dress who were coming down the street toward him. They had been drinking deeply, and they stopped before the saloon door and looked curiously at him.

"By jove," said one; "think of having a thirst like that, and not the price of an extinguisher in your pocket! Beats old Tantalus all to pieces, eh? Liquor, liquor everywhere, and not a drop to drink."

He ran his hand into his pocket and proferred the tramp a dime, but before it could be accepted the other young fellow interposed.

"Say," he said, "let's do the good Samaritan, and set Hobo up to a good drink."

The other hilariously assented, and the tramp slouched into the saloon at the heels of the two gilded youths. The barkeeper set before them glasses of liquors, and with a hand that shook the tramp poured out a brimming glass and raised it to his lips.

"Stop," cried one of the young men, drunkenly, "make us a speech. It is poor liquor that doesn't unloosen a man's tongue."

The tramp hastily swallowed down the drink, and as the rich liquor coursed through his blood he straightened himself and stood before them with a grace and dignity that all his rags and dirt could not obscure.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I look tonight at you and at myself, and it seems to me I look upon the picture of my lost manhood. This bloated face was once as young and handsome as yours. This shambling figure once walked as proudly as yours, a man in a world of men. I, too, once had a home, and friends and position. I had a wife, as beautiful as an artist's dream, and I dropped the priceless pearl of her honor and respect in the wine cup, and, Cleopatra-like, saw it dissolve, and quaffed it down in the brimming draught. I had children as sweet and lovely as the flowers of spring, and I saw them fade and die under the blighting curse of a drunken father. I had a home where love lit the flame upon the altar and ministered before it, and I put out the holy fire, and darkness and desolation reigned in its stead. I had aspirations and ambitions that soared as high as the morning star, and I broke and bruised their beautiful wings, and, at last, strangled them that I might be tortured with their cries no more. Today I am a husband without a wife, a father without a child, a tramp with no home to call his own, a man in whom every good impulse is dead. All, all swallowed up in the maels'rom of drink."

The tramp ceased speaking. The glass fell from his nerveless fingers and shivered into a thousand fragments on the floor. The swinging doors pushed open and shut up again, and when the little group about the bar looked up the tramp was gone.—New Orleans Picayune.

"Unadulterated Brass."

"Uncle Sam a hog!" Thus in language polite and in type conspicuous does a liquor journal call attention to the small proportion of profit left to the dealer after paying the required tax on spirits. Of the $1.18 derived from a gallon of whisky, the government collects $1.10. Of the eight cents remaining, the corn, we are told, takes at present prices, five cents, leaving a balance of three cents, out of which must be figured the cost of ingredients used with the corn, including malt and rye, also labor, repairs, cooperage, distribution, etc. In fact, according to the figures given, it would appear that the trade in spirits is decidedly a losing business, and the uninitiated naturally wonder why so many men engage in it and remain in it. If Uncle Sam, as represented by one or the other of the two dominant parties, were not the abject slave of the rum power, he would see that, notwithstanding his large share of the profits, he is really no small loser by the partnership; that even from the standpoint of dollars and cents the legalized liquor traffic does not pay. With liquor papers calling him a hog and prohibition papers pronouncing him a fool, it would seem as if he might make out a good case of lese-majeste against certain American journalists.—Union Signal.

Personal Purity.

Thomas Elva Edison was once asked why he was a total abstainer. He said: "I thought I had a better use for my head." The answer is worth remembering by any young fellow who means to use his brains. A wonderful battery they make. Every morning they take up their work and start us on our daily pleasure or daily duty, if we have not tried this stimulus or that stimulus, not in the plan for which they were made.

The young man who means to do the best possible work his body and mind can do keeps his body and mind pure, as clean from outside filth as Edison keeps his brain. This is what is meant when we are told to keep ourselves as pure as little children are.

The men who are trained for a football match, or a running match, or a boxing match, have to keep their bodies from any stimulus but that which is given by food prepared in the simplest way, so as to suit the most simple appetite.

It is not simply that a man's body must be in good order itself; what is needed is that a man shall be ready and able to govern his body. He shall say, "Go," and his body shall go. He shall say, "Go faster," and his body shall go faster. His will, his power to govern his machinery, depends on his keeping himself pure.—Rev. E. E. Hale in Temperance Ideas.

A National Disgrace.

The following information was received by wire late last week from Mr. Crafts, who, with Mrs. Ellis, our superintendent of Christian citizenship and legislation, is vigilantly watching reform interests at the National capital: "The superintendent of the new national library has granted permission for the sale of wine and beer in its restaurants. The national museum is expected to follow. Beer in basement and bacchantes in upper story will create a fine intellectual atmosphere! Evidently the library authorities never look inside the modern books, and so they think wine and beer harmless. The President declines to interfere. A snowstorm of petitions and letters to Congress for pending bill to forbid liquor-selling in all government buildings will block this evil." Let the snowstorm come in such volume, and with such rapidity, that these aggressions of the rum power will be effectually stopped.—Ex.

The Resistance of Temptation.

It is easy to yield to temptation, much easier than to resist. But with each resistance comes added strength, and by the continual overcoming of sin's besetments is a stalwart character created. God has promised grace to help in time of need. He will not suffer you to be tempted beyond what you are able. Therefore trust him for victory over temptation. It is this trust, more than any other, which young Christians need. So seek it as your own.—W. T. Ellis.

A Stranger in the Earth.

No matter how dear thy home on earth may be to thee, when the day declines and night approaches, see to it that this sweet word of the psalmist shines upon thee like a star: "I am a stranger in the earth, hide not Thy commandments from me." One day says to the other: "My life is a pilgrimage towards a beauteous eternity." O eternity, my home is not here! And when the bodily tabernacle of a brother is taken to pieces, and thou followest his body to the grave, say, Dost thou think on the hour, in joyful assurance, when thou thyself wilt be laid within those four narrow walls? In fear and trembling dost thou pray thus: "I am a stranger in the earth, and have here no abiding city, but Heaven is mine—that is my fatherland. O thou God of the living, do not hide Thy commandments from me!" It is well for thee if the Holy Ghost put such thoughts of eternity in thy heart, and such prayerful sighs upon thy lips.—Kogel.

Humbling Ourselves Before God.

"Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time: casting all your care upon him, for he careth for you."—1 Peter, v. 6-7.

To bend beneath the hand of man may sometimes be very bitter to us, but to place ourselves beneath the hand of everlasting love should that be so hard? How foolish it is to assume an attitude of pride and defiance toward Him who has created heaven and earth and all that is therein, and whose mighty hand rules the universe, and whose flaming eyes see the most hidden things. Compared to Him, we are like insects of a day, like the ant which is trampled under foot. We cannot answer Him for one of a thousand. Therefore, it becomes us, when His land lies heavily upon our head, to humble ourselves under this powerful hand, and patiently to submit to His loving will. The same hand which has humbled us will also exalt us in due time.—Spengler.

Arguing or Persuading

Religious argument oftener awakes prejudice, pride and antagonism than it brings opponents over to our way of thinking; logic is combative; love is persuasive. It has no hobnails in its heels to bruise sensitive doubts. When love goes wooing, it always puts on its best attire, and uses its softest tones. Just as the sunbeam is a more powerful factor in nature than the cyclone, so persuasion is mightier than argument.

CONGRESS, by an unaminous vote, on Tuesday appropriated fifty million dollars to be placed at the command of the President for the purpose of purchasing ships of war and other war material. The sentiment of the House appeared to be that this appropriation was not to be considered as a war movement, but more as a precautionary measure in the interests of peace. It is very evident that if war is to come it is much better to be prepared for it beforehand, than to have to make hasty arrangements when it is upon us. The entire country supports the administration in this policy.

THE County Executive Committee at its meeting to-morrow will probably decide whether the nomination of candidates by the Populists of Chilton shall be by a primary election, a convention or a mass meeting. Whether there are any candidates seeking office, or whether the offices are seeking the candidates up to the present no one seems to know. In either case, however, the main thing to be determined is the wishes of a majority of the voters of the county. Very few voters favor a mass meeting, and the choice is between a convention and a primary, with a preponderance of opinon in favor of a primary. We believe a primary electian will give the most satisfaction throughout the county.

A CASE of smallpox near Thorsby necessitated the presence of the State health officer, who came from Montgomery last Saturday to investigate it. He pronounced it certainly smallpox. The patient, a negro, had been sick for several days, and had been visited by a number of friends, some of whom may have also contracted the disease. It is much to be regretted that Chilton county has no public health officer whose duty it would be to immediately investigate any suspicious case and in the event of its being infectious at once isolate it and thus prevent contagion. Many counties have such an official, and our County Commissioners would be performing one of their most meritorious acts in appointing a public health officer for Chilton. With smallpox and yellow fever around promptness in immediate attention is of more value to the community than anything else. An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure.

At Charlotte, North Carolina, a really feasible plan for the holding of the cotton crop and the tu ning of it at once into a gilt-edge security for advances at a lower rate of interest, has been inaugurated. The plan is in actual operation in both of the Carolinas, and is working smoothly and favorably. It is the bonded warehouse plan. Farmer Jones, living near Charlotte, raises five bales of cotton. He owes some debts that must be paid. The staple is selling down to, possibly below, the cost of production. What does he do? He hauls the cotton to a bonded warehouse in Charlotte getting a receipt for it, which is called a warehouse certificate. He pays fifteen cents a month per bale as a storage and insurance fee. His bales are weighed and graded, are numbered, and his certificates call for the identical bales, instead of so much cotton. He takes the certificate to any bank, or to a merchant, and borrows at lowest rates the market price of the cotton, less one cent a pound; goes out to pay his debts, and goes home prepared to hold his cotton until he desires to sell it. Farmer Jones is in this way enabled to name the time when his cotton shall be sold, instead of his creditors naming the time.—Age. Herald.

Some of our leading citizens are making an effort to convert the piece of land opposite the depot into a public park. This would be of such inestimable benefit to Clanton we hope it will succeed. It would be one of our greatest attractions for summer visitors, to say nothing of homefolks.

At a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the Alabama State Sunday School Association, arrangements were made to hold the next Annual Convention in Birmingham, April 19-21. These annual gatherings of the Sunday-School folks are growing greatly in interest and attendance. At the meeting held in Tuskaloosa last spring the delegates numbered between four and five hundred; and the indications are that the one soon to meet in Birmingham will greatly outnumber that one. A large number of prominent workers from outside of the State have promised to be in attendance to assist and council with the home-workers. All officers of the State, County and Beat Associations, Pastors and Superintendents are authorized delegates to the Convention. Also one other representative from each Sunday School. Now is the time to commence to make arrangements so as to be sure to be present. Birmingham has thrown open her doors and extends a hearty welcome.

I have been afflicted with rheumatism for fourteen years and nothing seemed to give any relief. I was able to be around all the time, but constantly suffering. I had tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did, and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured. I am happy to say that it has not since returned.—Josh. Edgar, Germantown, Cal. For sale by J. S. Johnson, jr.

Among the most ingenious and useful devices that have been placed upon the market in a long time past may be mentioned the Tribie & Worns double action carbonator and filterer, for the production of soda, vichy and seltsers, which apparatus is now being extensively introduced by the New York Carbonating and Filtering Company, ofe East Thirteenth street, New York. The extraordinary usefulness of this new devise can best be understood when it is said that where a dealer i soda, etc., is now paying $1 for ten gallons of soda, and possibly $1 50, with this apparatus twelve gallons can be made at a cost of twenty cents. The old marble dust and vitriol systems of making soda water are left far behind by this new method. It will carbona e twelve gallons of water as quickly as one can detach and attach a fountain.

The New York Carbonating and Filtering Company place it on trial, and if it does not do all they claim, the trial costs nothing.

It need hardly be said that there is a vast field for such a device as this. Every live dealer will want it as soon as he understands its capabilities. There is really nothing in the market to be compared with it.

They have sold several State rights and have quite a number left on the market for sale, and judging by what has been done in States already sold, there is a sure investment for any one open for such a chance to buy a State for this valuable apparatus.—N. Y. Mercantile & Financial Times.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good works, of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured; of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous consequences. Sold by J. S. Johnson, jr.

An Old Idea.

Every day strengthens the belief of eminent physicians that impure blood is the cause of the majority of our diseases. Twenty-five years ago this theory was used as a basis for the formula of Browns' Iron Bitters. The many remarkable cures effected by this famous old household remedy are sufficient to prove that the theory is correct. Browns' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

Newspaper critics are bringing it to the notice of the public that at the end of a year President McKinley has redeemed just one promise, and that is the tariff law which seems at this juncture to be a dismal failure. Civil service reform, and diminish d ex enses are all forgotten.

Jerry Simpson of Kansas is at home looking after his political fences which are being assailed, at many points, by the enemy. Speaker Reed and others are enjoying his absence from Washington, D. C.

In a recent debate in Congress apropos of the Lond Bill, Jerry Simpson came to the front and defended the country editor and his rights, with his accustomed vigor. He was ably seconded by Champ Clark, of Missouri, who said "The Lond Bill might truthfully be called an act to diminish the supply of anti-Republican literature."

The Free Homes Bill, introduced by Delegate Callahan populist, of Oklahoma has been so assailed by the Republicans that there is small hope of its passing.

Mr. Wharton Barker, editor of "The American," published at Philadelphia, who is proposed by Bateman, Gen. Coxey and others as a presidential candidate on the Populist ticket for 1900, in a recent issue of his paper, pays his respects to all members of the party who do not agree with him. In a two page article he reads all such out of the party. So far as we have been able to learn, Mr. Barker has never voted a Populist ticket. He is a life long Republican.

W. J. Bryan is making a short tour of the south, speaking at Tuscaloosa and Birmingham, Alabama, and other points, and meeting everywhere with that same cordial enthusiasm that has greeted him heretofore.

General Debility and Loss of Flesh

Scott's Emulsion has been the standard remedy for nearly a quarter of a century. Physicians readily admit that they obtain results from it that they cannot get from any other flesh-forming food.

There are many other preparations on the market that pretend to do what does, but they fail to perform it. The pure Norwegian Cod-liver Oil made into a delightful cream, skillfully blended with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, which are such valuable tonics, makes this preparation an ideal one and checks the wasting tendency, and the patient almost immediately commences to put on flesh and gain a strength which surprises them.

Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion. See that the man and fish are on the wrapper.

What would it be, without the dear Saviour,
To guide me 'oer lifes troubled seas
What are its joys, its hopes, or its pleasures;
Without the dear Saviour to me.
Safely through dangers his kind hand will end me.
And in distress and temptations will heed me.
Gently will guide my frail bark to the harbor,
Where doubting and fears come no more.
Though in the wilderness sadly I'm roaming;
My spirit grows faint 'oer the way
Footsore and thirsty I'm lost in the gloaming;
And wearied, I long for the day:
Let me but know if whisper he hears me
Then my sad soul can rest on his promise,
To lead me to life's perfect day.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail, upon receipt of three two-cent stamps to cover cost of postage on the bottle. Mention The Banner and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

An Interesting and Beautiful Tree—The Street Organ In the City—The Horse Tail Plant.

In times not so very long ago the minds of young people generally had no pleasant feelings about the birch tree. The application of its twigs to the skin of naughty or lazy scholars was so common that parents and teachers looked upon this kind of punishment as a matter of course. There was seldom any choice of punishments. One old author calls it the "afflictive birch, curse of unlettered, idle youth." Turner, said to be the father of British botany, writing about A. D. 1550, remarks upon the tree, "It serveth for many good uses, and for none better than for beatynge of stubborn boyes, that either lye, or will not learne."

But the twigs of birch are valuable for other purposes besides correction. In some parts of Russia the natives, when they are having a vapor bath, first beat themselves with these till the skin is quite red, and then they plunge into cold water or roll in the snow. When the twigs are quite young, too, there is a beautiful perfume brought out of them if they are wetted with dew or rain, because over the surface are many tiny glands full of aromatic oil.

The bark of the birch is very interesting. The bark of one North American kind has been made into light canoes. Leggings and aprons have also been made from this kind, and the fiber of several has been manufactured into ropes, baskets and shoes. Before paper was invented, the inner bark of the birch served for writing upon.

The wood is soft, though durable, and burns so well that it used to be called candlewood.

One pleasant thing about the birch in the winter months is that it bears a promise of the bright spring days to come in the catkins which form during the autumn and hang, like tassels, upon the twigs till April, when they open just as the new leaves appear. On some bogs high up amid Scotch mountains grows a curious dwart birch not more than three feet high, and about the Scotch highlands generally no tree is more abundant than the common birch, rivaling the fir and climbing to heights where no pine or fir can grow.

This graceful tree has been called the lady of the woods; in Scotland it is the "birk," and the poet Burns often sings its praises, as in his poem on the birks of Aberfeldy, and more than once he links it with the white hawthorn.

A Shattered Nervous System.

FINALLY HEART TROUBLE.

Restored to Health by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

MR. EDWARD HARDY, the jolly manager of Sheppard Co's. great store at Braceville, Ill., writes: "I had never been sick a day in my life until in 1890. I got so bad with nervous prostration that I had to give up and commence to doctor. I tried our local physicians and one in Joliet, but none gave me any relief and I thought I was going to die. I became despondent and suffered untold agony. I could not eat, sleep nor rest, and it seemed as if I could not exist. At the end of six months I was reduced to but a shadow of myself, and at last my heart became affected and I was truly miserable. I took six or eight bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine. It gave me relief from the start, and at last a cure, the greatest blessing of my life."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address,

The nervous system controls the action of the vital organs of the body. Unless they are in a perfect state of health they lose the functions nature intended them for. The nervous system cannot be in proper working order unless properly fed by rich, red and life-giving blood. The blood's active principle is the red corpuscles that contain iron. The white corpuscles are the sewers of the body to carry off impurities. Too few red corpuscles in proportion to white ones means an impoverished condition of the blood that shows itself in the pale face and colorless lips. Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic is a preparation containing iron in such form that it immediately strikes the circulatory system and furnishes what nature has not provided. Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic is put up in a scientific manner. It has had 42 years actual test on the market.

The Cabinet Held an Important Session Sunday—Hearty Endorsement of Lee. Rumors Current That Lee Has Been Assassinated in Havana.

A special from Washington Sunday night says: Rumors were current here all day that Lee had been assassinated, but nothing authentic has been learned, and the report is not credited in official circles. All the correspondents but two have been ordered to leave Havana, and the cables are practically closed so far as news is concerned. Secret orders were sent to the fleet at Key West tonight to be in readiness to move at a moment's notice. The situation tonight is more critical than at any time since the embroglio commenced.

The startling news today was the announcement that Spain had demanded the recall of Consul General Lee and that American warships be not used to carry relief to suffering Cubans.

McKinley has promptly and flatly refused the demands.

Consul General Fitzhugh Lee will not be recalled from Havana.

The supplies for the reconcentrados will be sent to Cuba in a naval vessel despite Spain's demand to the contrary.

The president does not juggle with diplomatic terms to say so. His denial to Spain is direct and unmistakable in its terms.

The American people and Spain are plainly told that "the president will not consider the withdrawal of Lee."

In this incident the general opinion here is that no casus belli exists unless it be in the form employed or the language used in making the request or demand.

Language and Not the Fact.

The language and not the fact, is what will give serious significance to the demand for the recall of Lee. It is possible that only a suggestion has been made, in which event Spain will be able to recede from the position she has taken. If, on the other hand, a demand for Gen. Lee's recall has been accompanied by accusations of bad faith or conduct unbecoming a public official, this government might regard it, under the strained conditions, as sufficient pretext to demand an apology or to occupy the ports of Cuba with warships.

The president has been locked up all day in the cabinet room, consulting chiefly with Assistant Secretary of State Judge Day, Secretary of War Alger and other subordinates of the state, war and navy departments. McKinley is showing the strain to a terrible extent and one can trace in his pale and care-worn face the suspense and mental agony through which he is passing. The hard facts are that the McKinley administration has determined under no condition to withdraw its fearless and efficient official at the seat of the threatened trouble.

The Cabinet's Hearty Endorsement of Lee

The following is a statement given out, after a cabinet meeting, in regard to the requested recall of Consul General Lee:

"The president will not consider the recall of General Lee. He has borne himself throughout this crisis with judgment, fidelity and courage to the president's entire satisfaction. As to the supplies for the relief of the Cuban people, all arrangements have been made to carry a consignment this week from Key West by one of the naval vessels, whichever may be best adapted and most available for the purpose, to Matanza and Sagua."

Pope is Advocating Arbitration.

The pope is doing all in his power to induce Spain to accept arbitration upon the Cuban question, but Sagasta does not dare consent, for fear of military leaders who are clamoring for war. The queen regent is powerless to act except with the consent of her cabinet. Press dispatches are rigidly suppressed so that the people will not learn of the war preparations in the United States. War feeling in Spain is most intense.

Advocate National Quarantine.

The cotton exchange adopted a resolution requesting the senators and representatives from Mississippi in congress to advocate a national quarantine, and "hoping" that through the general welfare clause of the constitution congress will find some way to protect the lives of the people of the various states, besides contributing to the maintenance hereafter of a republican form of government in such states where epidemics may prevail, and which form of government our experience taught us ceased to exist during the late epidemic.

Cannot Buy Ships From Chili.

The report that Spain is negotiating to buy from Chili three warships is characterized as absurd by government officials at Valparaiso. It is stated that Chili has no intention of parting with her vessels.

Shep Wood, a prominent young farmer at Cordele, Ga., shot and killed his brother, Thomas. On seeing the result of his shot, the brother turned the gun upon himself and sent a bullet through his brain. The brothers quarreled over business matters.

ADMIRES AMERICAN WARSHIPS.

Every Spanish Town on the Coast Could be Blown to Atoms, Says an Expert.

"The United States will have every town on the Spanish coast blown to atoms, I am ready to wager, a month after the beginning of hostilities," said William Allan, member of the English parliament, to the New York World correspondent.

Mr. Allan represents the Gateshead division in the house of commons, and is one of the largest ship builders on the Tyne and is an acknowledged authority on naval questions.

The World correspondent asked him if there is any likelihood that Spain can buy war vessels now building in British yards from the governments which ordered them.

"It would not do Spain any good if she could buy them," Mr. Allan answered. "But except those ordered by Japan there are very few orders in the English yards from foreign governments, and Japan won't sell.

"I have always expressed in the house of commons, as you know, my admiration for American warships. I challenged our government to test the new craiser Powerful by sending her across the Atlantic at full speed, as the United States government had sent the Columbia, but our government declined.

"I consider that America has some of the very finest ships afloat and I know the American sailors to be as good as any in the world.

"Why, Spain is a retrogade—a moribund nation. If she should snap up all the warships available all over the world she could not give the United States cause for an instant's concern.

"I believe in the grit, tenacity and fighting capacity of the Anglo-Saxon races as against those Spaniards, who are fed on oil and garlic and are without stamina. Why, in the olden days our Buccaneers used to outclass them, and they have not improved since then, rather the contrary.

"But there will be no war. The Spanish government knows it would be the signal for a Carlist rising.

"They will have some kind of a revolution in Spain before long, but as to war with the United States, there will be none.

"I have never believed the United States wants Cuba, and I expect they will employ all their influence to establish a republic."

A CONFLICT IS POSSIBLE

Says a Member of the Cabinet and Preparations Continue.

A special to the Constitution from Washington says:

"The administration recognizes that war is possible and is rapidly preparing to meet every emergency."

That declaration was made Friday by a member of the cabinet. It was for publication with the understanding that it was to be used as an official statement, but that the name of the cabinet officer making it was not to be given.

While this is simply a statement of what everybody has understood to be the situation for some time, it is the first time that any such declaration has been made by a cabinet official or anybody speaking for the administration. In this respect, therefore, it is most significant. It indicates that things are coming to a head. Taking everything into consideration, it looks as it war is closer at hand than it has been at any time since Appomattox.

In direct line with this declaration is a statement given by one of the most prominent members of the senate.

"War will come. It may not be this week, it may not be next; but it is just as certain to come as anything in the future can be certain. The only thing that can prevent such a result is for the Spanish character to undergo a sudden change, and that is, of course, beyond the realm of possibility."

Dry Kiln Falls With Fatal Results.

A large steam dry kiln at the Central Coal and Coke saw mill, at Texarkana, Ark., tumbled in last week seriously wounding a number of workmen, two of whom will die. Others are believed to have been killed outright. The east wall of the kiln tumbled in and crushed the contents, making a complete wreck. Those removed from the wreck are: Gus Walton, will die; Richard Hunting, will die; Bill Smith, seriously injured; J. D. Howard, Will Shade, J. W. Rabb, L. B. Williams, John Henderson and L. Reeves.

Spain Preparing for War.

All indications in London are that Spain is pushing every preparation for war with the United States. It is, of course, impossible to verify the rumors in connection with Spain's transactions here, but information on the very best authority is that her agents have concluded negotiations for a loan, said to be $40,000,000.

The import of this is that if Spain has obtained this money she will at once purchase seven war vessels for which she has been negotiating since the relations between Spain and the United States became so greatly strained.

Nine People Drowned.

The schooner Speedwell, Captain Collier, from Marco, Fla., for Key West, was struck by a squall while off Marquesas, eighteen miles from Key West, and capsized. Nine persons were drowned out of thirteen on board. Among the victims were the three children of Captain Collier—George, Tom and Wilbur, aged respectively 4, 6 and 8, and the entire Nichols family—Bradley Nichols and his wife, their son and the latter's wife, and two grand children. The family was from Bridgeport, Conn.

TRADE IS NOT DISTURBED

By the Wild War Stories Afloat, Says Dun.

GRAIN AND COTTON MARKET STRONG.

An Immense Pig Iron Output—All Signs Point to an Unprecedently Large Volume of Trade—Business Failures.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Stories of the most reckless sort, disproved promptly, and many of them before they are told, affected speculation in stocks much last week, but they have not disturbed the industries and the trade of the country at all. There is a confidence that the authorities are doing what is proper to provide for public defense, and business is moving on with the assurance that it will not be disturbed. In grain, cotton, meat products and iron, markets have been strong, with gradual increases in the demand for manufactured products.

Failures in February have been smaller than for any other month of the previous fifty-two months, with remarkable decrease in the failures for $100,000 and over, though in number and amount the smaller failures show less change than might have been expected, indicating that in good times or bad a large proportion is due to causes apart from the general condition of business. The ratio of defaulted liabilities to payments through clearing houses is but $1.71 per $1,000, a lower rate than has appeared in the first quarter of any year except 1880 and 1881, of the past twenty years.

The best evidence of general improvement is the fact that payments through clearing houses for the past week have been 28 per cent. larger than in 1892 and outside New York, speculative interests, 17.6 per cent. larger. Compared with the last year the gain has been 56.2 per cent. for the week.

Production of pig iron is the greatest ever known.

Foundry at the East is slightly lower, basic pig having been offered in a sharp competition of about $10, although Southern makers in Alabama and Tennessee, excepting two, have agreed upon a plan of sales through a commission. The demand for finished products covers weeks ahead in plates, structural forms, sheets, pipe and rails.

The strike in cotton mills does not spread, but helps to a slightly better demand for some goods, while in woolens the business is slow in some of the finer qualities which have been much advanced in price and in these and in other grades as well cancellations have often exceeded re-orders, indicating less distributiou than was expected at the advanced prices. Wool has yielded a little.

Wheat has grown stronger, exports continuing at a rate which threatens exhaustion of supply, if trade reports of farmers' stocks are correct. From Atlantic ports 2,426,240 bushels went out, flour included, against 1,368,416 last year and from Pacific ports, 864,993 against 479,959 bushels last year. The price has risen 1 cent, but it is possible that the estimates of last year's stocks, though 50,000,000 bushels in excess of the government estimates, may prove too small. Corn has declined only one-quarter of a cent, with exports of 4,748,843 bushels. Failures for the week have been 251 in the United States against 246 last year and 32 in Canada against 59 last year.

GOMEZ EXCITED

And Expects War Soon Between Spain and the United States.

A messenger left Gomez' camp last week and is now proceeding to Washington, carrying full data and details of insurgent field organization. In case hostilities break out General Gomez expects to co-operate with the American fleet, and for this reason desires that American officers shall have full knowledge of the rebel forces and equipment. It is understood that Gomez will offer to relinquish his command to any American general who may be sent from Washington.

FIFTY FIFTH CONGRESS.

The Senate—Monday.

Mr. Hoar moved that the senate nonconcur in the house amendments to the bankruptcy bill, and that a committee of conference be appointed. The matter went over.... The consideration of the Corbett case was then resumed. Mr. Bacon, of Georgia, addressing the senate in opposition to Mr. Corbett's claims. Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, followed with an extended and elaborate argument in opposition to the seating of Mr Corbett. He maintained that the governor of a state had no authority to fill an original vacancy. Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, supported the claims of Mr. Corbett to a seat in the senate, holding that under no circumstances not absolutely tainting the applicant for admission with fraud, could the senate properly refuse to accept the governor's credentials. The resolution of the committee on privileges and elections declaring that Mr. Corbett was not entitled to a seat in the senate from Oregon, was then laid before the senate, and adopted, 50 to 19.... A bill authorizing the Mississippi River, Hamburg & Western railroad to construct a bridge across Bayou Martholome, in Arkansas, was passed. The senate then adjourned.

The House.

Consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill was resumed in the house today.... Mr. Hull asked unanimous consent for the consideration of a joint resolution providing for the investigation by a joint committee of the house and senate of the expenditures for riven and harbor work at Savannah since January 1, 1892. Referred to military affairs committee.... When the sundry civil bill was taken up the pending amendment, appropriating $4,000 for building a road from Natchez to the national cemetery was adopted. An amendment requiring the clerks of federal courts in Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma to report their fees and emoluments annually was also adopted. Mr. Handy made a point of order against a provision relating to the Paris exposition, which was sustained, and the whole question went out of the bill. Consideration of the bill in committee of the whole was completed and it was reported to the house. Mr. Cannon demanded a separate vote on the amendment striking out the appropriation of $75,000 for the payment of those who informed the authorities of violations of internal revenue laws and urged the house to restore the appropriation for the detection of illicit stills. By a vote of 103 to 67 the provision was restored to the bill. The sundry civil bill was then passed and the house went back into committee of the whole.... Bills were passed granting the Nebraska, Kansas and Gulf railroad and the Denison and Northern railroad rights of way through the Indian Territory.... At 5:30 p. m. the house adjourned.

The Senate—Tuesday.

Shortly after the senate convened today, Mr. Perkins, of California, presented a favorable report upon Mr. Bacon's resolution providing for the erection in Statuary hall of the capitol of a bronze memorial tablet commemorative of the officers and sailors who lost their lives in the Maine disaster in Havana harbor. Objection being made to a specific location, the resolution was so amended as to provide for the erection of the tablet at some suitable place in the capitol. As amended the resolution was adopted.... Mr. Hoar then renewed the motion that the senate disagree to the house amendment to the bankruptcy bill and that a committee of conference be appointed.... The Alaskan homestead and right of way bill was laid before the senate and discussed, but went over.... The senate then went into executive session, and at 3:45 adjourned.

The House.

The house today entered upon the consideration of the Loud bill relative to the second-class mail matter. The bill is identical with that passed by the last congress, but Mr. Loud gave notice of an amendment permitting the transmission at pound rates of sample copies up to 10 per cent. of the bona fide circulation of the newspaper periodical. This amendment removes much opposition to the bill. The bill excludes from classification as second-class matter which pays postage at the rate of 1 cent per pound, books and reprints of books proved in serial form, "sample copies" of newspapers or periodicals, in excess of 10 per cent. of their bona fide circulation, unsold copies returned from agents and all publications designed primarily for advertising purposes. All such publications by its terms would go into the third-class, which pays 8 cents per pound. Second-class mail matter, by the bill, is restricted to newspapers and perfodicals published at least four times a year from a known office of publication, issued under the auspices of benevolent or fraternal organizations, trades unions or orders having a membership of not less than 1,000. The bill, after several hours discussion, went over, and the house at 5 p. m. adjourned.

The House—Wednesday.

The house spent another day in debate upon the Loud bill relating to second-class mail matter. The speeches, as a rule, were of little interest. The speakers were Messrs. Bromwell (rep.), of Ohio, and Ogden (dem.), of Louisiana, in favor of the measure, and Messrs. Bell (pop.), of Col.; Simpson (pop.), of Kansas; Clark (dem.), of Missouri; Brown (rep.), of Ohio, and Lentz (dem.), of Ohio, in opposition to it, mainly on the ground that it was inimical to the interests of the country editor. Mr. Griggs (dem.), of Georgia, gave notice of an amendment to the amendment of which Mr. Loud gave notice yesterday providing that newspapers and periodicals should have the right to send out sample copies at postal rates to the number of 1,000 copies. A bill was passed creating Knoxville, Tenn., a port of entry. At 5:20 p. m. the house adjourned.

The Senate—Thursday.

During the almost entire session today the senate had under consideration the Alaskan homestead and railroad right of way bill. A motion to eliminate the homestead feature of the bill by striking out the first section was defeated. The resolution providing for an investigation into the murder of the postmaster at Lake City, S. C., and his family, and the burning of his home was laid before the senate.... The motion of Mr. Hoar, to nonconcur in the house amendment to the bankruptcy bill was laid before the senate. Mr. Stewart offered a resolution that the senate conferees be instructed to insist upon the senate bill but after debate withdrew it. Mr. Hoar's motion to non-concur in the house amendment to the bankruptcy bill and that a committee of conference be appointed was adopted.

The House.

The Loud bill to correct alleged abuses in the second-class mail matter privilege, which last year passed the house 144 to 104, was buried under an overwhelming majority by the house today. The vote was not taken directly upon the bill, but on a motion to lay it on the table. By a vote of 162 to 119 the motion was carried. Forty-seven republicans joined with the democrats and populists in accomplishing this result and ten democrats voted with the majority of the republicans. The refusal of Mr. Loud to permit a vote on an amendment at the last minute was responsible in a measure for the result, but the strength of the measure undoubtedly waned throughout the three days' debate.... Mr. White (rep., N. C.), the only colored member of the house, asked unanimous consent for the introduction of a resolution appropriating the sum of $1,000, made immediately available, for the relief of the family of the postmaster who was murdered at Lake City, S. C. Objection was made and the regular order of business proceeded.... At 4:30 p. m. the house adjourned.

The Senate—Friday.

After a debate lasting several days, the senate late this afternoon passed the bill extending the homestead laws and providing for the right of way for railroads in the District of Alaska.

Section 13, providing for certain bonding concessions to Canada in lieu of provisions to be extended by the Dominion government to this country, however, induced a pretty lively debate, as it brought into the controversy the old fisheries questions on the New England coast which has been pending between the United States and Great Britain for 100 years. The statement was made on the floor of the senate that there was every reason to believe that by the passage of the bill the fisheries question could be settled without great effort, as assurances to that effect had been received from a large and influential element in Canada.

The senate at 5:05 went into executive session and at 5:20 p. m. adjourned until Monday.

The House.

Two more appropriation bills were sent to the president today, the pension bill and the consular and diplomatic, both of which went through their final stage in the house. The most important action taken was acquiescence to an agreement to make the bill appropriating about $1,200,000 for war claims, approved by the court of claims, under the provisions of the Bowman act, a special order for next Friday. The claims carried by the bill, 730 in number, are for stores and supplies seized during the war in the southern states.

Only two other bills were passed today, one to pay the heirs of Sterling T. Austin about $50,000 for cotton seized during the war and the other to pay an aggregate of $3,360 in small claims growing out of back pay, etc., earned during the war.

At 5 o'clock, under the rules, the house recessed until 8 o'clock, the evening session to be devoted to private pension bills.

Says the New York Post: "Medical circles are inclined to pooh-pooh the reported discovery of the sex secret by Dr. Samuel Schenk, professor in the Vienna university. Nevertheless it is exciting wide interest, in view of Dr. Schenk's position as an embryologist and the importance attached to the announcement even by the Austrian government. The professor, so far, has only stated that for many years his experiments were limited to the lower animals, that by a system of nourishing the female he produced a disposition to bring into the world male young only, but that recently, by advising wives what food to take, boys or girls had been born just as desired. This disposition, however, when established cannot be changed. The offspring of the same parents henceforth will be all males. Professor Ohlshausen, the well-know gynecologist, thinks the whole thing impossible, also Professor V holds to the same opinion.

EMINENT DIVINES SERMONS

DISCOURSES BY TWO ABLE WORKERS IN GOD'S VINEYARD.

Rev. George H. Hepworth Preaches in the New York Herald's Columns on "An Ennobling Faith"—Rev. Dr. Talmage Tells About "The Bare Arm of God."

With the return of Rev. George H. Hepworth to New York from his Armenian mission the Herald closed its series of competitive sermons, fifteen altogether having appeared in its columns on consecutive Sundays. Dr. Hepworth resumes his regular Sunday sermon as the leading editorial in the Herald's columns. The first one is entitled "An Ennobling Faith," and appears below in full.

TEXT: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."—Hebrews, xi., 1.

On a bitterly cold day I was recently riding with a comrade through one of the most exquisite bits of scenery on the face of the earth. We were toiling up the last spur of a mountain so high that the clouds would have rested on its summit had there been any in the sky. But the heavens were cloudless, the sun shone in dazzling splendor on the snow covered ridges which surrounded us on all sides, and we seemed to have left our little globe behind us and to be on our way to another world.

Naturally we talked of that Great Beyond, which was apparently not far distant. Conversation under such circumstances must needs be serious. One cannot be trivial when he is looking on the grandest of God's great works. It was a time when souls were in close relations to each other; when inmost thoughts came to the lips and uttered themselves almost unconsciously, as in soliloquy.

My comrade spoke freely of a loss he had suffered. A little child had been called from the family circle, had sped away in the night and gone where no human eyes could follow her. With a broken heart, but still in somewhat stoical language, he referred to that vacant chair. "Gone! gone!" was his despairing exclamation. I listened to the story, and at its close quietly remarked: "Yes, gone, but not gone far! In the brighter land you will see her again." Then we lapsed into silence, a silence only broken by the sound of the horses' iron shoes on the crisp and frozen snow.

"If I could believe that," he said after a little, "nine-tenths of the burden would be removed. But to feel that such farewells are forever, that is very hard," and the strong man trembled with suppressed emotion, while tears made it impossible to continue the conversation.

I thought to myself that after all this world is of very little importance unless we have another world to look forward to. What makes the present life endurable is a firm and unshaken belief in another life. If love can die, then love is only prolonged agony; but the conviction that love can never die strengthens, broadens and ennobles the soul.

It would be an act of unspeakable cruelty on the part of God to teach us how to love, to place us amid circumstances in which love develops all that is chivalrous and grand, and then tell us in the supreme moment of parting to say goodby for time and eternity. The Lord's Prayer would become an impossibility, nay, more than that, a grim sort of farce, and in his innermost depths a man would not only rebel, but lose his self-respect and his respect for the laws of the universe. It is clear that it would have been so much better to make him incapable of affection than to annihilate the object of his affection, and bid him go home from the churchyard a despairing, hopeless creature.

Faith can do so much for a man, is so necessary to his spiritual and even to his physical well being, that if you take it away he is in a worse plight than the animals of the fields and forests, for he appreciates his loss and they do not. To be born a dog and to die a dog is one thing, but to be born a man and then die like a dog is something which a just and omnipotent Creator will not ask of us. It is so unlike what we have learned of His methods that we are quite right in pronouncing such a statement libellous.

Your faith in Providence is the best of all your possessions. It is worth more to you than your fame, your social position or your wealth—worth more than all else combined. Give me in my relations with God that mysterious something which the child has for its mother—a feeling that He knows who and what I am, that at my call He will come to me—that every day He leads me and every night protects me, and there is very little more than I can ask or desire. I have the one best thing in the world, and therefore am content.

The plant that has sunshine and dew will blossom before the frost comes, and with God, the sun of my soul, to shine on me, I shall not only blossom into noble thoughts, but bear the fruit of good deeds. A man becomes a miracle worker from the moment when he is conscious of God's presence and love. Life may be hard, but at the same time it is glorious. Even sickness and death are the only miry spots which lead to the eternal upland. There is a repose in the soul, a vigor, an enthusiasm and a power of endurance which nothing else in this wide world can give.

Tell me how to doubt—that is, how to cut loose from my trust in Providence—and you tell me how to be miserable. On the other hand, confirm my belief in God, in the ministration of His angels, in the possibility of a continuous, and unbroken communication with heaven, and you make my life more beautiful than words can express. As long as I dread the future, my present is leaden; if I am sure of the future, and know that my dear ones will greet me there with undiminished love, my tears are like the rain cloud on which the sun shines and makes a rainbow.

Take from me what you will, but leave me my faith, for it is my only real possession. All else will pass like a dream—a pleasant dream, but still a dream. To-day I am rich, to-morrow I may be poor. I am well to-day, to-morrow I may be ill. But faith remains with me, is closer to my heart than the closest friendship, and gives me good cheer when I walk in darkness. It is all I have, all I can keep throughout eternity, the one thing of which death cannot rob me, the prophecy of a better home on high when this earthly home is broken up. It is God who has given that gift, and it must be jealously guarded. In their last analysis faith is heaven and doubt is hell.

GEORGE H. HEPWORTH.

"THE BARE ARM OF GOD."

Rev. Dr. Talmage Tells What It Will Accomplish.

TEXT: "The Lord hath made bare His holy arm."—Isaiah lii., 10.

It almost takes our breath away to read of the Bible imagery. There is such boldness of metaphor in my text that one must rally his courage to preach from it. Isaiah, the evangelistic prophet, is sounding the jubilate of our planet redeemed, and cries out: "The Lord hath made bare His holy arm." What overwhelming suggestiveness in that figure of speech, "the bare arm of God"! The people of Palestine to this day wear much hindering apparel, and when they want to run a special race, or lift a special burden, or fight a special battle, they put off the outside apparel, as in our land when a man proposes a special exertion he puts off his coat and rolls up his sleeves. Walk through our foundries, our machine shops, our mines, our factories, and you will find that most of the toilers have their coats off and their sleeves rolled up.

"Isaiah saw that there must be a tremendous amount of work done before this world becomes what it ought to be, and he foresees it all accomplished, and accomplished by the Almighty; not as we ordinarily think of Him, but by the Almighty with the sleeve of His robe rolled back to His shoulder.

"Nothing more impresses me in the Bible than the ease with which God does most things. There is such a reserve of power. He has more thunderbolts than He has ever flung; more light than He has ever distributed; more blue than that with which he has overarched the sky; more green than that with which He has emeralded the grass; more crimson than that with which He has burnished the sunsets. I say it with reverence—from all that I can see, God has never half tried.

"My text makes it plain that the rectification of this world is a stupendous undertaking. It takes more power to make this world over again than it took to make it at first. A word was only necessary for the first creation, but for the new creation the unsleeved and unhindered forearm of the Almighty. The reason of that I can understand. In the shipyards of Liverpool, or Glasgow, or New York, a great vessel is constructed. The architect draws out the plan, the length of the beam, the capacity of tonnage, the rotation of wheel or screw, the cabin, the masts and all the appointments of this great palace of the deep. The architect finishes his work without any perplexity, and the carpenters and artisans toil on the craft so many hours a day, each one doing his part, until, with flags flying and thousands of people cheering on the docks, the vessel is launched. But out on the sea that vessel breaks her shaft and is limping slowly along toward harbor, when Caribbean whirlwinds, those mighty hunters of the deep, looking out for prey of ships, surround that wounded vessel and pitch it on a rocky coast, and she lifts and falls in the breakers until every joint is loose and every spar is down, and every wave sweeps over the hurricane deck as she parts amidship. Would it not require more skill and power to get that splintered vessel off the rocks and reconstruct it than it required originally to build her? Aye!

"Our world, which started out with all the flags of Edenic foliage and with the chant of Paradisaical bowers has been sixty centuries pounding in the skerries of sin and sorrow, and to get her out and off, and to get her on the right way again, will require more of omnipotence than it required to build her and launch her. So I am not surprised that, though in the drydock of one word our world was made, it will take the unsleeved arm of God to lift her from the rocks and put her on the right course again. It is evident from my text, and its comparison with other texts, that it would not be so great an undertaking to make a whole constellation of worlds, and a whole galaxy of worlds, and a whole astronomy of worlds, and swing them in their right orbits, as to take this wounded world, this strangled world, this bankrupt world, this destroyed world, and make it as good as when it started.

"But I have no time to specify the manifold evils that challenge Christianity. And I think I have seen in some Christians, and read in some newspapers, and heard from some pulpits, a disheartenment, as though Christianity were so worsted that it is hardly worth while to attempt to win this world of God, and that all Christian work would collapse, and that it is no use for you to teach a Sabbath class, to distribute tracts, or exhort in prayer meeting, or preach in a pulpit, as Satan is gaining ground. To rebuke that pessimism, the Gospel of Smash-up, I preach this sermon, showing that you are on the winning side. Go ahead! Fight on! What I want to make out to-day is that our ammunition is not exhausted; that all which has been accomplished has been only the skirmishing before the great Armageddon; that not more than one of the thousand fountains of beauty in the King's Park has begun to play; that not more than one brigade of the innumerable hosts to be marshaled by the Rider on the White Horse has yet taken the field; that what God has done yet has been with arm folded in flowing robe but that the time is coming when he will rise from his throne, and throw off that robe, and come out of the palaces of eternity, and come down the stairs of heaven with all-conquering step, and halt in the presence of expectant nations, and flashing his omniscient eyes across the work to be done will put back the sleeve of his right arm to the shoulder, and roll it up there, and for the world's final and complete rescue make bare his his arm. Who can doubt the result when according to my text Jehovah does his best; when the last reserve force of Omnipotence takes the field; when the last sword of Eternal Might leaps from its scabbard!

"Do you know what decided the battle of Sedan? The hills a thousand feet high. Eleven hundred cannon on the hills. Artillery on the heights of Givonne, and twelve German batteries on the heights of La Moncello. The Crown Prince of Saxony watched the scene from the heights of Mairy. Between a quarter to 6 o'clock in the morning and 1 o'clock in the afternoon of September 2, 1870, the hills dropped the shells that shattered the French host in the valley. The French Emperor and the 86,000 of his army captured by the hills. At the close of that battle of Sedan the Emperor sat brokenhearted in a poor woman's cottage, and when she said in sympathy, 'What can I do for you?' he replied, 'Nothing, except pull down those blinds so that they cannot stare at me!' Sedan decided by the hills. So in this conflict now raging between holiness and sin 'our eyes are unto the hills.' Down here in the valleys of earth we must be valiant soldiers of the cross, but the Commander of our host walks the heights, and views the scene far better than we can in the valleys, and at the right day and the right hour all heaven will open its batteries on our side, and the commander of the hosts of sin, with all his followers, will surrender, and it will take eternity to fully celebrate the universal victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. 'Our eyes are unto the hills.' It is so certain to be accomplished that Isaiah, in my text, looks down through the field-glass of prophecy and speaks of it as already accomplished, and I take my stand where the prophet took his stand, and look at it as all done. See! Those cities without a tear! Look! Those continents without a pang! Behold! Those hemispheres without a sin! Why, those deserts—Arabian desert, American desert, and Great Sahara desert—are all irrigated into gardens where God walks in the cool of the day. The atmosphere that encircles our globe floating not one groan. All the rivers and lakes and oceans dimpled with not one falling tear. The climates of the earth have dropped out of them the rigors of the cold and the blasts of the heat, and it is universal spring. Let us change the old world's name. Let it no more be called the earth, as when it was reeking with everything pestiferous and malevolent, scarleted with battle-fields and gashed with graves, but now so changed, so aromatic with gardens, and so resonant with song, and so rubescent with beauty, let us call it Immanuel's Land, or let us call it Beulah, or Millennial Gardens, or Paradise Regained, or Heaven! Hallelujah, for the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth! Hallelujah, for the kingdoms of this world have become the kingdoms of Christ!"

SUFFERING IN ALASKA.

The Klondike Adventurers Are Meeting With Fearful Experiences.

All reports from Alaska indicate that the prospectors who have gone up early are having a fearful experience with cold and snow and ice. Avalanches have destroyed many of the outfits at Lake Bennett, and several well-equipped parties have been unable to get over the Chilkoot Pass because of the blizzards which have raged for days. Freight is blockaded, and many adventurous prospectors who tried to get over the mountains were badly frozen. The worst reports come from the Copper River country, for which several expeditions have sailed. One party from Los Angeles prospected the river for sixty miles and found nothing for their labors. The snow was fifteen feet deep, and not even skin clothes could protect them from the bitter wind that swept over the glaciers. Nine of the party were badly frost-bitten.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR MARCH 13.

Lesson Text: "The Wheat and the Tares," Matt. xiii., 24-30, 36-43—Golden Text: Matt. xiii., 37—Commentary on the Lesson of the Day by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

24. "Another parable put He forth unto them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is likened unto a man which sowed good seed in his field." As this parable is only one of a series of seven recorded in this chapter, and probably spoken on one day, four by the seaside and three, with the interpretation of this one, privately in the house, we must consider briefly the seven that we may better understand this one. We must also notice why He now began to speak in parables. It was not that they might better see and understand, but just the contrary (verse 13). The had rejected their King (chapter xii., 14), and now He will not tell them plainly what would happen in consequence. It was no mystery, but something very plainly revealed in the prophets, that there should be a kingdom on this earth, with a righteous King on David's throne, bringing blessing to all nations, but it was a mystery still hidden as to what would take place on this earth if this kingdom should for any cause be postponed. These seven parables set forth the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven—that is, the course of this age till the harvest. Only a portion of the seed sown will bring fruit to perfection, and much of that will be hindered by tares sown by the devil. The little company of true believers will become a great worldly thing full of birds in the branches, the followers of the devil joining the church for their own ends. The church herself (the woman with the meal) will so corrupt her food that there will be but little sound doctrine, the preachers preaching to please the people and not the Lord. But there is another side to this dark story and that is told to the disciples in the house privately (verse 36). Because there is a real treasure of true believers in this field, the world, One has bought it who has the right of redemption, and He did so by giving up all that He had. The treasure may be the true Israel. See Ex. xix., 5, 6; Mal. iii., 17, margin. The one pearl from the depths of the sea is very suggestive of the church gathered out of all nations. The One buying it must be, as in the former case, the Lord Himself, for He gives up all He has. Then when the elect church has been presented faultless, the one pearl and elect Israel made a righteous nation, the treasure for the time being hidden in the field, there shall be a great multitude from all nations who shall form the saved nations, who shall walk in the light of the New Jerusalem and bring their glory and honor into it (Rev. xxi., 24, 26). God has a great plan which He has revealed to us and those who walk with Him will never be discouraged (Isa. xlii., 4; liii., 11). As to the first verse of our lesson His own explanation is that He Himself is the sower, true believers are the seed, and the field is the world.

25. "But while men slept his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat and went his way." His explanation in verses 38, 39, is that the tares are the children of the wicked and the sower of such is the enemy, the devil. If men were wide awake—that is, God's men—the enemy might not get in as many tares as he does, but too many are asleep, like Jonah, turning their backs on what God wants them to do, or, like Samson, given up to living unto themselves. Let us all give heed to Rom. xiii., 11; Eph. v., 14. Many a preacher out of employment might find light on his path very quickly if he had no touch of either Jonah's or Samson's trouble.

26. "But when the blade was sprung up and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also." One cannot always tell which are tares and which are wheat, but the Lord knoweth them that are His, and He will make no mistake. Each one can be sure for himself whether he is tares or wheat, a child of the wicked one or a child of God. I John v., 12, with John i., 12, and iii., 16, will tell any one who wants really to know.

27. "So the servants of the householder came and said unto him, Sir, didst not thou sow good seed in thy field? From whence, then, hath it tares?" At the marriage in Cana the servants knew whence came the wine, but this is a more difficult case, and servants do not know everything; not by a good deal. We know in part, and if any man thinketh that he knoweth anything, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know (I Cor. xiii., 9, 12; viii., 2).

28. "He said unto them, An enemy hath done this. The servants said unto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them up?" Some servants seem to enjoy gathering out, or attempting to gather out, the tares, or at least in letting the tares know what desperate tares they are in the estimation of the wheat.

29. "But He said, Nay; lest while ye gather up the tares, ye root up also the wheat with them." The rooting up or gathering up process can have no reference to salvation, for in harvest time all are gathered—the tares for the fire and the wheat for the barn. In chapter xv., 13, He says, "Every plant which My Heavenly Father hath not planted shall be rooted up."

30. "Let both grow together until the harvest, and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares and bind them in bundles to burn them, but gather the wheat into my barn." This verse is fully explained by verses 39 to 43. The harvest is the end of the age, as the expression "end of the world" always signifies. I do not know where we are told that this planet shall ever be destroyed. Even Peter, in speaking of wonderful changes which shall occur, says with great emphasis, "Nevertheless we, according to His promise, look for a new heaven and a new earth wherein dwells righteousness" (II Pet. iii., 13). There have been ages, and there are ages to come; the present one, of which our Lord spake, already draweth to a close, but the beginnings and closings of the ages seem always to be of an over-lapping nature rather than a decided and marked division between the one and the other. The second coming of our Lord Jesus at the end of this age will, like His first coming, be a series of events, the first of which will be the whole true church caught up to meet Him in the air (I Thess. iv., 16-18). The harvest or consummation here spoken of must be beyond that, for the first event in the harvest time of our lesson to the gathering out of the tares for the fire. It may be at the close of the great tribulation period after the church's translation and is probably the same as referred to in Rev. xiv., 15, 16, and II Thess. i., 7-10. There is a possible far-reaching outlook in the expression, "Kingdom of their Father," of verse 43, as contrasted with the kingdom of the Son of Man of verse 41.—Lesson Helper.

A few weeks ago the United States court of appeals at St. Louis held that a boycott by labor against capital is a criminal conspiracy. Later an Illinois State court at Chicago decided that a "blacklisting" by capital against labor is equally unlawful and has awarded a "blacklisted" laborer $21,666.33 damages. If the boycott were sound in law, then the blacklist would also be sound. But these courts, dealing out even justice, have declared the truth that blacklist and boycott are equally odious, equally hostile to democratic institutions and ideas. It is fortunate that these two decisions came so closely together. The object lesson they present will not be lost upon either labor or capital.

Taking a hint from the generation of electricity at Niagara falls and more especially from the Carnegie iron works, where electricity is generated by steam engines and dynamos, a great electric-power scheme has been originated in what is called the "black country" of northwestern England, where electricity will be generated in connection with the great manufacturing establishments and supplied from these as centers to several big towns. The idea, as stated by the Birmingham Post, is "to erect at a convenient center boilers and engines to the extent of 6,000 to 10,000 horse-power and to work a radius of about six miles." The promoters of the scheme affirm they will be able to supply electricity very much more cheaply than can be done by individual works and at a rate not much higher than at Niagara. They will supply electricity for pumping mines, running tramways, electric lighting and for various mechanical purposes. Not only will they enable many manufacturing establishments to cheapen the cost of production but the introduction of electricity on the scale contemplated will help to redeem this part of England from the appellation—"the black country."

Hard Plant to Kill.

There is a plant in Jamaica called the life plant, because it is almost impossible to kill it. When a leaf is cut off and hung up by a string it sends out white, threadlike roots, gathers moisture from the air, and begins to grow new leaves. Even when pressed and packed away by a botanist it has been known to outgrow the leaves of the book in which it was placed. The only way to kill it is by the heat of a hot iron or of boiling water.

The largest gold coin in the world is the British five-sovereign piece; the smallest is coined in Persia, and has a value of only 44 cents.

THE FRAUD ENJOINED.

Report of Decree—The Famous $50,000 Trade-mark Case Decided—C. F. Simmons Medicine Company, St. Louis, Defeats J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia.

[From St. Louis Republic, July 4, 1895.]

"The Supreme Court of Tennessee on June 29 decided the most important trade-mark case that has ever been tried in that State and one of the largest ever tried in the Union, affirming and enlarging the opinion of the court below. The court held:

1. That Dr. M. A. Simmons, the predecessor of complainant, by extensive advertising of his celebrated remedy known as "Simmons Liver Medicine," made it a standard remedy for liver diseases long prior to the acquisition by J. H. Zeilin & Co. of any rights.

2. That the assignor of J. H. Zeilin & Co., through whom they claimed the right to make the frauds on packages enjoined, never derived any title from A. Q. Simmons to make the medicine nor to use his name or picture, and that such use by Zeilin & Co. is a fraud upon the public, and is therefore enjoined.

3. That Zeilin & Co. purposely, fraudulently labeled their medicine in imitation of complainant's medicine to unfairly appropriate the trade of the Simmons Medicine Company, and the execution of this fraudulent purpose and act is enjoined.

4. Enjoined Zeilin & Co. from using their competitor's trade-name, trade-marks, or symbols, or imitations thereof, to deceive the public and unfairly appropriate to themselves the trade of the C. F. Simmons Medicine Co.

5. Enjoined Zeilin & Co. from deceiving and practicing a fraud on the public by labeling their packages in imitation of the wrappers and trade-marks of the complainant.

6. Enjoined Zeilin & Co. from the manufacture and sale of the medicine under the name of "Simmons Liver Medicine," or "A. Q. Simmons Liver Medicine," or "Liver Medicine by A. Q. Simmons," and from using the picture of A. Q. Simmons in connection therewith.

7. Enjoined Zeilin & Co., their assignees, agents and employees from deceiving and practicing a fraud upon the public by the sale of packages thus falsely labeled, either upon orders or calls for the genuine "Simmons Liver Medicine" of complainant, or in any package thus falsely labeled.

8. The court stated that it was the purpose of the court to entirely destroy the fraudulently labeled packages and order them called, and cause their removal from the market, and ordered Zeilin & Co. to deliver to the clerk to be destroyed, all cuts, dies, electrotypes, engravings and other paraphernalia used in impressing either of the above names or the picture of A. Q. Simmons.

9. Decreed that Zeilin & Co. pay all the damages which have accrued to complainant by the sale of these fraudulently labeled packages. The damages claimed by complainant [...] $50,000.

10. Decreed that Zeilin & Co. pay all the costs, which amount to [...] thousand dollars, incurred being one of the largest ever paid in the Supreme Court."

Cheap Medicine.

As a rule, "cheap medicine" is inert, worthless, or dangerous. In Zeilin & Co.'s answer to our bill they said the packages enjoined were designed as a "cheap negro medicine for the negroes of the Mississippi Valley." Now, as Zeilin & Co.'s advertisement says, and their manager swore, that all the liver medicine which they make is made by the same formula, it is not conclusive evidence from their sworn testimony and advertisements, that all their liver medicine amounts to a "cheap Negro Medicine"? Query: Do the people of America desire "Cheap Negro Medicine"? Is not the adjusted answer by their future purchases, Dr. M. A. Simmons' Liver Medicine, established in 1840, is not "cheap medicine." It is "no cure-all," and is on wise intended for those indispositions caused by inactivity of the liver.

EXPOSURE to WET and COLD

HAS proven disastrous to many women. Wet feet and damp clothing chill the entire system and the delicate female organs are at once effected. The Constitution makes the most remarkable proposition ever made to the subscribers of any southern newspaper. Beginning with the 1st of March it makes a cash offer of $5,000, to be divided among those of its subscribers who guess nearest to the size of the cotton crop of 1897-98—the crop grown last year and now already in. The exact number of bales of the crop will be announced in the early fall and figures given by the well known firm of Latham, Alexander & Co., of New York, and their figures will be accepted as final.

Two thousand five hundred dollars of the $5,000 offered by The Constitution will be given to the one making the exact or the nearest correct estimate of the crop; $1,500 to the second nearest, and $1,000 to the third nearest, provided the guesses are made during the present month.

The paper clubs with The Weekly Constitution, and we offer a special clubbing rate for both of $1.50 and all those who accept this clubbing offer will be entitled to a guess in The Constitution cotton crop contest. On receipt of the cash for the two papers, the name and subscription, with the guess of the cotton crop, will be forwarded to The Weekly Constitution.

The Weekly Constitution is the Greatest Weekly Newspaper in the World, with a circulation of 156,000. It covers the whole world in its news service, and covers the news of the United States in minute detail, with 12 pages, 7 columns to the page, 84 Columns Every Week.

AS A NEWSPAPER—The Weekly Constitution has no equal in America! Its news reports cover the world, and its correspondents and agents are to be found in almost every bailiwick in the Southern and Western States.

RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, CATARRH, ASTHMA, HEADACHE and their marvelous cure. Science of the 19th Century looks on with amazement at the most remarkable record of cures ever known in the World's history.

5 DROPS

Though so universally used and tested did you ever hear anyone speak ill of this great remedy? No, you never did and never will. Used as directed and in the proper quantity, 5 drops cannot fail to cure any of the diseases for which it is recommended. By the good it has already done to relieve the suffering, it is told in thousands of letters of grateful praise.

Mr. T. P. Lumbermer, widely known for many years as the special representative of the Publishers and Press Secret Dept. of the United States, has kindly forwarded the following letter for publication.

Jan. 25, 1896.

DEAR SIRS:—I am anxious for the sake of the suffering and out of gratitude to you, to give my personal endorsement of your wonderful remedy. On the 4th of January, 1895, I was in Washington and was suddenly seized with an excruciating case of inflammatory rheumatism in my arms and particularly my right wrist. In 24 hours my right arm was paralyzed and I was only able to dress with assistance. I secured a bottle of 5 Drops and took a dose that night rubbing the outside externally as directed. The next morning I was surprised to find myself much relieved, and continuing treatment, woke the second morning cured. My arm was as well as ever, free from pain and soreness and stiffness had disappeared. The quickness and completeness of my cure was remarkable. I have known for over a year of the great curative properties of your remedy and have several friends who have been cured of Neuralgia, Catarrh and Asthma. Wishing you every success and trusting that these statements may be of benefit to you to give this remedy a trial, I remain, Yours truly, T. P. LUMBERMER,
Bureau of Republican Conventions, Merchants Exchange Building, Chicago.

CURES THE INCURABLE.

DEAR SIRS:—I would like to thank you for your great remedy, "5 DROPS," and tell you what it has done for me. I had rheumatism in every joint and in the heart. I had had catarrh of the head for 30 years, I was so deaf that I had the use of but one ear, and could not leave without pain. I was a cripple. That I had one foot three inches and seven years, and our family physician, a good doctor, told me that my kidneys were incurable and I believed him. It now, after using 5 DROPS two months, I can truly say I have not felt so well for seven years. This medicine is more than is claimed for it. At this time my catarrh is entirely cured, and I have not any Rheumatism at all and the heart weakness and pain are gone. My hearing is much better, and my eyesight is much better. I have gained more than 20 pounds of flesh, am able to do a full day's work. It is the best medicine I ever saw to give a mother who has a child to cut its teeth, for it has the same effect on the child as on the mother. It made me sleep well, and relieved the hives of the child and caused it to sleep well during the teething stage. To both young and old I say, use 5 DROPS.

Yours respectfully,
W. M. KELLEMS.
Olivia, Penn.

Jan. 29, 1896.

We received the following letter from Mr. T. T. Wilson of Omaha, Neb. It has been for many years an invalid, and reading the above letter from Mr. Kellems, asking if his endorsement was genuine, and received this reply, which he forwarded us.

MR. J. J. WILSON.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of recent date at hand, the testimonial you speak of is correct. The company who manufactures and sells "5 Drops" published my testimonial. I gave it to them and every word of it is true, and I could swear to it and prove it by many witnesses. The company did not ask me for this letter. I sent it to them in January for publication in order that poor sufferers, thinking as I once was, and as I did, might be cured. Get "5 Drops" and use it and it will cure you as it has cured me. I have received many letters like yours, and it is a pleasure for me to answer all who write me. Tell your neighbors what I have written about "5 Drops." I know how to sympathize with those who are afflicted, for though I suffered so long, it is now 8 months since I have felt the least pain. My brother, who lives in Omaha, is also using "5 Drops" in his practice, and speaks highly of it. Dr. W. Kellems, my brother, lives in Olivia, Penn. He is a reputable physician and can be relied on in endorsing this great remedy. He says for a sick headache it is a positive cure.

Yours truly,
T. T. WILSON.
Sept. 21, 1896.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for it is, as Bookman says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it presents to its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the political, economic, and literary happenings which are of value to intelligent men and women. The "Progress of the World," which is concisely an illustrated story of the month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazines in free extracts; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the men who make the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of importance or serious import.

"We know of no review published in this country or in Europe which combines so successfully as the American Monthly the qualities of timeliness and energy of information with the sound judgment, careful selection, and exact knowledge, and well-chosen English of the purely literary periodicals."—The Outlook.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly volume the information needed by intelligent people of "live" instincts is best given in the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library in itself"; "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of genius"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOR JUDGE OF PROBATE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election as Judge of Probate of Chilton county, subject the action of the People's primary to be held April 23, 1898.

J. P. VANDEVER

UNTY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING

The Executive Committee of the Party of Chilton county met at the Court House at 10 o'clock a. m. and was called to order by Chairman H. I. Honeycutt at 11 o'clock. The Committee called upon Dr. Richton to act as secretary. The roll was called, and all the beats in the county were represented. The following vacancies in the committee were filled. Beat 3, W. J. Williams was elected to the place having removed from the county. Beat 5, J. W. G. Kellems was elected to fill the vacancy left by the county Benjamin Wells was elected to fill the vacancy. Beat 6, John Scott having moved out of the county. Beat 8, G. W. Edwards was elected to the vacant place.

On motion, the Committee proceeded to hold a private meeting. Chairman H. I. Honeycutt tendered his resignation, which was accepted. After some discussion was accepted, H. Conway was elected to the chairmanship for the day. Later in the day Mr. Conway was elected chairman of the committee to fill the unexpired term.

J. W. Littlejohn made a motion that beat meetings and a convention be held for the purpose of nominating candidates for the various offices. This brought on considerable discussion which was carried on until 1:30 when the committee adjourned for dinner. At 1:30 the committee reconvened and resumed the debate. It was evident that a majority of the committee favored a primary election, and when a vote was taken on Mr. Littlejohn's motion only two votes were cast in favor of the beat meetings and convention.

A motion was then made by A. Mims that a primary election be held and this was almost unanimously carried, only one vote being against the motion.

It was then decided that the candidate for each office receiving the highest number of votes in the primary should be declared the nominee of the party.

The following motion was made and carried:

"That only Populists who previously voted the Populist ticket shall be allowed to vote in the People's Party primary election. All persons who may desire to vote in this primary shall be required to solemnly pledge themselves in writing to support the nominees of the party at the general election in August."

The date of the primary election and the election will take place on Friday, April 29, 1898.

The following managers of election were appointed:

Beat 1—T. J. Dorminy, Glasscock, W. L. Honeycutt.
Beat 2—Box 1, W. H. Smith, B. Martin, Will Sims. Box 2, H. Reynolds, Geo. Shaw, J. Martin.
Beat 3—Box 1, H. W. Williams, Calvin Jones, Albert Foshee. Box 2, S. E. Waldrup, J. P. Vandever, D. Glasscock.
Beat 4—Geo. King, J. D. Hall, H. T. Littlejohn.
Beat 5—Box 1. Jasper. Box 2, S. Driver, J. S. Jones. Box 3, Ed O'Neal, W. H. Strother, Moore.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR JUDGE OF PROBATE.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the position of Judge of Probate of Chilton county subject to the action of the People's Party primary election April 29, 1898.

J. P. VANDERVEER.

COUNTY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING

The Executive Committee of the People's Party of Chilton county met Friday at the Court House and was called to order by Chairman H. I. Honeycutt at 11 a.m. The Committee called upon Frank Holston to act as secretary. The roll was called, and all the beats in the county were represented. The following vacancies in the committee were filled. Beat 3, Wylie Fo... having removed from the beat J. Williams was elected in his place. Beat 5, J. W. G. Kicker having left the county Ben H. ...s was elected to fill the vacancy. Beat 6, John Scott having left the beat G. W. Edwards was elected to the vacant place.

On motion, the Committee decided to hold a private meeting.

Chairman H. I. Honeycutt tendered his resignation, which after some discussion was accepted, and H. Conway was elected to the chairmanship for the day. Later in the day Mr. Conway was elected chairman of the committee to fill out the unexpired term.

J. W. Littlejohn made a motion for beat meetings and a convention held for the purpose of nominating candidates for the various offices. This brought on considerable discussion which was carried on until ... when the committee adjourned for dinner. At 1:30 the committee reconvened and resumed the debate. It was evident that a majority of the committee favored a primary election, and when a vote was taken on Mr. Littlejohn's motion only two votes were cast in favor of the beat meetings and a convention.

A motion was then made by W. ...ms that a primary election be held and this was almost unanimously carried, only one vote being against the motion.

It was then decided that the candidate for each office receiving the highest number of votes in the primary should be declared the nominee of the party.

The following motion was made and carried:

"That only Populists who have previously voted the Populist ticket will be allowed to vote in the People's Party primary election. Other persons who may desire to vote in this primary shall be required to solemnly pledge themselves in writing to support the nominees of the party at the general election in August."

The date of the primary was set, and the election will take place on Friday, April 29, 1898.

The following managers of election were appointed:

Beat 1—T. J. Dorminy, J. M. Glasscock, W. L. Honeycutt.

Beat 2—Box 1. W. H. Shaw, I. Martin, Will Sims. Box 2. L. ... Reynolds, Geo. Shaw, John Martin.

Beat 3—Box 1. H. W. Varden, Calvin Jones, Albert Foshee. Box 2. S. E. Waldrup, J. P. Nix, J. Glasscock.

Beat 4—Geo. King, J. D. Grant, T. Littlejohn.

Beat 5—Box 1. Jasper Dennis, Driver, J. S. Jones. Box 2. Ed O'Neal, W. H. Strock, L. Moore.

Beat 6—M. Popwell, J. R. Vinson, Ben Dobbs.

Beat 7—Box 1. S. B. McCary, Wm Worthy, J. D. Magee. Box 2. J. D. Holsembeck, Sanford Kelley, W. B. Green.

Beat 8—The committeemen from this beat were empowered to provide two boxes and appoint the managers.

Beat 9—A. E. Childers, J. W. Riggins, J. M. Mims.

The committeeman from each beat will act as returning officer and the Executive Committee will meet on Monday, May 2, to count the vote and announce the result of the election.

The following motion was made and carried:

"That each candidate for office in the county shall pledge himself to publicly announce his adherance to and belief in the principles of the People's Party as enunciated in the platforms of the party adopted at Ocala and St Louis."

The Chair was empowered to appoint some person to call upon the candidates to pay their pro rata share of the expense incurred in printing the tickets for the primary and any other expenses that may be necessary.

Delegates to the State, Judicial and Chancery conventions are to be elected in addition to the county officers.

The minutes were read and approved and the Committee adjourned at 4:15 p.m.

We are anxious to do a little good in this world and can think of no pleasanter or better way to do it than by recommending One Minute Cough Cure as a preventative of pneumonia, consumption and other serious lung troubles that follow neglected colds. Stanfield & Matthews.

A FATAL QUARREL AT ENERGY

On Saturday night a fatal termination was made to a quarrel which originated at a frolic. It appears that Wyatt Knight aged 22 and Leonard Strength aged 18 fell out during the frolic and after leaving the house the quarrel was renewed. In the height of it Strength drew his knife and plunged it into the breast of Knight who lingered until Sunday morning when he died. He was buried at the Eiland's graveyard on Monday evening. Strength made his escape and up to the present has not been captured although a party is out looking for him. He is supposed to have made for Prattville on Sunday. Both the young men have good characters and are well thought of in the community. What caused the quarrel is unknown.

A HAPPY WOMAN

Writes to Dr. Hartman and Tells Him What Makes Her So.

Mrs. Lucy Lee, of Naples, Tex., had almost came to the conclusion that the blessing of health was no longer hers, and so when she regained it, her happiness was almost too great for words. She writes as follows: "I am well now and am enjoying good health, better than ever before in my life. How happy I feel that I can write and tell you this. I cannot praise Pe-ru-na too much Man-a-lin is the best medicine I have ever tried for that purpose, it relieved me from all pain. I advised my neighbor to use Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin for catarrh and stomach trouble. It is the best in the world. I can do all my housework and not feel it. I can't praise Pe-ru-na as I would like to; it is the greatest medicine there is in the world."

Dr. Hartman receives many such letters as this every week. Some of them have been gathered together and published in book form. The book is called "Facts and Faces," and will be sent free to any address by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Oakmulgee, Ala., March 10, 1898.

Editor BANNER: I have been a rice grower for seventeen years and succeeded better in that than with other agricultural products. Been in the rice mill business five years. Rice is adapted to our low lands, most especially the irrigable part. Yield all the way from twenty to fifty bushels per acre, just like other crops owing to the preparations. Will pay well to cultivate on low wet land in drill as close as can be worked, but I much prefer to irrigate by damming the stream above the land and convey in ditches to farm and thence with small levies on the high parts so as to convey regularly on the land. It will not make an average if grown in water more than four inches deep. Ground should be well broken and then sown about one bushel per acre and harrowed in. Then kill the birds; doves and blackbirds are worst. Rice when milled yields like other products in proportion to the care, culture, etc. I irrigate as soon as I sow and keep water on until turning, or within three weeks of ripe. The nearer you can come making water stand or run regular from one to four inches deep the better. The best part of growing rice is that it is mostly adapted to land that will not make anything else. Some talk of upland rice, but it all likes water best. When milled best possible yield thirty lbs., oftener 27, from eighteen to 22 head rice, and seven to nine broken. Generally pays toll and is worth one dollar at current prices. I mill for the eight. Would not own a mill for the custom but I have grown 500 bushels upon an average for each of 17 years. If anyone should see this that has any to mill this season you only have time now.

Consumption Positively Cured.

Mr. R. B. Greeve, merchant, of Chilhowie, Va; certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for coughs, Colds and Consumption. It don't fail. Trial bottles free at Dr. J. S. Johnson's Drug Store.

A NEW TOWN.

A new town is being laid out between Billingsley and Clanton, near Pletcher's mill. It is situated on the M. T. & M. railroad, and is being laid out under the supervision of County Surveyor G. L. Speer. It is proposed to call the new town Edisonia. Already some lots have been purchased and buildings are going up. A new postoffice will be opened there as soon as the railroad is in operation.

How to Look Good.

Good looks are really more than skin deep, depending entirely on a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the liver be inactive, you have a bilious look; if your stomach be disordered, you have a dyspeptic look; if your kidneys be affected, you have a pinched look. Secure good health, and you will surely have good looks. "Electric Bitters" is a good Alterative and Tonic. Acts directly on the stomach, liver and kidneys. Purifies the blood, cures pimples, blotches and boils and gives a good complexion. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold at all Drug Stores.

CLANTON, - ALABAMA.

For the second time a woman has won a prize debate at Cornell University, the '94 memorial prize being awarded to Miss Abigail Laughlin, '98. Another fair orator won the Woodford medal several years ago. By holding their own in these more conspicuous competitions, as well as by the rank they attain in examinations, the women students at Cornell continue to justify by their works the principle of co-education of the sexes.

It does not speak well for the Paris police that fifty-three murders should have been committed along the Seine within three months and yet the first arrests are now made. According to Gaboriau and other romance writers, the French police track and overhaul criminals with the instinct of the bloodhound, but in real life their work does not compare with the work of English or American detectives, who do not have the help of the admirable French registration system.

"Some idea of the formidable character of our pension expenses may be gathered," notes the New York Independent, "from the fact that the total payments, including expense of administration, etc., amounts to $2,178,753,270 in the past thirty-two years, from and inclusive of 1866. These enormous expenditures were on account of the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, the Mexican and Indian Wars and the Civil War. The cost of modern wars is truly prohibitory."

General Roy Stone, Acting President of the National League for Good Roads, believes that he has found a way to make postal savings banks and good roads promote each other. His plan, in brief, is that postal savings banks shall be established, and that the Postoffice Department shall invest the deposits in county bonds for the building of good roads. The scheme is favored by the League of American Wheelmen, road improvement associations generally, and many educational institutions. C. W. Stone, a member of Congress from Pennsylvania, has embodied it in a proposed amendment to the Postal Savings Bill.

The mineral production of the United States for 1897 is put by the Engineering and Mining Journal at a total valuation of $762,061,106, of which $257,451,172 is for metals and $504,609,934 for non-metallic substances. The gold production is estimated at $55,498,950 and the silver at 56,117,000 ounces, worth $33,558,906 against 58,488,810 ounces, worth $39,245,991, in 1896. The gold product is placed considerably under that of Mint Director Preston, who puts it at $61,500,000. With the exception of the Southern States, whose yield is inconsiderable, every State and territory in the Union that produces gold has increased its output. Mr. Preston has shown himself a very conservative statistician, as he under estimated the 1896 production by $10,000,000. The difference between him and the Engineering Journal is quite considerable, but as both show a big gain over previous years and as bigger gains are in sight for 1898 and an indefinite term thereafter, the public can afford to rest easy until the full statistics are obtainable.

Whether on account of improved sanitary conditions or on account of the increased skill which physicians have developed in battling with disease, there is gratifying evidence of a marked decline in the death rates of our leading American cities during the past year. As compiled by one of the leading medical journals of the country, the death rates for the cities of New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati, Baltimore, Boston and St. Louis, as disclosed by the figures for the past year, are as follows:

	Per 1,000 Inhabitants.
Chicago	13.5
Philadelphia	18.8
New York	19.2
St. Louis	18.2
Boston	15.8
Baltimore	21.3
Cincinnati	14.3

While there is quite a decided difference between the death rates of some of the cities mentioned in the foregoing table, the showing which the record in its entirety evinces is unusually gratifying. Although the exact figures for this immediate section of the country are not accessible, it may safely be affirmed that the South will compare favorably with any other section in point of healthfulness. As for Atlanta, there is no city in the United States which possesses superior sanitary advantages.

NO RESTRICTION SHOWN

In Any Branch of Business on Account of War Scare.

MANY LINES OF TRADE STEADILY GAINING.

Enormous Exports Continue—More Gold Is Coming in From Europe Than Is Needed—Prices for Pig Iron Very Strong—Business Failures.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

It is most gratifying that no industry or branch of business shows any restriction or hindrance, but some have been rapidly gaining for the past week and month. The railways are gaining even while speculators are selling their stocks, and the demand for products for all the great industries is increasing.

More gold is coming from Europe than is needed, $10,868,000 having been ordered during the past week and money markets are nowhere alarmed or stringent, although reasonably more cautious.

The country rests assured that its industries, almost all of its business and foreign demands for its products and especially all its resources are beyond the reach of any foreign power and that its honor and foreign interests are in safe hands.

The greatest of all industries is sending grain forward as if there were no limit to its supply. Exports of wheat have been 4,171,497 bushels, flour included, against 1,268,171 last year from Atlantic and Pacific ports, and for two weeks 7,462,730 bushels against 3,016,546 bushels last year. Exports of corn, in spite of smaller yield, have been 7,706,294 bushels in two weeks against 9,336,699 bushels last year, when they far surpassed all records. Wheat declined 2¼ cents, but corn did not change during the week. Cotton declined ¼ cent, sales of fertilizers indicating a less reduction of acreage this year than was expected. Exports of principal products in February were $61,631,091 in value, with increase over last year of about 50 per cent. in bread stuffs, in cotton 25 per cent. and 25 per cent. in the aggregate.

The weekly output of pig iron was 228,338 tons February 1, and 234,430 tons March 1. For four months production has gained a little, but consumption still more, and if preparations for war last only a few weeks they will add much to the demand. Other consumption for railroad cars, for vessels on the lakes, for elevators and oil pipe lines, for agricultural implement works and for sheets, is beyond precedent, and structural and rail works are crowded with orders, though now receiving few.

The minor metals are generally stronger in demand.

Sales for wool this week have been the smallest since the week of greatest alarm in August, 1896, but not because any mills have stopped work.

Cotton goods have a large distribution, and prices are generally steady, though in outside dealings. Print cloths are a shade lower. Prints are in better demand.

The failures for the week have been 248 in the United States, against 256 last year, and 36 in Canada, against 61 last year.

PERSELY TOLD TELEGRAMS

THREE NEW BATTLESHIPS

Authorized by the Naval Committee of the House.

Three new battleships, of the staunchest type afloat, were authorized by the house committee on naval affairs Friday, and a provision for their construction inserted in the appropriation bill.

At the same time the committee agreed on a maximum price of $400 per ton for armor plate for our vessels, increased the force of naval marines by 473 men and put matters in fair shape for a decision on the location of dry docks, probably four in number, capable of accommodating the largest sized warships.

Call for Democratic Convention.

Pursuant to resolutions adopted at a meeting of the state executive committee of the democratic party held in Montgomery February 15, Chairman Knox has made the following call:

The state convention and the judicial, chancery and senatorial conventions of all the judicial circuits, chancery divisions and senatorial districts which have no executive committee are called to meet in the hall of the house of representatives in the city of Montgomery April 20, 1898. The beat meetings and primary elections to send delegates to the county conventions are called for Saturday, April 9, 1898, and the county conventions and mass meetings to send delegates to the state convention and such judicial, chancery and senatorial conventions are called for Wednesday, April 13, 1898.

Epidemic Ended.

The smallpox epidemic in the Birmingham section of the state is officially as well as actually at an end. The disease practically has been stamped out for some weeks, but the marine hospital corps physicians who were sent here several months ago to take charge of the situation in this and other counties have remained in order to prosecute the work of vaccination and complete their labors in eradicating the disease finally. They have been very successful, so much so that there are now but twenty patients at the Red Mountain hospital and all are convalescing. Dr. Magruder, representing the marine hospital service, who has been in charge here, closed up headquarters last week, and after transmitting a letter to Mayor Evans announcing the completion of his work, left for his home in Memphis.

Mammoth Saw Mill Plant Burned.

Saturday evening fire destroyed the mammoth saw and planing mill of Arantz Bros. and several other buildings at Decatur. The loss on the plant alone was $50,000, to say nothing of the losses on other buildings and an enormous pile of lumber which, at present, cannot be estimated. There was not a cent of insurance carried on the plant, but $40,000 on the lumber yard.

Bryan Gives a Prize to the University.

Hon. Wm. J. Bryan has given to the University of Alabama $250, the same to be invested and the annual proceeds used for a prize to be given to students for the best essay discussing the Science of Government. Dr. Powers in behalf of the institution and the board of trustees has accepted the donation.

Cotton Mill Proposals for Huntsville.

An interesting and largely attended meeting of the chamber of commerce was held in Huntsville Friday and favorable reports from several committees appointed to secure new industries were heard. President R. E. Pettus made a lengthy address, saying that the chamber of commerce could within a week secure fifty bona fide propositions from cotton mill men who will locate there for small bonuses. He named three that he says can be secured for $20,000. The secretary reported that he is now receiving more literature than ever before and that many representatives of cotton mills have been in Huntsville prospecting during the past month.

Scheme Collapsed.

J. M. Webster went to Paint Rock last July from some place in Ohio. He purchased the G. G. Lilly mill and property, consisting of dwelling and store house, ordered a rolling mill outfit, purchased the Bellfont factory property in Madison county, and otherwise cut a prominent figure in financial circles. He has decamped to parts unknown without paying anything.

Solomon Kohn, one of Selma's progressive citizens, died Thursday.

COTTON MILL FOR FLORENCE

Deal for a Factory to Cost $100,000 Has Been Arranged.

A deal for the establishment of a $100,000 cotton factory has just been arranged at Florence, and work on the plant will be begun immediately. At the head of the deal is Mr. F. M. Perry, a local business man who is well able to carry out any plan he may decide upon, being the wealthiest man in the county. Mr. Perry has purchased from the Florence Cotton and Iron company of Philadelphia a tract of twelve hundred acres of land on Cypress creek, together with all the water power and rights, and about a dozen buildings, including the building formerly used by the Cypress Mill company, and will begin at once to repair the old building, erect new buildings, and purchase new machinery. He will spend between $50,000 and $75,000 on the plant this year.

New Officer's Good Showing.

The appointment a few months ago of Hon. John Case, of Mobile, as tax collector for that county, to succeed Mr. Lott, whose defalcations to the state and county are something like $10,000, appears to be in line with the other acts of Governor Johnston's business administration. From last October to March 1 the new tax collector has accounted for $204,317. The collections for the whole of the previous year, under his predecessor, amounted to only $153,163.

A Brave Ex-Confederate Dead.

William W. Beasley, one of the bravest men that ever wore the gray, died in Louisville, Ky., last week. He left Selma with Company A, of the Fourth Alabama regiment, giving up his work as a printer to go to the front in defense of his country. At Manassas, single-handed and alone, he captured twenty-one Yankees. In their flight on that occasion they ran into a cellar. Young Beasley cut off their retreat and made each one come out and lay down his arms.

Big Illicit Whisky Plant Destroyed.

One of the largest illicit whisky plants destroyed in Alabama in many days fell into the hands of a deputy collector near Paint Rock, Jackson county, a day or two ago. The plant consisted of two 400-gallon stills, three 2,000 gallon beer tanks, six 40 gallon beer stands, seven 1,000-gallon mash stands and a quantity of tools. The plant was situated in a secluded place on the banks of the Tennessee river.

BRIEFLY MENTIONED.

Wm. J. Bryan spoke to a large concourse of people at Selma Tuesday night.

Rev. I. Dawson, a noted negro preacher and politician of Greene county, died the past week.

The Birmingham Railway & Electric Company will extend its West End line to Powderly within the next four weeks.

Ed. James, while coupling cars on the L. & N. railroad at Decatur, tripped in a frog and fell. His foot was cut off and the man otherwise badly bruised.

William Vanhille committed suicide in Birmingham Saturday night by taking morphine. The deceased was at one time a prosperous cotton merchant of New Orleans.

The business and publishing interest of the Southwestern Presbyterian, now published at New Orleans, are to be at once transferred to Birmingham, under the care of Rev. J. G. Snedecor as its business manager.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Western railroad at Montgomery the necessary money for the contemplated depot and other improvements in that city was voted. The estimated cost will be $150,000.

J. G. Stewart has mysteriously disappeared from his home, New Decatur.

Birmingham's cotton receipts for the season up to last Thursday have been 106,928 bales.

The criminal grand jury of Jefferson county, which was orgazized Feb. 21, has concluded its labors. Out of 232 cases presented for consideration 155 true bills of indictments were found.

The new law for Limestone county, by which one-tenth of 1 per cent is levied for road purposes, is declared unconstitutional. The decision makes much trouble, as several thousand dollars worth of tools, etc., had been purchased for the work, which now becomes useless.

Vets Are Organizing.

The veterans of the civil war living in Oakland, Cal., have decided to offer the services of a full company to the government in the event of war with Spain. A company of 100 is being organized.

A conference of officials and several persons connected with steamship lines was held at Washington to map out plans for arming and equipping merchant vessels, to be used in case hostilities break out between the United States and Spain.

GUNS FOR THE COAST.

All That Can Possibly Be Made Are Wanted.

Secretary Alger has authorized General Flagler, the chief of ordnance, to make arrangements at once for procuring a large number of rapid fire guns for seacoast defenses. This action is taken without waiting for the allotment among the various bureaus of the war and navy departments of the $50,000,000 voted for the national defense.

The secretary felt that there was no reason for further delaying the necessary steps for the procurement of these guns, as it was felt there would be no trouble in arriving at an equitable adjustment of the money available.

Ever since the battleship Maine was wrecked in Havana harbor the ordnance department has been hastening the delivery of guns already finished and making arrangements for the supply of such additional ones as the officials felt warranted in ordering without the additional funds which have since been put at their disposal.

The ordnance bureau will take all the rapid fire guns that can be procured within a reasonable time, and they will be shipped to the seacoast for fortifications as rapidly as possible. They constitute what is known as the auxiliary defense of the fortifications, and are a material assistance to the big guns, which are necessarily slower of movement of firing.

Contracts for the delivery of carriages for these rapid fire guns have also been authorized, and will be shipped to the fortifications as soon as completed.

"VERY REMOTE"

Is the Possibility of Settling the Controversy Without War, Says McKinley.

A Washington special says: So clear is it now to all that sharp work must soon come that the president himself, in a private conversation, throws aside the mask he has been wearing for the past weeks. He said to an intimate friend Friday that the situation is one of gravity, and that in his opinion the possibility of settling the controversy with Spain without war was "very remote."

He said he had had in his possession for nearly a week full information of the causes which led to the disaster at Havana, and that the circumstances are such as to render peaceful negotiations "exceedingly difficult." He admitted that the war and navy departments are engaged on work intended to anticipate the direst result, and this result he saw little hope of escaping.

The president informed this gentleman that he would send to congress within the next few days a message which will convey to the public the findings of the Sampson court of inquiry. The president told his visitor that the Maine was blown up by a submarine mine under such conditions as surrounded the disaster with all that promised the "gravest consequences." He also explained that careful plans had been mapped out, but they would be manifestly improper subjects for discussion.

PROCTOR WILL SUPPORT WAR.

Senator Back from Cuba Is Not at All Pleased With What He Saw.

Senator Proctor and party have returned from Cuba. The senator says he has nothing to say just now, but intimate friends stated that the senator was in a frame of mind to indorse anything that promised to end the atrocities in Cuba.

In regard to war prospects he was non-committal, but did say he would support McKinley most heartily in going to the extreme. In speaking of the anti-American feeling in Havana he grew very indignant, and said with heat:

"The day will come, and soon, too, I think, when those haughty dons will respect the stars and stripes."

Both Senator Proctor and Mr. Parker is quite stirred over the horrors they witnessed in Cuba. Mr. Parker thinks that Senator Proctor's report will have great weight in congress.

Spain Wants No War With Us.

The new Spanish minister, Senor Bernabe, in an interview with an Associated Press reporter, says:

"I am sure that the United States does not want war, just as I am sure that the Spanish government does not want war, and will do everything honorable in its power to avert such a calamity."

NAVIL BILL COMPLETED.

Carries $30,000,000, Aside From Dry Docks and Armor.

The naval appropriation bill has been practically completed by the house committee. It will be reported early this week. There have been few changes from the estimates, and the bill will involve in the neighborhood of $30,000,000, aside from new vessels, dry docks and armor.

A Triple Alliance Pending.

The New York correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: "I have it on the highest authority that a triple alliance between Great Britain, the United States and Japan is pending."

NEW DEPARTMENT CR

Orders Drafted by Secretary Alger Making

ATLANTA A POINT OF NATIONAL RE

Department of Texas Has Been Merged in the Military Map Being Gotham to Assume Command of the New Department

A special from Washington to the Atlanta Constitution says:

The secretary of war has issued an order creating a new military department, with headquarters at Atlanta. General Alger came to that decision this afternoon, and before the information had been given out at the war department instructions were sent to Brigadier General William M. Graham, commander of the department of Texas, at San Antonio, to proceed at once to Atlanta with two of his staff officers and others to remain to attend to the details of the removal of the troops.

The order for the creation of the new department, to be known as the department of the gulf, will abolish the department of Texas, which has been in existence many years.

The removal of the headquarters from San Antonio is not without heavy loss to the government, on account of the fact that the handsome buildings in San Antonio will probably be abandoned, at least temporarily.

There are no government buildings in Atlanta for the accommodation of the headquarters and for the present available buildings will have to be hired.

The new department will embrace the states of Georgia, South Carolina, Texas, Louisiana, Alabama, Florida and Mississippi.

That portion of the formula issued by the war department covering the creation of this new department is as follows:

"A department is hereby established to be known as the department of the gulf, to consists of the states of South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga.

"The records of the department of the Missouri will be transferred to the department of the lakes and that of the department of Texas to the department of the gulf.

"Major General John R. Brooke is assigned to the department of the lakes, and Brigadier General William M. Graham to the command of the department of the gulf.

"The officers of the several staff departments now on duty in the department of the Missouri and the department of Texas are assigned to similar duties in the department of the lakes and of the gulf respectively."

This is based on an entire rearrangement of the several departments, and this the department of the Missouri and the department of Texas are done away with.

This leaves the departments of the army:

Department of the East, with headquarters at Governor's island, New York.

Department of the Lakes, with headquarters at Chicago.

Department of Dakota, with headquarters at St. Paul.

Department of the Colorado, with headquarters at Denver.

Department of the Platte, with headquarters at Omaha.

Department of California, with headquarters at San Francisco.

Department of the Columbia, with headquarters at Vancouver barracks.

Department of the Gulf, with headquarters at Atlanta.

WAS A CUBAN VICTORY.

Nearly 900 Spaniards Were Killed at Najasa.

The Cuban junta at New York has received by message the official report of General Rego Recio, who commanded the Cuban forces at the battle of Najasa, on February 21-24. The details of the battle show that while the Cubans were outnumbered four to one for four days they held their position and caused the Spanish troops to retreat, leaving 293 dead men upon the field. The Spanish version says the fighting resulted in a victory for Spain.

PLANS BEING SUBMITTED

To the President to End the Cuban Controversy Without War.

Projects for the settlement of the Cuban question are numerous, and most of them are regarded in official circles as unworthy of serious consideration. One plan, however, has been presented to the president which has received the approval in a general way of leading men whose counsels have weight with the administration. While there is reason to believe it is the subject of studious reflection in the cabinet. The proposed plan gives to Spain all of the rights, privileges and immunities enjoyed by Canada, Spain reserving to herself only such rights as England exercises over her colonies.

British Ships Total Loss.

The British ship W. H. Corsair, from Ship Island, Miss., to Belfast, with a timber cargo, is ashore on Horn Island, Miss., and will prove a total loss. She is a 1,300-ton vessel, and went ashore in the fog.

$240,000 Fire Loss.

Fire destroyed the plant of the Deadwood and Delaware smelter Deadwood, S. D., entailing a loss $230,000.

The preamble to the Constitution of the United States is as follows:

"We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, provide for the common defense, ensure domestic tranquility, promote the general welfare and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution."

Here are the preamble the constitutional objects and purposes of our government. Things that are to be subservient to the people, the United States and their rights, and in a long harangue he insisted that the United States should discharge "all its obligations, at home and abroad, in the currency reconciled as the best throughout the civilized world at the time of payment" locally regardless of the consideration paid or the terms of the contract. Were a private citizen, the attorney or agent of a debtor to do this thing in behalf of a creditor, and if a larger sum should be paid the latter than the contract called for, the attorney would in law and equity be responsible to the creditor for the excess. And should the excess so paid be out of funds in the attorney's hands he would be liable to a criminal prosecution for embezzlement. The government that would do a thing would be morally dishonest people.

Besides, where in the Constitution of the United States is there any provision declaring that there is any duty on the part of the United States to impose taxes so as to conform to the laws of any other country or countries. The assertion that any such duty exists is astounding in its assumption and is also false.

This great and independent nation makes its own laws for all subjects. We are not subservient to be governed by the laws of any foreign power whatever. The requirements of our own special conditions, financial or otherwise, is the only proper guides for the enactment of our laws, other nations have their own special conditions, financial or otherwise, which render an independent, honorable course impossible. Subordination to the dictates of any foreign power is unconstitutional and unpatriotic.

With Mr. McKinley not the nature of the act, however unwise or atrocious, but the standing and position of the parties furnishes the data of approval or censure. Is Satan still an angel of light when he wins a success?

Regardless of all foreign "princes, potentates and powers" we as a free people, "Americans for Americans," and the Americans, always and in all things shall fully represent our institutions and maintain this principle firmly and strongly as a guarantee to the people by the people of the United States of the form of government and the powers to enforce and maintain this principle. The right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness in their own way, under our own National Constitution, notwithstanding the hostile designs of the empires and monarchies of Europe.

Our great and patriotic Washington in his farewell address to the American people warned them to "beware of entangling alliances with foreign nations."

The modern legislation of our country fostering gigantic financial combinations and trusts and foreign money borrowing for the promotion of such trusts has entangled us in thirty-one billions and four hundred and eighty-eight millions of dollars of debt ($31,488,000,000). (See speech of Congressman Walker, chairman of the committee of banking and currency, March 29, 1892.) And our people have become debtor slaves to the creditors who hold these vast sums of the obligations of the people of the United States, the result of the incompetency or errors of those who have wielded for these many years the powers of our government.

POINTS FROM THE PRESS.

Blessed are the righteous minority, for they are the forerunners of every reform.—The Patriot.

The Populists in Oregon have made arrangements to fuse on with the Democrats and with the Silver Republicans. The members of the People's party elsewhere have consented to fuse with the Democrats on congressional nominations. The outlook for the fall campaign is, consequently, very good. The Populists ought to secure forty members of the next house, which would be nearly double the membership they have now. The southern continent will probably be larger than it is now. As for the west, it is more anti-Republican than it has been for many years.—Twentieth Century.

The essence of slavery is in getting something for nothing—in getting service without rendering service in exchange. This is true, whether the slavery be by means of the ownership of the bodies of men, the ownership of land on which and from which they must live, or of a dollar which represents wealth instead of service.—The Equitist.

The women of the plutocracy of Chicago, having no ideas higher than animal, have organized a society for the propagation of thoroughbred cats. This may be called an evidence of Tom Cat prosperity. 'Rah for McKinley prosperity! Say, you ragged, hungry American voting king, don't you wish you were as good as a cat? Nice, intelligent cats! Ugly, ignorant voting kings!—Appeal to Reason.

Congressman Loud is again making a noise about the postal deficit, and trying to get all books shut out from the cheap postal rates that enable the publishers to give good reading matter at cheap prices. Mr. Loud will spend his efforts in vain. Senators Stewart and Butler knocked him out in the last congress and it is safe to predict they will not be caught napping in this congress.—Non-Conformist.

One more turn of the screw-press that is squeezing the life blood out of "free" Americans is contemplated by a clique of schemers in the interest of monopoly. It is to be hoped that the infamous measure known as the Loud bill will not become a law until the reform press has educated the people into methods of self-helpfulness of a peaceful nature. The people are ignorant enough now. If the cheap pamphlets and the sample copies of the reform press are cut off and the minds of the masses are left to the tender culture of the organs of capitalism, ignorance will be intensified and oppression will run riot. The result is easy to foretell, for we have history as a guide and like causes produce like effects.—F. W. C. in Progressive Thought.

A Cause to Be Won.

Come forth from the valley, come forth from the hill,
Come forth from the workshop, the mine, and the mill,
From pleasure or slumber, from study or play,
Come forth in your myriads to aid us today.
There's a word to be spoken, a deed to be done,
A truth to be learned, a cause to be won.

Come, youths, in your vigor, come, men, in your prime,
Come, age-worn experience fresh gathered from time,
Come workers, you're with me, come, thinkers, you must,
Come thick as the cloud is in the midsummer dust,
Or the waves of the sea gleaming bright in the sun,
There's a truth to be told, a cause to be won.

Lincoln Against Gage, Depew & Co.

The assumption by Gage, Depew, and nearly every Republican orator, in celebrating the birthday of Lincoln, that Lincoln was a goldite and in favor of the classes against the masses, recalls to mind how different the teaching of Lincoln from those of gold monopolists. For example in his message to Congress of December 3, 1861, in discussing the labor question, he said:

"No men living are more worthy to be trusted than those who toil up from poverty—none less inclined to take or touch aught which they have not honestly earned. Let them beware of surrendering a political power which they already possess and which, if surrendered, will surely be used to close the door of advancement and burdens upon them, till all of liberty shall be lost."

Direct Legislation and Proportionate Representation Are the Remedies for the Evils Illustrated in the Following Skit by Mr. Cridge.

Review of the Class in Political Skullduggery.

Stand up, class in Political Skullduggery. What is a majority, Johnny Jugglem?

A sack and a boss, sir.

Keerect. What part of the whole is 51 per cent. of 51 per cent?

The whole thing, sir.

Prove it.

Dead easy, sir. A law is the "expressed will of the people." It is enacted by a vote of 51 per cent. of a bare quorum in Congress, and a bare quorum is less than 51 per cent. So, sir, 51 per cent. of 51 per cent. is the whole thing.

Very good Johnny, and very true. You will be author of an apportionment gerrymander bill yet.

Teddy Fuddlem, give a further example of political arithmetic.

Yes, sir. A majority party in power is run by a caucus vote, which is a majority of itself. Therefore the bare majority thrice removed is 100 per cent.

No doubt of it. Very well, indeed! Billy Limbolaw, express this political equation still further, please, that the beauties of Political Skulduggery may unfold before us.

With pleasure, sir. Members of Congress are sent from districts varying from 7,000 to 60,000 voters, and the dominant party in power rarely has thirty out of every hundred votes cast to show to the credit of its elected candidates. A dominant clique in a caucus rarely has over 15 per cent. of the popular vote back of its individual members. But they can and do enact laws; hence 15 per cent. is equal to 100 per cent.

Yes, yes, but our beautiful system has more to show still. Howeling Patriot, give us the next step.

It is this way, sir. Congressmen are nominated by conventions, and frequently a candidate is nominated by a bare scratch. The delegates to these conventions come from country conventions; the members of the latter from primaries where, on the average, those who vote do not exceed 15 per cent. of the rank and file of the party. So, sir, considering that at each of these steps within the party organization past masters of our science are in control, it is safe to say that the dominant element in a party caucus is not the choice of 5 per cent. of the voters, and then one-half the adult population is disfranchised and one-fifth of the voters won't vote.

Just so, young gentlemen; but the proof of this has not been shown by any of you as yet. Dick Divy, let us see if you can prove the examples.

Yes, sir. The proof lies in the fact that for the past third of a century all legislation has been to the benefit of less than 5 per cent. of the people.

Correct, correct. Now the class repeat after me:

The people are to blame!
Elect honest men!
Elect an honest man next time!
The majority rules!
If you want reform, vote for it!
This is a free country!
The people rule!
Public officers are public servants!
Honest voters honest laws!
Ha-ha! ha-ha! ha-ha-ha!

The class will now adjourn to hear Professor Prostituted Brain lecture on Political Extravagance.

ALFRED D. CRIDGE.

Foreigners Like W. W. Astor.

We will venture to say that never in the history of the world has there existed a country equal to ours in its servitude to the foreigner. We use the word foreigner in what the diplomats call an "extra mural" sense, for we cannot look upon the men who have chosen this land as their home as foreigners. The man who settles here from abroad and strives to gain an honest livelihood among us has ceased to be a foreigner. The foreigner is the person who, like William Waldorf Astor, gets his gold from these shores and spends it in the pleasure palaces of the old world. And as for our own dependence upon a foreigner, consider the question of the monetary standard. We get our fiscal policy made for us in London. When it is suggested that we make our own fiscal policy, it seems that we must call the nations together in a monetary conference and get their permission. Again, at our very gates, the foreigner is despoiling the fairest of isles, and all we can do is look on helplessly. The foreigner actually comes over here and organizes a spy system within our borders, and still we are helpless. Then the foreigner takes it into his head to insult our chief magistrate and then resigns. That makes our blood boil and we attempt to have the insolent foreigner reminded of what is our due, but it is too late. The foreigner has got ahead of us by resigning, and so nothing can be done but wait for some other Spaniard to come over here and do it all over again. On top of these things, we boast of our freedom and of our independence.—Twentieth Century.

The Visionaries.

Every man and every woman who has brain of a superior quality is a visionary. It is only the dull, senseless clod who has no visions of a higher-fed humanity; of an international brotherhood wherein there shall be no soldiers and few policemen; of a holier church, better judges and a better law. These were some of the visions of Jefferson.—M. M. TRUMBULL.

BRITISH VIEW OF SILVER.

British diplomats and commercial agents in the far east are constantly reminded of the fact that silver has been demonetized. The commercial man in New York or London may shut his eyes and try not to see what is taking place in the world, but the East Indian Englishman is compelled to face the truth. From time to time some conservative Englishman expresses his opinion to the home government or the English public in a manner that cannot be misunderstood. One of the most recent books on the far eastern question is that published in 1896 by Valentine Chirol. This gentleman has been for many years intimately connected with Chinese and Japanese affairs. He has even been summoned before the Tsungli-Yamen the Chinese foreign office, to give his advice on affairs of state. We cannot but feel assured that he has a pretty full knowledge of the whole far eastern situation. Here is what he has to say about the effects in the east of the fall of silver:

"One does not require to believe in bimetallism in order to recognize the enormous advantages which the manufacturers in a silver country enjoy in competing with gold countries. The cost of the necessaries of life, so far as the masses are concerned, has remained absolutely unaffected by the fall in the value of silver, and the workman is therefore quite content to receive the same wages as he did formerly, for their purchasing power, as far as he is concerned, is still the same. But while the wages bill of the employer in China and Japan has remained actually the same, it stands, in relation to his western competitor, at only half the figure to which it formerly amounted, now that the value of the silver dollar has fallen from one-fifth to nearly one-tenth of the pound, that is from four shilling to two shillings in gold. Thus, where, for example, for the production of similar goods to the value of, say, £100, the cost of labor was and still is £20 in England and $50 in China or Japan, the real cost in China or Japan is no longer, as it was formerly, £10 in sterling currency as against £20 when carried to England, but only £5. And the same applies to any raw material required for the purposes of manufacture which both the gold and silver countries equally produce. The silver price of Cardiff coal, notwithstanding the fall of its gold price, has increased from $10 to $15, silver, per ton, while, with the excellent plant laid down in Japan to work the native mines and the construction of railways to convey their output to the chief industrial centers, the price of Japanese coal has fallen to $3 per ton in silver, or for the purposes of competition with gold countries, to little more than $1.50 (gold) per ton. The depreciation in silver might, in fact, be said to operate as a system of protection in favor of the industries of silver countries as against those of gold countries."

In another part of the book the writer tells us that while the ninety-three spinning companies of Lancashire, England, were working at a loss, the cotton mills of Japan were paying dividends of 16 to 20 per cent. and even more. By 1894 the cotton exports of England to Japan had suffered in six years a decline of 40 per cent, while the trade of Bombay with Japan had suffered to the extent of 80 per cent. In the latter place the rapidly appreciating rupee is ruining the trade that competes with manufactures of the silver-using countries. The gold-standard nations are learning in the dear school of experience, but it is doubtful if the great money-lenders will take the lessons to heart so long as they can lend money to manufacturers operating in the silver-using countries. The only hope is that the masses will wake up to the danger of the situation.

H. F. THURSTON.

If Lincoln Should Come Back.

The gloomy side of civilization today would undoubtedly send Lincoln hurrying back to his grave.

He would look sadly out of date to begin with—for his breed has almost died out. He is not fat and cynical like Tom Reed, or cunning and devious like Hill, or smoothly self-complacent like Depew. He would be a strange figure among our public men.

With his loose, ill-fitting clothes, his huge hands and feet, his honest face and his honest soul, not for sale, he would startle a Havemeyer or Rockefeller into fits of appendicitis.

Think of him walking among New York's hundred thousand unemployed, among the starving New Bedford strikers! And imagine him among the dead and wounded at Lattimer! He would say:

"They never murdered their slaves wholesale in my day; take me back to my tomb."

PROSPERITY NOTES.

The Centerville, R. I., cotton mills were closed on account of the strike of the weavers.

A 9-per cent reduction in wages has been made in the Forestdale Mills at Woonsocket, R. I.

Some of the New Bedford mills have decided to buy yarn in England, so as to be able to make cloth without the aid of spinners.

The frame spinners at the Iron Works mill, at Fall River, Mass., have returned to work, giving up the fight against the reduction.

The Wheeling, W. Va., Iron and Steel company has posted notices of an immediate reduction from 10 to 20 per cent in the wages of all the plate mill hands, and demanded an increase of one heat per turn in the work to be done at these rates. A strike was the immediate result.

TEXT: "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."—Matthew vi., 34.

Here is a bit of philosophy too profound to be appreciated without careful and continuous study. It also contains a stern injunction not to worry over what cannot be helped, but, on the other hand, to make the best of your circumstances. You are commanded to let the past go its way into the land of forgetfulness, and not to borrow from the future the troubles which you fear it may contain, but to live in the present as far as possible. It is a command very difficult to obey, and yet obedience is absolutely necessary if you would get out of life all that God has put into it.

The man who has a vivid remembrance of his past troubles and who cherishes that memory deliberately throws a gloom over his present. If he will confine himself to the duty of the moment he will generally find that he is quite equal to it, but if he collects all the miseries of yesterday and of the day before and adds them to the burdens of to-day he becomes disheartened, and his discouragement saps his moral strength and produces moral weakness. You have enough to do to face what is immediately before you, and if you conjure up the ghosts of misdeeds and of trials which have been outlived you do yourself a serious injury and interfere with your spiritual or business success.

In like manner, if you think you can master to-day's work, but dampen your ardor by wondering how you are going to get through to-morrow, you produce a nervous tension which debilitates and brings about the very failure that you dread. No man can carry more than one day at a time. When Jesus asks you not to attempt to do so He gives you wise counsel, and you had better follow the advice. Life is not so smooth that you can afford to make it rougher by recalling the bad roads over which you have already passed or anticipating the bad roads over which you will have to pass before the end of the journey is reached. You may be cheerful, and therefore strong, if you will forget the things that are behind and let the future take care of itself; but if you propose to add yesterday and to-morrow to to-day you will add what God warns you against doing, and will certainly make a great mistake.

If the sun shines now, be grateful and contented. Suppose it did rain yesterday, or suppose we are to have a blizzard to-morrow. You have got beyond the rain on the one hand, and, on the other, the time has not come to meet the blizzard. It is foolish to make yourself miserable now because you were miserable a few days hence. One duty, one labor at a time is sufficient enough. If there is any enjoyment to be had, take it with an eager grasp; for if you sit in the warm sunshine for only five minutes it helps you bear the cold of the next five minutes. It is poor policy to spoil those first five minutes by worrying about the other five minutes.

Let me illustrate. There is nothing in connection with death more wearing than the regret that you did not do more for the one who has gone. This is a universal experience with those who have any heart. The fact of separation seems to have a magic in it, for it is suddenly revealed to you that there were many little attentions which you failed to render, and the remembrance pierces like a knife. No one ever parted with a loved one without self-blame of that kind.

But as a general thing it is all an illusion conjured up by overwrought nerves. In very truth you did whatever the circumstances suggested; you did as much as human nature is capable of doing, but in the presence of death you accuse yourself of things of which you are quite innocent, and in doing so you make the parting harder to bear. It may be well for the dear one that he has gone. He has sweet sleep for the first time in many months. He is glad that the bonds of mortality are broken, that he is at last released, and in the lower depths of your own heart you are also glad for his sake. But there comes this thorny thought, that you may have been remiss, and your soul is wrung by it.

You do yourself a wrong. You did what you could. You were loving, tender, gentle and more than kind. You have real burdens enough without adding imaginary ones. Your tears must not be embittered by an accusation which has no basis in fact. Life is too precious and too short to be wasted in regrets of that kind. The duties of the future demand your close attention, and you have no right to think of the dead except to recall a sweet relationship and to dream of a reunion.

Live your life as quietly and as peacefully as possible. Live in each day as it comes. Other days, whether past or future, must not be allowed to press on your heart. This is the noblest policy you can adopt, the policy which comes to you as a divine injunction. Let neither regret nor anticipation intrude upon you to make you weak.

It is evident that there is a plan according to which your life is arranging itself, and equally evident that if you are successful and trustful, doing the duty of the present hour and not fretting over the duty of the next hour, you are in a condition which keeps all your powers at their best.

It is the grandest privilege to feel that there is a God, a guardian of human destiny, and that you are in His hands. If that conviction is one of your possessions, your pearl of great price, you can be quiet even in the midst of tumult and cheerful in the midst of sorrow, for your very tears will serve as a background for the rainbow of hope and promise.

GEORGE H. HEPWORTH.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

"Would You Like to Live Your Life Over Again?" is the Subject.

TEXT: "All that a man hath will he give for his life."—Job. ii., 4.

"That is untrue. The Lord did not say it, but Satan said it to the Lord when the evil one wanted Job still more afflicted. The record is: 'So went Satan forth from the presence of the Lord, and smote Job with sore boils.' And Satan has been the author of all eruptive disease since then, and he hopes by poisoning the blood to poison the soul. But the result of the diabolical experiment which left Job victor proved the falsity of the Satanic remark. 'All that a man hath will he give for his life.' Many a captain who has stood on the bridge of the steamer till his passengers got off and he drowned; many an engineer who has kept his hand on the throttle valve, or his foot on the brake, until the most of the train was saved, while he went down to death through the open draw bridge; many a fireman who plunged into a blazing house to get a sleeping child out, the fireman sacrificing his life in the attempt, and the thousand of martyrs who submitted to fiery stake and knife of massacre and headman's ax and guillotine rather than surrender principle, proving that in many a case my text was not true when it says, 'All that a man hath will he give for his life.'

"But Satan's falsehood was built on a truth. Life is very precious, and if we would not give up all there are many things we would surrender rather than surrender it. We see how precious life is from the fact we do every thing to prolong it. Hence all sanitary regulations, all study of hygiene, all fear of draughts, all waterproofs, all doctors, all medicines, all struggle in crisis or accident. An Admiral of the British Navy was court-martialed for turning his ship around in time of danger, and so damaging the ship. It was proved against him. But when his time came to be heard he said: 'Gentlemen, I did turn the ship around, and admit that it was damaged; but do you want to know why I turned it? There was a man overboard, and I wanted to save him, and I did save him, and I consider the life of one sailor worth all the vessels of the British Navy.' No wonder he was vindicated. Life is indeed very precious. Yes, there are those who deem life so precious they would like to try it over again. They would like to go back from seventy to sixty, from sixty to fifty, from fifty to forty, from forty to thirty, and from thirty to twenty.

"The fact is, that no intelligent and right feeling man is satisfied with his past life. However successful your life may have been, you are not satisfied with it. What is success? Ask that question of a hundred different men, and they will give a hundred different answers. One man will say, 'Success is a million dollars,' another will say, 'Success is a world-wide publicity,' another will say, 'Success is gaining that which you started for.' But as it is a free country, I give my own definition, and say, 'Success is fulfilling the particular mission upon which you were sent, whether to write a constitution, or invent a new style of wheelbarrow, or take care of a sick child.' Do what God calls you to do, and you are a success, whether you leave a million dollars at death or are buried at public expense, whether it takes fifteen pages of an encyclopedia to tell the wonderful things you have done, or your name is never printed in any book, and that in the death column. But whatever your success has been, you are not satisfied with your life.

"But some of you would have to go back further than to twenty-one years of age to make a fair start, for there are many who manage to get all wrong before that period. Yea, in order to get a fair start, some would have to go back to the father and mother and get them corrected; yea, to the grandfather and grandmother, and have their life corrected, for some of you are suffering from bad hereditary influences which started a hundred years ago. Well, if your grandfather lived his life over again, and your father lived his life over again, and you lived your life over again, what a cluttered-up place this world would be—a place filled with miserable attempts at repairs. I begin to think that it is better for each generation to have only one chance, and then for them to pass off and give another generation a chance. Besides that, if we were permitted to live life over again, it would be a stale, and stupid experience. The zest and spur and enthusiasm of life come from the fact that we have never been along this road before, and everything is new, and we are alert for what may appear at the next turn of the road. Suppose you, a man of middle-life or old age, were, with your present feelings and large attainments, put back into the thirties, or the twenties, or into the tens, what a nuisance you would be to others, and what an unhappiness to yourself. Your contemporaries would not want you, and you would not want them. Things that in your previous journey of life stirred your healthful ambition, or gave you pleasurable surprise, or led you into happy interbegatton, would only call forth from you a disgusted 'pshaw!' You would be blase at thirty, and a misanthrope at forty, and unendurable at fifty. The most insane and stupid thing imaginable would be a second journey of life.

"Out yonder is a man very old at forty years of age, at a time when he ought to be buoyant as the morning. He got bad habits on him very early, and those habits have become worse. He is a man on fire—on fire with alcoholism, on fire with all evil habits, out with the world and the world out with him. Down, and falling deeper. His swollen hands in his threadbare pockets, and his eyes dyed on the ground, he passes through the streets, and the quick step of an innocent child or the strong step of a young man or the roll of a prosperous carriage maddens him, and he curses society and he curses God. Fallen sick, with no resources, he is carried to the almshouse. A loathsome spectacle, he lies all day long waiting for dissolution, or in the night rises on his cot and fights apparitions of what he might have been and what he will be. He started life with as good a prospect as any man on the American continent, and there he is, a blasted carcass, waiting for the shovels of public charity to put him five feet under. He has only reaped what he sowed. Harvest of wild oats! 'There is a way that seemeth right to a man, but the end thereof is death.'

"To others life is a masquerade ball, and as at such entertainments gentlemen and ladies put on the garb of Kings and Queens or mountebanks or clowns and at the close put off the disguise, so a great many pass their whole life in a mask, taking off the mask at death. While the masquerade ball of life goes on, they trip merrily over the floor, gemmed hands stretched to grasp the hand, gleaming brow bends to gleaming brow. On with the dance! Flush and rustle and laughter of immeasurable merry-making. But after awhile the languor of death comes on the limbs and blurs the eyesight. Lights lower. Floor hollow with sepulchral echo. Music saddened into a wail. Lights lower. Now the maskers are only seen in the dim light. Now the fragrance of the flowers is like the sickening odor that comes from garlands that have lain long in the vaults of cemeteries. Lights lower. Mists gather in the room, drapery shake as though quaked by sudden thunder. Sigh caught in the curtain. Scarf drops from the shoulder of beauty a shroud. Lights lower. Over the slippery floor in dance of death glide jealousies, crimes, revenges, lust, despair and death, steam of lamp-wicks almost extinguished. Even garlands will not hide from the uninitiated the ill-looking damps. Chilliness, foot-sent. Hands closed. Voices hushed. Eyes shut. Lights out.

"Young man, as you cannot live life over again, however you may long to do so, be sure to have your one life right. There is in this assembly, I wot not, for we are made up of all sections of this land and from many lands, some young man who has gone away from home and, perhaps under some little spite or evil persuasion of another, and his parents know not where he is. My son, go home! Do not go to sea! Don't go to-night where you may be tempted to go. Go home! Your father will be glad to see you, and your mother—I need not tell you how she feels. How I would like to make your parents a present of their wayward boy, repentant and in his right mind. I would like to write them a letter, and you to carry the letter, saying 'By the blessing of God on my sermon I introduce to you one whom you have never seen before, for he has become a new creature in Christ Jesus.' My boy, go home and put your tired head on the bosom that nursed you so tenderly in your childhood years.

"A young Scotchman was in battle taken captive by a band of Indians, and he learned their language and adopted their habits. Years passed on, but the old Indian chieftain never forgot that he had in his possession a young man who did not belong to him. Well, one day this tribe of Indians came in sight of the Scotch regiments from whom this young man had been captured, and the old Indian chieftain said: 'I lost my son in battle, and I know how a father feels at the loss of a son. Do you think your father is yet alive?' The young man said: 'I am the only son of my father, and I hope he is still alive.' Then said the Indian chieftain: 'Because of the loss of my son this world is a desert. You go free. Return to your countrymen. Revisit your father, that he may rejoice when he sees the sun rise in the morning and the trees blossom in the spring.' So I say to you, young man, captive of waywardness and sin. Your mother is waiting for you. Your sisters are waiting for you. God is waiting for you. Go home! Go home!"

THE BANNER,
Clanton, Ala.

THE war news is of a very uncertain nature. While war-like preparations continue to be made, there appears to be a strong disposition on both sides to preserve peace.

ANOTHER thing to be attended to is the election of a new county executive committee. This might be arranged by each beat holding a meeting on the morning of the primary and electing their committeemen.

THE election committee that has had under consideration the contest case of Goodwin vs. Brewer, has decided to report favorably for Capt. Goodwyn, and in all probability the captain will soon take his seat.

THE action of the County Executive Committee in deciding upon a primary election meets with the approval of the people. The BANNER urges upon every Populist in the county to come out on the 29th day of April and cast his vote. Let us have a full vote and all will feel satisfied with the result.

IN addition to nominating a Judge of Probate, Clerk of the Circuit Court, a Representative, and Superintendent of Education, there will have to be elected five delegates to the State, Judicial and Chancery conventions which meet on Wednesday, May 11. A suggestion has been made that one set of delegates can be elected to the three conventions. We desire to impress upon the voters the desirability of electing only delegates who will be certain to attend the conventions. It is worse than useless to elect men who are going to stay at home on the day of the convention. It would be a good idea for each beat to select a representative man, and then the five receiving the greatest number of votes would form the delegation.

THE improvement which the L. & N. Railroad Company are making at Clanton will be of great benefit to the town, and while we recognize the value of the work now in hand it does seem a pity that the Company should not have gone a little further and built a new depot. The present structure has been in use for many years, and is totally inadequate to the present business.

The freight house is always crowded with merchandise and needs to be much larger. There is only one small waiting room for both white and colored passengers, for the little cupboard in the rear of the building now used as a waiting room for white ladies is not deserving of the name. Other accomodations there are, none, and passengers who have to wait some time for a train are put to great inconvenience. The L. & N. Company is always so anxious to oblige the public in any reasonable request, that we feel satisfied if the people of Clanton will unite in sending in a petition, the Company would see the advisability of building a new depot and would, now the other work is going on, at once grant the request. Let us send in the petition right away.

"The Review of Reviews discusses the De Lome incident, the Maine disaster, the Zola trial, and other important developments of the month at home and abroad. There is also in this editorial summary an interesting discussion of the changed position of the Republican party on the money question.

THE BANNER is only $1 a year.

J. P. VANDERVEER.

IN another place in this issue we announce the candidacy of Mr. J. P. VanDerveer for the position of Judge of Probate. Mr. VanDerveer is so well known to the people of Chilton county that it is almost superfluous for the BANNER to say anything in his behalf. For fifteen years he was justice of the peace in his home beat, giving universal satisfaction in his conduct of the office. For the last six years, as Clerk of the Circuit Court, by his invariable politeness and willingness to oblige he has earned the good will of all who came in contact with him, while in regard to the uncalled for attack made upon him by the Examiner of Public accounts Mr. VanDerveer easily demonstrated his ability to hold and ably fill any office to which the people elect him. The report of the Examiner was disproved in every particular and Mr. VanDerveer came out triumphant. He stands high in the esteem of his fellow-craftsmen the Freemasons, the Knights of Pythias and the Knights of Honor, and has a large number of friends throughout the county who speak confidently of his election to the office to which he aspires. THE BANNER feels confident that if elected he will fill the office to the honor and credit of the county.

I have been afflicted with rheumatism for fourteen years and nothing seemed to give any relief. I was able to be around all the time, but constantly suffering. I had tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did, and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured. I am happy to say that it has not since returned.—Josh. Edgar, Germantown, Cal. For sale by J. S. Johnson, jr.

A SOUND ARGUMENT

The People's party will enter the contest of 1900 two million strong. To be the victor in this contest it must closely approach a voting strength of seven millions. From what source shall it draw nearly three times its present strength? From the Bryan Democrats? Hardly; there was a time when the free silver and anti-national-bank Democrat was not satisfied with his party and we had hope of his becoming a Populist, but under the leadership of Mr. Bryan on the Chicago platform he is satisfied for the present. Why should he come to us? He believes in Bryan—he believes in him more than in the Chicago platform, and only when Bryan is elected and fails to carry out his promises, if he should, can we reasonably expect accessions from the ranks of the Democratic party.

Until the free silver Republicans bolted the St Louis platform and flocked to Senator Teller's standard, free silver, anti-bank and direct legislation Republicans naturally drifted into the Peoples party—now they become free silver Republicans. Where, then are Populists to secure an accession of four or five million voters? Let every patriot answer this question.

Shall we abandon our organization and go bodily to the Democratic party as re-organized under Mr. Bryan? No; we are not asked to do so, neither would such a course be advisable. We must retain our organization, extend our education on advance drives force the adoption of direct legislation up in the more conservative party and bend our utmost energy toward the capture of legislative offices.

An honorable union will not make it necessary for one party to swallow the other, but it can and will give us direct legislation in Oregon; we shall be able to place three congressmen in congress who can be depended upon to vote first, last and all the time against the encroachments of plutocracy. Let Populists refuse to cooperate in Utopianism and we shall not only lose the state to the money power but our decreased vote will discourage our people, imperil our party organization and destroy our power to force to the front our principles. Let us face this condition like patriotic men. Let party prejudice give way to our primal duty to our country. Let us keep intact our organization but reach out the hand of welcome to any organization and any hope that will enable us to be an active factor in the dethroning of the money power and the restoring of this government to the people themselves.

A Wonderful Discovery.

The last quarter of a century records many wonderful discoveries in medicine, but none that have accomplished more for humanity than that sterling old household remedy, Browns' Iron Bitters. It seems to contain the very elements of good health, and neither man, woman or child can take it without deriving the greatest benefit. Browns' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

Political Pointers.

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., March 16, 1893

The latest "unconstitutional" farce promulgated by the Supreme Court is the declaration against the maximum freight law of Nebraska. Justice Brewer gave as his reason for such a decision that the law was a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment; also that the reduction in freight charges in the state would amount to 29 per cent which was too great a cut, consequently illegal. Gov. Holcomb says an extra session of the legislature will be called and another lawr egulating freight and passenger traffic will be passed.

Gov. Pingree has called an extra session of the Michigan Legislature. He calls the attention of the legislators to the fact that the tax laws of that state are insufficient and not enforced even in their present state. He says that he believes that it is his duty to see that the provisions of the constitution are carried out and to this end calls a legislative session that will be watched with great interest by all who believe either in just laws or admire Pingree personally for his bravery.

In spite of overwhelming evidence to the contrary, the jury before which Sheriff Martin and his sixty six murderous deputy-sheriffs was tried at Wilkesbarre, Penn, has declared them not guilty. There are still seventeen indictments for murder and thirty-eight for feloniously wounding, against the sheriff and his deputies but the first decision will be repeated in these cases, beyond a doubt.

The fact that Congress has voted fifty millions for the defense of this country against the possible attacks of Spain has been cause for jubilation among that class of citizens who do not remember that Uncle Sam's debts are their depts. They will find out about that later when a war tax is levied; even their children will have a taste of it.

That portion of the Populist party opposed to Gov. Leedy in Kansas is casting about for a candidate with which to defeat the Governor. The honor is said to have been offered to and declined by John W. Breidenthal who declared himself out of politics for the present and very busy inspecting the banks of the state.

Webb McNall, the Insurance commissioner who has given the companies so much trouble out in Kansas, has begun action by which he claims he will in all probability collect about $38,000 back license tax from the insurance corporatons doing business in that state. A precedent is furnished him in a similar case in Wisconsin, which was decided in favor of the state.

Delegates to the Georgia Populist State convention get one-third rate tickets on presentation of a certificate showing that the bearer is a delegate.

The Populists of Minnesota have sufficiently recovered from the shock of Ignatius Donnelly's wedding to call a State convention, June 15.

The plutocratic press in its desire for news has scattered far and wide all the details of the recent purchase of the railroads by the Swiss government and its plans for running the same at a great saving to the taxpayers. Thus do we find Populism being taught by strange teachers.

The Republican plan fathered by Senator Thurston of reproducing the McKinley home at the Trans-Mississippi Exposition, has been taken up by the boostalists and a miniature of the Bryan home, as it stands at Lincoln, Neb., will also be one of the unique features of the great show.

W. J. Bryan will address the Jefferson Club of St Louis, Mo., April 15th.

As plans for unity of action between Silver Democrats, Silver Republicans and Populists are being perfected at various points throughout the country a corresponding activity is seen among the Sound Money Democrats. One of the most notable of such gatherings is to be the meeting of the Iroquois Club in Chicago, April 23, when the late Grover Cleveland will speak and also respond to the toast "Sound Democracy and Sound Money Demonstrations." Modern Treatment of

Consumption

The latest work on the treatment of diseases, written by forty eminent American physicians, says: "Cod-liver oil has done more for the consumptive than all other remedies put together." It also says: "The hypophosphites of lime and soda are regarded by many English observers as specifics for consumption."

Scott's Emulsion

contains the best cod-liver oil in a partially digested form, combined with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. This remedy, a standard for a quarter of a century, is in exact accord with the latest views of the medical profession. Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail, upon receipt of three two-cent stamps to cover cost of postage on the bottle. Mention The Banner and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

A Good Shot.

There lives in this city an American whose name I should like to know. When he was a guest of the governor of St. Thomas, he saw the Danish flag floating over the fort at Charlotte Amalie, and, being an expert rifle shot, proposed that he try a shot at the halliards. The governor sat with him on the porch of the executive mansion and laughingly gave permission. Lo and behold! As the winchester echoed down came the flag with a rattle, and the entire island—it is a small bit of upheaval, about five miles in diameter—arose in alarm, believing that some enemy had come. An officer dashed up to the governor and informed him of the fact that the flag of his country had been fired on. The jolly executive laughed it off as the best joke of the decade and congratulated the American on being a fine shot. News of the incident went to Copenhagen, and by the next mail his excellency was deposed.—New York Press.

The Beauty of the Greeks.

The beauty of the Greeks has been greatly praised, and I was much disappointed at Athens, but the Greeks of the Ionian islands are of a purer race, and one sometimes came across a very beautiful face. There was a village on the island famed for the beauty of the women. I drove over and saw some very handsome, tall women, with the low, classic brow and often with blue eyes. They wore their hair plaited with ribbons and twined round the head like a coronet. I was amazed to see such luxuriant hair, but was told that it was probably mixed with their mothers' and grandmothers' hair. I think Leighton's idea that the Greeks were originally fair was correct, for I saw several fair haired women. My maid Marguerite had the most lovely golden hair and blue eyes. She was tall and statuesque. Her sister Euterpe was no less handsome, but dark.—Catholic World.

Sand Cranes Playing Leapfrog.

S. W. Cunningham describes in Forest and Stream the curious antics of some sandhill cranes he saw on the Des Moines river in Boone county, Ia. He was riding along in a buggy one day, when his attention was attracted by the actions of a group of about a dozen of the cranes on a bare spot near a small lake that may have been cleared for the purpose by the birds. The birds were playing a game similar to leapfrog. The leaping was preceded by a short run and flapping of wings. The birds, naturally and by training exceedingly shy, paid no attention to the observer, though he passed within 200 yards of them in plain view.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good works, of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured; of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous consequences. Sold by J. S. Johnson, jr.

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢ ALL DRUGGISTS

CANDY CATHARTIC — .....CASCARETS taste good. Eat them like candy. They remove any bad taste in the mouth, leaving the breath sweet and perfumed. It is a real pleasure to take them instead of nauseating liquids or cannon-ball pills.

PURELY VEGETABLE — .....CASCARETS are purely vegetable and contain no mercurial or other mineral poison. They are made of the latest remedies discovered and are a scientific combination never before put together in any form.

ANTISEPTIC LAXATIVE — .....CASCARETS are antiseptic. That means they stop undigested food from souring in the stomach, prevent fermentation in the bowels and kill disease germs of any kind that breed and feed in the system.

LIVER STIMULANT — .....CASCARETS tone the stomach and bowels and stimulate the lazy liver, making it work. They strengthen the bowels and put them into vigorous healthy condition, making their action easy and natural.

BOON FOR MOTHERS — .....CASCARETS increase the flow of milk in nursing mothers. A tablet eaten by the mother makes her milk mildly purgative and has a mild but certain effect on the baby, the only safe laxative for the babe-in-arms.

PLEASE THE CHILDREN — .....CASCARETS are liked by the children. They taste good and do good, stop wind-colic and cramps, and kill and drive off worms, and all kinds of parasites that live in the bowels of the growing child.

CURE GUARANTEED — .....CASCARETS, taken patiently, persistently, are guaranteed to cure any case of constipation, no matter how old and obstinate, or purchase money will be cheerfully refunded by your own druggist.

HEALTH FOR 10 CENTS — .....CASCARETS are sold by all druggists for 10c, 25c, 50c a box, according to size. A 10c box will prove their merit and put you on the right road to perfect and permanent health. Don't risk delay.

Don't judge CASCARETS by other medicines you have tried. They are new, unlike anything else that's sold, and infinitely superior. Try a 10c box to-day, if not pleased get your money back! Larger boxes, 25c or 50c. Sample and booklet mailed free. Address

ACTIVE WAR PREPARATIONS GOING ON.

Deal Consumated for Purchase of Two Cruisers From Brazil—Merchant Marine and Every Tug and Steam Vessel Classified.

The Age Herald's special Washington correspondent wires that paper Monday night as follows:

The navy department is not less active in its preparations for war than the army. As was reported Sunday morning, the president decided this was no time to talk, and had instructed the government agents to buy ships outright, and that the deal for the two Brazilian cruisers had been practically closed since last Saturday. The announcement was formally made Monday by Secretary Long. From the same source which I learned of the purchase of the two Brazilian cruisers Saturday, I learned that the government has about closed for two other war vessels. An officer of the navy informs me that every tug and steam vessel on the eastern coast has been classified into a government vessel, and that if a declaration of war should come at once the navy department could put the merchant marine on a war footing in twenty-four hours. Every preparation is being made for active duty here. In the face of the strenuous efforts which are being made to put this government on a war footing, it is strange that some members of the administration insist upon talking peace. There is no doubt whatever that Spain is making one more effort to delay the settlement of the Cuban question.

Offers Complete Autonomy.

Juan Cebellos, one of the men selected by Spain to negotiate a reciprocity treaty with this country, was here yesterday for the purpose of offering to the Cuban insurgents complete autonomy, such as Canada enjoys, if they would agree to end the war. He was at the white house for the purpose of sounding the chief executive upon this proposition. This afternoon the Spanish minister attempted to discredit Cebellos' mission. Senor Quesada, however, reaffirms the statement he made this morning, that Spain was endeavoring to negotiate with the insurgents.

Regarding this final effort of Spain to hold Cuba and prevent a conflict with this country, Senor Quesada said to me: "I refused to receive Spain's emissary, as I have orders from General Gomez to reject all attempts of Spain to settle the Cuban question in a diplomatic way. Absolute independence must be the basis of any negotiations between Spain and the insurgents. We cannot trust Spain. We would no sooner withdraw our army from the field than Spain would, by degrees, cover the island with her soldiery. Spain is not sincere in this matter. We have the right won. We do not believe this country will take one step which would prolong Spain's barbarous government of our island.

Cannot Deceive Insurgents.

"But whether Spain is able or not to deceive this country, she cannot deceive us, and without our consent no plan proposed by Spain, even if accepted by this government, can be carried out. I can state positively to you that Cuba will be offered a new scheme of self-government, but that we will be no party to the contract. I can further say that the administration will not force us, nor is she able to force us, to accept a compromise from Spain. I have every reason to believe that this government stands on the very brink of recognizing our independence. This would mean immediate freedom for us, but I am frank enough to confess that Spain would not let us go without a struggle."

Senor Quesada backed up his statements by documentary proofs in the shape of letters from his headquarters, convincing me in a positive way that no proposition short of independence will ever be considered by the insurgents.

SALE CONFIRMED.

Two Battleships Purchased by the United States from Brazil.

The reported sale to the United States of the two Brazilian cruisers, Amazonas and Admiral Brea, now receiving their finishing touches in an English shipyard, was confirmed at Washington Monday afternoon.

It is learned also that Spain has not secured the O'Higgins, and that Chili will not sell her to Spain. It is said, furthermore, that Spain has not and cannot purchase ships from either Chili or the Argentine Republic.

Killed by Comrades While Surrendering

An official dispatch from Havana says the insurgent leaders Cayato, Alverez and Nunez have been killed by other insurgents while the former were on their way to tender their submission to the Spaniards.

Senator Mason Challenged.

Senator Mason has received a challenge to fight a duel with swords from the editor of a Spanish newspaper, El Cardo. The document is printed and signed by the Marquis De Alta Villa.

POSSIBLY ARBITRATION.

May Be the Mode of Settlement With Spain—Forecast of Events.

The St. Paul Globe's Washington special says: The president and his cabinet know unofficially the result of the Maine inquiry. They are prepared to act.

They have canvassed the course of events, so far as they can foresee them, and have formulated a policy to meet the emergency. Along its line the administration expects to move, unless it is swept off its feet by a wave of popular dissatisfaction.

The Globe's special correspondent is able to present the forecast of events as viewed by the president and his cabinet. It can be outlined thus:

First—The board of inquiry will report this week that the explosion was external.

Second—The president will immediately, through Minister Woodford, demand from Spain an indemnity of $10,000,000.

Third—Spain is expected to reply expressing her willingness to pay if she is responsible, but maintaining that her own investigations show that the explosion was internal, and purely accidental. She will, therefore, suggest reference to an international board of arbitration.

Fourth—In such an event the administration would be disposed to comply with the suggestion, unless there is an emeute in Havana or an irresistible demand for war sweeps through congress.

Fifth—If congress acquiesces in the suggestion, the attempt will be made to adjourn that body and leave the whole matter in the President's hands.

Sixth—It is expected that a large majority of congress will claim that such a matter as honor cannot be arbitrated. It is further expected that the leaders of both houses, including Senator Davis, of Minnesota, will favor arbitration.

SPANISH FLEET SAILS

From Cadiz and Two American Warships Follow From Lisbon.

A special dispatch from Cadiz, Spain, announces that the Spanish torpedo squadron has sailed from that port. It is understood the Spanish warships are going to Porto Rico, where they will await the orders of Captain-General Blanco.

The departure of the United States warships Helena and Bancroft in a southwesterly direction from Lisbon may possibly be connected with the seemingly simultaneous departure of the Spanish squadron from Cadiz, which is situated on the southwestern coast of Spain. Rumors have had it that the Bancroft and Helena might follow the Spanish ships across the Atlantic.

AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS.

Better Prices Were Realized for 1897 Crops.

Statistician Hyde, of the agricultural department, has prepared a statement to show that a most significant improvement has taken place during the last twelve months in trade and agriculture. It cannot be questioned, he says, that the farmers of the country have received for the cereal crops of 1897 something like $130,000,000 more than those of 1896, and $80,000,000 more than for those of any preceding year since 1892. The hay crop, although it was the largest with one exception ever raised, commanded an increased price per ton. Wool is higher than at any time since 1893, and cotton is the only important product in regard to which there is not a substantial improvement over the conditions prevailing a year ago. The statistics in regard to farm animals are still more encouraging.

Massing the Troops.

A special from Norfolk says: The movement of the troops, many of which have arrived here from the interior posts, has given this city a war-like appearance today. Orders were given tonight for the troops to be in readiness to move tomorrow morning direct for Atlanta, thence it is supposed to some point on the south Atlantic coast, possibly either to Key West or some near by point on the Florida coast.

Case of Self-Defense.

C. W. Huntley, a special detective, of the Illinois Central railroad shot and killed Henry C. Farley at Leland, Miss., Monday night. It seems to have been a case of self-defense.

Sudden Death of Mrs. Thurston.

Advices from Havana Monday night brings the news of the death of Mrs. Thurston, wife of Senator Thurston, of apoplexy. Mr. and Mrs. Thurston were members of the party which went to Cuba a week ago as guests of the New York Journal, to make personal inspection of the condition of affairs in the island. She was on board the Anita when the stroke occurred.

To Fight the Yellow Fever.

The quarantine board of Mobile bay met Friday and determined to put on the narative quarantine of the bay on April 1st. The election of medical agents for the various Central American and Mexican posts was postponed until the next regular meeting on March 28d. The following officers of the board were elected for the ensuing year: Geo. E. Sage, president; Duke Goodman, vice-president; R. B. Owen, secretary; Dr. Henry Goldthwait, quarantine physician. It is the judgment of the board that there will be no yellow fever in the state this year unless it is imported.

Will Soon Be in Operation.

The turning on of steam Tuesday at the Avondale cotton mill at Birmingham means that the big plant is about ready to commence the manufacture of a high class of cotton cloth. There are 1,000 looms in this plant and 35,000 spindles, and it will consume from 10,000 to 15,000 bales of cotton per annum, employing 600 operatives. The entire plant will soon be in complete operation.

Decatur's New Railroad.

About one hundred men are at work on the construction of the Middle Tennessee and Alabama railroad. There is strong probability that the projected Decatur, Danville and Southwestern road will be combined with this and be pushed through the Warrior coal fields.

Madison Nominates Candidates.

At the democratic convention of Madison county the following candidates were nominated for county offices: Probate judge, S. Morgan Stewart; circuit clerk, W. T. Lawler; commissioners, Henry Lowes and Albert Matthews.

Machinery for a Gold Mine.

The machinery for the Alabama King gold mine arrived at Jackson Gap last week, and will immediately be placed in position to turn out the yellow metal.

Son Shoots His Father.

At Centerville the past week M. F. Gardner, a well known citizen and popular traveling man, was shot twice by his 20-year-old son, Fred. The rumor is that he was abusing his wife when his son walked in and shot him twice.

Later unconfirmed reports say that he died from the effects of the wounds.

Tragedy at Riverside Park.

W. W. Scruggs, a candy maker by occupation, was shot and instantly killed at Riverside park, near Montgomery, by R. N. Chisenhall. Both were drinking at the time of the deed.

Not in Favor of State Exhibit.

After careful consideration of the matter of an Alabama exhibit at the Trans-Mississippi exposition at Omaha, Governor Johnston states that his judgment does not approve of the state spending any money upon it; that an exhibit would result in no great benefit to the state.

Col. Hewlett Dead.

Col. Thomas H. Hewlett, the oldest citizen in Madison county, died Sunday, near Huntsville, at the age of 91 years.

FIFTY FIFTH CONGRESS.

The Senate—Monday.

Today's session of the senate was devoted entirely to the discussion of the District of Columbia appropriation bill. At the hour of adjournment the bill had not been disposed of, and its discussion will be continued tomorrow. The bill, as it passed the house, carried $5,615,647. By the senate committee the appropriations were increased $1,459,659, making the total amount of the bill as reported to the senate $7,076,297.

The House.

The spirit of patriotism was rampant in the house today, and by an almost unanimous vote the Hawley bill providing for two additional regiments of artillery was passed under a suspension of the rules. The great chorus of ayes was offset by three votes on the minority side, Messrs. Cockran, Tenn.; Jones (dem., Va.), and Todd (fusionist, Mich.). No effort was made to obstruct action, but Mr. Bailey, the democratic leader, pleaded for more time than the forty minutes allowed under the rules, and, because it was refused, after the bill had been passed he inaugurated a filibuster against District of Columbia legislation that continued all day. Mr. Bailey desired to speak in favor of the bill, but could get no time. Every reference of support to the government in a possible crisis was received with applause.

Representative Cannon today at the close of the session introduced a bill making "appropriations for national defense." It is as follows:

"That there is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury, not heretofore appropriated, to be expended at the discretion of the president, and to remain available until June 30, 1898, $50,000,000."

It was referred to the committee on appropriations.

Representative Morton (O.) introduced a resolution, which was referred to the committee on rules, setting aside next Thursday and Friday for the consideration of a joint resolution to recognize the independence of the republic of Cuba.

The Senate—Tuesday.

Today's session of the senate was largely devoted to the consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill. After an extended discussion the bill containing a provision for the reduction of about one-half of the present rates of telephone charge in the district was passed.... The bill appropriating $288,000 for the relief of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of Tennessee, was then passed, after a brief debate.

The House—Wednesday.

President McKinley's hands have been upheld by both branches of the American congress. With enthusiasm, fervor and promptness, almost unparalleled in the senate in time of peace, that body today passed the emergency appropriation bill carrying $183,000 of deficiencies, and placing at the disposal of the president $50,000,000 for national defense. The bill was engrossed, signed by McKinley, and is now a law. The vote by which the measure was passed was unanimous. Seventy-six short, sharp and emphatic speeches were delivered in favor of the bill, each one being simply a ringing "aye" during the roll call upon the passage of the measure. Not only did every senator present register his vote in favor of the bill, but for every absent member the authoritative announcement was made that if he were present he would vote aye. From the time the bill was presented to the senate by Mr. Hale, of Maine, until it passed not an unharmonious note was sounded. Party lines were swept aside. It was just 12:13 when Mr. Hale reported the bill to the senate and asked that it be placed on its passage. There was no debate on the bill, and after it was read Vice-President Hobart placed it immediately on its passage. Twelve minutes after the bill was reported to the senate the vice-president announced its unanimous passage.

The House.

The house devoted itself to routine business today. The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill went through its last stage in the adoption of the final conference report and the remainder of the day was consumed in considering the senate amendment to the Indian appropriation bill.... The house committee on rivers and harbors voted today not to report a river and harbor appropriation bill at this session.

The Senate—Thursday.

No business of real importance was transacted by the senate in open session today. The session lasted an hour, the time being largely consumed in disposing of routine morning business.... A joint resolution to revive the grade of lieutenant-general of the army was reported unanimously by the military affairs committee.... Bills extending for three years the time for the construction of the line of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Company through the Indian Territory, and to authorize John R. Williams, first lieutenant of the United States army to accept the decoration of the Legion of Honor from the president of the French republic, were passed.... Consideration of bills on the general calendar was then begun, the first being a measure authorizing the president to take such steps as he might deem necessary to obtain an indemnity from the Spanish government for injuries done to the two Americans—August Bolter and Gustav Richan—by unlawful arrest and imprisonment. Mr. Davis objected and it went over.... After the senate had passed only one bill of minor importance it went into executive session at 1:15, and at 3:05 p. m. adjourned until Monday.

The House.

After a debate in the house which lasted more than five hours the senate amendment of the Indian appropriation bill for the free entry of ceded Indian lands was non concurred in by a vote of 99 to 136. The friends of the free home clause made a gallant struggle, but they met the opposition of some of the prominent leaders of the republican side, Messrs. Dingley, Grosvenor, Dalzell and Payne, and they were further weakened by the fact that many of the friends of the proposition were alienated by the belief that, as drawn, the amendment would work injury to the agricultural colleges of the country. The senate amendment of the ratification of the Sencca treaty was also non concurred in after the substitute proposition offered by the conferees to ratify the Kiowa, Comanche and Apache treaty had fallen under the point of order. The action of the house today sends the bill back to conference with non concurrence on all the senate amendments.... A bill was passed granting to the Shreveport Bridge and Terminal company the right to construct a bridge across the Red river at Shreveport, La.... At 5:17 the house adjourned.

The House—Friday.

The bill to pay the Bowman act claims aggregating $1,250,000 for rations and supplies furnished the union army during the war was before the house until 5 o'clock today, but by mid-completing the general debate little progress was made. Of the 5,000 odd claims in the claim all but a few come from the south, and dilatory tactics were resorted to to prevent progress with the bill. In a speech favoring the bill Mr. Gibson (rep.), of Tennessee, said the claims were distributed as follows by states: Alabama, 60; Arkansas, 56; Georgia, 42; Illinois, 1; Kansas, 3; Kentucky, 56; Louisiana, 22; Maryland, 70; Mississippi, 109; Missouri, 61; New York, 1; North Carolina, 113; Ohio, 2; Oregon, 1; Pennsylvania, 4; South Carolina, 22; Tennessee, 180; Virginia, 66, and West Virginia, 46. During the filibustering the house was in an uproar. At 5 o'clock, after completing two pages of the bill, the house recessed until 8 o'clock for an evening session to be devoted to pension legislation. After the evening session the house adjourned over until Monday.

Why State Aid Is Necessary.

In addressing the Maryland State Grange recently, General Stone spoke of conditions which may exist in other States as well. He said in part:

"I find that the question of State aid is eliminated in Maryland by a constitutional provision which prohibits the use of State funds for such a purpose. Get up a sentiment strong enough, and amend your Constitution, like other States are doing. It is a vicious system that requires localities to keep up the roads. It is a work that concerns the people of the whole State, and is not a local question. Roads are of vital interest to the cities. Blockade your country roads to-day, and to-morrow your city will begin to scatter. The benefits of good roads are equally shared by the cities, but they must assist in the work of construction before they can reap the advantages.

"About three-fourths of the property interests of the country are to be found in the cities, and held by the corporations. Now, the farmers, representing about one-fourth of the property interests, have been endeavoring to keep up the roads for the whole country. The result is obvious. The burden was too much, and bad roads are to be found everywhere.

"There exist in some places strong objections to employing convicts upon public roads. A happy solution of this difficulty, however, presents itself. Employ your convicts in preparing material for building good roads. This has been tried in a number of States, and has proved to be as economical as well as a healthful way of working convicts. I am satisfied that Maryland could employ its short term prisoners all House of Correction inmates in this way, and deliver road material at fifty cents a ton in any part of the State.

"You must convince your legislators that the State of Maryland is entitled to as good legislation as any other State of the Union. You must star them at home, as I follow them to Annapolis. . . . You can tell them what you want in a general way, that is:

"First—A complete reform in the local road administration, so that you will get your money's worth for the money you now pay.

"Second—You want more money for roads, without more taxes on farm property.

"Third—You want an efficient State supervision to make sure that the new money spent on roads shall be spent to the best possible advantage.

"Fourth—You want to make sure for the future that all property, and all the people interested in or benefited by good highways shall contribute their proper share toward building and maintaining those roads."

After sitting laboriously in special session on the question whether Queen Wilhelmina should ride her new bicycle, the Privy Council of the Netherlands decided that considerations of regal dignity and personal safety forbade her to ride. What the girl queen herself thought about it may be inferred from the fact that she acquired the bicycle before the question was submitted to the Privy Council.

WILL SECURE TWO WARSHIPS

British Sympathy in This Controversy With the United States.

After the cabinet meeting Friday one of the members said:

"It is now altogether probable we will secure two vessels under construction for the Brazilian government. It is not possible at this time to say just how many ships in all the government will be able to secure. [illegible] options on a number that have been offered, but nothing is likely to be definitely accomplished in the way of securing them until an examination is made into their condition, for which purpose a naval officer has been dispatched abroad.

"We do not want a lot of vessels that other nations contracted to build and now find are not up to [illegible]. The fact is notorious that there are not a great many really good [illegible] to be had, but I should not be surprised if we are able to get a [illegible] suitable ones at least. [illegible] appropriation for [illegible] will be expended in [illegible] may be [illegible] war [illegible] stated here.

"And I think the sympathy of the British government in this controversy is with the United States. At [illegible] she does not side with Spain. I do not mean by this statement to [illegible] infer that the English will become advocates of our cause and extend substantial help, but will give us moral support."

A PANIC IMMINENT.

Spanish Stocks Take a Heavy Tumble—Calls on the Government for Statement.

At Madrid the anxiety as to the relations between Spain and the United States, which has pervaded financial and commercial circles for several days, culminated on Thursday in a heavy fall in funds, all securities, the exterior and interior debts declining 1 per cent. Treasury bonds declined 1 to 2 per cent; Cuban bonds going down 3 per cent; Bank of Spain shares dropping from 4.13 to 4.1[illegible]. Tobacco shares going down from [illegible] to 240. Foreign exchanges have risen in an unprecedented degree, the rate on Paris being at 38 premium and London at 39 premium.

All the newspapers call upon the government to stop the panic by a prompt and clear statement as to the real conditions existing in Cuba and also defining the international situation.

The newspapers re-echo the profound sensation and displeasure caused by the United States sending the Montgomery to Havana, and the appropriation of $50,000,000 for the national defense.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR MARCH 20.

Lesson Text: "John the Baptist Beheaded," Matthew xiv., 1-12—Golden Text: Prov. iv., 22—Commentary on the Lesson by the Rev. Dr. D. M. Stearns.

1. "At that time Herod the tetrarch heard of the fame of Jesus." In Mark vi, 14 it is written that His name was spread abroad, and in Luke ix, 7, it is said that Herod was perplexed because that it was said of some that John was risen from the dead. The context in Mark and Luke would indicate that it was about the time of the sending forth of the twelve. It seems to me that the heart thought for us is that something of the words and works of Jesus by some means reached Herod. If we are redeemed by His blood, it is that through us the fame of Him may be far and wide made known. He brought Israel out of Egypt, dividing the waters of the Red sea, leading them through the desert and drying up Jordan before them to make His glorious name known, that the many might be blessed in Him (Isa. lxiii, 12, 14; Joshua iv, 24).

2. "And said unto His servants, This is John the Baptist; he is risen from the dead, and therefore mighty works do show forth themselves in him." It is said in Mark vi, 20, that Herod heard John gladly and did many things, knowing that he was a just and holy man, but as neither hearing nor doing will avail unless Christ is actually received into the heart (I John v, 12; John i, 12), Herod's knowledge did not profit him. His evil doings would not suffer him to turn unto God (Hos. v, 4).

3. "For Herod had laid hold on John and bound him and put him in prison for Herodias' sake, his brother Philip's wife." These are among the seemingly strange things. That God who controls all things, even the devil, for there can be nothing beyond His control, should permit Joseph to be stolen, sold into slavery, falsely accused and imprisoned; David to be hunted as a partridge upon the mountains; Jeremiah to know the horrors of the dungeon mire, and John the Baptist, His own herald, none greater born of woman (Math. xi, 11), to suffer imprisonment and death.

4. "For John said unto him, It is not lawful for thee to have her." Therefore, for his faithfulness, he is put in prison. Would it have been better for him to have said nothing about this sin? Might he have said, It is no affair of mine? They are the children of the devil anyway, and to him they are going, whether Herodias lives with Herod or with Philip? Some would say so, and there are no doubt many things in which we are to take no part, as they are not given to us to meddle with, but in this case John was brought face to face with the sin, and either had to be blind to it for peace's sake or speak faithfully for Christ's sake.

5. "And when he would have put him to death he feared the multitude, because they counted him as a prophet." How full of fears this wretched specimen of self-indulgent humanity was. He feared the woman under whose control he had placed himself for lust's sake. He feared the people over whom he was placed, and he evidently feared the hereafter, for he did many things, and would doubtless have done more if such doing would have made him sure of heaven without requiring him to give up his darling sin.

6, 7. "But when Herod's birthday was kept the daughter of Herodias danced before them and pleased Herod. Whereupon he promised with an oath to give her whatsoever she would ask." Feast days and birthdays must be kept, the entertainment business must go on, no matter what becomes of Christ or His heralds. We are sure that He was not invited to this feast, and neither was His faithful John. This was like Belshazzar's feast, the devil's own, and he knew what he was up to. He was running this thing to accomplish his purpose. How well he enabled that poor, godless girl to dance that day! How he enabled her to captivate the sinful heart of Herod and to lead him in his excitement to make her this great promise, and all to secure the death of John!

8. "And she, being before instructed of her mother, said, Give me here John Baptist's head in a charger." We read in II Chron. xxii, 3, concerning a certain king that "his mother was his counselor to do wickedly." We know also that Rebekah was neither her own friend nor her son's when she counseled him to lie to his father. Lying and deceit have the same author as lust, and envy, and hatred, and murder. Let us resist the devil lest he use even as he did Simon Peter, when he said, "Pity Thyself, Lord" (Math. xvi, 22, margin).

9. "And the king was sorry; nevertheless, for the oath's sake and them which sat with him at meat, he commanded it to be given her." His honor before his guests was at stake and he dared not show himself a man. Perhaps there was no man in him. He may have been all beast, all carnal of the lowest kind. He could truthfully have said, I cannot give what is not mine, and his man's life is not in my power to give [illegible]. That however, was too noble for [illegible] and he dared not go [illegible]. We have all had other [illegible]

10. "And he sent and beheaded John in the prison." Not long before John had sent messengers to Jesus inquiring if He was the Christ or if there was yet another to be looked for. Jesus wrought miracles and sent the messengers to tell John what they had seen and heard and added, "Blessed is he whosoever shall not be offended in Me" [illegible]. We have no record that Jesus ever went to see him. Now is heard the tramp of feet. Some one is coming to see him. Is it the Lord and Master? His cell is brightening. He is wanted, not for earth but for heaven. In a moment it is over, for the damsel awaits her gift and angels and redeemed spirits wait to welcome the faithful messenger to bliss eternal and indescribable.

11. "And his head was brought in a charger and given to the damsel, and she brought it to her mother." Did ever mother ask or daughter carry such a gruesome dish? What did they do with it? How did they treat it? Well, the devil accomplished his purpose and John's sojourn in a mortal body was ended. But can it be that the devil has the least idea of the bliss of the redeemed when he is allowed to [illegible]? If so, would he not desire to hinder them into such [illegible]

12. "And his disciples came and took up the body and buried it and went and told Jesus." In Mark vi, 29, it is written that they laid it in a tomb. They did not bury John, or lay him in a tomb, and they will not bury us if the time should come for us to pass out of the mortal body.—Lesson Helper.

Mrs. Margaret M. Traill Christie, who has been appointed by the India office to study the bubonic plague in the hospitals for native women in Bombay, is a very young woman, and it is only two years since she got her degree from London University.

The wife of Sir William Vernon Harcourt is an American, the daughter of Motley, the historian. Although she takes great interest in politics, like most of the wives of English statesmen, she appears on the platform rarely. It is said that she does much for her husband in the drawing-room.

Dr. John P. Maynard, famous as the discoverer of the value of collodion in surgery, died a few days ago at his home in Dedham, Mass., aged seventy-two years. He was born in Boston and graduated from Yale College and Harvard Medical School. In 1847 he made the discovery and application of collodion.

DIAMONDS ON FINGER NAILS.

Finger Nail Jewelry Is About the Latest Thing Out.

Finger nail jewelry is about the latest thing that manufacturers of gemmed novelties have brought out. There are both rings and pendants, and they are made in quite a number of forms, but all of them have just as light a setting as is consistent with the safe fastening of the stones. The pendants most affected consist of two or three small stones, set tandem, and connected by fine gold chains instead of by solid bars. That makes them less awkward to the wearer and also more effective when they are flashed.

The jewels are attached to the nails by a screw arrangement such as is often used for diamond earrings. The nails do not have to be especially long, but great care must be taken in perforating them, and that is an operation which is usually left to a manicure. New holes must be made every week or two, and the more common practice is to transfer the gems from one finger to another whenever a new hole must be made. When rings are used instead of pendants, they are usually only about half the diameter of the ordinary finger ring, and are studded all around with very small stones.

An Overworked Brain.

From the Record, Pierceton, Ind.

Determined to rise in his chosen profession as an educator, Ernest Kemper, of Pierceton, Ind., overtaxed himself mentally and physically. He was ambitious, his mind was always on his work. From early morn until late at night he continually pored over his books.

Few persons, even with the strongest constitutions, can keep up under such a strain.

In addition to his studies, Mr. Kemper was teaching a school some three miles from his home. Finally, his excessive study and the exposure of going to and from school in all kinds of weather undermined his health.

He was taken to his bed with pneumonia and his overworked brain almost collapsed. For several weeks he was seriously ill.

Catarrh had taken root in his system and his mind was in a delicate condition. He was sent to Colorado where he spent three months without receiving any benefit. Then a noted specialist from Cleveland treated him without avail, and then a hospital in Chicago was tried, but all absolutely without benefit. Finally his physician recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and from the first box he began to improve. When he had taken nine boxes he was completely cured. This famous blood and nerve medicine had accomplished what all his former expensive treatment failed to accomplish. Mr. Kemper says his catarrh has entirely left him; he is strong again and weighs nine pounds more than he ever did. He gives the pills the entire credit. He is starting teaching again and feels abundantly able to continue the work. To prove that the above is true in every respect, Mr. Kemper made an affidavit as follows:

Overstudy.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this the 10th day of September, 1897.

E. P. WATT, Notary Public.

We doubt if these pills have an equal in all the range of medicine, for building up a run down and [illegible] system.

A dessertspoonful of borine in a glassful of warm water makes a satisfactory antiseptic mouth wash.

To whiten the teeth without injury a simple application is a five per cent solution of pyrozone used as a tooth wash.

Where anise or peppermint fail to cure colic in very young infants, five to ten drops of tincture of cardamon in hot water may have a beneficial effect.

The following are the directions for making a carbolic salve for general family use: One-half dram of pure carbolic acid mixed with two ounces of simple cerate.

For a dizzy, drowsy feeling that becomes permanent a recommended remedy is pure sulphate of soda, a teaspoonful in hot water every morning before breakfast.

Hives or nettle rash are often due to the use of oysters, lobsters, sausage, berries and mushrooms. The eruption may be treated with vinegar or alcohol lotions and baths.

Milk heated to the scalding point and drank as warm as possible is a great stimulant for a person very weary or weak from exhaustion. It is much more nutritious than beef tea.

America's Greatest Medicine

The following is a characteristic Hood's Sarsaparilla testimonial. Facts like these have made Hood's Sarsaparilla America's Greatest Medicine and endeared it to thousands of homes scattered all over this broad land.

"We like to tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for us. Our four children had diphtheria. From the very first our little boy Ralph, then seven years old, was very sick and for several days it seemed as if he would never be any better. After a while he began to improve and in a few weeks was able to go out, although weak and miserable. Then gradually gave out. The physicians told us it was paralysis, which sometimes follows an attack of diphtheria. We did everything for him, but he grew worse until he was in a pitiful condition. He suffered terribly at night and complained continually of his head, and in what little sleep he was able to get, moaned unceasingly. He lost all control of the muscles of his body and limbs. He had no appetite and complained of feeling sick at his stomach all the time. After we had tried many different remedies and had about given up all hope we commenced giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla. In a short time he ceased to complain, his appetite improved and at the end of three months he was able to attend school part of the time. Now he is well and quite a strong and rugged boy. You are at liberty to use this testimonial if you desire as we feel we cannot say too much in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier and building up medicine." Mrs. R. E. ANDERSON, Cumberland, Maine.

Economy is also a characteristic of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Every bottle contains 100 Doses, and hence there is a solid fact concisely stated in the familiar line, 100 Doses One Dollar.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is America's Greatest Medicine because it accomplishes wonderful cures when all other medicines fail. Sold by all druggists. $1, six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

It has been of great benefit to my Daughter and Niece during their monthly troubles [illegible] Obstructed Menstruation. There should be no home without it.

The Turn of Life.

The cessation of the menses usually occurs between the ages of forty and fifty. Great irregularity takes place in the periodic discharges for some time before the final cessation, the female usually experiencing sudden flashes of heat, fullness in the head, headache and other evidences of constitutional disturbance. The nervous system sympathetically responds, and there is great irritability and melancholy, the patient is discouraged and has a sense of fullness or suffocation.

At no time in her life does a woman need more constant care and watchful tenderness, nor has more need for a remedy to invigorate and strengthen her. The bowels should be kept regular with Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine, and if Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine is used during the whole of this critical period, it will invigorate and enrich her blood, soothe and strengthen her nerves and thus relieve the suffering and enable her to pass safely through the dangers, prolong her life and return her strength and joy in her declining years.

Fullness of Blood in Head.

Where there is great determination of blood to the head, the blood vessels of the brain become greatly congested, and there exists flushed face, giddiness, especially on stooping, and throbbing pain in the head increased by movement. It may be caused by living too freely; too late rising in the morning; combined with an inactive life. Menstrual derangements in females will often occasion it. Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine is especially made for this, and it cures.

When there is any costiveness, move the bowels gently with moderate doses of ST. JOSEPH'S LIVER REGULATOR.

My daughter was suffering from a severe bilious attack, together with great "bearing-down" pains and back-ache during her monthly periods. She had violent nervous spells which produced a peculiar quivering and jerking sensation. I bought a bottle of GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA (G. F. P.) and some ST. JOSEPH'S LIVER REGULATOR and commenced treating her. All pains and biliousness were removed and the jerking was stopped. It is the best I ever saw for young girls. MARY ELIZA BENEN, Beulah, Ala.

Give You a Chance to Make Good Money.

The Constitution now makes the most remarkable proposition ever made to the subscribers of any southern newspaper. Beginning with the 1st of March it makes a cash offer of $5,000, to be divided among those of its subscribers who guess nearest to the size of the cotton crop of 1897-98—the crop grown last year and now already in. The exact number of bales of the crop will be announced in the early fall and figures given by the well known firm of Latham, Alexander & Co., of New York, and their figures will be accepted as final.

Two thousand five hundred dollars of the $5,000 offered by The Constitution will be given to the one making the exact or the nearest correct estimate of the crop; $1,500 to the second nearest, and $1,000 to the third nearest, provided the guesses are made during the present month.

A MERCHANT'S LETTER

C. Hartman, Proprietor of the Surgical Ho...

Marshall is a neat little city of 2,000 population in the State of Texas. Among its many enterprising merchants is Mr. V. E. Hartman. In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, Mr. Wyatt says: "I have been afflicted with la grippe three times and the last time was worse than the first. I began to cough, after trying several remedies without any relief, that the disease could not be cured. Two years ago was the last time I had the attack of it. I decided to try Peruna, and got six bottles. The first bottle did me more good than one hundred dollars I had taken before. I recommend Peruna to all who are afflicted with disease it is advertised to cure. I am well and strong now. I want everybody afflicted as I was to know of the wonderful merits of Peruna." Success treated by Peruna, la grippe leaves the system in a deplorable condition. It completely paralyzes the nervous system, produces indigestion and disturbs every function of the body. Peruna is a perfect specific for la grippe. For further testimonials, see pamphlet entitled "Facts and Faces," free by the Peruna Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

What pleasure is there in life with a headache, constipation and dyspepsia? Thousands experience this every day. Why will you not become perfectly well by using DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. Stanfield & Matthews.

KLANTON KLACKING KLUB.

The sessions of the Klanton Klacking Klub have been resumed somewhat earlier than usual, and on the members assembling this morning the chief Klacker called the Klub to order, and as soon as the knives were out and whittling commenced announced that the political situation was such that apparently the only thing to be done was for the Klub to take the matter in hand and settle it. As all the Klackers well knew they could very easily settle any political question much more satisfactorily than the people, and he therefore requested some member to start the ball rolling.

The third vice-Klacker arose and said before they commenced a political discussion he would move that a committee of three be appointed to confer with the town council and demand that a wagon and team be sent around to the Klub headquarters every morning to haul away the chips so that the sidewalk would not be entirely blocked. A prominent Klacker offered an amendment to the effect that the town council be required to pay for the chips, but after some discussion the amendment was voted down, and the original motion was carried unanimously.

The first vice-Klacker announced that a subject of an extraordinary nature had been offered for debate and his idea was, as it was likely to prove a warm subject, to first of all state that it had been his intention to discuss county politics, but at the present moment the State was much wrought up over the action of the Governor in kissing the girls. He would say right now that in his opinion the governor was eminently correct, and further that if he (the Governor) had too much work of the kind on hand, he (the first vice-Klacker) would volunteer to assist him to the best of his ability. The point he was in doubt about, however, he would now submit to the Klub. "Which conferred the greatest honor, the Kisser or the Kissee?" It was undoubtedly a great honor to be kissed by the Governor of the State, although it was an honor he did not covet, and again, it was always a great honor for any man to be kissed by a pretty girl, and it was needless for him to say there were none but pretty girls in Alabama. Then again, what he really wanted to know, was the Governor the Kisser or was he the Kissee? Did he bestow the kiss or was he the recipient? Or possibly it may have been one of those cases in which he was both Kisser and Kissee.

At this point a Klacker arose and said it was all nonsense, that anyone was bound to know the Governor being a man must be the Kisser, and the girl could not be anything else but the Kiss-he.

He therefore moved a resolution that Governor Johnston be commended for his action in the kissing business, and that he be requested to make the most of his opportunity for "There'll come a time some day" when he will be only an ordinary citizen with no special privileges for kissing. The resolution was carried with much cheering, and the Klub adjourned.

Jemison, Ala., March 21, '98
Editor BANNER.—About three weeks ago I noticed an editorial in your valuable paper advocating the selection of competent men for our county officers. I most heartily endorse every word you have said and only wish you could impress our people with this necessity.

Let us take the question home to ourselves and see just how it is. What man of common sense is there among us who would deliver a costly bill of lumber to a person to build us a house without first ascertaining if he was a competent man for the work? Where is the farmer who would put a man to hearing off his cotton, running around his corn, cutting his grain, or shoeing his horse, without first having found out that he was competent for the work? Or who would lose his rail timber or board trees by putting an incompetent man at work upon them? When we want to employ a man to work for us do we not first look well to his qualifications? If we want a lawyer do we not first see if he is competent? If we want a doctor do we not try to get one who understands his business? If we want a pastor for our our church do we not try to get the best one who will serve us? If we want to buy a horse do we not first look well to his qualifications? If we select a board tree, a lot of seed corn, or may be buy a lot of cloth, or meat, or coffee do we not examine as to the fitness or qualifications of the articles to the uses to which we are to put them?

Now, Mr Editor, if we can see the necessity of using our sound judgment in our daily affairs, then why should we not use the same caution in selecting men to fill our public offices? The time has come when we must stop voting for men simply because we like them personally and because they are good men, but we must measure our candidates with the yarpstick of common sense. Select the man who is best qualified to fill the office and who is best able to advise the people and to discharge the duties of the office to which we shall elect him. If you can spare the space, Mr. Editor, I would like to hear from other parts of the county on this subject.

Robbed The Grave.

A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow. Eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides. No appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying "Electric Bitters" and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at J. S. Johnson's Drug Store.

It is probable that ere many years, every thrifty town in the country will have its free library. MILITARY SPIRIT ABROAD.

Additional Cavalry Companies to Be Formed in This State.

A movement is on foot to organize additional cavalry companies in Alabama. At present there not a sufficient number of these companies in Alabama to form a regiment and the new ones that are to be formed are for the purpose of filling out the required number for a regiment. It is stated that the new companies will not be required to drill, but will simply be organized to be held in readiness in case of war. Under these circumstances Alabama would then have a full regiment of cavalry. One of the new companies will be in Birmingham. It is not yet known where the others will be located.

It is learned further that the war spirit has caused the determination to be reached to form a new infantry company at Decatur, which city now has no military organization. The Decatur company will belong to the Third Regiment.

Lieutenant Samuel G. Jones, of the United States army, on duty with the Alabama National Guard, is in Birmingham engaged in inspecting the State troops in that section.

UNIDENTIFIED CORPSE.

Remains of a Young Woman Found Buried in a Secluded Spot.

Lowndes county reports a grewsome mystery. Some workmen living near Fort Deposit were going to their homes from the village when they were attracted by the barking of some dogs and going in the direction of the brutes found them scratching in some fresh earth in an old field. The men instituted an investigation and unearthed the decomposed body of a young woman. It had been buried in dry goods box and placed about two feet deep in the earth. The body was evidently that of a young woman. It was attired in a stylish, tasty woolen suit, the hair was carefully braided, the feet were encased in neat black shoes and the hands of the corpse were inclosed in new kid gloves, harmonizing in color with the costume. No one seems to have any idea of the identity of the young woman.

England May Exclude Alabama Iron.

The financial secretary to the English treasury, Mr. Hanbury, in the house of commons Thursday replying to Sir Charles Howard Vincent, conservative, relative to the exclusion of consignments from the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad company and the Sloss Iron & Steel company, of Birmingham, who are alleged to be employers of prison labor, said the foreign prison made goods act did not empower the commissioners of customs to exclude such consignments unless evidence of their prison-made origin was furnished them.

New Gas Plant for Birmingham.

The contract for the new bi-product plant to be erected at the Sloss city furnaces on First avenue, was closed Saturday. The Semet-Solvay people will build the bi-product plant, together with the coal tar and ammonia plants. It is said that work will be begun within the next few weeks and that the plant will be one of the largest in this country. The gas plant will be an adjunct to this. It is said, however, that the bi-product people will own a large interest in the gas company, at the head of which are Messrs. Sol Haas and Alex London.

Tax Commission Bureau.

The tax commission bureau of the revenue department of the state is doing a great deal of effective work. Several large sums from back taxes have been recently paid into the treasury, and effective county commissioners appointed, among them George F. Sedberry for Elmore county, F. L. S. Grace for Lowndes, and W. Y. Charlavoye for Lawrence.

Deal Practically Closed.

It is learned that the deal for the sale of extensive furnace properties at Sheffield and the iron and coal properties along the line of the North Alabama railroad, to an English syndicate, has practically been closed through J. W. Worthington and F. B. Nichols, of Birmingham, who represent the syndicate. Extensive developments are expected to follow. About $1,000,000 is involved in the trade.

FIRE DAMP EXPLOSION

In Pratt Mines Results in the Killing of Six Convicts.

Saturday morning about 4 o'clock a terrific explosion occurred in slope 2 at Pratt Mines, and as a result six negro convicts are dead. Their names are as follows:

George Jones, Jefferson county; Alex Shelton, Jefferson county; Will Scott, Chilton county; Henry Johnson, Jefferson county; Tom Oliver, Jefferson county; Eli Lanhorn, She by county. All of the men were serving long terms, and three of them had life sentences.

The cause of the explosion is not definitely known, but the general impression is that it was from fire damp. There was some dynamite in the mine, which was used for blasting purposes, but it is believed that this did not explode.

The night shift was working in the mine when the explosion occurred. The six men killed are supposed to have been working at the face of the heading, about two miles from the mouth of the mine.

BRIEFLY MENTIONED.

The Edgar Foundry and Machine shops at Mobile were destroyed by fire.

Mattie Crooks has been appointed postmistress at Pleasant Ridge, Greene county.

The contract has been let for the remodeling of Pike's court house at a cost of $10,000.

The State Bar association will hold its annual meeting in Montgomery Friday and Saturday, June 17 and 18.

Fire at Vincent destroyed the store of O. M. Harris & Son. The loss was about $1,000, fully covered by insurance.

Albert Meyers, wholesale and retail dealer in shoes at Selma, has assigned to M. J. Meyers. Liabilities, about $15,000.

Beginning Thursday the twentieth annual convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Alabama will be held in Montgomery.

Friday morning William Bell, a negro brakeman on the Birmingham Mineral railroad, fell under car at Boyle's and was killed.

Representative Stallings introduced a bill in the house to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Conecuh river in Escambia county.

George Arantz Bros., whose mammoth law mills were totally destroyed by fire last Saturday at Decatur, are making arrangements to rebuild the plant.

The board of trustees of the Baptist institute at Walnut Grove met Thursday night and elected Prof. W. Y. Adams president for a term of three years.

Doc Thompson, an alleged ex-moonshiner, was found dead in Coosa county with a bullet hole in his forehead. He had been reporting his neighbors for similar offenses.

A small son of Mr. A. J. Nicholson, who lives in Centreville, was drowned last week. The child was playing around a tub of water that was in the yard and fell into the tub and was drowned before it was found.

Woman Heavily Fined.

In the United States court at Birmingham Lula M. Whitfield was fined $1,000 and costs for making and presenting false accounts to the government.

It was charged that the woman after appearing in a case as a witness, entered a claim for mileage and made a sworn statement that she had traveled a number of miles further than she really had. When her case was called she wept bitterly. Upon being arraigned she entered a plea of guilty and a fine of $1,000 and costs was entered against her. An execution was issued against her for the amount. She was not committed to jail.

Brewer Will Retain His Seat.

The elections committee at Washington by a vote of 8 to 1, decided that Judge Brewer, of Alabama, was entitled to his seat in congress, eight to dismiss the contest of Goodwyn for the seat. Judge Lumley, a combination of republican and populist, from North Carolina, was the only member of the committee who voted for Goodwyn.

Chairman Taylor will prepare the report, which will be presented to the house in a few days. It will state that while there may have been some frauds in the district, there was no evidence to show that Brewer was not elected or that Goodwyn was.

SPAIN'S MILITARY FORCES.

Seventy Thousand Men Killed or Incapacitated for Service in the Cuban War.

Seventy thousand men is the number of Spanish soldiers who have been killed, wounded or otherwise incapacitated for duty during the present war in Cuba. These figures have been received in Washington recently from reliable sources, and are said to be as nearly authentic as it is possible to obtain them, without recourse to the records kept by the Spanish government. From the same source considerable other information bearing on the military strength of Spain and her dependencies is obtained. The present force of Spain in Cuba is as follows: Regulars, 125,000 men. Of this number it is estimated that 80,000 of them are effective for military purposes. They are distributed throughout the island as follows: About 25,000 are in the two eastern provinces of Santiago de Cuba and Puerto Principe, and the remainder are in the provinces of Santa Clara, Matanzas, Havana and Pinar del Rio. There are about 30,000 members in what is known as the volunteer army. These are mostly in the province of Havana, and are largely in the nature of home guards, corresponding to our state militia. There are 55,000 men who are not effective for military duty from various causes.

The strength of the Spanish army at home, and including her near-by possessions, is 100,000 men, which, in times of demand for additional soldiers, may be increased as follows: First reserve, 50,000; second reserve, 160,000, all of whom are instructed in military tactics, and a third reserve, which is not instructed, of 300,000 men, making in all a grand total of 610,000 men.

Since these figures were received recent drafts of 100,000 men to strengthen the army in Cuba leaves only 85,000 men of Spain's regular army now in the peninsula, the Balearic Islands, the Spanish possessions in North Africa and the Canary Islands.

In the Philippine Islands Spain has an army of 32,000 men, which includes about 15,000 native troops. Several regiments of the latter were disbanded during the time of the last insurrection in the islands, and in time of war, it is said, they are of very little use to the Spanish government. In Porto Rico there are 5,000 Spanish troops, which, in the event of hostilities, could be supplemented by 4,000 volunteers.

"SIMPLY INDESCRIBABLE."

Senator Gallinger Talks About the "Destitution in Cuba."

Senator Gallinger was at the capitol Friday for the first time since his return from Cuba. When requested to make a statement as to his observations of the condition of affairs on the island, he responded:

"You can sign my name to any picture you may draw of utter wretchedness, destitution and hellishness in that country. The condition of affairs, so far as I had opportunity to observe it, and I was only in Havana and Matanzas, is simply indescribable. I had not expected to find it half as bad as it is, and I do not believe that anyone who simply reads the accounts and does not see for himself can form an adequate idea of the situation. The reconcentrados are wedged into all available places in the cities, and are perishing by the thousands for want of the commonest necessaries of life. The best information obtainable leads to the conclusion that there have been beyond a doubt four hundred thousand deaths as the result of Spain's brutal policy, and the tragedy goes on from day to day. The Society of the Red Cross is furnishing some relief by its efforts, but the most of those people are beyond the reach of aid, whether through medicine or food. The mortality in Matanzas for the last four months previous to our visit has been equal to ten times the ordinary death rate."

Sold His Yacht.

Charles R. Flint, of New York, has sold the government his new yacht, now building, to be used as a torpedo boat. The boat is to be a twin-screw, with two engines of 1,200 horse-power each. She will be 130 feet long, 5 feet draught, and capable of a speed of 31 knots. Her coal capacity will be sufficient to allow her to cross the Atlantic. She will have accommodations for twenty-four men.

INDEPENDENCE OR DEATH.

Palma Declares That the Cubans Will Not Have Autonomy.

T. Estrada Palma, head of the Cuban Junta, has issued a proclamation to the people of the United States in which he stated that the Cubans would not accept autonomy. "Independence or death," was their motto.

The proclamation says: "I cannot believe that the American people would ever lend themselves to the most treacherous and blood-stained monarchy of history for the purpose of trying to make Cuba accept autonomy. Should such prove to be the case, however, I declare in the name of the Cuban people in arms, that force alone can compel our submission."

Coal for the Navy.

The United States government has contracted with Arkansas mine owners for the delivery of 500 cars of coal for the use of the navy. The coal will be ped from Coal Hill to Galveston. ther contract for 10,000 cars is said o have been made with the Western Coal and Mining Company.

Building Sub-Marine Mines.

A force is at work planting Savannah harbor with sub-marine mines and torpedoes off Fort Pulaski, at the mouth of Savannah river.

PRESIDENT NOT WEAKENING

Formation of New Squadron Purely a Strategic Move by Government.

MAINE INCIDENT SECONDARY TO FREE CUBA

Four Battleships of the Best Types to be Placed at Hampton Roads—Court of Inquiry Still at Work—Spanish Flotilla Will Not Proceed.

A special from Washington says: The implications made in a number of papers that the president is weakening in his policy, is deeply, even bitterly resented by the members of the administration.

Some of these papers point to the withdrawal of the Texas and the Massachusetts from the vicinity of Cuba as indicative of weakness on the part of the chief executive.

The fact of the matter is that this move to form another squadron implies just the contrary, and even indicates that the administration fears a campaign of defense is inevitable.

In spite of all the reports of settlement by purchase and autonomy, the general belief among public men here is that the Cuban policy of the president is about to culminate. Senator Proctor's speech is taken as a forerunner of executive action.

The Maine incident is to be made secondary to the independence of Cuba, and the massing of squadrons along the Atlantic coast indicates a defensive campaign. Senators and other well-informed public men further believe that the president will recognize the independence of Cuba and then wait with the expectation of an attack from Spain.

It is not known when the report of the court of inquiry will come to Washington, but it is expected here in the course of two or three days.

A cabinet officer expressed the belief that the report will require careful consideration on the part of the president and his cabinet before being given to the public, which would seem to postpone publication to some time about the middle of next week.

FORMING A NEW SQUADRON.

Five Battleships of the Best Types to Be Placed at Hampton Roads.

The navy department has issued orders for the formation of a new squadron of naval vessels to be stationed at Hampton Roads. The squadron, in the beginning, will consist of five ships, all the best of their types. Two of them, the battleships Massachusetts and Texas, are withdrawn from the present North Atlantic fleet at Key West and Tortugas.

It would be a grave mistake in ordering this movement if the navy department is animated by any purpose of yielding to representations, or intimations, that may have come from the Spanish minister as to the mischief caused by the gathering of so large a naval force as Admiral Sicard's fleet in the vicinity of Cuba. On the contrary, the formation of the new squadron was brought about by purely strategic considerations, although it appears from the nature of the force so far under orders to rendezvous at Hampton Roads that this strategy is of the defensive nature.

The new squadron cannot be called a "flying squadron," because the association of heavy battleships with fleet cruisers like the Brooklyn, Columbia and Minneapolis reduces the available speed of the whole to the speed of the slowest vessel, and the squadron could not do much "flying" in the naval sense. The indications rather are that, when reinforced by some smaller cruisers, the squadron will constitute an ideal naval defense.

Court of Inquiry Still at Work.

The court of inquiry at Key West is diligently continuing its sessions on board the battleship Iowa, and, judging from statements made by members, it is quite problematical how many more days will pass before the public learns its conclusions.

Ordered Not to Proceed.

Admiral Bermejo, the Spanish minister of marine, has wired the commander of the torpedo flotilla at the Canaries not to proceed to Havana.

FIVE MILLION DOLLARS

Will be Spent Out of the War Fund for Atlantic and Gulf Fortifications.

Steps have been taken by the engineers' office of the government for the expenditure of $5,000,000 originally allotted out of the $50,000,000 national defense fund for the continuation of the improvements of various works of fortifications. Practically all of it will be devoted to the Atlantic and Gulf coasts. While the expenditure will be under the general supervision of the engineer's office at Washington, the details connected therewith, including the making of contracts, etc., will be left to the discretion of the local engineers.

The O'Higgins Has Not Been Sold.

The Santiago correspondent of the London Times says: "The Chilian Government authorizes me to deny the rumors of the sale of the cruiser O'Higgins. No offer for any Chilian vessel will be entertained until the questions between Chili and Peru are definitely arranged."

The Montgomery Relieved by the Fern

The United States dispatch boat Fern has relieved the Montgomery in Havana harbor. The latter vessel is now at Key West.

...You Change the Scale on the Thermometer It Goes All Wrong—To Create a Debt on the Bimetallic Scale and Then Force Payment on the Gold Scale Is Dishonest.

...eacher—Stand up, Johnny, and tell ... class what is a thermometer.

Johnny—A thermometer is an in...ument for showing how hot it is.

Teacher—How is a thermometer ...ally made, and how does it operate?

Johnny—There is a glass tube with ...ercury in it, and a bulb at the bottom ...ening into the tube. The bulb is ...ll of mercury. The tube is only ...y full of mercury, and there is no ... in the tube or bulb, both being ...osed. The tube is placed close to a ...le or index marked with figures, the ...g figures at the top. Teacher—Very well stated, Johnny. ...ow, suppose some one should slip the scale down without moving the ...be, would the top of the mercury ...ll indicate the temperature?

Johnny—I think the thermometer ...uld be wrong, sir, but I don't quite ...derstand how it would work. Will ...u please explain it to us?

Teacher—I will do so, Johnny, for I ...sh the class to understand the ne...ssity of using every instrument ...refully, and to show you how an in...rument may deceive you if it is out ... order, or has been tampered with. ...e standard thermometer is made ...ry carefully, about as Johnny has ...scribed. The tube must be of exact... the same internal diameter through... its length. The tube is carefully ...aled when the mercury is put in and ...e air has been exhausted. The bulb ... plunged in boiling water, and as ...iling water is always 212 degrees ...renheit, the mercury rises in the ...be to the place it will always reach ... the boiling point of water, and the ...ace is marked on the tube. The workingmen of Cleveland know Mark Hanna of old. He may protest that he is not a labor union crusher, and protest again and again; but they know that the bones of all the slaughtered unions of Cleveland are piled up before his front door. A tardy denial now can have no effect, against their own memories and the newspaper reports of the time when he made his anti-union crusade. Even today Mark Hanna cannot muster a corporal's guard of union workingmen in all the establishments he owns in Cleveland. His organ, too, the Cleveland Leader, is known everywhere among printers as a "rat office."—Cleveland Recorder.

Then you do not think Mr. Reed is as bad as he appears? Of course not. He is simply part of a machinery to break up and destroy our representative system, and he is so involved in the cog-wheels of gold rascality that he has to move with the machinery or be ground to atoms.—Silver Knight-Watchman.

In these days when public officials are so subservient to aggregated wealth as represented in the great corporations, it is positively refreshing to become aware of such a man as Commissioner of Insurance McNall of the state of Kansas. This competent and brave public servant has just begun a new campaign against the corruption of the great life insurance companies, and the indications are that before these octopi are through with him they will know how to do their duty to the people. The latest action of Mr. McNall, taken last week, was to require from the corporations of this state a statement of the sums which may have been expended by them for political purposes. Mr. McNall has learned that at least two of the corporations have made plans to purchase legislation in the state of Kansas, and he proposes to find out all about the business.—Twentieth Century.

Why Not?

If the eminent financiers whom Secretary Lyman J. Gage has invited to suggest a currency plan that will make their business prosperous cannot agree upon some plan it would be remarkable. So it is altogether likely that in a short time we will have a plan that will make at least one business prosperous. Now why would it not be a good idea to ask parties engaged in other lines of business what laws they would like to have enacted that would make their business prosperous? For instance, men who have been engaged in the business of raising horses have not been very prosperous for several years. Then again other "business men" who have been engaged in the business of stealing horses have not had as good laws for the protection of their business as some other lines of business. In fact, some of the laws passed have actually discriminated against their interests. Men engaged in the raising of poultry could without doubt suggest laws that would make their business more profitable. Gentlemen engaged in the business of stealing chickens could make suggestions in regard to laws that would have a tendency to increase their profits. Men engaged in the business of wrecking trains could have their business as well protected by law as the business of wrecking railroads has been. In short, all of the different lines of business could be made prosperous by laws for their benefit. Provided, the laws were so framed that what was beneficial to one industry did not conflict with the prosperity of other industries.—E. L. Smith.

The Plundered Workers.

What! A hundred barrels of wine in the cellar of the master, and for the exhausted slave only water from the river?

What! A hundred mantles in the presses, and only rags for the groaning slave?

Who is it that planted the vine, gathered and pressed the grape? The slave. Who, then, has a right to drink the wine? The slave.

Who is it that sheared the sheep, spun the wool, wove the mantles? The slave.

Who, then, should wear the mantle? The slave.

Up, ye poor and oppressed! Up! Rise!—Eugene Sue.

NO CHECK IN BUSINESS

In the Onward Current Occasioned by Peace or War Reports.

GOLD IMPORTATIONS REACH $25,000,000.

Great Excess of Merchandise Exports Over February—Pig Iron and Finished Products Remain Unchanged—Failures.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Neither peace nor war reports have changed the onward current of business. Orders for more than $25,500,000 gold from Europe have blocked any drift toward stringency in rates for money, and treasury receipts of about $1,100,000 per day have kept in check any question about the currency, while exports of products have continued with a rate considerably higher and the demand for products of the great industries shows steady expansion. Prompt action by the senate and the house has removed all fear of embarrassment through conflicting purposes at Washington. The government is making ready without any waste of time, while frankly assuring everybody that it looks for a peaceful settlement and hopes that its preparations may prove unnecessary.

The backbone of the situation is the excess of merchandise exports, more than $41,000,000 in February with an increase of $,200,000 in miscellaneous products, $2,100,000 in provisions, $4,500,000 in cotton and $7,000,000 in breadstuffs compared with last year, and $15,100,000 in all products. In two weeks of March exports have been 16 per cent larger than last year and imports have gained but 8.7 per cent, although especially swelled by receipts of India rubber, sugar and hides. The outgo of cotton surpasses all expectations though the price was stronger last week and the export demand apparently paid no attention to market fluctuations. Receipts from plantations continue much greater than at the corresponding date from the largest crop heretofore produced, so that the guesses about the future crop are now the main reliance of speculators.

Wheat also moves in spite of all speculation. Exports for three weeks from both coasts were 10,639,125 bushels against 4,538,441 bushels last year. The price has varied with conflicting reports, but closed ½c higher for the week.

Wool shows no change in quotations, though eastern markets are extremely dull and transactions were only 2,062,300 pounds this week against 10,891,900 pounds last year. Little encouragement appears in the market for cotton goods with print cloth 1-16c lower than a week ago and standard grades undersold by many of less note. The demand is large, but not large enough. In woolen goods, on the contrary, the material advance in prices has raised the only obstacle to increased transaction.

Pig iron is unchanged, and so are finished productions, except wire nails, which are 5 cents per keg weaker; and steel rails, which are said to be sold at $17.50 at the east by some establishments.

Failures for the week have been 208 in the United States against 216 last year.

ARMY BILL PREPARED.

It Contemplates That the Army Shall Have 104,000 Men.

The most interesting proposition yet made by the war department to meet the contingencies of the future probably has just been completed. It is the preparation of a bill providing among other sections for the placing of the army on a war footing for the full strength of 104,000 men. The bill has been carefully gone over by the war department, and was introduced in the house by Representative Hull.

In view of a possibility of a conflict with Spain, considerable interest centers just now in the strength of the military force that can be called on in case of necessity. According to the latest reports the total organized strength of the militia of the United States is 114,362, while the number of men available for military duty (organized) is 1,031,339.

He said: "The present generation will never see another banner than that of Spain at the entrance to the Gulf of Mexico. That banner, representing civilization, progress, liberty, humanity and religion, will be eternal, like that of the first American nation."

Admiral Manterola, responding in behalf of the navy, said: "In union, the army and navy will always be indestructible."

FIFTY-FIFTH CONGRESS

The Senate—Monday.

During its session of three hours today the senate passed a considerable number of bills from the general calendar, among the number being one authorizing the construction of eight new revenue cutters not exceeding in aggregate cost the sum of $1,025,000. The national quarantine bill was made the regular order of business and will be taken up probably on Wednesday. ....Mr. Hoar called up a resolution reported by him from the judiciary committee providing for the submission to the legislatures of the various states of a proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States relative to the succession to the presidency. He desired simply to place in the record certain information bearing upon the success and briefly to impress senators with the desirability of passing the resolution at an early date in order to remedy a manifest defect in the constitution.

The House.

This being the second Monday of the month, it was given over, under the rules, to the consideration of business relating to the District of Columbia. The District business was concluded at 4:30 p. m. A few senate bills were passed, and at 5 o'clock the house adjourned.

The Senate—Tuesday.

After the passage today of numerous bills from the calendar, the senate began the consideration of the measure providing for a national system of quarantine. Little beyond the reading was accomplished. Some desultory discussion occurred on an amendment offered by the committee, but no progress being made on the general bill....The bills passed were the following: To authorize the Pensacola, Alabama & Tennessee railroad to erect a bridge across the Alabama river in Wilcox county, Ala. To establish a light house at the Pass of Cape Fear river, Wilmington, at a cost not to exceed $70,000; to extend for the uses of the mail service the plan to adopt the return postal card of the United States Economic company. A bill to regulate the collection and disbursement of monies arising from leases made by the Seneca Nation to New York Indians was passed....A measure providing that United States marshals and district attorneys should continue to fill their respective offices till the appointment and qualification of their successors, was passed. On motion of Mr. Fairbanks, of Indiana, the senate at 3:45 p. m. went into executive session and at 5:25 p. m. adjourned.

The House.

The house agreed today to consider the bill for the relief of the legal heirs of the victims and survivors of the Maine disaster as soon as the report of the postoffice appropriation bill, which was taken up today, is out of the way. Mr. Loud, in charge of the postoffice bill, explained its provisions briefly. It carried $98,962,300, being $958,901 less than the estimates and $3,296,962 more than the appropriations for the current year. Mr. Bromwell made an extended speech against the appropriation for special fast mail facilities from Boston to New Orleans. During general debate on the bill the members generally took advantage of the latitude allowed in committee of the whole to discuss various political questions, and the debate accordingly covered a wide range. At the conclusion of the debate an arrangement was made to close general discussion until tomorrow at 3 o'clock.

The Senate—Wednesday.

The legislative session of the senate today was confined to the passage of a few bills largely of a local character. The national quarantine bill was not considered....The senate committee on foreign relations today agreed to recommend that the Hawaiian islands be annexed by legislation in open session and agreed upon a joint resolution for the accomplishment of this purpose, which Senator Davis was authorized to report to the senate. Later, in the senate chamber, Senator Davis reported a joint resolution providing for the annexation of the Hawaiian islands. The joint resolution went to the calendar....The amendments made by the house to the bill granting a right of way to the Omaha & Northern Railway company were agreed to and the bill passed....After other minor business the senate went into executive session....At 12:55 the senate resumed business in open session. Bills were passed as follows: To extend one year the time for the construction of the Denison & Northern railroad through the Indian Territory; to provide for submitting to the court of claims for determination the rights of the Delaware Indians in the Cherokee nation, the Mississippi Choctaws in the Choctaw nation, the Chickasaw freedmen in the Chickasaw nation and inter-married persons in the Choctaw, Chickasaw and Cherokee nations; and relating to the selection of inspectors of the hulls and boilers of vessels.... At 2 o'clock the senate went into executive session and at 4:20 p. m. adjourned.

The House.

The postoffice appropriation bill, which was technically the subject before the house, was almost lost track of in the senate today. Numerous topics were discussed, but for the first time the Cuba-Spanish question, which had been kept in the background heretofore, forged to the front. Mr. Cochran, of Missouri, brought the question into the arena, and in the course of the debate that followed Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, took occasion to deny emphatically the stories afloat to the effect that the president desired an early adjournment of congress, in order that he might effect a settlement without congressional interference....The subject of Hawaiian annexation also came in for attention today. Mr. Williams, of Mississippi; Mr. Adams, of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Berry, of Kentucky, all members of the foreign affairs committee, made speeches upon the subject.

The Senate—Thursday.

The senate today passed bills as follows: To pay to Stewart College (now the Southwestern University), located at Clarksville, Tenn., $25,500 for damages done by Union troops during the war; to authorize the erection of a statue of the late President Lincoln at Gettysburg, Pa., to cost $50,000; to prohibit railroad companies from charging more than 3 cents per mile for carrying passengers through Indian Territory. Senator Bacon spoke in favor of the national quarantine bill. ....The senate then adjourned until Monday.

The House.

No political questions were discussed in the house today. The whole session was devoted to the postoffice appropriation bill. The questions which consumed the major portion of the time related to the allowance for clerk hire at postoffices and to rural free delivery. The house increased the allowance for rural free delivery from $150,000 to $300,000, and defeated the proposition for increased clerk hire.

The House—Friday.

The house spent another day on the postoffice appropriation bill, but only disposed of two pages of it. Most of the day was devoted to a debate on the merits of the pneumatic tube mail service in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, and the advisability of continuing existing contracts. Without completing the bill, the house adjourned.

The House—Saturday.

The house today passed the postoffice appropriation bill, which has been under consideration since Wednesday by a vote of 119 to 61. The main points of attack today were the appropriation of $30,000,000 and for railway train mails; and $171,000 for special mail facilities from New York to New Orleans.

These items annually attract more or less of a contest. This year the opposition seems to be less intent. All efforts to reduce the appropriation for railway transportation signally failed and the vote on the southern mail subsidy was 78 to 98, against striking out. By neat parliamentary manoeuvering the opponents of the subsidy were prevented from getting a direct vote on a motion to recommit with instructions.

At the opening session of the house today Mr. Dingley, the floor manager of the majority offered the bill reported from the ways and means committee, providing for the free entry into this country of guns, ammunition and other naval supplies and war material purchased abroad until January 1, 1899. He explained that the committee had unanimously reported the bill. It was asked for by the secretaries of war and navy. The bill was passed without division.

A PHILANTHROPIC CONSPIRACY.

Troy Messenger, March 15.

In several of it's recent issues the Birmingham Age-Herald has contained editorial articles charging that a deep laid "conspiracy" has been concocted by certain prominent school men of Alabama (naming Dr. Eldridge, president of the State Normal College,) "to defraud the people."

The matter is this:

There are yet about 600,000 acres of public land in Alabama. It belongs to the United States government, but instead of being a matter of profit, it is a source of loss, owing to the constant prosecution of trespassers and depredators.

Some time ago a bill was introduced in congress to grant a part of this public domain to the Girls' Industrial School at Montevallo and the Negro Normal School at Tuskegee. Friends of other schools having in equity as just claims as these mentioned, asked for similar favors and Dr. Eldridge, in keeping with his character as an earnest and liberal friend of education, proposed that the bill should be so amended as to donate the entire area of public land in Alabama to the cause of education, nearly one-half going to the common schools and the rest to the higher institutions. In this way these institutions, whose efficiency is hampered and whose very existence made precarious by the meagre support accorded them by the state, would ... a much more ... [illegible] ... the common schools be helped materially toward ... [illegible] ... enlightment and ... [illegible] ... people demand they shall be placed.

This is the whole story of the "conspiracy" and the deep-laid scheme to defraud the people.

And how?

Are the people of Alabama defrauded when the government of the United States donates them means for educating their children? And do the public lands of Alabama belong to the people of Alabama any more than they do to the people of California? They are the property of the general government, and if the people of Alabama can get them as a donation at all, whether to the common or the higher schools, it is a great piece of good fortune at which every friend of education ... and progress ought to rejoice.

If the Age-Herald wishes to make ... upon the Normal school, it should come ... and do it. All its talk about the "... against the many" and "the classes ... the masses," is the outworn war-cry of the demagogue. It is talk that appeals only to ignorance and prejudice. Every intelligent person knows that professional schools for teachers are an indispensable adjunct to the public school system. If there are more of these institutions than the necessities of the situation demand let the number be decreased, but let us support and applaud the efforts of those who are using every means to increase the efficiency of our public school system, who are striving to redeem Alabama from the dark stigma of illiteracy which unfortunately rests upon her.

Everybody interested in seeing the latest developments in high-grade wheels should send a postal to the John P. Lovell Company, Boston, Mass., for their new catalogue. It contains valuable information.

The first spectrum photograph of a meteor is the remarkable object lately secured by the Harvard University. It is hoped that this will show something of the condition of shooting-stars and meteorites on first entering the earth's atmosphere.

CURRENT EVENTS IN OUR OWN STATE.

INTERESTING SCHOOL STATISTICS

Given Out by State Superintendent, Dr. John O. Turner.

Dr. John O. Turner, state superintendent of education, has issued a circular giving the educational status of Alabama from 1855 to 1896. It was prepared in refutation of the recent attacks on the public school system of the state, and contains some very valuable information.

The school system of the state was organized in 1855. There was then appropriated to the school fund from all sources, $237,515.39. There were 145,388 pupils.

In the year 1896 there was contributed from all sources $657,516.64, to which must be added local municipal appropriations and moneys paid by patrons of public schools to supplement the salaries of teachers. And then there are thousands of dollars paid every year to private denominational institutions. There were 4,663 white schools; 2,283 colored schools; 4,764 white teachers; 2,266 colored teachers; 194,892 white pupils, and 113,615 colored pupils, making in all 308,507 pupils.

New Rifles for Alabama National Guard.

Letters have been received by Governor Johnston from the war department in Washington requesting that 450 of the old defective rifles of the Alabama National Guard be shipped to the United States arsenal at the earliest possible date.

As soon as they are received, 450 of the newest and most improved style of modern rifles will be shipped to Montgomery for the use of the national guard. These new rifles will be apportioned out among the various companies of the state according to their several needs.

Fire Extinguisher Explodes.

A fire was discovered Sunday in the chemical labaratory of the Birmingham Medical college. The laboratory is located in the fourth story of the Lunsford building. While fighting the fire with a Babcock extinguisher, Fireman Harry Mullen, brother of Chief Mullen, was seriously injured by the explosion of the extinguisher. Mullen's right arm was broken, his teeth were all broken out and his jaw fractured. The damage from the fire was small.

Former State Treasurer Dead.

Isaac H. Vincent, state treasurer of Alabama from 1878 to 1883, died in Palo Pinto, Tex., a few days ago, and was buried at LaFayette. Vincent was elected treasurer for the third term in 1882, and during that term absconded, leaving the state about $250,000 short. After several years he was arrested, tried and sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of years. He was pardoned by the governor in 1892.

Geneva's Court House Burned.

The court house at Geneva was destroyed by fire Saturday about 2 o'clock in the morning. The building is a total wreck, and the contents, among them all of the records of the county, were entirely consumed. The loss, as far as the building is concerned, is about $10,000, and there was no insurance on it. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

Mobile Gets a New Theater.

J. Pollock, a wealthy dry goods man has purchased the old Mobile theater for $35,000 and will rebuild a fine new structure on the most improved plans, with large hotel in rear and modern trade front. The scheme is not connected with any Eastern trust, being a purely local effort.

Big Purchase by the M. & O.

The Mobile & Ohio railroad has bought 1,000 feet of river frontage just north of the mouth of One Mile Creek at Mobile, paying $37,500. The property is to be used to improve the terminal facilities of the road. Slips and wharves will be built in the property.

Fell to His Death.

B. F. Durkin, aged 31, was killed Monday evening while at work on one of the pipe works buildings in Anniston. Durkin fell to his death from a tall point on the building. He fell upon a pile of iron and his head was horribly crushed. He died instantly.

High Tribute to an Alabamian.

Dr. John H. Phillips, superintendent of the Birmingham public schools, has been selected by Mayor Carter Harrison as one of four expert educators from the south to examine into the school system of Chicago with the view of furthering its efficiency.

Line Repairer Fatally Injured.

W. H. Jordan, chief line repairer of the Birmingham Railway and Electric company, while repairing a trolly wire received a shock which knocked him from the top of a fifteen-foot ladder, fracturing his skull and inflicting probably fatal injuries.

Colonel McClure Coming.

Col. A. K. McClure, editor of the Philadelphia Times, will be the guest of Birmingham Friday and Saturday. A program for his entertainment includes an informal reception and tour of the district.

Hays Elected Mayor of Abbeville.

In the Abbeville city election B. B. Hays was elected mayor over three other candidates. Mr. Hays is only 23 years of age. Kirtand, Laney, Mills and Owens were elected councilmen.

THE report of the committee investigating the Maine disaster is expected every day. Meanwhile war preparations continue with unabated vigor. About $25,000,000 has been spent on the navy.

THE Democratic executive committee of the Fourth congressional district is called to meet at Montgomery on April 20, for the purpose of naming time and place for holding a congressional convention to represent this district in congress. Wonder why the committee can't meet somewhere in the district. Clanton would welcome them.

THE Montgomery Journal says: "The signs become more apparent every day that there promises to be a deplorable and unusual amount of trading in the coming state convention. It is to be hoped that the delegates will not permit the will of their constituents to be thwarted by the personal scheming of self-seeking slate-makers, who realize that their only chance of success lies in unscrupulous trading. Verbrim sapientes."

TOM WATSON has repeatedly stated he would not be a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination in Georgia, and would not accept it if offered to him. That statement evidently had no weight with the convention, and last week he was unanimously nominated. Whether he will accept the nomination, or adhere to his previous declarations, has not yet been decided. If he accepts he has a big job on his hands, and if he declines he puts the People's Party in Georgia in bad shape.

UP to the present there are only two candidates publicly before the people of Chilton county for the respective offices of Probate Judge and Circuit Clerk. Rumor has it, however, there are others. The people are entitled, and ought to know what candidates are seeking their support and upon what grounds. Then they are in a position to make an intelligent choice. There are various tales afloat about independent candidates. This, however, is not a matter of concern at present and can very well be attended to when the time arrives. What the Populists of Chilton want to know now is who the candidates are before their primary.

MONTGOMERY gets the Populist State convention. The committee appointed to select the place for holding the Populist State convention has decided upon Montgomery. Chairman Deans stated that the Populists in Montgomery seemed to take more interest in the State convention than Birmingham did and that they offered better inducements. The convention will be held in McDonald's opera house, and not the capitol. The committee found that the expense of getting the hall of the capitol in shape was about as much as renting the opera house. The date of the convention, as has previously been published is Wednesday and Thursday, May 4 and 5. There will be about 500 delegates present. Chairman Deans stated that there were really no candidates out for any of the offices. M. W. Howard of Cullman and J. H. Harris of Chambers are spoken of as gubernatorial nominees. But there is no way of telling what the convention will do about this and other offices. From the present outlook the ticket put out would be a straight Populist ticket; that is, that there would be no Republicans on it, as in 1896.

J. W. MOORE.

The announcement of Supt. J. W Moore as a candidate for Judge of Probate, to be found in another column, is gratifying to his large circle of friends who will do all in their power to secure for him the nomination and elect him. Always quiet and unassuming Prof. Moore, by close application to his noble profession, has advanced himself to the front ranks of the teachers of the State, and his devotion to the cause of education has been greatly appreciated by the people of Chilton county, who have thrice signified their approbation by electing him Superintendent of Education. Never neglecting his duties, and always anxious to do what was right Prof. Moore has made an admirable superintendent, and THE BANNER has not the slightest doubt, that if he is chosen by the people to be their Judge of Probate, the same excellent service will be rendered by him in that position that he has given in the office he is now giving up.

The Discovery of The Day.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and to day stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at all Drug Stores.

E B DEASON

Mr. E. B. Deason, who this week announces himself a candidate for the position of Clerk of the Circuit Court, is a gentleman new in political life, whose friends have induced him to make the race, knowing him to be well qualified to fill the office. Mr. Deason's life has been spent in the neighborhood of Kincheon where his exemplary conduct has made strong friends of all his neighbors. Left fatherless at an early age, his devotion to his widowed mother has been boundless, while by his own exertions and studies he has gained an excellent education. As a school teacher his patrons pronounce him a success, and his experience as a bookkeeper would doubtless prove very useful if he secures the office he seeks. For some time his health was not very good, but after a brief sojourn in Florida he returned home and has since greatly improved. He will be a strong candidate.

I have been afflicted with rheumatism for fourteen years and nothing seemed to give any relief. I was able to be around all the time, but constantly suffering. I had tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did, and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured. I am happy to say that it has not since returned.—Josh. Edgar, Germantown, Cal. For sale by J. S. Johnson, Jr.

J. MONROE BURNETT.

Another new candidate for political honors, whose announcement we publish this week is Mr. J. Monroe Burnett, of Strasburg. Mr. Burnett is a good example of the rising young men of Chilton. He was born and raised in the county, has been educated in the county, and for the first time asks his fellow-citizens to entrust him with a public office, that of Clerk of the Circuit Court. That Mr. Burnett is fully competent to perform the duties of the office we are assured. He is a Populist and always has been since the formation of the party, and is also a member of the Farmer's Alliance. If elected he will bring to the office a bright intellect capable of grappling with all that comes before him, and reflect credit upon the county.

An Uncertain Disease.

There is no disease more uncertain in its nature than dyspepsia. Physicians say that the symptoms of no two cases agree. It is therefore most difficult to make a correct diagnosis. No matter how severe, or under what disguise dyspepsia attacks you, Browns' Iron Bitters will cure it. Invaluable in all diseases of the stomach, blood and nerves. Browns' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

Political Pointers.

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., March 28, 1893

Governor Leedy of Kansas comes in for his usual share of abuse from the plutocratic press, on account of his criticism of the recent Supreme Court decision on the maximum freight bill of Nebraska. The chief point of attack on the Governor was that when the Associated Press announced "a clean victory for the railroads," he merely suggested that it seemed to him an "unclean" victory. For this, he is stigmatized as "a dangerous man," whose "fool friends" should cease to follow him.

Twenty thousand people listened to W. J. Bryan speak at Atlanta, Ga., March 15, and when he referred to the war scare and eulogized the conduct of Consul-General Fitzhugh Lee, unbounded enthusiasm prevailed.

At many points in the west and south citizens' tickets, combining all the anti-Republican elements, are announced in the county and municipal campaigns.

Jerry Botkin of Kansas recently declined an invitation to the grand ball celebrating the anniversary of President McKinley's inauguration, and gave as one of his reasons that he, in common with many other M. C's, would be too busy trying to contrive means for overcoming the daily deficiency caused by the Dingley tariff law.

Governor Pingree issued a manifesto warning the members of the Michigan General Assembly, who were called by him to meet in extra session, against the acceptance of free railroad tickets or passes and reminded them that a law on the statute books of that state, forbids such compromising deals.

After many months of delay the senate has confirmed the nomination of T. V. Powderly for Immigration Commissioner, all but one Republican voting for, and all Democrats but three, against such a step. The Populists, of course, opposed an act that is a direct insult to organized labor. Senator Stewart read a letter from Powderly written in '92, in which he expressed views diametrically opposed to those espoused by him in '96. Mark Hanna defended Powderly. No more need be said.

Arrangements have been perfected between the Republican national committee and the congressional committeemen, so that the coming congressional campaigns can be carried on under the eye and with the advice and aid of national chairman Hanna.

Labor Unions, all over the United States have passed resolutions condemning the verdict of the jury in the case against Sheriff Martin and his deputies for shooting the striking miners at Hazelton, Penn.

The New York Sun has been having a bad case of rabies over the fact that Senator Allen, of Nebraska, is so frequently heard from in the Senate. It characterises his frequent and effective utterances as "brutal, aggressive, shameful monopoly."

The house committee on elections reported favorably the bill for a constitutional amendment making the term of congressmen four, instead of two years.

The Georgia Populist convention adjourned at 3 a. m. March 17 having named the following state ticket. Gov. Thos. Watson; Sec. of State Z. O. Jackson; Treasurer J. H. Taylor; School Commissioner B. M. Zettler; Chief Justice Walter B. Hill; Attorney General Carey Thornton. Gen. Phillips, W. D. Hawkins, and Chas. E. McGregar were elected national committeemen. The Nashville conference and the action of the "National Organization Committee" was heartily endorsed. The immediate election of a new national chairman in place of Senator Marion Butler was demanded of the national committee.

Wasting in Children can be overcome in almost all cases by the use of Scott's Emulsion of Cod-Liver Oil and the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. While it is a scientific fact that cod-liver oil is the most digestible oil in existence, in it is not only palatable, but it is already digested and made ready for immediate absorption by the system. It is also combined with the hypophosphites, which supply a food not only for the tissues of the body, but for the bones and nerves, and will build up the child when its ordinary food does not supply proper nourishment.

Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion. See that the man and fish are on the wrapper.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and blaader are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail, upon receipt of three two-cent stamps to cover cost of postage on the bottle. Mention The Banner and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Journalism and the Stage.

The two professions which attract most young women to New York are the stage and journalism. On an average ten applications for positions are filed every day with the manager of a single theater on Broadway, and three-fourths of the applicants are young women. The managing editor of a great newspaper suffers less, perhaps, from personal interruptions of this sort, from the fact that about him is an abatis of subeditors and question clerks through which it is almost impossible to pass. This abatis is a test of the applicant's grit and perseverance, and the managing editor knows, without further question, that a young woman who succeeds in reaching his side has qualities that are useful to the news getter. In concluding these remarks a contributor to The Puritan says, "Grit and perseverance for journalism and a pretty face and 'chic' manners for the stage are the qualifications most likely to win a hearing for the young woman who would enter either of these professions."

The Horse Tail.

Have you ever found a plant called the horsetail? It grows like a hollow jointed cane, with spiky leaves like fir needles coming out on all sides. This little grass has a wonderful history, and it is even claimed that it is the oldest in the world. Plants of many kinds are found in a fossil state in the oldest rocks, sometimes buried deep in mines and sometimes in rocks which have been torn out of the earth by fierce earthquakes and hurricanes, but the oldest of these fossil plants are quite different to every flower and leaf that grows upon the earth nowadays except the horsetails. They, and they alone, seem to be descendants of the grasses which grew before the flood and before the time of Job and even before Adam's creation.

The horsetails are now found in all parts of the world, and you may see them growing in shallow ponds and in wet fields and marshes. Is it not strange to think that they grew so long, long ago?

Straight From Dublin.

An Irishman, hailing from Dublin, recently came across the channel and enlisted in a line regiment.

One morning, when assembling on parade for drill, Pat happened to fall in next to a London recruit. On the order "Double!" being given by the drill sergeant, the cockney was heard to exclaim, "Oh, haug doubling!"

To which Pat immediately replied, "And hang London, ye spalpeer.!"—Answers.

He Couldn't Bluff.

He called her finally.

"Threes!" she exclaimed triumphantly.

He himself hadn't anything to show, and he should have said, "That's good," but what he did say was, "Blankety blank!" or words to that effect.

Whereupon the nurse sniffed and withdrew with the triplets howling in her arms.—New York Journal.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good works; of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured; of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous consequences. Sold by [illegible].

Chronic Dyspepsia Cured.

AFTER suffering for nearly thirty years from dyspepsia, Mrs. H. E. Dugdale, wife of a prominent business man of Warsaw, N. Y., writes: "For 28 years, I was a constant sufferer from dyspepsia and a weak stomach. The lightest food produced distress, causing severe pain and the formation of gas. No matter how careful of my diet I suffered agonizing pain after eating. I was treated by many physicians and tried numerous remedies without permanent help. Two years ago I began taking Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and Nervine. Within a week I commenced improving, and persisting in the treatment I was soon able to eat what I liked, with no evil effects. I keep them at hand and a single dose dispels any old symptoms."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address.

EMINENT DIVINES SERMONS

DISCOURSES BY TWO ABLE WORKERS IN GOD'S VINEYARD.

"Peace in the Soul" Is the Title of the Rev. George H. Hepworth's Sermon, Preached in the New York Herald's Columns—An Address by D. L. Moody.

"For the kingdom of God is joy and peace."—Romans xiv., 17.

The Bible is the most practical book in the world. There is very little theology in it—not as much as some people think—but a great many inspired bits of advice as to the conduct of every day life, as though the writer loved the men and women who would read his word and was actuated by no other motive than to help them over rough places. For this reason the Book has maintained its hold on mankind. It is friendly, kindly and encouraging, a book not to be read through at a sitting, but to be taken up at odd times and glanced at just as you would look at a handful of jewels for a moment and then put them away.

I have noticed that it makes many, very many references to peace and joy—not the peace of a nation, that busy peace in which we compete for personal gain, but the peace of the heart, which creates contentment and keeps the soul in poise and equilibrium; the peace which makes a man feel that everything will come out right in the end because nothing can come out wrong when God is guiding our affairs. It is often spoken of in very extreme language as "the peace that passeth understanding," like the peace which a sensitive soul enjoys when it gazes on a magnificent landscape, or like that which the lover of music has when he is listening to some superb orchestra, or like that which a mother has when she is sitting by the cradle of her first born, a peace that refuses to be analyzed, but is so deep and strange that no one can describe it to a person who has not felt it.

I am talking to myself as well as to you when I say that we could get a great deal more out of life if we were more reposeful. We expend so much energy on trivial things, things so unimportant that it does not matter greatly how they go. We allow ourselves to be disturbed by small matters, whereas the soul is big enough to look on them with indifference. We keep ourselves in a condition of nervous tension, which is not simply hurtful to the body but equally so to the spiritual nature. Body and soul are so closely related that over excitement of the one seems to throw the other off its balance. You and I cannot be at out best until we are tranquil in heart with that kind of tranquillity which rests on the firm basis of faith that the angels of God are looking after our interests and trying to persuade us to take the right road to heaven. There is just an atom of insanity in us, and when we grow restless that atom is fanned into a flame. The truly sane man is the quiet souled man. I say, therefore, since Christianity teaches a man to be quiescent, that the Christian religion will both make us sane and keep us so.

When crossing the ocean recently our ship ran into a storm. The sea was very rough, the fog closed in on all sides, and we had an uncomfortable time. The waves were in an ugly mood, and on two or three occasions swept the deck. I enjoyed it as little as did the other passengers and should have been grateful for a ray of sunshine. But that was not to be thought of. Suppose I had taken on myself the responsibility of the situation. The captain was on the bridge night and day, but suppose I had allowed myself to wonder whether he knew his business, and had offered him advice as to the conduct of the vessel. Would that have allayed the tempest, would it have stilled the troubled waters, would it have kept the ship from rolling uneasily? I should not only have done no good, but should have interfered to my own detriment. My duty was to keep on my feet as best I could, not to go beyond my province as a passenger, to bear in mind that the captain had passed safely through a thousand worse storms and was showing no anxiety about this one. If I had faith in the master of the craft there was no need to be afraid. Any doubt as to his ability would at once create havoc of mind and My duty was to keep still and to the conviction that all would be few hours.

[illegible] ritual difficulty we encounter is this subtle suspicion that e may not be a God, or, if He is not equal to the emer-gat rankest of all heresies lies at ation of our religious restless-may as well face this fact and ourselves accordingly. The man does not cheerfully meet his fate, has a lurking doubt of God's existence. He may deny it to others, but he must needs admit it to himself. He may accept the longest creed that was ever written and be orthodox in all the details of his professed belief, but if you could find your way into his heart of hearts you would discover that his faith in God is a social or ecclesiastical luxury, and as such is worth very little.

Did Christ have any doubt that a legion of angels would minister unto Him in His necessity? Can you conceive of Him as sitting at the window of His friend's house in Bethany on the night before the crucifixion and wondering if He could go through the next day's experience? On the contrary, He was self-possessed, even cheerful, and if the opportunity to avoid the cross had been offered He would not have used it. He knew that the Father was there, that the Father would be with Him, and that the cruel nails could not pain Him so much as a doubt of that Father's love.

We cannot follow that example except in a far off way. He said 'Thy will be done' without a tremor, but we can say it with a tremor. The highest expression is repose, truthful repose of soul, but you cannot be self-possessed until you know that you are possessed of God. The essence of religion is the soul's consciousness that as its day so shall be its strength; that God and you can do anything and bear anything. After that you will be supremely quiescent and serene. He who has hold of God's hand and knows it is the most cheerful soul this side of Heaven.

GEORGE H. HEPWORTH.

DWIGHT L. MOODY SPEAKS.

Address by the Evangelist at a Crowded Meeting in New York.

Dwight L. Moody has been holding a series of crowded meetings in New York. The following account is from one of the famous evangelist's addresses there:

"In Luke xix., 10, is the keynote of this whole meeting. 'The Son of Man is come to seek and save that which is lost.' Even now I am cast down. A life-long friend has come to me saying that his health is lost and that it is only a question of time when he passes away. I am sad, I say, yet he has the promise of a beautiful life hereafter. Some friend of yours has lost his wealth, is reduced in life. You sympathize with him, I sympathize with him. And yet with all this misfortune there is a hope for a better life.

"To-day I passed the eye infirmary, across from where I am staying, where I am told are many little ones hopelessly blind. I cannot look at that building without a pang in my heart. A doctor told me that a mother brought her beautiful little child to him and said that it hadn't opened its eyes for several days. He looked at the little child and told her that it was blind. 'Yes,' said she, 'it has been blind for several days. It will be blind forever,' he told her. Then there came a wail from her heart that nearly broke my heart to hear of. Her child could never see its mother. Yet there is the hope that the child will be glorified in another world.

"On my way here I passed the Hospital for Cripples. I could not help but sympathize with them. And yet there is hope for these poor beings. There is the hope of another body—a glorified likeness of our Saviour Jesus Christ. And yet—and yet it is so hard for people to realize what it means to be lost—yes, L-O-S-T!"

The evangelist's voice thundered as he hurled this down upon the audience. A low murmur came in recognition of its force.

"What is it to be lost! When I came to New York twenty years ago little Charlie Ross had just been lost. The whole nation was moved as it had not been moved since the war. They gave me the picture of the child, asking that I search my congregation for some trace of him. Devoted friends of his mother came day after day, searching for the little child. Many and many a mother wept at the thought of the anguish of that boy's mother. And yet there are millions of mothers that have lost their sons, for these sons have missed the word of God!

"Again, I will tell you another story. In one of the towns in the West where I was preaching two little children had wandered into the woods—a brother and a sister. All day men searched for them and they were not found. The day following these men could do nothing at their labor. So they formed a line—a thousand of them—all a few feet apart, and scoured the woods. Then when the word came down the line that the little ones had been found safe and well, how that town was stirred.

"And yet, I tell you, here are hundreds and hundreds of drunkards, young men lost in vice, lost forever, and yet this town is never stirred. Think of the young men going down, down, down, deeper into vice, while no one seems to be moved.

"Except that man be born again he cannot see the Kingdom of God.

"There is not a poor drunkard nor a fallen woman that God does not want. They do not believe, perhaps, that God wants them. Go hunt them up. Tell them the Word of God.

"A certain woman has ten pieces of silver, and loses one. Does she let it go? No! She gets a broom and raises a dust and a commotion. She doesn't wait for the silver to come back. Then when she is successful she says: 'Rejoice with me, I have found the piece of silver.'

"There will be a great joy in New York when the lost are found. Luke said: 'Then drew unto Him the publicans and sinners.' It got out that Christ wanted the lost ones to come unto Him, the publicans and sinners. Then they came. What you must do is to publish that God seeks the sinner. If there is any one that is tired of sin, I bring you good news. The Shepherd is the same. He is still seeking you.

"A mother wrote to her infidel son, 'Go to Moody and Sankey's meeting.' That was in 1874. He said 'Yes,' and that was all she could get out of him. He would go if it wasn't too much trouble. The first meeting in Brooklyn chanced to be within a block of his home. He came. He said that he had no thought when he gave the promise that it would be so near, but it was a bore, anyhow. Next night he was converted. 'Have you written your mother?' I asked him. 'No,' said he, 'I've cabled.' That's the way the Shepherd seeks.

"While the Son of God seeks, you seek, too. I never knew one that was really seeking that didn't find. I told a man I knew that I could name the day and hour when he would be saved. 'Ho,' said he, 'I didn't know there was a prophet in your family.' 'Neither is there,' said I. 'I'm no prophet, but I can tell.' 'When?' he asked. 'The day and hour when you earnestly seek God.'

"God isn't going to save the man that is asleep. I saw a man at one of our meetings who stood with his hands in his pockets, leaning against a pillar. 'Do you wish to be saved?' I asked him. 'I've no objection,' he answered. Seek the Lord where he may be found. Can the Lord be found here to-day? Come, I ask you. Can the Lord be found here to-day?"

"Yes, yes," cried a dozen voices in reply. The evangelist nodded his head in pleasure.

"Seek the Lord where he may be found. Seek as men seek gold. It won't take long to find Him. Look at the crowd rushing into the Klondike. If men were as anxious to get into the Golden City as they are to get into the Klondike they would be saved readily enough. If they were as anxious for God as some of them seem to be for war just now, they would find Him easily enough.

"You don't have to wait to be saved. Pray now 'Lord, save me.' If it is a heartfelt cry, you'll be saved. If out of work or discouraged, cry out. God will hear you. How do I know, you ask? Because I have seen thousands saved. It is one of the easiest yet one of the hardest things in the world to be saved. But it's easy when you once make up your mind.

"Now let us pray that all in this house be saved. Let us continue in silent prayer."

Kneeling, the evangelist lifted his face, still clutching at his breast the song book. After a moment of restlessness, the great audience settled in a deep, intense silence. It was broken by the evangelist arising and asking that a hymn be sung. Then he spoke again.

"Come with me!" he cried; "come and be saved. Let all that wish to know the word of God come with me into that room over there. I will counsel with them.

"If there is any one beside you that needs converting, speak with them. If they be timid, bring them with you. Come."

Arising, the evangelist moved down from the platform, taking his way to the room at the rear. The crowd turned, and dozens of individuals followed in the evangelist's wake. There in that room they obtained his counsel and cheer, and with smiling faces went upon their ways.

COUNTERFEITING IN PRISON.

Convicts Take Metal From the Engines and Coin Nickels.

A counterfeiting plant has been discovered within the walls of the State Prison at Folsom, Cal. The work was done in the engine room by Convicts L. H. Coyne and James Brown. So far as known only nickels were coined, presumably because no silver could be obtained. When the officers rushed in Coyne and Brown leaped through a window and threw their dies and crucibles into a canal leading to the American River. A large number of well executed five-cent pieces were found. They were made from Babbit metal taken from the engines which run through the prison ground is for the purpose of hauling rock from the quarries.

It is thought that the dies or moulds were not made by the men who coined the money, but by some of the expert counterfeiters in the prison. Several of the bogus coins have been found in circulation in the town of Folsom.

SHARK CATCHERS DROWNED.

Four Japanese Lose Their Lives in the Surf in an Exciting Hunt.

Four Japanese fishermen were drowned near Pacific Grove, Cal., while harpooning sharks. Japanese catch sharks for oil, which nets twenty-five cents a gallon. Two boats went out, with three men in one and four in the other. The boats were lashed together with cross pieces so that they would better withstand the lunges of sharks when harpooned. A school of white sharks appeared early in the afternoon, and one fully twenty-five feet long, was harpooned. Instead of rushing out to sea as wounded sharks usually do, this one made for the shore and dragged the boats into the surf. Four huge rollers were encountered and capsized the boats. Three men in one of the boats reached shore. The others were drowned.

THE SABBATH SCHOOL.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR MARCH 27.

Review of the Twelve Lessons of the First Quarter—Golden Text: Matthew xvi., 16—Commentary on the Quarter's Lesson by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

LESSON I.—Jesus and John (Math. iii., 7-17). Golden Text, Math. iii., 17. "This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased." The first and last lessons of the quarter concern Jesus and John. In this first lesson John points Him out as the One who baptizeth with the Holy Ghost and will one day thoroughly separate between the chaff and the wheat. As He is baptized by John in Jordan, the heavens are opened, the Spirit as a dove abides upon Him, and the Father testifies from heaven in the words of the Golden Text.

LESSON II.—Jesus Tempted (Math. iv., 1-11). Golden Text, Heb. ii., 18. "For in that He Himself hath suffered being tempted, He is able to succor them that are tempted." From the third chapter of the Bible to the third chapter from the end of it there is the record of a great enemy of God and man, that old serpent, the devil, who like a roaring lion walketh about seeking whom he may devour. If he can conquer the Captain of our Salvation, then our cause is lost, but if our David can vanquish this Goliath, victory is sure. As our blessed Lord by the sword of the Spirit defeated the enemy, so may we, and there is no other way. Satan's first attack in Eden was upon the word of God. We must receive it meekly and hold it fast.

LESSON III.—Beginning of the Ministry of Jesus (Math. iv., 17-25). Golden Text, Math. iv., 16. "The people which sat in darkness saw great light." As He dwelt at Capernaum they saw the light of His life, and wherever His people dwell the light of His life of love and compassion, of meekness and lowliness, should be made manifest. He called Peter and Andrew and James and John that he might make them fishers of men by having them follow Him. One of His last words to Peter was, "Follow thou Me" (John xxi., 22).

LESSON IV.—The Beatitudes (Math. v., 1-12). Golden Text, Math. v., 14. "Ye are the light of the world." As He begins His discourse, His first word is "blessed," for He came to bless and save and restore, not like the great enemy, to curse and to destroy. And who are the blessed in His sight? Not the proud, the mighty, the wise and the rich, but the poor in spirit. This is the key to all true blessedness, and without it there is none. It is at the foundation of all blessing. He became poor for our sakes.

LESSON V.—How to Pray (Math. vi., 5-15). Golden Text, Math. vi., 6, "Pray to thy Father, which is in secret." All life is lived either before God or men, either to please God or man, unto God or unto self. How very few live the former, how very many the latter. Even Christians are tempted to do good, pray, fast, etc., with reference to the opinion of their fellows rather than as in the sight of God. Our Lord Jesus had but one aim—to glorify the Father.

LESSON VI.—Our Father's Care (Math. vi., 24-34). Golden Text, I Pet. v., 7, "He careth for you." Three times in this lesson we are told to "take no thought," or "be not anxious," and the reason given for this precept is, "For your Heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of these things." Children of an earthly father could only grieve their father by anxiety about their food and raiment. It is his affair to see to those things. It is theirs to be good and obedient children, a credit and a comfort to him.

LESSON VII.—The Call of Matthew (Math. ix., 9-17). Golden Text, Math. ix., 9, "Follow Me." In chapters viii. and ix. we see Him preaching, teaching, healing, going about doing good. Matthew had been a receiver for those who kept for themselves and cared not how much they oppressed the poor, but now he is to receive in order to give to the poor. He is to be a channel of blessing between the Great Fountain and the perishing all about him. He begins by making a feast for our Lord, and that in the presence of His enemies. Are we ready and glad to honor our Lord before His enemies? Do we not care what men think or say of us if only we can glorify Him? If so, it is well.

LESSON VIII.—The Twelve Sent Forth (Math. x., 2-15). Golden Text, Math. x., 8, "Freely ye have received, freely give." Let us not forget the three great prayers which we should ever pray—that He would send forth laborers; that He would make Jerusalem a praise in the earth, and that He would come quickly (Math. ix., 38; Isa. lxii., 6, 7; Rev. xxii., 20).

LESSON IX.—Warning and Invitation (Math. xi., 20-30). Golden Text, Math. xi., 28, "Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." It is well to remember that privilege increases responsibility, to whom much is given of him shall much be required. If He has led us to know Him, it is that others may through us know Him, too. If He has caused us to be specially taught in His work, it is that through us He may teach others also.

LESSON X.—Jesus and the Sabbath (Math. xii., 1-13). Golden Text, Math. xii., 8, "The Son of Man is Lord even of the Sabbath day." Not days, however holy, nor ordinances nor institutions, however ancient and honorable, must be exalted above Him. These Pharisees would honor the Sabbath above the Lord of the Sabbath because they knew Him not. If we honor anything above Him, it is because we know Him not. Our motto must be, "The Lord alone shall be exalted" (Isa. ii., 11, 17).

LESSON XI.—The Wheat and the Tares (Math. xiii., 24-30, 36-43). Golden Text, Math. xiii., 37, "He that soweth the good seed is the Son of Man." He sows nothing but good seed, the incorruptible seed of the word, which, when received into our hearts, makes us the good seed of this parable, to be planted in the soil of constant death to self that the seed may multiply, for except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die it abideth alone, but if it die it bringeth forth much fruit (John xii., 24). The Son of Man is not discouraged because only a part of the seed bears fruit and tares grow among the wheat. He knew that it would be so, but He shall yet see of the travail of His soul, and shall be satisfied. The earth shall be filled with His glory, but not till after the harvest or end of this age.

LESSON XII.—John the Baptist Beheaded (Math. xiv., 1-12). Golden Text, Prov. iv., 23, "Keep thy heart with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life." The application of this golden text to the lesson is a little difficult, for John's heart was all right, but there was no use telling Herod or Herodias to keep their hearts, for they could not do it.—Lesson Helper.

Torpedo Boat Destroyer.

BATTLE WITH A SNAKE.

A Florida Story Related by the Chicago Chronicle.

Mrs. Byron Brown, who lives over in the West End settlement, five miles from Ocala, Fla., had an exciting set-to with a huge snake the other day that has made her a great reputation as a brave woman. She has a fine lot of poultry. She never gives a chicken away, kills one or sells one, much to the disgust of her husband, who is a practical man, and wants to see some money come in for the big outlay in getting the fowls.

The other day while Mrs. Brown was in the house cooking some eggs for her husband's dinner she heard a terrible commotion in the hen yard. Running out she saw a huge snake devouring one of her pet chickens. She stood struck dumb with horror and pain—she was from Boston—and then her Yankee blood was roused and she determined that the "sarpint" should pay for his meal. Catching up a big stick, she struck at the snake, but missed, and the next moment the snake flew at her. She nimbly jumped aside and it missed her dress by an inch. Turning tail the reptile sought safety in flight. Gliding down by the fence, it sought a big knot hole and started to get out. As its folds disappeared through the hole Mrs. Brown was seized by a brilliant idea. Jumping forward she seized its tail and began pulling back. The snake thrashed vigorously, but couldn't strike back on account of the boards.

Mrs. Brown was struck by another brilliant idea. With an adroitness peculiar to women she tied the snake's tail into a double bow knot. Then slipping a big wedge of wood right behind it she drove a stake through the loops so the snake couldn't get back. Then going up to the other side she sought to kill the reptile. But his angry hiss and threatening look were too much for her. She ran into the house and came out with the eggs that had been boiling all this time, and were sizzling with heat. Getting the reptile excited she threw an egg. The snake struck at it in anger and madly swallowed it. Two or three more followed in rapid succession, the infuriated reptile swallowing every one as it came along. At the fourth one the snake seemed to think it had had enough of this red-hot kind of food and wildly thrashed about trying to get free. Soon one of the eggs came through its under side, having burned its way through the snake's body. Then another and another followed until all were on the ground and a dying snake lay there. Mrs. Brown then waxed brave, and, getting a pine wood knot, pounded the reptile's head into bits. It measured 9 feet 5¼ inches long and was 10 inches around the middle.

She saved the eggs and her husband remarked that day at dinner that she had "allowed the eggs to get pretty hard," whereat Mrs. Brown smiled.

The Breach Was Serious.

The fair young thing had only been married a short time, and she was in tears when she sought the home of her parents again.

"It's all over," she told her mother. "Harold and I have separated forever."

"Oh, it's not so bad as all that?"

"Yes, it is," asserted the fair young thing. "I think I know. It was all because of a little question of economy, too."

"Economy?"

"Yes. We both agreed that economy was necessary, and we were just as nice and generous to each other as possible, until—until——"

She burst into tears, and for a long time refused to be comforted.

"Until what?" inquired her mother, as soon as there was an opportunity.

"Until it came to the question as to whose bicycle was to be sold, for we were unanimous in the opinion that we could only afford to keep one."

Then the mother realized that the breach was indeed a serious one.

Pork Dangerous—Veal Unwholesome

"Pork is the source of trichina; for this reason it should be cooked thoroughly. Hogs are almost always fattened so as to be actually diseased before killing, and we find here also a common source of tuberculosis; it is also generally believed that pork eating is a common source of scrofula," writes Mrs. S. T. Rorer in the Ladies' Home Journal. "I certainly know that persons who indulge freely in pork have very unhealthy, rough and easily irritated skins. Veal (equally indigestible with pork) may not contain the dangerous germs of the mature ox; the fibre, however, is dense and difficult of digestion. Unless it be thoroughly boiled and chopped rather fine it had better not be eaten at all. It should never, under any circumstances, be given to children."

Woman's Fate.

From the Record, Bushnell, Ill.

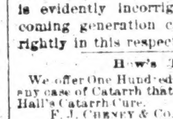
No woman is better able to speak to others regarding "woman's fate" than Mrs. Jacob Weaver, of Bushnell, Ill., wife of ex-City Marshal Weaver. She had entirely recovered from the illness which kept her bedfast much of the time for five or six years past, and says her recovery is due to that well-known remedy, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mrs. Weaver is fifty-six years old, and has lived in Bushnell nearly thirty years. She is of unquestionable veracity and unblemished reputation. The story of her recovery is interesting. She says:

"I suffered for five or six years with the trouble that comes to women at this time of my life. I was much weakened, was unable much of the time to do my own work, and suffered beyond my power to describe. I was downhearted and melancholy.

"I took many different medicines, in fact, I took medicine all the time, but nothing seemed to do me any good.

"I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and some of my friends recommended them highly. I made up my mind to try them. I bought the first box in March, 1897, and was benefited from the start.



Mrs. Jacob Weaver.

"A box and a half cured me completely, and I am now rugged and strong. I have not been bothered with my trouble since I began taking the pills.

"I have recommended the pills to many women who are suffering as I suffered. They are the only thing that helped me in the trial that comes to so many women at my age."

MRS. J. H. WEAVER.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 23d day of October, A. D., 1897.

O. C. HICKS, Notary Public.

When woman is passing beyond the age of motherhood, it is a crisis in her life. Then, if ever, proper attention to hygiene should be exercised. The attendant sufferings will disappear and buoyant health will follow if Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are used.

These pills exert a powerful influence in restoring the system to its proper condition. They contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood.

The inventor who will produce an artificial feather that can take the place of the real article will be a benefactor to the race. Perhaps artificial feathers could be made from celluloid or of the recently invented artificial silk. With 200,000,000 plumage birds being killed every year to supply feathers for women's bonnets, it is evident that in the course of a decade or two there will be no birds worth looking at in any civilized country. The ladies have been appealed to hundreds of times to put a stop to the slaughter by consenting to a change in fashion, but so far they have shown no disposition to give up the feather fad. Men are supposed to be more heartless than women, but they do not encourage the universal slaughter of the birds by wearing feathers. As long, however, as they do not actively discourage the killing of birds by advising women not to wear plumes, they are not altogether blameless in the matter. Let us have more Audubon Societies among the young people, to teach the value and the beauty of birds and encourage their preservation. The present generation is evidently incorrigible. Perhaps a coming generation can be educated rightly in this respect.

At the international congress of leprosy, which has just been brought to a conclusion at Berlin, the startling fact was elicited that the disease is very prevalent in France, especially in the northern districts thereof, and that it is on the increase. LIVER MEDICINE CERTIFICATES.

Write us 1st How long you have known, used or sold Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine. 2nd State Diseases it cured. 3d Give names of those cured. 4th State the difference between its strength and action and the strength and action of J. H. Zeilin & Co.'s "Liver Regulator" and the Chattanooga Medicine Co.'s "Black Draught," both of which contain Woody Bulbs of Roots and Stems of Herbs, and have sold at about 6 cents per package, and should not retail at over 10 cents if consumers are not imposed upon, while Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine, made from the purest and most carefully selected Drugs, regardless of cost, with the Bulbs of the Roots and Stems of the Herbs by our secret process extracted and thrown away, cannot be sold at less than 25 cents. The reason of the difference is this: On June 30th, 1893, the Supreme Court enjoined J. H. Zeilin & Co. from manufacturing and selling medicine under the name of "Dr. Simmons' Liver Medicine."

Zeilin's answer to our bill said, the medicine was designed as "cheap negro medicine for the negroes of the Mississippi Valley." And Zeilin's manager testified in the case, and Zeilin's advertisements said "that all the Liver Medicine they make is made by the same formula." What more conclusive evidence could there be that all their Liver Medicine is "cheap negro medicine?"

Again, the United States Court, in the Zeilin case at Knoxville, Tenn., enjoined the old proprietors of the article now called "Black Draught" from perpetrating fraud by using the words constituting our trade name, and "Black Draught" was not known till after 1876; yet they falsely advertise that it was established in 1840, and filch our trade by allowing their customers to untruthfully represent it as the same as our genuine article, they giving color of truth to the deception by publishing the picture of a Dr. Simmons on their wrapper, thereby associating their article with our Dr. M. A. Simmons' Liver Medicine, which he established in 1840, and every package of which has borne his picture since 1840.

On receipt of letter enclosing a recently taken Photograph we will mail you a $1.00 Package Liver Medicine (FREE).

In reply to numerous private inquiries from its tremendous clientage the "WESTERN REVIEW OF COMMERCE"—the scientific publication having the largest circulation in the west—caused to be made a most thorough comparison between all the better class of cycles available in open market.

As a result of the expert and the critical examination of 37 different makes, and without any prejudice, this publication unhesitatingly announces in favor of the LOVELL DIAMOND over all competitors.

Boston, February 11, 1898.

Dear sir:—Your letter of February 7 received. In reply will say that we want to thank you for same and would also say that this is the first time we ever knew of a paper of your class having the courage to come right out and state a fact, and we want to say right here that we don't think you have made any mistake, for the goods will back you up in the statement. We are willing to stake our business reputation of over 57 years that the Lovell Diamond is the best bicycle built, not only in this country but in any other.

Just as soon as you issue the papers with this article in, which you sent us unsolicited and unknown to us, and in your letter were kind enough to say that it would be printed and that you asked no advertisement, gifts or anything of the kind,—we should be pleased to have you send us a few copies by mail.

Again thanking you for your kind letter and always wishing you the very best of success, we remain Yours respectfully,

Gentlemen:

Your esteemed favor of the 11th inst. to hand and contents noted. We thank you for your kind words of appreciation. We mean just what we say, that for careful and scientific construction and real practical value the Lovell Diamond is undoubtedly the best wheel made. In our investigation we examined 37 leading makes, and we were satisfied after most thorough tests that we were justified in giving the Palm to the "Diamond."

Considering we were not influenced in any way by financial considerations, not even in the form of advertising patronage, you may rest assured that the decision was unprejudiced.

Wishing you success in the coming season, we are

Yours very truly,
WESTERN REVIEW OF COMMERCE
Editor

Among other complimentary remarks the "WESTERN REVIEW OF COMMERCE" says in its issue of Feb. 25th, 1898: "Our representatives have therefore given close and critical attention to the claims of all the leading makes of cycles as found in their catalogues, and as presented by agents and interested wheelmen. As a result of thorough and practical tests and examinations, the unanimous verdict of our experts was in favor of the 'LOVELL DIAMOND,' manufactured by the John P. Lovell Arms Co., Boston, Massachusetts, and was based upon general and symmetrical excellence in every part of a bicycle, coupled with correct and scientific design."

Give You a Chance to Make Good Money.

The Constitution now makes the most remarkable proposition ever made to the subscribers of any southern newspaper. Beginning with the 1st of March it makes a cash offer of $5,000, to be divided among those of its subscribers who guess nearest to the size of the cotton crop of 1897-'8—the crop grown last year and now already in. The exact number of bales of the crop will be announced in the early fall and figures given by the well known firm of Latham, Alexander & Co., of New York, and their figures will be accepted as final.

Two thousand five hundred dollars of the $5,000 offered by The Constitution will be given to the one making the exact or the nearest correct estimate of the crop; $1,500 to the second nearest, and $1,000 to the third nearest, provided the guesses are made during the present month.

The Banner clubs with The Weekly Constitution, and we offer a special clubbing rate for both of $1.50 and all those who accept this clubbing offer will be entitled to a guess in The Constitution cotton crop contest. On receipt of the cash for the two papers, the name and subscription, with the guess of the cotton crop, will be forwarded to The Weekly Constitution.

The Weekly Constitution is the Greatest Weekly Newspaper in the World, with a circulation of 156,000. It covers the whole world in its news service, and covers the news of the United States in minute detail, with 12 pages, 7 columns to the page, 84 Columns Every Week.

AS A NEWSPAPER—The Weekly Constitution has no equal in America! Its news reports cover the world, and its correspondents and agents are to be found in almost every bailiwick in the Southern and Western States.

AS A MAGAZINE—It prints more such matter as is ordinarily found in the great magazines of the country than can be gotten from even the best of them.

AS AN EDUCATOR—It is a schoolhouse within itself, and a year's reading of THE CONSTITUTION is a liberal education to anyone.

AS A FRIEND AND COMPANION—It brings cheer and comfort to the fireside every week, is eagerly sought by the children, contains valuable information for the mother, and is an encyclopedia of instruction for every member of the household.

ITS SPECIAL FEATURES—Are such as are not to be found in any other paper in America.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for it is, as Mr. Shaw says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it presents to its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the political, economic, and literary happenings which are of value to thinking men and women. The "Progress of the World" is succinctly an illustrated story of the month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazines in English; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the men of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of serious import.

"We know of no review published, in this country or in Europe, which combines so successfully as the AMERICAN MONTHLY the alertness, intelligence, and energy of journalism with the sound judgment, carefully weighed opinion, exact knowledge, and well-chosen English of the purely literary periodical."—The Outlook.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly volume the information needed by intelligent people of "live" instincts is best shown in the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library in itself"; "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of genius"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

Clanton, Ala., March 30th, 1898.
To the voters of Chilton county:

In submitting my name to you as a candidate for the office of Judge of Probate, I feel that it is my duty to give an explanation why I announce myself subject to the votes of the general election instead of the primary of the People's Party. I desire to express to the people of Chilton county my sincere gratitude for the honors and trusts which you have in the past conferred on me, by electing me to the positions which I have held. I feel grateful to you for the confidence you have reposed in me and I trust that my acts toward you and my services for you have been so considered, that you will believe that I appreciate what has been done for me. It is my earnest desire to be true to my God, my people and myself. I realize that I have made mistakes but I have the satisfaction of knowing that I have knowingly wronged no one, I have always endeavored to do justice to all alike, and if any person has suffered a wrong on my account, I am sorry for it and will do everything that is possibly in my power to correct it. I do now, and have always believed in the doctrine of the office seeking the man and not the man seeking the office. I believe in fair and honest elections, whether they be party or general elections. I believe in the doctrines of the People's Party as set forth in its national platform and every vote cast by me since the organization of this party, has been for its nominees, national state and county. I am to-day as strong in my endorsement of these principles as I have ever been, and I believe if these principles could be carried into effect, our condition would be materially improved.

The reasons why I do not enter into the contest for the nomination in the Primary election, are, I think, good and sufficient, which if understood by my friends as I understand them, would convince them of the honesty of my purpose and the justice and fairness of my position. I cannot give my reasons in full in this article as it would be too lengthy, but I hope to have the opportunity of explaining myself fully in the matter, and with the aid of subsequent events which are likely to arise it will not be difficult to understand the motives which prompt me to take this course. My first reason is that in a county with conditions like ours, I do not think it is to the best interests of all the people to have the officers selected by a caucus, convention or part selection. I think an officer should be selected by the entire people and be the servant of all alike. I regard conventions and primary elections generally as party machines in which political schemers may by their manipulations unfairly defeat the will of the people. It is not my intention to make any charge against the Committee of our party, for I think they did what they thought and regarded as best, but had I been consulted and advised with, I should have suggested that no party election be had this year. I am strongly in favor of the complete union of the white people of our county, if it can be had with equal fairness to every voter, and upon principles which I regard as right and to the interests of the people.

The primary has been called and the rules and regulations are such that almost any one who wishes can vote in it, or be a candidate therein, and no person can prevent it. A primary is a party election and no one should take part in it but those who belong to the party and who endorse its principles, and I think that honest, thoughtful people will not do so, but it is quite an easy matter for some people to be induced or influenced to do otherwise. I believe there are plans devised and being worked by which it is expected and intended to unfairly defeat the will of the people for the benefit of individuals, and that being no law to prevent such measures and means being practiced, or any remedy therefore after it has been done, I am unwilling to go into the primary and pledge myself to abide by its results, as I would have to do in order to honorably participate in it. Under present conditions I cannot conscientiously lend my endorsement to such practices as I am constrained to believe is expected to be used in this election, if it was an election of Populists only, in which no others could vote or ask its nomination, then I would be perfectly willing to abide its results, but under the existing conditions I am not willing to do so. I wish to say further that I am not under any obligations or promise to any party or persons and I will not be. I am acting upon principle and what I honestly and conscientiously believe to be my duty and I expect to support and defend principles which I am known to have advocated for years, because I believe them to be right, and I cannot afford to forsake duty for any office which can be given me by the people. I expect to be severely criticised and charged with forsaking the party and many other things, and in this connection I have one request to make of those who speak of this matter through The Banner that you do it over your own name and not another's or fictitious one. My record is such that I am willing for it to be discussed in the papers or otherwise but when I am being spoken of, the people ought to know who is saying it.

I submit my name to the people to be voted for at the general election in August, because I have been solicited to ask for the election by many representative men in the county, who say they are satisfied with the administration of the office during the present term and are willing to have it continue so another term. I want the voters of the county to consider the matter well, and if you should want me to hold the office another term, and I should be elected to the office, I pledge myself to the people of Chilton county to do all in my power to discharge the duties of the office for all the people, without partiality or favor. If I am not elected to the office I will feel as grateful to those who support me as if I should be elected. Should I be defeated, if I believe it is by a majority of the people's votes I will submit cheerfully and return to my home to again enjoy its pleasures. I do not propose taking any unfair means to secure the office, and unless I believe it is by a majority of the votes of the county I would not under any conditions accept or hold the office. Again thanking you for past favors, I would say to my friends to consider well what is to your interest and act accordingly. Watch carefully the methods employed in the elections as I fear that the thing we have so strongly condemned in others is now to be met in our own ranks.

R. M. HONEYCUTT.

MAINE REPORT.

Court of Inquiry Finds Vessel Was Blown Up By a Mine.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Submits the Findings to Both Houses of Congress.

All the Expert Evidence, With the Conclusions of the Naval Board, Read in Senate and House and Immediately Referred to the Foreign Affairs Committees in Both Branches—The Board's Report Convicts Spain of Foul Play Only by Implication—No Responsibility For the Disaster Fixed—Magazines Blew Up, But Not Until After the Mine Had Been Exploded—Ship Broken In Two—Force of Explosion Came From Port to Starboard, Lifting the Ship in Air.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—The findings of the Court of Inquiry which investigated the disaster causing the loss of the battleship Maine on February 15, in Havana Harbor, were transmitted to Congress at noon Monday. They were accompanied by the following message from the President:

To the Congress of the United States:

For some time prior to the visit of the Maine to Havana Harbor our Consular representatives pointed out the advantages to flow from the visit of National ships to the Cuban waters, in accustoming the people to the presence of our flag as the symbol of good will and of our ships in the fulfillment of the mission of protection to American interests, even though no immediate need therefor might exist.

Accordingly, on the 24th of January last, after conference with the Spanish Minister, in which the renewal of visits of our war vessels to Spanish waters was discussed and accepted, the Peninsular authorities at Madrid and Havana were advised of the purpose of this Government to resume friendly naval visits at Cuban ports and that in that view the Maine would forthwith call at the port of Havana. This announcement was received by the Spanish Government with appreciation of the friendly character to the visit of the Maine and with notification of intention to return the courtesy by sending Spanish ships to the principal ports of the United States. Meanwhile the Maine entered the port of Havana on the 25th of January, her arrival being marked with no special incident besides the exchange of customary salutes and ceremonial visits. The Maine continued in the harbor of Havana during the three weeks following her arrival. No appreciable excitement attended her stay; on the contrary, a feeling of relief and confidence followed the resumption of the long interrupted friendly intercourse. So noticeable was this immediate effect of her visit that the Consul-General strongly urged that the presence of our ships in Cuban waters should be kept up by retaining the Maine at Havana, or, in the event of her recall, by sending another vessel there to take her place.

Resume of the Tragedy.

At 9.40 o'clock in the evening of the 15th of February the Maine was destroyed by an explosion, by which the entire forward part of the ship was literally wrecked. In this catastrophe two officers and 264 of her crew perished, those who were not killed outright by her explosion being penned between decks by the tangle of wreckage and drowned by the immediate sinking of the ship.

Prompt assistance was rendered by the neighboring vessels anchored in the harbor, aid being especially given by the boats of the Spanish cruiser Alphonso XII. and the Ward line steamer City of Washington, which lay not far distant. The wounded were generously cared for by the authorities in Havana, the hospitals being freely open to them, while the earliest recovered bodies of the dead were interred by the municipality in a public cemetery in the city. Tributes of grief and sympathy were offered from all official quarters of the island. The appalling calamity fell upon the people of our country with crushing force, and for a brief time intense excitement prevailed, which in a community less just and self-controlled than ours might have led to hasty acts of blind resentment. This spirit, however, soon gave way to calmer processes of reason and to the resolve to investigate the facts and await material proof before forming a judgment as to the cause, the responsibility and if the facts warranted the remedy due. This course necessarily recommended itself from the outset to the Executive, for only in the light of a dispassionately ascertained certainty could it determine the nature and measure of his full duty in the matter. The usual procedure was followed as in all cases of casualty or disaster to national vessels of any maritime State. A Naval Court of Inquiry was at once organized composed of officers well qualified by rank and practical experience to discharge the onerous duty imposed upon them. Aided by a strong force of wreckers and divers the court proceeded to make a thorough investigation on the spot, employing every available means for the impartial and exact determination of the cause of the explosion. Its operations have been conducted with the utmost deliberation and judgment and while independently pursued, no source of information was neglected, and the fullest opportunity was allowed for a simultaneous investigation by the Spanish authorities.

The finding of the Court of Inquiry was reached, after twenty-three days of continuous labor, on the 21st of March and, having been approved on the 22d by the Commander-in-Chief of the United States naval force of the North Atlantic station was transmitted to the Executive. It is herewith laid before the Congress together with the voluminous testimony taken before the court. Its purport is in brief, as follows:

"When the Maine arrived at Havana she was conducted by the regular Government pilot to Buoy No. 4, to which she was moored in from five and one-half to six fathoms of water.

"The state of discipline on board and the condition of her magazines, boilers and coal bunkers and storage compartments are passed in review, with the conclusion that excellent order prevailed, and that no indication of any cause for an internal explosion existed in any quarter. At 8 o'clock in the evening of Feb. 15 everything had been reported secure and all was quiet. At 9.40 o'clock the vessel was suddenly destroyed. There were two distinct explosions, with a brief interval between them. The first lifted the forward part of the ship very perceptibly; the second, which was more open, prolonged and of greater volume, is attributed by the Court to the par- xplosion of two or more of the agazines. The evidence of th ishes that the afterpart of t' tically intact and sank in that condition a very few minutes after the explosion. The forward part was completely demolished. Upon the evidence of a concurrent external cause the finding of the court is as follows:

The Cause External.

"At frame 17 the outer shell of the ship, from a point eleven and one-half feet from the middle line of the ship and six feet above the keel when in its normal position, has been forced up so as to be now about four feet above the surface of the water; therefore about thirty-four feet above where it would be had the ship sunk uninjured.

"The outside bottom plating is bent into a reversed shape, the after wing of which, about 15 feet broad and 32 feet in length (from frame 17 to frame 25), is doubled back upon itself against the continuation of the same plating extending forward.

"At frame 18 the vertical keel is broken in two and the flat keel bent into an angle similar to the angle formed by the outside bottom plates. This break is now about 6 feet below the surface of the water and about 30 feet above its normal position.

"In the opinion of the court, this effect could have been produced only by the explosion of a mine situated under the bottom of the ship, at about frame 18, and somewhat on the port side of the ship. The conclusions of the court are:

Conclusions of the Court.

"That the loss of the Maine was not in any respect due to fault or negligence on the part of any of the officers or members of her crew; that the ship was destroyed by the explosion of a submarine mine, which caused the partial explosion of two or more of her forward magazines, and that no evidence has been obtainable fixing the responsibility for the destruction of the Maine upon any person or persons."

I have directed that the finding of the Court of Inquiry and the views of this Government thereon be communicated to the Government of her majesty, the Queen Regent, and I do not permit myself to doubt that the sense of justice of the Spanish nation will dictate a course of action suggested by honor and the friendly relations of the two Governments.

It will be the duty of the Executive to advise the Congress of the result, and in the meantime deliberate consideration is invoked.

OFFICIAL REPORT ON THE MAINE.

Submarine Mine Blew Her Up, But Spain Is Not Blamed.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—The following is the full text of the report of the Court of Inquiry:

U. S. S. Iowa, 1st Rate.
KEY WEST, Fla., Monday, March 21, 1898.

After full and mature consideration of all the testimony before it, the Court finds as follows:

1. That the United States battleship Maine arrived in the harbor of Havana, Cuba, on the 25th day of January, 1898, and was taken to buoy No. 4 in from five and a half to six fathoms of water, by the regular Government pilot.

2. The state of discipline on board the Maine was excellent, and all orders and regulations in regard to the care and safety of the ship were strictly carried out.

All ammunition was stored in accordance with prescribed instructions, and proper care was taken whenever ammunition was handled.

Nothing was stored in any one of the magazines or shell-rooms which was not permitted to be stored there.

Ammunition Inspected.

The magazines and shell-rooms were always locked after having been opened, and after the destruction of the Maine the keys were found in their proper place in the Captain's cabin, everything having been reported secure that evening at 8 p. m.

The temperature of the magazines and shell-rooms was taken daily and reported. The only magazine which had an undue amount of heat was the after ten-inch magazine, and that did not explode at the time the Maine was destroyed.

The torpedo war heads were all stowed in the after part of the ship, under the ward room, and neither caused nor participated in the destruction of the Maine.

The dry gun cotton primers and detonators were stowed in the cabin aft, and removed from the scene of the explosion. Waste was carefully looked after on the Maine to obviate danger. Special orders in regard to this had been given by the commanding officer. Varnishes, dryers, alcohol and other combustibles of this nature were stowed on or above the main dock, and could not have had anything to do with the destruction of the Maine.

The medical stores were stored aft under the ward room and remote from the scene of the explosion.

No dangerous stores of any kind were stored below in any of the other storerooms.

The Coal Bunkers All Right.

The coal bunkers were inspected daily. Of those bunkers adjacent to the forward magazines and shell rooms, four were empty, namely: "B 3, B 4, B 5, B 6."

"A 15" had been in use that day and "A 16" was full of New River coal. This coal

SENOR POLO Y. BERNABE,

had been carefully inspected before receiving it on board. The bunker in which it was stowed was accessible on three sides at all times, and the fourth side at this time on account of bunkers "B 4" and "B 6" being empty. This bunker, "A 15" had been inspected that day by the engineer officer on duty.

The fire alarms in the bunkers were in working order and there had never been a case of spontaneous combustion of coal on board the Maine.

The two after boilers of the ship were in use at the time of the disaster, but for auxiliary purposes only, with a comparatively low pressure of steam and being tended by a reliable watch, these boilers could not have caused the explosion of the ship. The four forward boilers have since been found by the divers and are in a fair condition.

On the night of the destruction of the Maine everything had been reported secure for the night at 8 p. m. by reliable persons through the proper authorities to the commanding officer. At the time the Maine was destroyed the ship was quiet, and, therefore, least liable to accident caused by movements from those on board.

Explosions.

3. The destruction of the Maine occurred at 9.40 p. m. on February 15, 1898, in the harbor of Havana, Cuba, she being at the time moored to the same buoy to which she had been taken upon her arrival. There were two explosions of a distinctly different character, with a very short but distant interval between them, and the forward part of the ship was lifted to a marked degree at the time of the first explosion. The first explosion was more in the nature of a report like that of a gun, while the second explosion was more open, prolonged and of greater volume. The second explosion was, in the opinion of the Court, caused by the partial explosion of two or more of the forward magazines of the Maine.

Condition of the Wreck.

4. The evidence bearing upon this being principally obtained from divers did not enable the Court to form a definite conclusion as to the condition of the wreck, although it was established that the after part of the ship was practically intact and sank in that condition a very few minutes after the destruction of the forward part.

The following facts in regard to the forward part of the ship are, however, established by the testimony:

That portion of the port side of the protective deck which extends from about frame 30 to about frame 41 was blown up aft and over to port. The main deck from about frame 30 to about frame 41 was blown up aft and slightly over to starboard, folding the forward part of the middle superstructure over and on top of the after part.

This was, in the opinion of the Court, caused by the partial explosion of the forward magazines of the Maine.

5. At frame 17, the outer shell of the ship, from a point eleven and a half feet from the middle line of the ship and six feet above the keel, when in its normal position, has been forced up so as to be now about four feet above the surface of the water; therefore about thirty-four feet above where it would be had the ship sunk uninjured. The outside bottom plating is bent into a reversed V-shape, the after wing of which, about fifteen feet broad and thirty feet in length (from frame 17 to frame 25), is doubled back upon itself against the continuation of the same plating extending forward.

At frame 18 the vertical keel is broken in two, and the flat keel bent into an angle similar to the angle formed by the outside bottom plating. This break is now about six feet below the surface of the water and about thirty feet above its normal position.

In the opinion of the court this effect could have been produced only by the explosion of a mine situated under the bottom of the ship at about frame 18 and somewhat on the port side of the ship.

Destroyed by a Mine.

6. The court finds that the loss of the Maine, on the occasion named, was not in any respect due to fault or negligence on the part of any of the officers or members of the crew of said vessel.

7. In the opinion of the court the Maine was destroyed by the explosion of a submarine mine, which caused the partial explosion of two or more of her forward magazines.

8. The Court has been unable to obtain evidence fixing the responsibility for the destruction of the Maine upon any person or persons.

MESSAGE AND REPORT IN CONGRESS.

Read and Referred to Foreign Affairs Committees in Both Houses.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—Except on the occasion of the inauguration of a President, no such crowds as surged through the corridors and stormed the galleries for admission on the day the Maine report was sent in have been seen at the Capitol in a quarter of a century. At daylight people were already seeking entrance to the Capitol and hours before noon, when the two Houses convened, the marble stairways were choked with pushing, jostling people pressing toward the galleries. Not an inch of space remained in the public galleries at 9 o'clock, though long lines of people stretching down the stairways to the lower corridors continued to press forward. Within a few minutes after the reserve galleries were thrown open they, too, were completely filled with the exception of those reserved for the diplomatic corps and the families of the President and Cabinet. Admission to these galleries was strictly by card. Many distinguished personages were in the galleries.

In the Senate the reading of the journal was dispensed with, and at two minutes past twelve the message from the President was delivered by Mr. Pruden, one of his secretaries. At 12.12 Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, asked that the President's message be laid before the Senate. The Vice-President presented the message and the clerks proceeded to read it. When they got through with it Mr. Davis moved that the message, report and testimony be ordered printed and referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations. The motion was agreed to.

In the House at exactly 12 o'clock the Speaker ascended the rostrum and called the body to order. Amid the impressive silence that followed the blind chaplain delivered a solemn prayer, which rang through the hall like a warning. He referred to the stern clouds that hung over the country threatening to break at any time. After the journal came the reading of the President's message. There was an outburst of applause in the galleries and on the floor when the reading of the message was concluded. The President's message was referred to committee without debate. This was the Committee on Foreign Affairs under the rules. No motion was made. Immediately after the announcement of Representative Simpkin's death the House at 12.18 P. M. adjourned for the day.

Quiet Election in Havana.

Election day in Havana was more quiet than many election days in New York, Chicago, and other large American cities. Claims are made that the Government ticket, including twenty Autonomists and ten Conservatives, was elected. The vote in the city was very light.

Unlimited Recruiting Authorized.

Unlimited recruiting for the Navy has been authorized. Recruiting officers at all stations have been instructed to make efforts to secure good, healthy men for all purposes, with no restrictions as to number or experience, and to waive all the unimportant qualifications that have heretofore been demanded in the service. At least five thousand men are needed as soon as possible, in addition to the extra number recently authorized by Congress. Ten thousand more will be needed if auxiliary cruisers are pressed into service.

The Spanish Elections.

The elections held Sunday in Spain for the popular branch of the Cortes passed off, on the whole, quietly. The indications are that the Government of senor Sagasta will have an enormous majority, estimated at 300 of the 432 seats in the Chamber. The elections in Madrid were without special incident. At Bilbao the polling caused great excitement, and there was much disorder.

Congressman Simpkins Dead.

John Simpkins, representative in Congress from the Thirteenth Massachusetts District, died Sunday in Washington.

THE NEWS OF OUR STATE.

The Prosperous Town of Enterprise Devastated by Fire.

NEW RAILROAD FOR NORTHEAST ALABAMA.

Muscle Shoals Power to Be Utilized—Heavy Shipments of Alabama Coal—South-Girl Accidentally Killed By Her Brother—Other Items.

Enterprise Devastated by Fire.

The entire business portion of the prosperous town of Enterprise was destroyed by fire the past week.

The origin of the fire is not known. In the early part of the morning an attempt was made to burn a small frame building, which was discovered and put out. A second attempt was made which also failed. The third attempt, however, was successful, and before the flames from it had ceased the property loss had reached $250,000. Following is an estimate of the losses: Stokes & Holloway, $5,500; W. A. Lovard, $5,555; J. C. Wallen, $2,400; Bruner Bros., $1,850; J. W. Smith, $1,500; F. P. Richburg, $1,500; Heath Bros., $1,000; P. M. Whaley, $3,000; B. H. Ziegler, $1,000; Owens & White, $1,400; R. S. Williams, $1,400; Masonic Hall, $600.

There was but very little insurance on any of the property, as the town has been built within the past six months. Of the thirteen business houses only two remain, Henderson Bros. and Harrison Bros.

New Commandant at the University.

Erle Pettus, of Elkmont, has been appointed commandant at the University of Alabama by Dr. Powers, the president of the institute, and entered upon his duties March 21. Mr. Pettus graduated from the university with flattering honors in the class of '97. He is well up in military, especially the military as it exists at the university, and the president is to be congratulated on his fortunate selection of such a man to this post. In the primary election at Livingston March 19, Mr. Pettus was nominated by the democracy as representative in the next legislature. This he is honored at home and abroad.

They Are Ready for Action.

The three military companies in Anniston and Oxford are ready for action whenever the command comes. One of the companies, however, will be placed in a rather embarrassing position should marching orders be received within the next three or four days. The Woodstock Guards, are without guns. Three weeks ago the guards were ordered to box and ship their old guns to Springfield, Mass., to be exchanged for new guns. The guns, forty-five in number, were shipped without delay, but the new guns have not yet arrived. It is said that the guns are in Montgomery and that they will be available in a day or two.

New Railroad for Northeast Alabama.

The Southern railway will extend its Memphis division—the old Memphis & Charleston railway, from Stevenson to Chattanooga. Twelve men commenced the survey for the route the past week and the work of construction will commence as soon as practicable. This extension, it is estimated, will cost the Southern over $1,000,000, and includes another bridge over the Tennessee river at Chattanooga.

Accidentally Killed His Sister.

At Talladega, Saturday morning, Walter Johnston shot and killed his sister. The shooting was accidental, and was done with a 32-calibre pistol. The ball took effect in the girl's temple, and death was instantaneous. Walter Johnston is 17 years old; his sister was 14, and a beautiful girl. Both are children of H. C. Johnston, a well-known railroad man.

Battery at Fort Morgan.

Major W. Bonsell, chief of engineers in Mobile, has received orders from the government to build immediately at Fort Morgan another battery, and he has gone to work at once ordering the material for the work, which will be rapidly pushed to completion.

Enormous Cattle Shipments.

The sale of cattle for shipment to the far west still goes on in the section around Montgomery to an alarming extent and it will soon cause a famine in this state if it is not stopped at once. There has been more than two hundred car loads shipped to the west and the buying and selling still goes on.

Judge Head Retires from the Race.

Judge James B. Head has retired from the race for associate judge of the supreme court. His reason for retiring was his health, which has lately been such as to lead him to believe that he would not be in condition for arduous work for many months.

Muscle Shoals Power.

A survey for the Muscle Shoals Power company, of Sheffield, has just been completed by A. F. Walker, a civil and mining engineer, of Atlanta. The company proposes to utilize a portion of the present undeveloped power of the Tennessee river at Muscle Shoals by electrically transmitting it to Sheffield, Florence and Tuscumbia, cities eight to ten miles distant.

At Florence James Barnett, fifteen years of age, plead guilty to burglary and was sentenced to two years and three months.

Henry S. Dimont of Montgomery Dies Suddenly.

A dispatch received in Montgomery announces the death of Henry S. Dimont, which occurred in Memphis, Tenn., Monday morning. Mr. Dimont was a well known citizen of Montgomery, and was a member of the firm of Dimont & Co., wholesale grocers. He was also president of the Montgomery Gas Light company. He was a native of Memphis, and was 45 years old. He was married in Montgomery about 20 years ago to Miss Lizzie Lyon, daughter of the late Judge Lyon, of Montgomery. He is survived by his wife and two children, a boy and girl. He was a member of the Elks, Knights of Pythias and Masonic orders. The funeral will take place from Memphis.

SPANISH OFFICERS PLANNED THE DASTARDLY DEED.

An Extract From the Testimony of Ensign Powelson.

A witness was introduced whose name was suppressed by agreement between him and the court. He had to talk through an interpreter. This witness was crossing about 7:30 on the evening of the 15th from Havana to the Reglas on the ferry boat. He was sitting near three Spanish officers, two of the army and one of the navy, and a citizen. There were talking about the Maine. One of the army officers said: "That is nearly arranged."

The citizen asked if making explosions in the bay would not endanger Havana. The officers said:

"No; it was arranged so that it would simply explode, open the vessel and she would sink immediately."

The other man, greatly exclaimed: "I will take plenty of beer on that occasion."

Others came by and they suddenly stopped the conversation. They said it was a shame if the Maine should be in the harbor, and they would blow her up anyhow.

WAR THE ONLY KEY.

Senator Morgan Says That War Is Certain to Come.

"The only key with which to unlock the situation is war," said Senator Morgan to the Asso-Herald's Washington correspondent. Continuing, he further said: "Congress is in a frame of mind that will permit of no delays. War is certain to come. It is the only solution. It cannot be averted. Congress has it now in its power to act, and it can be set down as a fact that a declaration of war will be passed in the senate within a few days. The foreign relations committee will stand to its colors notwithstanding what influence, if any, may come from the White House. The president will want money to feed the hungry, and unless he complies with the wishes of congress in the manner of its distribution, which must be with warships and soldiers, I doubt if he will get it. The time for peace has passed. Congress is determined to free Cuba, and it can only be done by war, and war will, in my opinion, be declared at an early date."

SPAIN ASKS FOR MORE TIME.

Promise That Home Rule Will be Given and Troops Withdrawn.

Spain, although apparently defiant, has asked for further delay before the United States does anything more about Cuba.

This request was made through Senor Polo y Bernarde, Spanish minister at Washington. He promised in Spain's behalf that she would lay before the state department at an early day a plan for a more liberal government in Cuba. The details of Spain's new plan were not made known by Minister Polo, but he explained that Spain would not yield her sovereignty over Cuba. She would give the island home rule, withdraw the troops and exercise the most limited authority, but the flag must remain over Cuba. It was plainly stated that Cuban independence could not be bought with money.

The minister will probably be told that no pledge can be given to endorse any policy Spain may adopt short of Cuban independence.

FORTY-EIGHT LIVES LOST.

Cast Out on the Ice All Night in a Blinding Snow Storm.

The steamer Greenland, returning from the seal fishery, has put into Bay De Verde, at St. Johns, N. F., and reported a terrible disaster. On Wednesday last when among the ice floes, in search of seals, a storm arose, accompanied by a blinding snow, which drifted rapidly, and a severe frost fell. The members of the crew who were on the ice could not regain the vessel and were exposed to the terrible weather throughout the night and all the next day. Forty-eight men perished and between fifty and sixty were so badly frost-bitten that the amputation of one or more of their limbs will have to be undergone by all of them.

Senor Gullon Expects War.

Senor Gullon, the minister of foreign affairs, is quoted as saying that an extremely threatening note has arrived from Washington regarding the cessation of the war in Cuba. He added that "no matter how one regards the case, a rupture can now hardly be avoided."

KENTUCKY AND KEARSARGE.

The Twin Battleships, Launched at Newport News Dry Docks.

The twin battleships Kentucky and Kearsarge were launched from the yards of the Newport News dry docks of the ship building company Thursday, in the presence of an immense crowd. There was not a hitch in the programme, and cheers from 30,000 throats greeted the latest additions to the United States navy as they slid from the ways, the prow of one sprinkled with foaming champagne, the other christened with pure water from the home of Abraham Lincoln.

Purchased a German Boat.

Lieutenant Commander Colwell, the United States naval attache in London, has bought for the United States government from an American firm a first-class boat built in Schichau for Germany. She is ready to sail.

Ordered Painted Black.

Orders were issued Friday by the government to have all warships painted black, a color that is better adapted to hostilities because the vessels will not afford as good a target.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE.

Unsettled Relations With Spain Affect Eastern Business.

IRON BUSINESS CONTINUES TO BOOM.

Cotton Goods Have Not Improved—Decline in Print Cloths Have Taken Place—Flour and Corn Exports Larger Than Last Week.

Bradstreet's commercial report says: The favorable features of the week in distributive trade have been the reports coming, with few exceptions, from all parts of the northwest and west. The unsettled condition of our relations with Spain is credited with exercising some effect upon immediate demand and future undertakings in the eastern portion of the country. But two industries, cotton and woolen, most complaining are those on which conditions other than foreign complications have for some time past been toward depression. The coarse cotton goods situation does not improve in any way and declines in print cloths to a still lower record quotation have taken place. While some woolen goods mills have already booked good orders the business done as a whole has not been up to anticipations. Raw wool, however, does not reflect the rather unsatisfactory condition in the manufactured product in lower quotations. The condition of the iron and steel trade is one which excites satisfaction and almost surprise. From a number of widely separated sections the report comes of unprecedented activity in nearly all branches of the trade.

Pig iron is higher at several markets and efforts toward harmonizing producing elements in crude and manufactured products are being assiduously pushed. Modern steel plants are reported rushed with orders and demands more than keep up with the deliveries.

The passage of the cold wave, with little or no reported damage to the growing winter wheat, coupled with the general forward condition of agricultural matters is credited with much of the depressing influence in cereals.

Flour and corn exports are larger this week, but those of wheat are smaller. The total exports of wheat, including flour, aggregate 3,896,318 bushels against 3,679,000 bushels last week and 1,749,000 bushels in this week a year ago.

Corn exports aggregate 4,496,000 bushels against 3,941,874 bushels last week and 3,862,687 bushels this week a year ago.

GLADSTONE NEARING THE END.

His Family Admits That His Case Is Hopeless.

From London the news comes that Mr. Gladstone is dying of a cancerous growth involving the bone issues back of the nasal passages. The melancholy truth is now admitted privately by his son, Mr. Herbert Gladstone, and other members of his family. The unanimous verdict of several specialists who have been consulted regarding the case is that operation is impossible owing to the age and enfeebled condition of the patient. It would be possible to afford considerable relief and also to prolong life by surgical means if Mr. Gladstone were younger, but his heart already threatens failure to perform its functions, and the surgeons are of the opinion that the administration of anesthetics would result in immediate death.

MUST CONTAIN WAR CLAUSE.

English Ship Builders Cable Their Agents to Insert in Charters.

An ominous sign that the strained relations between the United States and Spain will result in war is furnished by English ship owners, who have cabled to their agents at New York that all charters must contain the "war clause." This clause, which is posted in the maritime exchange, is as follows:

"It is understood this steamer is to be only employed in strictly neutral trades; is not to carry contraband cargo or trade with ports declared under blockade; also in the event of war being declared by or against Great Britain by a maritime power this charter is to be null and void at the end of the then current voyage."

The United States gunboat Princeton, which is being built at Dialogue shipyard, Camden, is rapidly approaching completion. She will leave the shipyard in about a week for her final trial trip. The new boat is equipped with six-inch quick firing guns, four pounders, two one pounders, one three-inch breech-loading Howitzer, and one Gatling gun. Her complement will be 160 officers and men.

Consul General Lee, believing that a serious crisis in affairs is likely to occur now at any moment, is preparing a revised list of all Americans now in Havana, together with their addresses, so that in case of emergency they may be communicated with at short notice.

Sharpshooters Organizing.

Col. Frank D. Bartlett and Dr. J. F. Wooding, of Denver, Col., are enrolling 500 young men, experts in the use of the rifle, who will offer their services to President McKinley in case of war. The organization will be known as the Rocky Mountain Sharpshooters.

Made a Rich Haul.

It is believed that the two men who robbed the train near Goshen, Cal., secured not less than $50,000.

FIFTY FIFTH CONGRESS.

The Senate—Monday.

After the transaction of some routine business in the senate today Mr. Bacon introduced an amendment which he announced he would offer to the resolution providing for annexation of the Hawaiian islands to the United States. The amendment provides that the resolution shall not be effective until the question of annexation shall have been submitted to the qualified electors of Hawaii and passed upon affirmatively by them. The amendment is the same which Mr. Bacon offered to the Hawaiian treaty and which is still pending.... Mr. Allen, of Nebraska, secured the passage of a resolution calling upon the secretary of the interior for information as to the number of all classes of pensioners, including the percentages of men and women and children carried on the pension rolls.... Among the bills passed were the following: To authorize the construction of a bridge across St. Francis river in Arkansas; to confer jurisdiction upon the United States circuit courts in certain cases.

The House.

The house today unanimously passed the bill for the relief of the survivors and victims of the Maine disaster. The bill reimburses the surviving officers and men for the losses they sustained to an amount not to exceed a year's sea pay, and directs the payment of a sum equal to a year's pay to the legal heirs of those who perished. After paying a high and flowery tribute to the men of the Maine, Mr. Cousins, of Iowa, closed with these words: "Hovering above the dark waters of that monstrous harbor of Havana the black-winged vulture watches for the belated dead, while over it and over all there is the eagle's piercing eye, sternly watching for the truth. Whether the appropriation carried by this resolution shall be ultimately charged to fate or to some foe, shall soon appear. Meanwhile, a patient and patriotic people, enlightened by the lessons of our history, remembering the woes of war, both to the vanquished and victorious, are ready for the truth and for their duty." There was tremendous applause as Mr. Cousins concluded his beautiful tribute. The remainder of the day was occupied in consideration of the old claim of John Rosch, the ship-builder, for $331,000. No action was taken upon the claim.... At 5 o'clock the house took a recess until 8 p. m., the evening session being devoted to the consideration of private pension bills.

The Senate—Tuesday.

A feature of the senate proceedings today was an extended speech by Senator Caffery, of Louisiana, in support of the pending quarantine bill.... Mr. Carter, of Montana, of the committee on territories, called up the measure reported by him, making further provisions for a civil government of Alaska, and addressed the senate at length upon it.... Mr. Gallinger, of New Hampshire, who recently returned from Cuba, announced that he would address the senate upon his observations in Cuba.... Mr. Forsker, of Ohio, presented the credentials of Mr. Hanna as United States senator, covering six years from March 4, 1899. The credentials were read and ordered filed.... Among the bills passed were the following: To prevent the appointment of cadets to the naval or military academies of the United States from states, territories or districts in which such cadets do not reside; to raise the age of protection for girls in the District of Columbia and in the territories to 18 years.

The House.

The naval appropriation bill was reported to the house today, carrying a total of $25,688,058, an increase over last year of $3,734,432, and over the current estimates of $2,314,824. For the increase of the navy the bill allows to be constructed by contract three sea-going coast line battleships, designed to carry the heaviest armor and most powerful ordnance, displacement 11,000 tons, with the heaviest practicable speed for their class, to cost, exclusive of armament, not exceeding $3,000,000 each, one to be named the Maine; six torpedo boats of 150 tons displacement, and six torpedo boat destroyers, about 350 tons displacement, to cost not exceeding $2,340,000, and one gunboat to take the place of the United States ship Michigan, to cost, exclusive of armament, not over $260,000.... The contested election case of Thorpe vs. Epes, from the Fourth Virginia district, was taken up and debated until 4 o'clock, when the house owing to the illness of Mr. Rhea, of Kentucky, who was to speak this afternoon, adjourned until tomorrow.

The Senate—Wednesday.

Almost as soon as the senate convened today Mr. Bacon, of Georgia, introduced a joint resolution declaring that the United States should do everything in its power to preserve peace with all the nations of the world, and not be forced into a war except to preserve the honor and dignity of the nation.... Mr. Hale favorably reported the bill providing for relief for the survivors of the Maine catastrophe. The measure was read and passed without a word of debate.... Mr. Gallinger, of New Hampshire, who has recently visited the island of Cuba, arose and delivered a vivid word picture of the horrors and barbarities of concentration on the island.... The senate then resumed the consideration of the bill making further provisions for a civil government in Alaska, and at 2 o'clock took up the national quarantine bill. Its consideration had not been concluded when the senate adjourned.

The House.

R. P. Thorpe was today given the seat from the fourth Virginia district. Sidney P. Epes (dem.) was unseated by a strict party vote of 151 to 180. The republicans, without a break, voted for Thorpe, and the democrats and populists, with the exception of Mr. Howard (pop.), of Alabama, voted for Epes. Mr. Thorpe contested the seat of Mr. McKenney in the last congress and was seated. The republican majority in the house, which was 52 when the house convened last summer, is now 54.

The Senate—Thursday.

The senate, after Senator Thurston's speech on the Cuban question, resumed its business, and the following bills were passed: For the protection of song birds—providing that the importation into the United States of birds, feathers or parts of birds for ornamental purposes be prohibited, and prohibiting the transportation or sale of such articles in any territory of the United States or in the District of Columbia; to authorize the Montgomery-Elmore Bridge and Improvement Company to construct and maintain a bridge across the Alabama river near Montgomery, Ala., and to authorize the Monroe Railway and Construction Company to construct a bridge across Red river at Grand Ecore, La.... At 2:30, in accordance with previous notice, Mr. Bate, of Tennessee, presented a resolution in memory of the late Senator Harris, of Tennessee. Eulogies were delivered by Senators Bate, Morgan, Walthall, Chilton, Turley and others. At 4:25 p. m., as a further mark of respect, the senate adjourned until Monday.

The House.

The naval appropriation bill was taken up in the house today and after considerable difficulty an arrangement was made to close the general debate at 1 p. m. tomorrow. There was great pressure for time, but the leaders desired to limit, as far as possible, the opportunity for inflammatory utterances. The debate today was not on sensational lines; but every radical expression was cheered to the echo by the crowded galleries. The speeches of Messrs. Dayton, of West Virginia, and Arnold, of Pennsylvania, both of whom took advanced positions in favor of aggressive action to stop the war in Cuba, aroused intense enthusiasm. Mr. Boutelle, chairman of the naval committee, and Mr. Meyers, of Louisiana, confined their remarks closely to the bill and the extraordinary emergency which necessitated the large appropriations it carried. The other speakers were Messers. Tate of Georgia, Fox of Mississippi and Fitzgerald of Georgia. At 5:55 the house adjourned.

The House—Friday.

Consideration of the naval appropriation bill was resumed in the house today. The stirring scenes of the Fifty-first congress, when members of the minority were charging down the aisles, protesting against the rulings of Speaker Reed, were recalled in the turbulent protests made by the minority against the ruling of the chair during the consideration of the bill. The ruling in effect compelled members to confine their remarks under the five-minute rule to the subject before the house, and was made against Mr. Hartman (silver rep.) of Montana, who attempted to make a political speech. The ruling was denounced as an usurpation, and appeal after appeal was taken. When all else failed every expedient was resorted to to block progress with the bill. The turbulent scenes continued the remainder of the day, the minority resisting every step in the progress of the bill. Only four pages were disposed of. Before the bill was taken up for amendment Mr. Foss (rep.) of Illinois, a member of the naval committee, made a general speech in advocacy of the policy of building a strong and powerful navy.

The House—Saturday.

Consideration of the naval appropriation bill was resumed in the house today. During the debate on the bill every utterance in favor of aggressive action against Spain was applauded to the echo by the crowded galleries. The main contests of the day was over the appropriation to decrease the number of timber dry docks authorized from four to three. It led Mr. Cannon, chairman of the appropriation committee, who made the motion to discuss the whole question of war preparations, and to inveigh against the undue extravagance. He said the situation should be met with "loyal hearts and cool heads," but the temper of the house was in favor of the utmost liberality and he was voted down—78 to 107. The motion specifically eliminating the provision for the dock at Portsmouth, N. H., shared the same fate. No point of order was made against the proposed timber docks, but Mr. Cannon gave notice that he would raise a point against the proposed steel dock at Algiers, La., on the ground that a dock necessarily involved in the future the establishment of a navy yard. There was some further discussion of the relative merits of large battleships and smaller craft, in which the temper of the house seemed almost equally divided, but the paragraph relating to the ships had not been reached when the house adjourned.

Senator Blackburn Stricken.

Ex-Senator J. C. S. Blackburn, of Kentucky, had a stroke of paralysis while returning from the launching of the two new battleships at Newport News. Senator Blackburn was overcome while passing from his boat to his carriage, and was taken to his hotel in a semi-conscious state. Later in the day he recovered sufficiently to talk, and had passed out of danger.

It was stated that the senator's heart was not involved, as was at first supposed, but that the indisposition was only the recurrence of an old malady from which he has suffered before.

PROMINENT ALABAMIANS.

John H. Parker, a Unique Character in State Affairs.

Among the prominent men of Alabama who have attracted the attention of the people on account of their knowledge of affairs, is John H. Parker, of Elmore, formerly of Coosa county.

Mr. Parker has been a prominent member of the Alabama bar for nearly a quarter of a century, and is universally popular among the members of his profession and of the bench. He has served the democratic party unfalteringly and untiringly during that time, and has ever had the absolute faith and confidence of his co-workers in state affairs.

Though never aspiring to leadership, his zeal and fidelity has commended him to nearly every position, from beat committeeman to service on the state executive committee.

Mr. Parker is a great personal friend of Governor Johnston, having made a faithful fight in his section of the state for the governor's election. He is not only a man of learning in the law and the economic questions of the day, but his big heart and sympathy have won for him legions of friends all over Alabama. No man of his age in the state has received more enthusiastic compliments from the press and prominent leaders of the party. He has recently announced his candidacy for chancellor of the Northeastern division of Alabama, and such men as Col. Thos. Williams, known as the "old war horse" of democratic principles, in harness for fifty years, and many such men in his section of the state, have flocked to his support and are endorsing his candidacy. There are several good men in this race, but Mr. Parker's friends are enthusiastic and are working hard for his election.

This gentleman's innate conception of true hospitality adds to his personality a dignity seldom found in men of his broad generosity and love of his fellowmen.

No more can be said of a citizen than that he is modest, learned, faithful to his every trust and beloved of his neighbors, and this can all be said of John Parker.

Fletcher J. Cowart.

Fletcher J. Cowart, who is the leading candidate for the democratic nomination for superintendent of education of the state of Alabama, was born in Pike county and was educated in the common schools and at the Auburn College. For several years he taught at Brundidge; afterwards edited the Troy Messenger; was superintendent of education of Pike county from 1877 to 1880, and again from 1894 to 1896, thus having several years experience in the important work of administering the county school system. In 1880 he was elected to the state legislature from Pike, and again in 1882. Throughout his legislative service he was a prominent member of the house committee on education, and bore an important part in the shaping of useful legislation on the state's public school system. From 1885 to 1889 he was United States Indian Agent in New Mexico, in which position he won the thanks of the secretary of the interior for able and efficient service, especially in the management of the reservation schools. The board of trustees of the Troy graded schools has found in him one of its most zealous and progressive members. In 1893 he was chosen superintendent of these schools and has been re-elected without opposition each year since that time.

Mr. Cowart is held in high esteem in Masonic circles in Alabama, as is evidenced by his being a past grand commander of the Knights Templar of the state.

He has been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church from his youth.

Mr. Cowart is a friend of common schools and an earnest worker for their betterment. Able, cultured and experienced, eminently successful in every public trust he has held, thoroughly consecrated to the great cause of education, he would be an ideal chief executive of Alabama's educational department.—Montgomery Journal.

A Kansas mathematician figures it would require a freight train 6000 miles long to haul the products of Kansas in 1897. To move the corn crop 306,000 cars would be required. The Kansas hay crop is enough to fill a string of cars 1500 miles long; 102,000 cars would be required to carry the 51,000,000 bushels of wheat.

We beg to apologize to several correspondents whose communications are crowded out this week.

War talk continues, some prophecying we are bound to go to war with Spain, and others there will be no war. At the present moment it looks very much like war.

Hon. S. M. Adams desires us to say he will make a list of appointments and address the voters throughout the county at the earliest opportunity. Owing to the condition of the party in the county it is absolutely necessary for the people to turn out and learn for themselves the position the party is in. He will be glad to meet any of the candidates at these appointments

JUDSON STROCK

We are pleased to make the announcement of Mr. Judson Strock as a candidate for County Superintendent of Education. While not wishing to disparage any other possible candidate, we think Mr. Strock is eminently fitted for the position he seeks. He was born, raised and educated in this county, and is a graduate of Howard college. He is well acquainted with the requirements of the office, and if elected will doubtless make a most efficient superintendent.

The Smartest Dog.

"Talk about trained dogs," said Larry Phillips, as he was standing before a mixed goods restaurant in New York, "they ain't in it with Mike. Come here, Mike," he shouted, and Mike, a three legged bull terrier, wall eyed and lopsided, with an upper lip like a County Kerry squire's, sauntered up. His owner walked into the saloon and laid a quarter behind a cuspidor. "Mike," said he when he returned, "I left a quarter in the room yonder. Go and get it." Mike looked up intelligently and ran into the room, coming back presently empty mouthed. "That's the first time he ever failed me," said Larry, with some chagrin, as he walked in and picked up the coin. Then, looking at it closely: "Why, no wonder the dog wouldn't touch it. The blamed thing's a counterfeit. Who changed that quarter?" But the bartender only remarked, "Guess they're on the house, Larry." —Philadelphia Record.

Secretary Bliss and the Kickapoo.

Cornelius N. Bliss, the portly secretary of the interior, recently gave audience to a band of Kickapoo Indians. They were received with due solemnity, and when about to leave the chief held his right hand out on an exact level with the top of Mr. Bliss' head. "Heap little high," he grunted. But holding both hands open about half a foot from each ear and then pointing to his head he added impressively, "But hi yr skeokum heap big here." The only cabinet minister who can dance a sailor's hornpipe blushed a rosy red.—Philadelphia Press.

Hungry and Willing.

The editor of the Whitsett (Ga.) Courier recently received the following note from a lowland subscriber:

"I have made up my mind to kill you at breakfast tomorrow morning."

The editor replied:

"All right. If you'll just furnish the breakfast, you can shoot away."

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good works; of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured; of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous consequences. Sold by J. S. Johnson, jr.

S. M. ADAMS

No man is better known in Chilton county than S. M. Adams of Jemison, and the announcement of his candidacy for the office of Judge of Probate will be hailed with much satisfaction by the Populists of the county. Not only in the county is Mr. Adams a well known man, but as a prime mover in the Populist movement he has acquired a reputation all over the state, to the extent of having been mentioned as a gubernatorial nominee. Mr Adams is a thorough Populist and lays his claim to the support of Populists in the county on that ground. While for some years Mr. Adams resided just over the border line in Bibb county, his whole life may be said to have been spent in Chilton. His marriage license was taken out in Clanton and all his children were born in this county. As to his qualifications for the office he now seeks we need only recall the fact that for six years he was President of the Farmers Alliance of Alabama, and twice has represented Bibb county in the Legislature. He is a man of strong convictions and fearlessly talks what he thinks is right. If elected, Chilton county will have the most outspoken Populist Judge of Probate in the State.

The Coming Woman

Who goes to the club while her husband tends the baby, as well as the good old-fashioned woman who looks after her home, will both at times get run down in health. They will be troubled with loss of appetite, headaches, sleeplessness, fainting or dizzy spells. The most wonderful remedy for these women is Electric Bitters. Thousands of sufferers from Lame Back and Weak Kidneys rise up and call it blessed. It is the medicine for women. Female complaints and nervous troubles of all kinds are soon relieved by the use of Electric Bitters. Delicate women should keep this remedy on hand to build up the system. Only 50 c. per bottle. For sale by all druggists.

R M HONEYCUTT

We this week announce the candidacy of R. M. Honeycutt for re-election to the office he now holds. Everyone in the county knows Judge Honeycutt, and as he fully explains his position in an article which will be found in another place in this paper, The Banner thinks it is unnecessary to say more here, except that the administration of the office we have believed to have been in the interests of the people.

I have been afflicted with rheumatism for fourteen years and nothing seemed to give any relief. I was able to be around all the time, but constantly suffering. I had tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did, and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured. I am happy to say that it has not since returned.—Josh. Edgar, Germantown, Cal. For sale by J. S. Johnson, jr.

E L MANNING

Mr. E. L. Manning, of Mountain Creek, this week announces himself a candidate for the position of Clerk of the Circuit Court. As many of our citizens know, Mr. Manning is a gentleman in the prime of life and mature intellect. He is an old Allianceman and a member of the People's Party ever since its organization, and has been not only a member but a strong worker for the cause. This is the first time he has asked for office and if the people elect him he can be relied upon to conscientiously perform the duties required of him. His friends claim he is the right man for the place and will make every honorable exertion to elect him.

An Old Idea.

Every day strengthens the belief of eminent physicians that impure blood is the cause of the majority of our diseases. Twenty-five years ago this theory was used as a basis for the formula of Browns' Iron Bitters. The many remarkable cures effected by this famous old household remedy are sufficient to prove that the theory is correct. Browns' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

The Banner is only $1 a year.

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., March 23, 1893

Under the protecting care of a Republican admisistration nationally and in the state, Illinois has grown to be a hot bed for trusts. The latest one incorporated there is the Steel and Wire co., with a capital of $24,000,000. A backward glance over these columns for the past two years would show a most as dishing array of trusts, as we have carefully noted their incorporation and stated capital.

Governor Pingree, in his efforts to secure anti-railroad legislation has made some surprising discoveries as to legislators riding, not only on passes, but having in their possession Pullman and Wagner passes and telegraph and telephone franks. The doughty Governor had girded on his armor for a fight with this host of evils.

Honorable Thomas Watson persists in refusing to stand at the head of the Georgia Populist state ticket, and it is rumored that the rest of the nominees will withdraw in case he refuses to accept.

The Missouri Populist State committee has been called to meet at Lindell hotel in St. Louis Saturday, April 2, 1898, to consider matters pertaining to the party welfare.

Kansas and Nebraska, under Populism, are enjoying the best and most economical government they have ever had, regardless of the puny efforts of the plutocratic press to prove the contrary. Corporations are being compelled to bear their share of taxation and have to conform to the laws of the state the same as individuals. All this has been accomplished at a great saving of public funds when compared with former extravagant administrations.

When Congressman Dingley reported his bill to permit the importation of guns and ammunition without the payment of tariff duties, the Democrats and Populists gently interjected a number of questions which caused the tariff leader considerable embarrassment. He was asked why his measure was pushed if the Republican claim that the "foreigner pays the tax" was correct. After forcing him to admit that the consumer paid it, the bill was passed.

The majority of the people have permitted themselves to be so engrossed with the Spanish war scare that it is difficult to find any other news. Some level headed Socialists are calling the attention of the masses to the fact that war would be only in the interest of the already very rich, the poor and middle classes furnishing the men. A war at this time would retard the reform movement fifty years load the people with debt and entrench the money power behind a greatly enlarged standing army.

Mark Hanna's "educational bureau" at Washington is still grinding out news for the rural press. The following gem, recently sent out, is intended to inspire the country editor to a redoubling of his diligence: "The expected alliance of the Populists, Democrats and Silver Republicans, it is now reported in Washington, will not materialize. The Republicans feel assured, therefore, of success in the elections of the next two years."

A bill to "reform the currency" has been introduced in congress, the main features of which are a subtle plan to retire the greenbacks by turning them over to the national banks, and the redemption of silver dollars in gold. The bill is very ingenious, but there is no danger of it getting into law during the life of the present congress. Let us see to it that such a bill cannot pass the next one.

Thin Blood

Where the blood loses its intense red—grows thin and watery, as in anemia, there is a constant feeling of exhaustion, a lack of energy—vitality and the spirits depressed.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda is peculiarly adapted to correct this condition. The cod-liver oil, emulsified to an exquisite fineness, enters the blood direct and feeds its every corpuscle, restoring the natural color and giving vitality to the whole system. The hypophosphites reach the brain and nerve centres and add their strengthening and beneficial effect. If the roses have left your cheeks, if you are growing thin and exhausted from overwork, or if age is beginning to tell, use SCOTT'S Emulsion.

State commissioner Johnson, of Kansas, has compiled a report on the inequalities of taxation in which he shows conclusively that the small property owner pays nearly all the taxes. The same trouble is manifest in other states and many legislatures will attempt to correct this growing evil. This equal taxation committee of the St. Louis single tax league claims to have evidence that "more than $350,000,000 worth in actual cash value of real estate and franchises in St. Louis goes untaxed."

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail, upon receipt of three two-cent stamps to cover cost of postage on the bottle. Mention The Banner and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

English Versus American Shells.

The comparative merits of English and American rowing systems are to be extended to the international test of boatbuilding. Harvard will row in an English cedar shell, built by Clasper, the famous artificer of racing boats, who is employed by the Oxford and Cambridge crews. In the opinion of an old rowing man there is no doubt that the trick of building wooden shells is better understood in England than in America. Yale has rowed in paper boats for many years and has found them satisfactory in model, stiffness and weight. In 1892 Josh Harswell had a cedar boat built for the Yale crew, but the shell was improperly braced and was as limber as a coach whip.

The shell was used for practice, and fast time was made in it, but was discarded for a paper boat in the race. Since 1892 Yale has stuck to paper boats and used one of them at Henley last summer. This season Bob Cook has ordered an American cedar shell, but will have a new paper boat on hand also and will give them a thorough trial before making a choice. The expert referred to does not believe that between a first class cedar and a good paper shell there is enough difference in speed in a four mile race to make the question worth much expense or worry. The problem is one of model more than of material.—New York Telegram.

His Self Control.

Said this man, with an accent of pride,
"I can drink it or cast it aside."
But the fact that is rife
Is, he drank it through life
And he left it alone when he died.

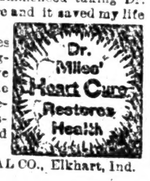
Miraculous Benefit

RECEIVED FROM

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

ELI P. BABCOCK, of Avoca, N. Y., a veteran of the 3rd N. Y. Artillery and for thirty years of the Babcock & Munsel Carriage Co., of Auburn, says: "I write to express my gratitude for the miraculous benefit received from Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I suffered for years, as result of army life, from sciatica which affected my heart in the worst form, my limbs swelled from the ankles up. I bloated until I was unable to button my clothing; had sharp pains about the heart, smothering spells and shortness of breath. For three months I was unable to lie down, and all the sleep I got was in an arm chair. I was treated by the best doctors but gradually grew worse. About a year ago I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and it saved my life as if by a miracle."



Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address.

TORPEDOES FOR DEFENSE.

GUARDING A HARBOR WITH THESE ENGINES OF DESTRUCTION.

Secrecy of the Work of Placing the Torpedoes—Planted All Over a Harbor, and Connected With the Shores by Electric Wires—Various Kinds of Torpedoes.

An expert on explosives in the employ of the Government at San Francisco, and who is particularly familiar with the handling of large torpedoes, gave some interesting information to a Chronicle reporter regarding the manner of placing and directing these terrible destroyers.

"The explosion which destroyed the battle-ship Maine in the Harbor of Havana, no matter what its cause," he said, "has drawn general attention to the importance of torpedoes as a means of harbor defense. It was recognized, from the very moment of the disaster that the destruction of the great armor-clad ship might have been due to a torpedo. And so inquiries have naturally arisen as to the extent to which American ports are protected in this manner, if at all.

"No work of the War Department is conducted with more privacy than that which pertains to the use of torpedoes for harbor defense. No published reports of any bureau or department of the government of the United States indicate what plans have been adopted for the placing of torpedoes, or at what particular point it is proposed to establish them, either in the case of war or at any other time.

"Torpedoes are of metal, cylindrical in form, about four feet in length and a foot or more in diameter. This quantity is sufficient to blow a hole through the bottom of any ship afloat, if exploded under water within fifty feet of her hull. The installation of 500 or 600 torpedoes, the number for the complete protection of this port, could be accomplished in a few weeks. This would include the laying of the submerged wires and the establishment of the necessary electric connections and instruments on shore. When completed no visible trace of the work would remain. The location of the electric station would be so masked as to be wholly concealed from observation. When fixed in their proper positions, in accordance with the most improved modern methods, the torpedoes would be 100 feet apart. As the destructive area of each is measured by a radius of fifty feet, to place them closer together than 100 feet would be to cause the explosion of one to set off all the others in the same line or group. The preferred arrangement or grouping is the quincunx, a system often adopted by orchardists in the planting of trees to insure the greatest economy of space.

"It is the electrical control of these terrible engines of warfare that makes them most dangerous and effective. Each of a long line of them over which a ship must pass in entering the harbor would have its designated number, and a chart in the hands of the operator or his assistant would show the precise location of each, as measured from certain fixed points of observation. By means of his delicate instruments the operator could in a moment test the electric connections of any single torpedo, and so ascertain if all were in readiness for an explosion. He could so govern the electric current that any given torpedo would be exploded the instant it were touched by an approaching ship. Or he could explode the charge at the proper moment by the pressure of a finger upon the key of his instrument. If all were in proper order and condition no enemy's ship or fleet of ships could pass within the harbor, unless, perhaps, in the darkness or shielded from view by a heavy fog. Even in those circumstances the torpedoes would be effective if the attack were anticipated, for the electric current could be so regulated that each would explode on contact with a ship.

"The War Department has distributed a large number of torpedo cases among the ports most exposed to attack. And in addition to the fixed and submerged torpedoes there are the automobile or dirigible torpedoes, of which there are several descriptions. These may be discharged from a ship or the shore, attain a high speed under water by means of compressed air or electric energy, and are directed in their movements by electric wires, which are reeled off as the machine rushes onward to the object of attack."

More Money in Rabbits Than Wheat.

J. R. Brannock bought 5,563 rabbits, 21,420 dozen eggs from January, 1897, to 1898, paying $2,755.58. The raising of poultry and catching rabbits is no trifling industry if closely followed. The rabbit crop, if rightly computed, has done more for the people of Harrison County this year than the wheat crop. We're puzzled to know what political party will claim the honor.—Cynthiana (Ky.) Watson Declines to Run for Governor.

POINTS FROM THE PRESS.

There is nothing in the report that General Lee was assassinated in Havana. Had the rumor been true, the administration would now probably be taking steps to hold a post mortem examination on the remains in order to ascertain if the fatality could not be attributed to an accident.—Kern County Californian.

Have we become a nation of Shylocks, that national honor can be maintained and the righteous wrath of the people appeased with Spanish gold? What a spectacle! the president in case Spain is found guilty of blowing up the Maine will demand only millions. Can murder be atoned with filthy lucre? Honor is worth but little when it is measured in gold.—Phoenix Gazette.

Now that McKinley is president and a disgraceful war is being carried on at our front door, innocent people are being butchered and commerce prostrated, McKinley refuses to take any action to put a stop to the war for fear that it may make securities in which his moneyed saviors are interested, fluctuate. Finally, when the subject is thrust upon him in such a way that he can no longer escape it, he suggests that Cuba be purchased. It is money, money all the time. The United States under this man who has achieved his high position with money, feels no patriotism, is willing to endure insults, and is not disturbed by having a war vessel blown up and 253 brave sailors destroyed. He simply suggests that Cuba buy Cuba, and the United States guarantee the payment. If this is not the culmination of mendacity and pusillanimity, then we should wait for the next communication from the white house to get it.—Cleveland Recorder.

The bondholders and the breadwinners are two separate and distinct classes of people. The bondholder is a citizen and a patriot. The breadwinner is also a citizen and a patriot. Our dear, good government, which jails its producing classes when it finds them out of employment and money, has a very tender regard for the foreign holder of bonds, who is not a citizen and presumably not an American patriot. For the war it takes the lives of the toiling poor, but not the lives of the rich; neither does it take one cent of their cash. On the contrary, it borrows from them at an exorbitant rate of interest. By what strange process of civilized reasoning does it arrive at the conclusion that the dollar is greater than the life? Why is it that one class of patriots is drafted for a service extremely dangerous to life and limb, while another class of patriots may rest in luxury at home, drawing a revenue from an investment of cold, inert metal?—Coming Nation.

Just the Same.

Yes, you hate to be bought and you hate to be sold,
And you hate to be forced to pay Shylock in gold,
You hate the hard times, but you're

You hate 'em—but you vote for 'em
just the same.

You hate politicians that swagger and rant,
You hate a good deal of the old party
cant,
You hate a large share of the ticket
you name—
You hate it—but vote for it just the same!

You hate to be trampled in a financial way,
And you hate giant frauds going on day by day,
You curse in your soul the corruption you blame—
You curse it—and vote for it just the same!

You long for good laws and prosperous times,
And you want to see boodlers sent up for their crimes,
You want more reforms than we've space here to name,
But—you never vote for them just the same!

You hope for a change, and you pray for relief,
And you swear you'll bring partisan schemers to grief,
Then you march to the polls to put blockheads to shame
But—vote the old ticket again just the same. —Ex.

ENGLISH OWNERSHIP.

THIS COUNTRY'S RIGHWAYS CONTROLLED BY FOREIGNERS.

The London Times Makes the Interesting Revelation that the Corporations Which Dictated Our Political Policy Are English.

Some months ago the English syndicate which has charge of the investments of the British in American railways sent a representative over here to investigate our railway problem and the conditions characterizing it. The report of this commissioner has begun to appear in instalments in the London Times and its contents are exceedingly interesting. We are favored, for the first time, with an open admission that the leading railways of this country excepting the Pennsylvania, are practically English property. The Illinois Central is almost wholly owned in England. It is rather surprising to find that the old Vanderbilt road, the New York Central, has become one half English property. The huge mortgage recorded against it a year ago is held entirely in England, while the shares of its stock have been absorbed by three large English banking houses acting in the interest of numerous small private purchasers in England.

These facts are interesting. They afford a clue to many of the mysteries of our railway system. It is unreasoning to hate the English because they have been permitted to acquire so large a share of the country and to be actually the owners of the highways of the republic. The persons to blame are the financiers who have mortgaged the land to the foreigner. The financiers and the stock jobbers are wholly to blame, but it is useless to censure them. Our treatment of the corporations has been exceptionally liberal in view of the way the foreigner has been allowed to possess them. The ethics of the case are easily understood. We should not tolerate the ownership of the foreigner in our highways. The highways of a country belong to the people who dwell within it. They do not belong to the man three thousand miles away, no matter what pretensions he may make.

We may now, perhaps, understand why the railways of the country have been so much inspired by a feeling of hostility to the interests of the people. These great corporations are in reality foreign concerns. They exist primarily for the purpose of extracting a profit out of the American people in order that some person in England may get a dividend. It naturally follows that anything which makes for the advantage of the people of this country, where the operation of the railways is concerned, is disadvantageous to the English. The result is that the corporations follow the British policy. The proof of this is to be found in the policy pursued by our corporations in matters political. We suppose it would be impossible to name any wealthy corporation in the land which does not to-day favor a British policy in preference to an American policy. If, as is likely, the other corporations of the country are owned in England as largely as the railroads are so owned, the secret of corporationism is revealed. The corporation is an instrument for the exploitation of this country in the interests of the foreigner.

SOME FASHION NOTES.

It is not fashionable for men who own banks to wear overalls, but they often do lots of dirty work all the same.

It is very fashionable for a storekeeper to offer his customers "something just as good" out of which he can make more profit.

It is quite stylish for pretending Christian congregations to fire their pastors if they venture to preach true Christianity.

The very latest style of prosperity (the McKinley brand) is ushered in through the medium of free soup houses and charity wood yards.

It is still stylish to export our food products to Europe for the purpose of making profit while many of our own people are starving.

It is quite fashionable for the members of our legislatures to keep their mouths shut about the right of labor and to work them overtime for the benefit of trusts.

The style of prosperity enjoyed by the working class remains unchanged. There are no prospects of a change for the better this year.

The Telephone Monopoly.

Detroit, with a population exceeding 300,000, now has an independent telephone company, whose central station is serving 4,800 customers, and which expects to accommodate 1,200 or 1,500 more within the next six months.

Not only do Detroit people use their telephones quite as frequently as other folks, but they appear to get quite as good a quality of service. And yet the rates which this independent organization demands are only from one-third to one-sixth as great as those which New Yorkers pay. For private houses the price in Detroit is $25 a year, and for places of business only $40.—New York Tribune.

Oh, of Course.

"Plates for a war loan in the engravers' hands." Of course. Whoever loses by or is killed in such a possible war; the bondholders must be assured of their hearts' blood. And yet it was distinctly proved in the civil war that non-interest bearing greenbacks were as good as bonds until the government refused to receive them for its own dues.—San Francisco Star.

EMINENT DIVINES SERMONS

DISCOURSES BY TWO ABLE WORKERS IN GOD'S VINEYARD.

Rev. George H. Hepworth's Sermon in the New York Herald is Entitled "Nothing is Small"—An Address by Evangelist D. L. Moody on Bible Texts.

The New York Herald publishes the complete result of its recent competition for prize sermons printed in its columns. The first prize was awarded by the Herald itself, and the second, third and fourth prizes were decided by the votes of its readers. The successful competitors were as follows:

First prize, $1000, to the Rev. Richard G. Woodbridge, pastor of the Central Congregational Church, Middleboro, Mass. Subject, "The Power of Gentleness."

Second prize, $500, to the Rev. W. S. Perkins, pastor of St. Paul's Universalist Church, Meriden, Conn. Subject, "Burden Bearing."

Third prize, $300, to the Rev. John D. Long, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Babylon, L. I. Subject, "The Good Side of Life."

Fourth prize, $200, to the Rev. Edwin P. Parker, pastor of the South Church, Hartford, Conn. Subject, "Law of Kindness."

Dr. Hepworth on "Nothing is Small.

TEXT: "Thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."—Matthew xxv., 21.

I know of no part of Scripture which gives me more good cheer than this. It contains the kindest and most encouraging statement of fact that ever fell from the lips of Christ. I oftentimes wonder what circumstance suggested this subject—what impelled Him to put a gentle hand on our shoulder, as though to say, "Be not troubled." To do things well is to do God's work in God's way. Nothing is trivial that is worth doing at all.

It is true that not all can be great in the sight of men, but every man may belong to heaven's nobility. There are men in the humblest walks of life who will wear coveted crowns in the hereafter because they did their simple duty in a simple fashion.

When we get into the other world we shall be profoundly surprised to find that the Lord's standard of value is very different from that to which we have been accustomed. We regard social position, wealth, intellectual culture as of prime importance and rather imagine that the Lord will hesitate to condemn any one with these three enviable possessions. But it is clear that we and He do not agree, for with Him a pure heart and a sweet, placid and gentle life are worth more than all else besides.

Not even God can make either your heart pure or your life sweet without your assistance. Nor can you make a pure heart or a sweet life without His assistance. These desirable results must come from a close association of God with man and of man with God. When your weakness, moved by a divine ambition, is commingled with His omnipotence, then and then only can the ideal soul be produced. He can make wealth, He can give you the genius which will make you famous, but it is absolutely necessary for you and Him to work in holy partnership before the thing which heaven prizes most can be attained.

When we step across the border we shall find that many of our earthly ideas of value are either mistakes or prejudices, and that lives are acceptable and profitable only in proportion to their spiritual symmetry and beauty. The more a man does for others, therefore, the more he does for himself, and if he cares only for himself, to the neglect of others, he will have to go into the primary class in heaven and learn what true religion means.

Someone said to me recently in despairing tones, "My life amounts to so little. I live the humdrum days in a humdrum way, and if I should drop out of existence it would make no difference to anyone." If that were true it would be very sad. But this man was to my mind one of the world's heroes. I knew his environment, and knew what he had done with it, how much he had made out of it. Yes, he was a manual laborer, and his hands were grimy with toil. He was a saint in overalls. He was the guardian angel of an aged mother who thought herself in heaven long before she went there because the son was so like Providence. He strained every nerve to give his boys an education that they might be fitted to do better work than he had done.

You say "All this is a matter of course." Then I add, and God's blessing is a matter of course.

That was a narrow life? No; it was as wide as God's love could make it, and as noble as an archangel's.

He who does the little duties of life with a large heart makes himself great in soul.

You can better afford to stand before God in honest rags than in the purple and fine linen of dishonesty.

The important question to be answered is not, Who are you? but What are you?

Your pocketbook does not weigh as much as your moral principle in the scales of God.

It is rank heresy to say that your life is worthless if you are doing your work well.

Heaven is full of princes who found it hard to pay the rent of their earthly houses.

Never allow yourself to say, and especially to feel, that the work you are doing is insignificant or the place you will fill is of no importance. To do that is to make an uncalled for criticism on the Lord, for you hereby declare that the duty He has set you to do is not worth doing. If there is a mistake anywhere it is in your opinion of the value of things and not in His judgment as to what He needs to have done. You have no right to hold any such opinion, and if you do it is because your ideas are based on false principles.

No matter how humble your sphere, fill it full by pouring your best and noblest qualities of character into it. A pool of water is a thing of beauty when the moon shines on it, and the smallest soul that ever breathed is a miracle when the spirit of God is reflected therein.

It requires many hands to make a watch. If one of the hands which fashions one of the cogs of one of the wheels does its work badly the watch will never keep good time. If the whole is to be perfect every part must be perfect.

So it is in the universe. You do not know, but God knows that unless you take pains to make your cog of the wheel with fidelity you may do a damage which cannot easily be repaired.

Little things done well make a great soul, and small duties are always great duties in the eyes of the angels.

GEORGE H. HEPWORTH.

ADDRESS BY MOODY.

The Famous Evangelist Speaks in New York on the Value of Bible Texts.

"I believe in my heart that the best thing on this earth is the Gospel of the Son of God. I said last night that the keynote of this mission is the saying of Christ, 'The Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost.' To-night I will take another text to follow it. And I want you to remember that the object of the sermon is to drive home the text. I would rather have one text of the Bible than all the sermons in the world. There are enough of them preached in New York every week to save the city ten times over. In John i., 29, are the first words recorded by the evangelist as having been spoken to him by Jesus Christ. They are, 'What seek ye?' It may have been sixty years after John heard those words that he wrote them down, but they had made such an impression on him that he remembered the time and the place. With another who afterward became a disciple he had gone to look at Christ, and asked Him the question, 'Where dwellest Thou?' 'Come and see,' answered the Saviour, and the two disciples went, and never left Him.

"It is very evident that these two men found more in Christ than did a good many others of their time. And do you know that there are a good many in New York the same way. It is recorded in the gospels that many of those who followed the Saviour left Him, and there are many who follow Him to-day who say they are disappointed. Why? I think I can tell you. When the crowds followed Christ in the Holy Land they did so from various motives. Some of them wanted to see Him perform miracles. They wanted to see the devils cast out and the lepers cured, and so they were always crying to Him, 'Master, show us a sign.' Others thought He was going to found an earthly kingdom, and wanted to get into office when He founded it. Others [illegible] that they might entangle Him into saying something against the [illegible] laws which would lead to His [illegible] tion and death. Others followed from morbid curiosity to see [illegible] hear something new [illegible] accused of being after [illegible] loaves. They did not [illegible] sage.

"All these [illegible]

you have come with low motives, thank God you have come at all, and you may change your mind before you're through. I'm glad to have a chance at you, whatever your motives for being here may be.

"Here is another text I want to read: 'Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you.' So many people think that they will attend to temporal things first, and after they have made a comfortable fortune and settled down they will attend to eternal things. God says, 'No. You must first seek the Kingdom of God.' I think if this were really done you would never come to want.

"I have been besought on all sides to preach sermons on capital and labor and similar subjects. My friends, I believe as long as you start right and follow that text you will turn out right in the end. I believe so many don't get on because the Kingdom of God comes last, not first, with them. You can't tell what may happen before the morning. Christ would not even allow a man who followed Him to bury his dead father before he had obtained the Kingdom of God. I believe there are thousands and tens of thousands of young people who have written on the flyleaves of their Bibles by some loving father or mother the text I have quoted, from Matthew vi., 33.

"If Moses should suddenly appear here what do you suppose would be the first words he would say to you? If you asked him to come to the platform and take my place he would say: 'The choice is between life and death. Choose life.' If Hezekiah were to come here what would he say? I think he would ask you, 'How long halt ye between two opinions?' If Solomon should appear he would say, 'Whatever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might.' Suppose that little tentmaker, Paul of Tarsus, were here. He would shout, 'Now is the accepted time, now is the day of salvation.' And if Jesus Christ were to appear among us He would say, 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you.'"

HOW TO AVOID YELLOW JACK.

Professor Klek Says It is Easy to Avoid the Germs.

Uncle Sam has only to issue an order to his troops to "cook your food and boil your drinking water" to render the whole American army immune from yellow fever, according to Professor Edwin Klek, of Rush Medical College, Chicago, an account of whose discovery of yellow fever germs was published a fortnight ago.

The Spanish soldiers in Cuba, among whom the mortality from yellow fever has been great, have eaten and drunk cooked and uncooked food and water indiscriminately. It is Professor Klek's theory that if the simple precaution of boiling and cooking had been followed the army would have been practically immune from the disease.

In the event of war with Spain the American troops sent to Cuba would be forced to depend largely on food canned in the United States, which would lessen the danger considerably. It is Professor Klek's belief that the familiar injunction of the Chicago Health Department to "boil the water" would complete the safety of the troops from the disease, whose ravages are more to be dreaded than Spanish bullets.

THE SAN JOSE FRUIT BUG.

New Jersey Is Its Eastern Home, According to Entomologists.

The Agricultural Department has just issued a bulletin on the San Jose scale in 1896-97, prepared by Entomologist L. O. Howard. It is of much interest at this time because of the recent edict of the German Government prohibiting the importation of living plants, fruits, etc., on account of the alleged discovery of scale on pears shipped from California.

The bulletin says that in the fall of 1895 the insect was reported as being in twenty States, but in comparatively few localities in each, with the exception of New Jersey, which was overrun by it. In 1896-7 actual field inspection in Virginia, Maryland, Illinois, Ohio, Georgia and several other states showed that in them the insect was almost as widespread as in New Jersey, while twelve States and the District of Columbia have been added to the number containing infested points.

A list of fifty-five fruit and shade trees and ornamental shrubs affected by the pest is given. Considerable space is devoted to a discussion of the remedies suggested to kill the pest.

FILLED CHEESE EVIL.

Its Exportation to England Has Caused Injury to American Trade.

United States Consul Dickinson, at Nottingham, England, has sent the State Department, Washington, an interesting report upon the quantity and quality of cheese sent to Great Britain by America. In it he points a moral and conveys a warning to exporters who have been in the habit of sending "filled cheese" to foreign ports instead of the pure product. The result of this kind of fraud has cost American cheese dealers thousands of dollars in trade lost during the last few years. Canada has gained what we have relinquished. This gradual change of relations has been going on since 1891. That year the United States sent England nearly 148,000,000 pounds of cheese. Our product was then at the top of the British market.

The Drought in California.

Stock raisers of Fresno, Cal., are circulating a petition which is to be forwarded to President McKinley. The unprecedented drought has been very hard on stock, and in the petition the President will be asked to proclaim that stock may graze on certain portions of the Yosemite Park reservation during the coming season.

THE SABBATH S[CHOOL]

INTERNATIONAL LESSON CO[MMENT] FOR APRIL 3.

Lesson Text: "The Woman of Ca[naan]," Matthew xv., 21-31—Golden T[ext] xv., [illegible]—Commentary on [the Lesson] For the Day by the Rev. D. [illegible]

21. [illegible]

And His disciples came and besought Him, saying, Send her away, for she crieth after us." He knew the case thoroughly and how to deal with it. Silence is not [illegible] and delay is not unkind. The [illegible] that He may be gracious; [illegible] they that wait for Him (John [illegible] xxx., 18). He saw her faith [illegible] under His silence. It was a good [illegible] her that He did not say no and [illegible] away. The disciples were like most [illegible] selfish, and wanted quietness for [them]selves. They had not learned to [live for] others and forget self. Have you [illegible]

24. "But He answered and said, I [am] not sent but unto the lost sheep [of the] house of Israel." So He had command[ed] the twelve (chapter x., 6). He might have added, "But they have rejected [Me;] therefore have I come to you," but [it was] not necessary. He saw her faith strong under all this, and how it [illegible] Him! Did He not say: "Other [sheep I] have, which are not of this fold; [them] also I must bring, and they shall [hear My] voice, and there shall be one fold [and one] shepherd?" (John x., 16.)

25. "Then came she and worshiped [Him,] saying, Lord help me." How He [must have] joined in the clinging of this helpless [one!] He longed to help her. He [illegible] but it was not quite time. Though [her] needs is not personally hers, [illegible] daughter's, see how her cry still is [illegible] help me!" When we by faith in C[hrist re]ceive Him, and are assured by His [illegible] that now we are accepted, redeemed [illegible] fied, and that some day we shall [see] Him (Eph. i., 6, 7; Rom. v., 1; I John [iii.,] 2), is not all this in order that we [may] by one take up the case of others and [bring] them to Christ?

26. "But He answered and said, It [is not] meet to take the children's bread and [cast] it to the dogs." His words look hard, even unkind, but "God is love," and [Jesus] was "God manifest in the flesh," and [there] is naught but love in all this. We [must] not judge Him. He is the Judge. [We] must trust Him and wait patiently, [and] we shall one day see that He has [done] without cause all that He has done [(Ezek.] xiv., 23).

27. "And she said, Truth, Lord, [yet the] dogs eat of the crumbs which fall [from] their master's table." She had adde[d] Him as Lord and Son of David, and [now] as Master. Let Him say what He will, [let] Him do what seemeth Him good, she [will] trust Him, she will cling to Him [as] Ruth to Naomi, and like Ittai to [David,] like Elisha to Elijah. Nothing can [drive] her away. She has come for some[thing] and she will have it—if only a [dog's] shall be her Master, He is so very [illegible] and she so poor and needy.

28. "Then Jesus answered and said [unto] her, O woman, great is thy faith; [be it] unto thee even as thou wilt. And [her] daughter was made whole from that [very] hour." So she triumphed, her [illegible] Him gave her her heart's desire, [illegible] tended to do it. I doubt not [illegible] took that journey in order to [illegible] there is a time that is always best [illegible] keeps us waiting, it is because He [illegible] to us as to His mother at the [marriage,] "Mine hour is not yet come." It is [often]times asked, "Can our faith bring [blessing] to others?" Let this case answer. [It] have no reference to the daughter's [faith.] He said, "Great is thy faith," [and the] daughter was made whole.

29. "And Jesus departed from [thence] and came nigh unto the Sea of Galilee, [and] went up into a mountain and sat [down] there." He took the long journey [and was] refreshed by great faith and [illegible] for His hidden one. We read [illegible] else that He did at that time. [illegible] Philip, one of the seven, a long [journey to] bring joy to the Ethiopian. He [sent Ga]briel from heaven to instruct Daniel [and] comfort Zacharias. He sent an [angel to] the ship in the storm to comfort [Paul.] There is nothing too wonderful [illegible] and He is always "this same Jesus" [illegible] i., 11).

30. "And great multitudes came [unto] Him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and [many] others, and cast them down at Jesus' [feet,] and He healed them." What a [illegible] what His kingdom will be, "and the [inhabitant] shall not say I am sick, the people [that] dwell therein shall be forgiven [their in]iquity" (Isa. xxxiii., 24). It was [for this He] came down to earth. One does not [illegible] that they wanted to take Him by force to make Him their King (John vi., [15),] when hungry He could feed them, [when] sick He could heal them, and if they [died] He could bring them to life.

31. "Insomuch that the multitude [won]dered, when they saw the dumb [speak,] the maimed to be whole, the lame [to walk,] and the blind to see, and they glorified the God of Israel." But why did they [won]der? This was just what Isaiah [said] their Messiah would do (Isa. xxxv.). Why did they not welcome Him [and sub]mit to Him as their Messiah, [that they] might as a nation obtain joy and [gladness] and have sorrow and sadness flee [away?] No, they were not ready for God's [thoughts] and ways. Like their forefathers [they] wanted a king like other nations [illegible] Helper.

STARVATION AND DISEA[SE]

Prevail in Manzanillo, and the Co[ndition] of Troops is Terrible.

A private letter from Man[zanillo] received at Kingston, Jama[ica, by] schooner, says the condition [of the] Spanish troops there is terrib[le. BRAVE BILLY SPEKE.

Heroism of a Little English Boy Who Died in India.

Among the many stories of peril and sacrifice related by Sir William Wilson Hunter in his history of "The Thackerays in India," there is none more pathetic than that of the boyish heroism and filial devotion of a little midshipman, who died in a Calcutta hospital just after English rule was established there. The record of the sad affair was gathered from the disjointed narrative of the ship surgeon, who told the tale with a sob in his voice.

During the capture of Chandernagar, the English flag-ship, the Kent, under Admiral Watson, was riddled with cannot-shot and swept with grape. Captain Speke and his son Billy, a lad of 16 years, were struck at the same moment.

Doctor Ives, the surgeon, dressed the father's wounds, and then hurried to the lad; but the little midshipman would not allow his leg to be touched until he had been assured upon the surgeon's "honor" that his father had been attended to and fared well. After being satisfied upon this point, the noble boy said:

"Then pray, sir, look to and dress this poor man who is groaning so badly beside me."

"I have done what I can for him," replied the doctor, as he bent over the young fellow. "Now it is your turn."

"Sir," said the wounded lad, "I fear you must amputate above the joint."

The old surgeon felt a lump in his throat as he answered, "My dear, I fear I must."

But Billy Speke uttered not a word of fear or dismay. He simply slasped his hands together, and lifting his eyes toward heaven, whispered softly and distinctly, "Good God, do Thou enable me to behave worthy of my father's son!"

The petition was granted, and throughout the long torture of amputation the heroic boy did not speak.

The next morning father and son were taken to Calcutta, the father being placed in a relative's house, while the son was lodged in the hospital under the doctor's eye.

During the thirteen days of agony that followed, the midshipman's whole thought was for his father. In his delirium he fancied that voices told him that his father was dead, and this augmented his disease and increased his suffering. At last he could bear it no longer. He begged for a scrap of paper and a pencil, and by the flickering light of a rush, and with almost the last effort of the boyish brain, he scrawled these incoherent words to the doctor:

"If Mr. Ives will consider the disorder a son must be in when he is told he is dying and is yet in doubt whether his father is in as good health. If Mr. Ives is not too busy to honor this short note, which nothing but the greatest uneasiness could draw from me. The boy awaits an answer."

The boy did not "await an answer" long. The good surgeon hurried to his dying charge.

"And is he dead?" asked the boy.

"No, my dear. He is almost well."

A smile illumined the fast glazing eyes. "Thank God! I am satisfied now, and ready to die!" and then the young martyr begged the doctor's pardon for having disturbed him at so early an hour—and died!

He sleeps in brave company, and among all the graves in India there is none worthier the tribute of a tear than that of the boy hero, brave Billy Speke.

NEW UNICYCLE.

A Contrivance Which, It Is Promised, Will Eclipse All Bicycle Records.

The latest novelty in wheels is a unicycle, which it is promised will eclipse all records of the bicycle.

The contrivance is the invention of Emory B. Sowers, of Westville, Ohio, who has succeeded in making surprisingly fast time on it. The motive power of this invention is obtained by the use of a safety, which can be fitted to and be taken from the large wheel without much loss of time. It is claimed the new machine will make it possible to develop a much higher rate of speed than the ordinary form with the same expenditure of energy.

The unicycle is guided by the handlebars the same as an ordinary. The rider's weight may be thrown or shifted by turning these, which, in turn, guide the larger wheel in the same direction. The new unicycle may be changed to a safety by taking off the top wheel and putting a wheel in the front forks as in the ordinary cycles.

Paper Bags for Bread.

A novel improvement has been made by one of the most prominent bakers of Berlin, which is the natural consequence of the increasing tendency to employ hygienic methods in every trade dealing with food and food supplies. While rolls have long been delivered in paper bags to customers, it has always been the rule to handle loaves with the fingers, each loaf going through a number of hands before delivered at the consumer's door, there to be received by the bare, often not too clean, fingers of the servant. The recent improvement, which has been covered by patents, consists of using paper bags the exact shape of the various sizes of bread turned out by a baker. These bags are open at both ends, and, being slightly longer than the loaf, the ends are turned together with a twist as the loaf is shoved from the oven straight into the bag. This cover will protect the bread from any pollution after it leaves the oven, as the loaf is kept in the bag not only while being handled in the bakery and by the delivery man, but while the loaf is being used, being cut at one end as the loaf gets shorter. The new system has found a very quick spread, and the best bakeries which at once introduced the new improvement, gained by its adoption.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Spring Medicine

These two words emphasize a necessity and indicate a remedy.

SPRING—the season when the blood is most impure as a result of the winter's closer confinement, higher living, slower action of the kidneys and liver; when humors of all kinds, boils, pimples and eruptions are most liable to appear; when the weak, languid condition of the whole bodily structure demands and welcomes help.

Only those who have been relieved of great suffering can fully appreciate the gratitude with which the testimonials overflow written in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Just read this:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen:—"My first experience with Hood's Sarsaparilla was when I used it as a tonic and spring medicine. It did me so much good my faith in its merits became very strong. About two years later I had a running sore on my foot. It developed into erysipelas and affected the entire limb. At that time I was

Very Much Run Down

as I had been troubled with dyspepsia. The drain on my system was so severe and my stomach was so weak I became a ready victim of malaria. I feared I would never regain my health. My stomach rebelled at the simplest food, and the medicines prescribed for me gave but little relief. I sent for a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and I had taken this medicine but three days when I began to improve. Continuing with it, I am now better and stronger than I ever expected to be. It has purified my blood and given good circulation. I have had no return of my old troubles since." MRS. W. KASE, Media, Pa. Hood's Sarsaparilla is

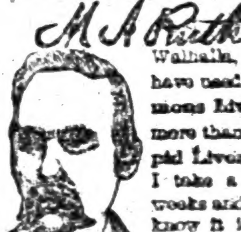
SOUTH CAROLINA LADIES DON'T LIE.

Mrs. C. McGowan



Inman, S. C., says: I have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine for years, with the best of results for Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Indigestion and Swollen Feet. It cured Miss S. Hammett of a complication of diseases; she says it saved her life. I think it far excels "Zeilin's" and the "Black Draught" medicine.

Falling of the Womb.

The cases of uterine displacement are very numerous and constitute a prolific cause of intense and wide-spread suffering. Its symptoms are bearing-down or dragging sensations, pain or weakness in the back, sometimes a sense of goneness at the pit of the stomach. It may result from too frequent childbearing, wearing garments that compress the waist and abdomen, overlifting, standing on the feet too long, and general debility.

We would strongly urge the use of Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine which will purify and vitalize the blood, give tone and strength to the muscles of the uterus, so that it will be kept in place. To facilitate a quick and complete recovery, we recommend as an injection our Mexican Female Remedy, which will produce the happiest results.

M. A. Rutherford

Walhalla, S. C., writes: I have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine more than 20 years, for Torpid Liver and Dizziness. I take a dose every two weeks and feel all right. I know it is far Superior to "Zeilin's Regulator," in my case.

Womanhood.

The health and well-being of mankind depend upon the physical health and perfection of womanhood. Among the diseases which most impair the female constitution are leucorrhea, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, chlorosis, scanty or too profuse menstruation. These diseases can be cured. Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine is a delightful remedy to take, entirely harmless, free from narcotics, purely vegetable and produces no unpleasant after-results. It is unequalled as a uterine tonic and curative agent for all female diseases, as it is impossible for weakness of the uterus and generative organs to exist when it is faithfully and persistently used. Constipation is another bane of women's life which can be cured by using Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine.

AT THE EXTREMELY LOW PRICE OF . . . . $1.50.

And send your guess with it, and we will forward all for you and thus

Give You a Chance to Make Good Money.

The Constitution now makes the most remarkable proposition ever made to the subscribers of any southern newspaper. Beginning with the 1st of March it makes a cash offer of $5,000, to be divided among those of its subscribers who guess nearest to the size of the cotton crop of 1897-98—the crop grown last year and now already in. The exact number of bales of the crop will be announced in the early fall and figures given by the well known firm of Latham, Alexander & Co., of New York, and their figures will be accepted as final.

Two thousand five hundred dollars of the $5,000 offered by The Constitution will be given to the one making the exact or the nearest correct estimate of the crop; $1,500 to the second nearest, and $1,000 to the third nearest, provided the guesses are made during the present month.

The Banner clubs with The Weekly Constitution, and we offer a special clubbing rate for both of $1.50 and all those who accept this clubbing offer will be entitled to a guess in The Constitution cotton crop contest. On receipt of the cash for the two papers, the name and subscription, with the guess of the cotton crop, will be forwarded to The Weekly Constitution.

The Weekly Constitution is the Greatest Weekly Newspaper in the World, with a circulation of 156,000. It covers the whole world in its news service, and covers the news of the United States in minute detail, with 12 pages, 7 columns to the page, 84 Columns Every Week.

AS A NEWSPAPER—The Weekly Constitution has no equal in America! Its news reports cover the world, and its correspondents and agents are to be found in almost every hamlet in the Southern and Western States.

AS A MAGAZINE—It prints more such matter as is ordinarily found in the great magazines of the country than can be gotten from even the best of them.

AS AN EDUCATOR—It is a schoolhouse within itself, and a year's reading of THE CONSTITUTION is a liberal education to anyone.

AS A FRIEND AND COMPANION—It brings cheer and comfort to the fireside every week, is eagerly sought by the children, contains valuable information for the mother, and is an encyclopedia of instruction for every member of the household.

ITS SPECIAL FEATURES—Are such as are not to be found in any other paper in America.

THE FARM AND FARMERS' DEPARTMENT,
THE WOMAN'S DEPARTMENT,
THE CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT,

Are all under able direction, and are specially attractive to those to whom these departments are addressed.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in the "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for it is, as the Bookman says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it prints for its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the political, the economic, and literary happenings which are of value to intelligent men and women. The Editor's "Progress of the World" tells succinctly an illustrated story of the month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazines in five continents; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the man of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of immediate serious import.

"We know of no review published, in this country or in Europe, which combines so successfully as the American Monthly the alertness, timeliness, and energy of journalism with the sound judgment, carefully weighed opinion, exact knowledge, and well-chosen English of the purely literary periodical."—The Outlook.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly volume the information needed by intelligent people of "live" instincts is best gauged in the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library in itself"; is "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of editorial genius"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

Editor Banner. Please allow me space in your paper to say that I understand that a report is being circulated in our county that possibly some of the candidates, if defeated in the April primary, would not support the nominees of the party.

Now I desire to say that I fully endorse every act and ruling of our executive committee, that I have full confidence in their honesty, abillty and integrity, that I have the same confidence in the managers selected by the executive committee as well as the same faith in the voters of the primary election. That I believe now and have always believed that the primaries of the People's Party would be conducted with honesty and fairness. I had this confidence six years ago and have had on reason to change it.

With unbounded confidence in the honesty and integrity of the party I have submitted my name for their consideration on April 29. I am willing now as I was six years ago to trust to their decision hoping that I will be honored at their hands with the nomination, but if it is the will of the People's Party of my county to confer that honor upon seom one else, I now promise them that they will find me as they have in the past, with my shoulder to the wheel doing all in my power, by vote and work, to secure the election of the man whom the party may have seen fit to nominate.

I want to say further that I am perfectly willing to accept and stand by anything that our executive committee shall do, especially when that committee is composed of such men as Conway Robinson, Campbell, Martin, Williams, Fleming, Littlejohn, Wells, Burkhalter, Edwards, Nix, Green Gandy, Jones, J. W. Hayes and W. A. ims. When these men shall on May 2 count the votes their verdict and the men whom they shall declare to be the People's Party nominees shall from that moment receive my whole and unqualified support.

I will say further that I have talked with nearly all the other candidates who are before the primary election and that I am satisfied that there is not a single one but who will cheerfully abide by the result and support the nominees.
J. P. VANDERVEER.

Thorsby, Ala., April 4, 1898
Editor BANNER. I hope you will allow me space to make a few remarks concerning Mr. Honeycutt's letter in your last issue. Believing that you will have many letters from the people on this subject I shall refrain writing as lengthy a letter as I would like to do. In the first place I want to ask every reader of the Banner to read Mr. Honeycutt's letter carefully. Note the fact that he opposes party elections upon the ground that officers should be selected by all the people. Then further on he objects to the primary because its regulations don't bar everyone from voting but Populists Notice his appeal for complete union of the white people, then says a primary is a party election and no one should participate but those who belong to the party and indorse its principles. Says if it was an election of Populists only he would be willing to abide its results. He says he is under no obligations to any party or person and will not be. Pray tell me why he is under no obligations to the Populist party. True the party did not exist in name when he was elected to the office he now holds, but those who compose the party are those who twice gave him the tax-collector's office and elected him judge.
D. N. RIGGINS.

"A word to the wise is sufficient" and a word from the wise should be sufficient, but you ask, who are the wise? Those who know. The oft repeated experience of trustworthy persons may be taken for knowledge. Mr. W. M. Terry says Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other in the market. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twelve years; has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy and nearly all other cough medicines manufactured, which shows conclusively that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people, and is the best. For sale by J. S. Johnson jr.

Editor BANNER, I notice that a primary has been called for April 29. Now, I think I have a right to speak out in behalf of the Party. The motion of the executive committee "to pledge each candidate to publicly announce his belief in, and adherance to the principles of the People's Party" is the finest thing yet. The greatest trouble with the party in our county is we have let men ride it to office on our backs who never have publicly announced that they were truly Populists, and they never open their mouths in the interest of the party.

I suggest we nominate Sam Adams for Probate Judge, for he has never failed to speak out in no uncertain tones but expressly in the interests of the Party, long and loud. Now we who love the party and wish to maintain the same had better consider well. If we make a few more blunders the Party is dead in this county. We have nothing to fear if we elect Sam Adams, he has proved his faith by his words and works. Success to The BANNER and the People's Party.

CATARRH SIX YEARS

Grew Rapidly Worse—Doctors Did No Good.

Mrs. Adam Staats, Mequon, Wis., in a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, writes: "I write this letter because of my sympathy for the suffering people. For six years I suffered with chronic catarrh. Whenever I caught a little cold I would have a severe spell of sickness. I used different catarrh medicines and the doctors did all they could, but the relief was only temporary. In December, 1897, my condition became very bad. I could not speak aloud; I had a terrible cough, profuse expectoration and frequently spit blood; night sweats and extreme emaciation. I was sure I must die of consumption. The catarrh seemed to have spread all over my body; my head throat, nose, bladder and womb. At this time I received a book concerning Pe-ru-na. I immediately wrote to Dr. Hartman, who prescribed Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin. I followed his directions strictly. I began to improve with the first bottle, and during the time that I took the medicines I gained twenty pounds. I feel as well now as anyone could possibly feel. I am sure I would have been dead long ago had it not been for Dr. Hartman's advice and medicine."

Every woman should have a copy of Dr. Hartman's latest book entitled "Health and Beauty." Sent free by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Democratic County Convention.

At a meeting of the Democratic Executive committee of Chilton county, held this day, a convention of the Democratic party of said county was called to meet at Clanton on April 13, 1898, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the State convention, the convention of the Fifth judicial circuit, and the convention of the North-eastern chancery division, which meet at Montgomery April 20, 1898. Beat representation will be the same as formerly. Beat meetings will be held at the several voting places as heretofore at 10 a.m., April 9, 1898, under the direction of the Beat committeeman, if present at the meeting.

All conservative voters, irrespective of past political association or differences, who will support the nominees and principles of the party are invited to take part in the Beat meetings

Household Gods.

The ancient Greeks believed that the Penates were the gods who attended to the welfare and prosperity of the family. They were worshipped as household gods in every home. The household god of to-day is Dr. King's New Discovery. For consumption, cough, colds and for all affections of Throat, Chest and Lungs it is invaluable. It has been tried for a quarter of a century and is guaranteed to cure, or money returned. No household should be without this good angel. It is pleasant to take and a safe and sure remedy for old and young. Free trial bottles at all Drug Stores. Regular size 50c and $1.00.

Burwell, Ala., April 4, 1898
Friends. There are several candidates out for the various offices in the county and all of them are no doubt good men. We have from the southern part of the county Mr. E. L. Manning who is 46 years old, a stout, healthy, robust man, a citizen of the county 14 years. He is entirely self made. As a man and Christian he is respected in our community and wherever he goes.

Mr. Manning has been a diligent worker for the People's Party ever since its organization in the county any favor asked of him by the party was responded to with pleasure; he has represented the county twice as a delegate to the State convention, and has supported the nominees of said party and none other. He believes in education and does all he can for promotion of same, both morally and intellectually.

In short, friends, Mr. Manning is in every way capable of filling the office he is seeking and if elected would make an excellent Clerk.

Rally to the polls, men, and cast your vote for Mr. Manning for Circuit Clerk of Chilton county.

CLANTON, - ALABAMA.

The agricultural societies of several Ohio counties have decided to hold no fairs this fall. The cause is said to be the feeling that the race-track feature is fast superseding the purely agricultural part of the annual exhibitions. About the same state of affairs exists in Missouri.

Discussing the disaster in the harbor of Havana, the Philadelphia Ledger says: "The killed and wounded among the officers and seamen of the Maine outnumbered the record of the dead and wounded in any sea fight in which the United States Navy has been engaged in all its history."

It is reported that the manager of an opera house in a Western city claims that the churches and the halls connected with them are ruining his business by giving entertainments and concerts of the same character as those for which he has to pay an annual tax of $100, and asks that either his license shall be rebated or the churches be compelled to take out a similar one.

It is perhaps not generally known that the defence of Peking, China, is still largely intrusted to men armed only with bows and arrows. A recent imperial decree solemnly directs that those who "succeed in hitting the target with their arrows on horseback five times be given" such and such rewards, while those who manage to hit the mark four times on foot and once on horseback and four times on foot only shall be proportionately recompensed. The decree concludes with a list of the presidents and tallyists appointed for archery competitions which are still to take place.

According to the Railway Age the railroads of the United States carried 13,000,000,000 passengers one mile and 95,000,000,000 tons of freight one mile in 1897. Of the total earnings of the railways about seventy per cent. came from freight service and thirty per cent. from passengers. The expenses, wages, interest on borrowed money, etc., absorbed all but about $88,000,000 of the gross earnings. This was the profit of shareholders. Now a little calculation shows that the railroads had to carry a passenger 500 miles to earn $1 of profit, or say five miles to earn one cent. They had also to handle a ton of freight (beside loading and unloading it) 1530 miles to make $1 profit, or over fifteen miles to make one cent.

The world north of the equator is generally too busy to pay much attention to the progress of events in the south of Africa, but the result of the recent election in the South African Republic has an interest of its own. After fifteen years of continuous service President Paul Krueger has been re-elected, receiving about four times as many votes as his leading opponent. As the Presidential term in the South African Republic runs for five years, Mr. Kruger, if he lives, will have enjoyed an administration covering full twenty years. The election is interesting both as showing the grip which the sturdy old Boer holds upon the people of his nation and as a token of the steadfast character of the Dutch people. Other republics have their intrigues and their battles of selfish ambition. Lately the Transvaal has arisen to an importance which might make it well worth the while of any man to figure conspicuously in its history. But the Boers, true to their policy of conservatism, have returned to office the man who has been tried and found to be amply capable to fill his position. Just as the sturdy Oom Paul stood by his people when the Englishman, Jameson, attempted his ill-fated raid, the Dutch people now stand by Oom Paul. On the whole, it is a worthy and admirable trait—this stubborn following of approved leaders and ideals. It is true that rapid progress—enterprise, with its exciting turmoil of clashing forces—is not developed in this way but the Boer is content with good government as he finds it, and is willing to let well enough alone.

Le Matin of Paris states that there exists in France exactly 71,200 Jews in a population of nearly 38,000,000. These Jews are divided as follows: Paris 42,000; Bordeaux, 3000; along the eastern frontier, 19,000, making a total of 64,000. The remaining 7200 are scattered all over the territory. The active capital of France is estimated at $16,000,000,000. Of this, according to Le Matin, the Jews possess $4,000,000,000.

ANSWER UNSATISFACTORY

To President McKinley's Demand for Cessation of Hostilities in Cuba.

WANTS TIME TO TREAT WITH INSURGENTS.

Spain's Reply Considered a Shrewd Piece of Diplomacy—All Hopes for a Peaceful Settlement of Controversy Have Vanished—Situation in Cuba.

WASHINGTON (Special)—The reply of Spain to the note of the United States, demanding the immediate cessation of hostilities in Cuba, is said, in effect, to be:

The independence of Cuba means the parting or cession of Spanish territory, which cannot be done without the consent of the Spanish cortes, which is not in session, and will not be in session until April 24, and consequently no definite answer can be returned to the demand of the United States until the cortes assembles.

Then a counter proposition is submitted that the Cuban matter shall be settled upon a basis equitable among nations.

The United States is asked to give Spain time to treat with the insurgents and ascertain what can be done in the nature of a peaceful settlement.

Senators who know the nature of the Spanish reply say it is a very shrewd piece of diplomacy, and made for its effect upon the world at large.

It is said that the reply is unsatisfactory to the president, and that he does not believe it would be satisfactory to congress.

Administration circles feel that after Monday congress is likely to take matters in its own hands, and the fear is expressed there may be a disagreement between the branches of the government, which would be unfortunate at this critical period.

No one about the capitol has undertaken to speak for the president, although those who have seen him say his hopes for a peaceful solution of the difficulty have been disappointed by the reply of Spain.

Woodford Explains the Situation in Cuba.

The following is an abstract from the telegram received from General Woodford on the evening of March 31, 1898, on the general situation in Cuba:

He informs the government of the United States that General Blanco has revoked the bando relating to the reconcentrados in the western provinces of Cuba, which are understood to be the provinces of Matanzas, Santa Clara, Havana and Pinar del Rio; that the Spanish government has placed at the disposal of the governor-general the credit of 3,000,000 pesetas ($600,000) to the end that the country people might return at once and with success to their labors.

The Spanish government will accept whatever assistance to feed and succor the necessitous that may be sent from the United States in accordance with the plan now in operation.

He proposes to confide the preparation for an honorable and stable peace to the Insular parliament, without whose concurrence the Spanish government would not be able to arrive at the final result, it being understood that the powers reserved by the constitution to the central government are not less diminished.

As the Cuban chambers will not meet until the 4th day of May, the Spanish government will not on its part object to a suspension of hostilities if asked for by the insurgents from the general-in-chief, from whom it will belong to determine the duration and condition of the suspension.

This Ends the Negotiations.

In connection with the official statement made public Friday afternoon, it can be stated on authority that the case now made up of negotiations between the United States and Spain will constitute the case as it will be submitted to congress in the president's message. There is no present intention to pursue further negotiations which will change the status of the Cuban question as now presented in the correspondence between Spain and the United States.

According to the best information obtainable Spain has definitely resolved not to make any further concessions to the United States.

Schofield Takes Charge.

Gen. John M. Schofield has taken formal charge of the National Volunteer Reserve and plans for speedily obtaining an available standing army of one million men were made at a meeting of the military committee in New York. General Schofield suggested that congress at once be asked to put the new organization on a permanent official basis. It will be in charge of an executive committee, consisting of Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Gen. Russell A. Alger, Col. Washington, General McCook, Gen. Molineaux, Gen. McMahon, Gen. Pierson, Gen. Ripley and Gen. Wilson.

READY TO CO-OPERATE.

Insurgents Will March on Havana When War is Declared.

It was said at the Cuban junta in New York Saturday that the insurgents were prepared to give material aid to the United States should war with Spain be declared. "If the United States sent us arms and ammunition," an attache said, "we could raise our army to sixty thousand men, march on Havana and raze the city or storm the occupants into submission."

BRYAN ON CUBA.

Says Humanity Demands That This Government Shall Act.

Hon. W. J. Bryan has made the following statement for the Associated Press in answer to the question whether in his judgment the time had arrived for the United States to intervene in behalf of Cuba and bring the war to an end.

"Yes, the time for intervention has arrived. Cuba lies almost within sight of our shores, and the sufferings of her people cannot be ignored unless we, as a nation, have become so engrossed in money making as to be indifferent to distress.

"Intervention may be accompanied by danger and expense, but existence cannot be separated from responsibility and responsibility sometimes leads a nation as well as an individual into danger. A neighbor must sometimes incur danger for a neighbor and a friend for a friend.

"War is a terrible thing, and cannot be defended except as a means to an end, and yet it is sometimes the only means by which a necessary end can be secured. The state punishes its own citizens by imprisonment or even death when counsel and persuasion fail. War is the final arbiter between nations when reason and diplomacy are of no avail.

"Spain might not resist intervention; it is to be hoped she will recognize the right of the United States to act and immediately withdraw from Cuba; but whether she resists intervention or not, the United States must perform a plain duty.

"Spain has only herself to blame for the condition of affairs in Cuba. If she denies to her former subjects the right of war and calls the Cuban army a mob, let her remember the words of Victor Hugo:

"'The mob is the human race in misery.' No nation can afford to make its own people miserable.

"If the Cubans prefer death to Spanish rule, it must be because Spanish rule has robbed life of joy and hope. If a nation sows the wind, it must reap the whirlwind."

BRANN, OF THE ICONOCLAST, DEAD.

Fatal Wound Received in a Street Duel—Killed His Antagonist.

At 1:50 o'clock Saturday morning W. C. Brann, famous as the editor of The Iconoclast, died at his home in Waco, Texas, as the result of a pistol wound inflicted by Capt. W. M. Davis in a street fight. Davis is not expected to live, and is under influence of opiates. Brann's left lung was perforated, and he bled to death internally.

The combatants met at 6 o'clock Friday afternoon on the street, and after exchanging a few words both began emptying their revolvers into eacher's bodies. When the battle was over, Brann was found to be perforated in the left lung, the left leg and the right foot. Davis was shot through the right lung and through both of his arms.

The difficulty between the two men grew out of the Brann-Baylor feud of last year. Capt. Davis' daughters are pupils of Baylor university, and the references made in The Iconoclast to Baylor, which were generally construed to mean reflections on the moral character of the pupils and faculty, brought forth from Capt. Davis a denunciation of Brann delivered in language most forcible and direct.

THE 24 DE MAIO PURCHASED.

United States Secures Another Battle-Ship From Brazil.

The latest rumor is that the United States government has purchased the Brazilian battleship 24 De Maio at a cost of $3,000,000. The 24 De Maio is a steel-sheathed turreted vessel of 4,950 tons displacement and 6,200 indicated horse-power. She is 280 feet long, has 52 feet beam, draws 18 feet of water, and is driven by two propellers. She was built in England in 1884, at a cost of $1,725,260, exclusive of guns and ammunition. Her armored belt is eleven inches in thickness, and she has from ten to eleven and one-half inches of armor over her gun positions. The deck plating is two inches thick and the armament consists of four 9.4 guns, four 5.5 guns, two quick-firing guns and thirteen small rapid-fire guns. She has five torpedo tubes, is estimated to steam fifteen knots, carries a normal supply of 600 tons of coal, and her crew numbers 350 men.

Arbitrate Maine Matter.

The latest phase of the situation in Madrid is the report that the pope is urging Spain to offer an armistice and also that his holiness urges the insurgents to accept it. The note, which was transmitted to Washington in addition to the proposition in regard to an armistice and the reconcentrados, expresses regret "at the accident to the Maine in Spanish waters" and offers to arbitrate the matter.

Will Purchase St. Thomas Island.

The senate committee on foreign relations has reached a decision to purchase the Danish island of St. Thomas.

Will Favor Armed Intervention.

It is said the full senate committee on foreign relations has practically agreed to accept the recommendation of the sub-committee for a resolution recognizing the independence of Cuba, and recommending armed intervention if necessary to secure it.

Rothschilds to the Rescue.

A special from Madrid Friday says: The interest on the Spanish fours was paid today. It is understood that the Rothschilds advanced the money on the understanding that Spain would accept the terms of the United States.

A CONFLICT APPROACHING.

President McKinley Will Lay the Cuban Matter Before Congress Tuesday.

A DECLARATION OF WAR WILL FOLLOW.

The Whole Record Will be Laid Before Congress, Accompanied by a Message from the President—War Preparations Being Vigorously Pushed.

WASHINGTON—At 11:30 o'clock Saturday night General Grosvenor announced positively, after an extended conference with the president, that the message on the Cuban question would not be sent to congress before Tuesday.

The participants in this conference were Senator Hanna, General Grosvenor and Judge A. G. Thompson, president of the criminal law codification commission. Attorney-General Griggs was present a short time.

General Grosvenor further said: "It is no child's play to prepare such a paper as the president will give to congress and the country. It will thoroughly review all of this country's diplomatic negotiations with Spain relative to Cuba, and will contain such recommendations as will appeal to the sense of right and justice of the American people."

Cabinet Regards Conflict Inevitable.

There is little doubt that President McKinley and the members of his cabinet now regard a conflict with Spain as almost inevitable. In his message to congress, which in all probability will be sent in Monday, and certainly early next week, it is understood that the president will review at some length the record as it stands between this government and Spain, but will not insist upon further time in which to continue negotiations looking to a peaceful solution of the Cuban problem. The cabinet meeting Friday morning was unquestionably the most important held in many years. It received Spain's answer to the ultimatum of this government, and, finding it unsatisfactory, practically decided upon a policy which at this hour seems certain to involve hostilities.

The whole record will be laid before congress, and the question is now under earnest consideration of what shall be the particular form our policy shall take in bringing to an end the horrors in Cuba and securing the independence of the island. Propositions ranging from a simple recognition of Cuban independence to a straight-out declaration of war have been urged at the capitol, but there is hardly a doubt but that the majority of congress await the executive lead before taking action, and is disposed to adopt Mr. McKinley's suggestion on this point. It is thought that any of the resolutions, except possibly simple recognition of independence, would lead to war.

PREPARING FOR FLIGHT.

Fearing an Outbreak, the Royal Family Ready to Get Away.

The German ambassador at Madrid, Herr Von Radowitz, reports to the foreign office at Berlin that the Spanish royal family fears an outbreak unless the differences between the United States and Spain are soon settled. The Carlist movement is assuming more active form, and the royal family fears especially a pronunciamento from General Weyler and the military party. Everything is prepared in the royal castles for flight. The boy king, Alphonso, will be taken to San Lucar de Berameda, an Andalusian port, where a yacht is kept ready for sailing.

The replies to the queen's letter asking for the intervention of the European powers have been wholly unsatisfactory.

Four Men Killed.

A special from Campbellsville, Ky., says: A boiler explosion, four miles north of town Friday morning, killed four men outright and fatally hurt another. The dead are: Thomas Ratcliff, Dock Wright, Clarence Ritchiff and Thomas Newcomb. Elma Ratcliff was scalded and will die. The boiler, engine and shingle mill were demolished. Fragments were blown in every direction. Low water caused the accident.

MAY FIND A WAY OUT.

Strong Influence Directed to Spain to Accept McKinley's Demand.

In spite of the gloomy aspect prevailing in Madrid Saturday morning, the Associated Press correspondent hears that Spain may find a way out of the difficulty and grant all that President McKinley asked, though in a different form. A diplomat friendly to both nations made a strong representation to an influential Spanish minister urging Spain to accept America's moderate demands, which he approved, and representing that if it was not done this week it would be too late. It is further learned that these representations had a decided effect.

A Southern Editor Dead.

W. H. Edmonds, founder and editor of the Southern States Magazine, died last week at his home in Baltimore. He was one of the founders of the Manufacturers' Record and at one time proprietor of the Anniston, Ala., Hot Blast.

Appropriates $500,000 War Fund.

The legislature of Iowa before adjourning Friday passed a resolution giving the governor $500,000 in case of war, in enlisting, equipping and sending to the front Iowa's quota of troops for Cuba.

WOODFORD PREPARING TO RETURN

"If You Want Peace Prepare for War," is the Spanish Slogan.

LONDON, (Special)—A special dispatch from Madrid says United States Minister Woodford is making the necessary preparations to leave Madrid immediately in the event of a diplomatic rupture.

The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says: Spain, acting on the principle "Si vis pacem, para bellum, if you wish peace prepare for war," continues her preparations for hostilities with America. The coast defenses of the peninsula are in an efficient state, rather more so than two years ago, when the seizure of the Competidor by Lieutenant General Weyler brought the two countries to the verge of hostilities. These defenses were inspected by an eminent Spanish general and the necessary works have gone quietly on ever since.

A DEMON OF THE SEA.

The Dynamite Cruiser Nearly Ready to Join the Squadron in the Gulf.

The work of overhauling the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius, the work of fitting her guns and fitting her up for service, is now almost finished and she probably will be ordered to join the Washington navy yard in the south within the next few days. Plasmen are engaged at present giving her a coat of black paint, preparatory to painting her a dark green. The Vesuvius has not as yet taken aboard her many tons of dynamite that she carries in her magazines; this will be the last thing that will be loaded.

One of the officers, discussing the possibility of war, said: "There is one satisfaction about being aboard ship like this: In case we are struck there will be no board of inquiry and no trouble about divers. The plan to do will be to erect a monument to our memory and award to our executioners, for there will not be piece of the boat left big enough for an award."

SPAIN IS FIRM.

Will Make No Further Concessions, and That Means War.

MADRID, (Special.)—According to the best information obtainable Saturday Spain has definitely resolved not to make any further concessions to the United States.

The message which the Cuban colonial government has addressed to President McKinley through Senor Polo y Bernabe, Spanish minister at Washington, the full text of which has been published here, has caused a feeling of deep emotion throughout Spain, since it represents the opinion not only of "a large majority of the Cubans," but also the unanimous feeling of all political parties, whose leaders were consulted prior to its dispatch.

EARTHQUAKE IN CALIFORNIA.

Heavy Damage Sustained by the Mare Island Navy Yard.

San Francisco and a portion of the state was shaken at 11:30 Wednesday night by the most severe earthquake experienced since 1838, when several persons were killed. No fatalities are reported thus far, though considerable damage was done.

Owing to the damage done by the earthquake work has been temporarily shut down at the Mare Island navy yard, and the 1,700 employes are idle. Only two of the buildings escaped damage.

A conservative estimate of the damage done by the earthquake shocks at the navy yard is placed at $500,000. All departments have ceased work except that of equipment and the yards and docks.

PENSIONS FOR CONFEDERATES.

If They Are Entitled to Them After Service for Ninety Days.

The Chickering general bill, declaring that enlistment in either the army or navy will not deprive veterans of pensions for previous service, has been agreed on in the house committee on invalid pensions, with an amendment. The following amendment was adopted:

"All persons who served in the Confederate army during the late civil war who shall hereafter serve in the army or navy of the United States for at least ninety days, shall be entitled to benefits of the act of June 27, 1890, and pensionable thereunder, if shown to be unable to perform manual labor and dependent thereon for support."

Fleet Has Not Arrived at Puerto Rico.

MADRID.—The statement cabled that the torpedo flotilla of Spain has arrived at Puerto Rico was taken from a newspaper here. Investigation shows the announcement to be erroneous. The Spanish flotilla has arrived at Cape De Verde Islands, and it will proceed after coaling. As it has taken the Spanish flotilla nine days to make the Cape De Verde Islands from the Canary Islands, which they left on March 24, it should, roughly speaking, going at about the same rate of speed, take the flotilla about twenty-six days from now to reach Puerto Rico from the Cape De Verde Islands, supposing the flotilla was able to coal and start again Saturday.

Powder for Cubans.

Cuban agents or sympathizers in Chicago are busy shipping gunpowder and cartridges to the Florida coast. At Miami it is taken aboard small filibustering ships that deliver it to the insurgents. Twenty carloads have been shipped within a month, and half as many more are being arranged to follow.

The senate has confirmed the nomination of German Bulle, of New York, to be consul at Carderas, Cuba.

WITHIN THE NEXT SEVEN DAYS.

Opinion in Washington is That the Crisis Will Come This Week.

WASHINGTON.—The opinion almost universally held in Washington Sunday night by leading public men and diplomats is that the crisis will reach its climax this week, and that the question of war or peace will be determined within the next seven days.

Senators and representatives met and conferred all day about the gravity of the situation, and at the white house the president consulted with several members of his cabinet and other confidential advisers regarding the message which he is preparing to send to congress.

At the state, war and navy building active work was going on, and altogether it has been a day of suppressed feeling.

No absolute day has been yet announced when the message is to be sent to congress, and all that seems to be absolutely certain tonight is that it will not go in tomorrow; Tuesday possibly, but more probably Wednesday or perhaps Thursday.

In addition to the physical work of preparing the comprehensive document upon which the president expects to rest America's case with the world, there are other reasons why those in charge of the war preparations will welcome every hour's delay. War material which we have ordered abroad is not yet shipped, and the factories in this country which are at work day and night making powder and projectiles are anxious for delay.

Some of the factories in Connecticut with contracts have telegraphed Representative Hill urging all the delay possible. They say every day now is precious.

There is still a divergence of opinion as to what the president will recommend in his message; indeed, there seems to be still a question as to whether the president will make any specific recommendations.

Some of his most intimate friends, however, assert emphatically that his recommendations will be specific and vigorous, and such that his party and the country could willingly follow when he points the way.

SOUTHERN PROGRESS.

The New Industries Reported in the South in a Week.

In the face of disturbed conditions and disturbing rumors, business and trade generally throughout the South have shown that same steadiness, the existence of which in the country at large is well indicated by twenty less failures than for the corresponding week of 1897.

Although going concerns have kept going satisfactorily, the comparatively few new enterprises reported to The Tradesman during the past week disclose some reluctance to consider new propositions, for the time being.

The Tradesman notes with pleasure, however, that such industries as have been getting under way are well distributed and widely diversified.

Among the more important are cotton seed oil mills in Mississippi, Texas, Tennessee and South Carolina, and in the latter state a batting mill; a large compress in Texas, and a shuttle factory in North Carolina. Another large lumber mill is projected at a Texas gulf point, and one in West Virginia.

North Carolina reports brick works and a foundry and Texas advices mention an ice factory, a canning factory and an irrigation company. An electric light company and an ice factory are under way in Mississippi, and in Georgia an electric light plant and a brick works. Tennessee reports another flouring mill, and Virginia has a $300,000 company to make calcium carbide and acetylene gas machinery. The Tradesman's entire list is as varied as are the items specified.

NOTE ADDRESSED TO INSURGENTS

Autonomists are Trying to Secure an Armistice Looking to Peace.

The Spanish minister has received a dispatch from Havana stating that the autonomist cabinet there has addressed an appeal to the insurgents, asking to arrange an armistice for the purpose of arriving at terms of peace. The insurgents are appealed to on the ground that they are all Cubans, and should unite for peace and liberty, which all want. The appeal also states that Spain is willing to enlarge the present scope of autonomy.

AT CAPE DE VERDE.

The Spanish Flotilla Is Ordered to Remain for Orders.

The Spanish cabinet has decided that the torpedo flotilla is to remain at the Cape de Verde islands until further orders. The flotilla will be joined by a squadron composed of the armored cruiser, Emperor Charles V, of 9,235 tons; the cruiser Alfonso XIII of 5,000 tons; the armored cruiser Infanta Maria Teresa, of 5,000 tons, and the armored cruiser Christobal Colon, of 6,840 tons, which will accompany the torpedo flotilla to Cuba.

To Insure Egress From Havana.

Acting under orders from Washington, Captain Sampson, commander of the United States fleet at Havana, sent the survey boat Bache Monday from the Tortugas to Havana. It is assumed that she is to afford a mode of safe egress for American citizens should a riot occur in Havana or war be declared. The Fern is still in Havana, but her accommodations are very limited.

The Oregon Heard From.

The battleship Oregon has arrived at Calleo, Peru, a day ahead of her schedule, to join the fleet at Key West.

NEWS OF A GREAT STATE.

Topics of the Day in Alabama Recapitulated in Condensed Form.

BRILLIANT AUTHORESS CLAIMED BY DEATH.

Colony of Italians Locating in Jefferson. Government Inquiry for Alabama Coal—Corps of New Militia to be Organized—Interesting News.

Alabama to the Front.

Lieut. John B. Hood, of Florence, has received orders from the naval department to report for duty at once at New York. He will have command of the torpedo boat Hawk, of the mosquito fleet.

To Organize a Corps of Naval Militia.

Hon. Robert J. Ligon, adjutant-general of the Alabama National Guard, is now in Mobile in conference with officials of the federal navy relative to organizing a corps of naval militia for the protection of Mobile and the balance of the gulf coast.

The Hargrove Strike.

The strike at the Hargrove mines is still on. T. H. Aldrich, of the Southern Cahaba Mining company, says that the strike was concerning a difference in a heading in the mines. While the men are out, some necessary repairs would be made and there was no urgent demand for coal anyway.

Populist Nominations in St. Clair.

Full details from the populist convention in St. Clair county show nominations as follows: Judge of probate, W. S. Foreman; circuit clerk, W. A. Hood; commissioners—first district, H. Chatman; second district, C. M. Simpson; representative, N. B. Shears; superintendent of education, N. B. Spratley.

After Sunday Liquor Sellers.

The Y. M. C. A. of Birmingham has commenced a crusade against Sunday liquor sellers in that city. Thursday morning Arlie Berber, a prominent member of the association, swore out a warrant for the arrest of Dick Hawkins and Dave Polk, two barkeepers, on the charge of selling on Sunday. Twenty other warrants, it is announced, are forthcoming soon.

Completed to Columbus.

Thursday the extension of the Mobile & Ohio railroad, from Tuskaloosa to Columbus, Miss., was opened for business. It is not prepared as yet to handle traffic from all stations, as all the agents have not yet been named. Because of the newness of the roadbed the schedule at present will be slow. Before a great while the new road will be in shape for regular business. Work of completing the extension from Tuskaloosa to Montgomery is being rapidly pushed.

Significant Query.

A significant inquiry has been received by the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad company. The president and general manager of the Gulf Transit company, at Pensacola, wired the company asking how much coal they could deliver daily at that port in case it was made a coaling station. This would seem to indicate that the government is seriously considering the use of Pensacola for a supply station for coal for ships in Southern waters. A reply was dispatched back that the company could supply three to five thousand tons per diem, and more, if necessary.

A Brilliant Woman Dead.

Mrs. J. S. D. Davis, died at her home in Birmingham last Friday. Deceased was one of the most brilliant young women in the state of Alabama. Years ago she did literary work on the Age-Herald, in which she achieved an enviable reputation and and afterwards and up to very recently contributed to the leading magazines of the country both prose and poetry and wrote "Judith," a novel of exceptional merit. A few weeks ago she assisted in organizing the Women's Press Club of Alabama and became its secretary. She was one of the founders and the first editor of the Free Lance, a bright society and literary weekly published in Birmingham. Mrs. Davis was well known in the literary world as Miss Margaret E. O'Brien, her maiden name.

Italians Locating in Jefferson County.

An Italian colony is being established near Irondale, in Jefferson county, and the first batch, about sixty in number, arrived at that place during the past week. A year or two ago a large number of Italians were brought from Italy to be colonized on a large body of land purchased near Sunnyside, Ark. The men, after working the land there for several months, became dissatisfied, and a stampede back to sunny Italy was threatened. Every effort was made to quiet the movement to return to the old country, but it has kept up until another location was deemed advisable, and the selection of a site at Irondale is the result of the dissatisfaction with the first location.

The land at Irondale is to be cultivated at once, vineyards to be started and truck gardening begun. Irondale is five miles east of Birmingham, in a beautiful valley at the foot of Red Mountain—an ideal spot for a colony.

APPALLING LOSS OF LIFE.

Levee at Shawneetown, Ill., Breaks and Floods the Town—250 Lives Lost.

A special from Evansville, Ind., Sunday says: At 6 o'clock this morning the levee at Shawneetown, Ill., broke a mile above the town, and from all the information that can be secured here, it is learned that a part of the place has been destroyed and that perhaps a large number of citizens have been drowned.

Shawneetown is seventy-five miles below Evansville, on the Ohio river and has a population of about 1,500. It is situated in a valley of extremely low land, with hills skirting it in the rear and with a 25-foot levee in front, running from hill to hill. The town is very much in the position of a fortified city, and when the levee gave way a mile above town under pressure of the very high river, the water shot through a 20-foot opening and struck the place like a hurricane, sweeping everything before it. Houses were turned and tossed about like boxes. The people were not warned of the break, and for that reason so many were caught.

Those at home sought refuge in second stories and on house tops. Those in the streets were carried before the avalanche of water and probably a majority are drowned. Citizens came from the place by skiffs for a telephone several miles away and asked for aid from Evansville.

They said that more than 200 people were drowned, and they had reason to believe it would reach 500 or even 1,000.

The water stands from twenty to thirty feet deep all over the town.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE COMPLETE

It Will Go Before Congress on Wednesday.

The president has completed his Cuban message and it will be presented to congress Wednesday. Secretary Long, after the special cabinet meeting Monday night, authorized the Associated Press to make this statement.

The message which is in itself is long, will not be accompanied by the consular reports dealing with the state of affairs in Cuba. These will go to the committee on foreign relations of the senate for their private information and will not be made public just now. The diplomatic correspondence between the United States and Spain will not be submitted at present.

The message in part will be a review of the Spanish course in the present and previous wars in Cuba, and will contain definite recommendations, in which congress will be in thorough accord. It will contain a severe arraignment of Spain, and will deal strongly with the Maine disaster.

FOR CONCERTED ACTION.

Arrangements for Aggressive Measures From Both Ends of the Capitol.

The leaders of the republicans of the house and senate who have been pressing for aggressive action on the Cuban question held several informal meetings Monday afternoon looking to the arrangement of a programme for concerted action at both ends of the capitol in case the president is not ready to transmit his message to congress on Wednesday.

The senate committee on foreign relations has agreed informally on their resolutions and the republicans of the foreign affairs committee of the house are practically united. Both will be for armed intervention and the blowing up of the Maine will be the feature of each.

LEE READY TO LEAVE HAVANA.

The British Consul to Take Charge of American Consulate if Lee Departs.

A special to the New York Herald from Washington says:

Consul-General Lee has been instructed to turn the American consulate over to British Consul Golin and has already made the necessary arrangements with Golin to do so. This is a mere precaution in case General Lee has to leave suddenly. He is simply setting his house in order. General Lee had a long conference with Consul Golin, who courteously agreed to do everything in his power when General Lee receives orders to leave or is forced to seek refuge with the foreigners and other Americans by the sudden uprising of the Havana populace.

WASHINGTON—An official announcement was made at the white house that negotiations with Spain have not been resumed. This statement was made after the Associated Press cablegram had been submitted to the president and Judge Day.

Hanna Declared Guilty of Bribery.

The senate committee on the bribery charges in connection with the Ohio election by a vote of nineteen to seventeen declared Senator Hanna guilty of bribery.

Brakeman Fatally Injured.

Brakeman R. R. Graham was perhaps fatally hurt at Pollard Friday night. He was coupling cars on the pile driver train, when, in some manner, he was caught and dangerously mashed about the head and shoulders.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Before 1888 the average number of labor strikes of all kinds in this country was about 500 a year. Since that date the average has been 1,500.

One big club of wheelmen in New York has decided not to let women or children participate in century runs. This is taking the right side in another good road movement, thinks the Philadelphia Times.

Official reports show that the attendance at the Indian schools has increased from 3,050, in 1877, to 18,676, in 1897. It appears that the real solution of the Indian question has been found in the spelling book.

In 1794 the habitual users of the English language did not number more than 30,000,000, in 1897 their number was estimated at 110,000,000.

The German emperor talks much about the time when it will be necessary to shed blood for the fatherland. Why not talk about the possibility of preserving the fatherland without bloodshed.

Reports from Klondike indicate that the desirable territory in that region has all been taken and that gold seekers who go to that country now will find themselves compelled to go hungry or engage in common labor. The northward rush, which has already begun, is bound to result in costly disappointment for thousands of men who would better have remained at home.

Fifty Texas farmers are about to go to Guerrero, Mexico, and lay out a town, to be called "The American City." The section settled upon is one of the richest in the state of San Luis Potosi, and grows beautiful crops of cotton, tobacco and sugar cane. The climate is healthful, and the colonists have high hopes of a prosperous career for their initial venture in the "land of the noonday sun." The members of the recently settled Cuban colony, situated near Guerrero, have a great success in tobacco-raising, and assert that their tobacco is in every way equal to the product of the fields of Cuba.

The champion non-professional wheelwoman of America is a resident of the staid and conventional city of Worcester, in the prim and decorous state of Massachusetts. Her name is Mrs. A. M. C. Allen, and her record for 1897 is 21,026 miles, ridden in 266 days. This is 10,206 miles more than any other woman's record in the United States. In the record 117 centuries are included. For the information of those who do not understand the technique of wheel language, it may be mentioned that a "century" is a ride of one hundred miles in a day. The recital of the dangers Mrs. Allen has passed is almost as thrilling as Othello's "hairbreadth 'scapes." Dog bites, a sprained ankle, a dislocated foot and such trifles were disregarded as far as possible, and the plucky "bicyclienne" pushed on with a determination and ardor unknown even to many men.

A correspondent to the British Medical Journal suggests that, considering the gravity of the disease in the aggregate, influenza should be made a notifiable disease and isolated. The Journal, in commenting on this, shows the impossibility of real isolation of influenza, saying that, "in a large family there are always many chances that more than one person has been exposed to the original infection, and that while the most marked case is being with much difficulty isolated, the least marked case is wandering at large," and also that "in slight cases prolonged isolation is out of the question." The Journal concludes: "But it is perfectly possible to avoid visiting an infected house, and we think it fair to urge that when people have influenza among them, they should keep to themselves, and then even people with a 'common cold' should not visit their neighbors."

Among aeronauts and polar explorers the conviction extends that Andree's expedition is lost, and that no remnant of it may ever be discovered. It is thought probable that the airship and its courageous voyagers have been cast away among the icy Arctic wastes, and that no authentic news of them may ever come to hand. The balloon left Spitzbergen on July 11 of last year, bearing Messrs. Andree, Strindberg and Fraenckel. The only trustworthy message from them was brought by a carrier pigeon, and was dated two days after their departure, stating that good progress toward the North had been made. From that point on all is silence and mystery, affording the best grounds for surmise that the silence will never be broken nor the veil of mystery pierced. The chance of hopeful news is, of course, not entirely exhausted, but it is at best a slender one, not calculated to encourage the further use of the balloon in Arctic discovery.

According to a Washington correspondent, "the long-standing occupation of one of the White House clerks is gone. Back through several administrations it has been the duty of one man to read the newspapers for the President. This man read and clipped and pasted. He filled scrapbooks with such articles as he thought the President might want to see at some future time. But, besides this, he read with reference to what might be of immediate concern to the President. When he found anything he thought the President would like to see at once, he clipped it and pasted it on a sheet, with the date and the name of the paper. These sheets were laid before the President as regularly as the mail requiring his attention. The reader for the President had a place on the White House staff as far back as Grant's time, if not earlier. He went through all the papers of the country. It was in this way that Mrs. Grant saw the beautiful tribute to her daughter at the time of the Sartoris wedding, written by the late John N. Edwards of Missouri, which she acknowledged gracefully, as the expression that had touched her most deeply. The reader for the President has been abolished. Mr. Porter is a newspaper man, and believes that he has a better way to accomplish the same purpose. Furthermore, the President has a select number of newspapers which he prefers to go through himself."

Does machinery displace labor, or widen the scope of its employment? asks the Atlanta Constitution. Ordinarily, this question evokes the answer that machinery displaces labor and that most of our present ills are due in some measure to the rapid increase of mechanical inventions, but a writer in Donahoe's Magazine undertakes to prove that such is not true. This writer first deals with the printing press. He states that when the printing press was invented some three or four hundred years ago, its immediate effect was to displace some few copyists, but that its ultimate effect was to cheapen the labor of publication and to create demands for books, newspapers and magazines the world over, giving employment to millions of laborers. With respect to the locomotive engine, he contends that where it has displaced one laborer it has given steady employment to thousands. So with the telegraph, the telephone, the sewing machine, the electric light, the electric motor, the linotype press, the typewriter and other useful inventions which have become such indispensable factors in our modern life. In the iron and steel industries alone the writer states that 1,500,000 laborers are today employed, whereas some 50 years ago these industries amounted to mere fiements.

To state that machinery displaces labor is to contradict the world's industrial records and to impeach the splendid progress which it has made from the simplicity of primeval days to the advanced civilization of the nineteenth century.

A Useful Weed.

Kelp, as is known by those living on the sea coast is a crude alkaline matter, produced by the combustion of seaweeds. These are dried in the sun and then burned in shallow excavations at a low heat. About twenty or twenty-four tons of seaweed yield one ton of kelp. Kelp is composed of chloride of sodium, carbonate of soda, sulphate of soda and potash, chloride of potassium, iodine of potassium or sodium, insoluble salts, and coloring matter. It used to be the great source of soda, but a better quality is now obtained from the composition of sea salt. A ton of good kelp will yield about eight pounds of iodine, large quantities of chloride of potassium and also by destructive distillation a large quantity of volatile oil, from four to fifteen gallons of paraffin oil, three or four gallons of naphtha and from one and a half to four hundred weight of sulphate of ammonia. This latter as well as the sulphate of soda and potash enter into many of the commercial fertilizers.

There are in Scotland twelve factories, most of them at Glasgow, and two in Ireland which produce annually in all from this marine plant 130 tons of iodine. At Finisterre in France there are factories which produce 50 tons of iodine.

Seaweeds of several kinds are used for forage. Oxen, sheep and deer seek the fucus vesiculosus on the seashore in winter when other supplies are scarce; in the Swedish province of Gothland it is boiled and mixed with a little coarse flour as food for hogs; and in Norway, fucus seratus is used as food for cattle, generally sprinkled with a little meal.—Farm, Field and Fireside.

South American Wheat.

Mr. Buchanan, the late Minister to the Argentine Confederation under the Cleveland Administration, has just returned from that country, and reports that the Argentine wheat crop this year will be great enough to permit an export of from 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels, an amount which will have not a little effect upon the price as it will considerably augment the world's supply. The possibilities of South America as a wheat-producing country are almost limitless. A great area remains to be opened up in the Argentine, and when the railroad system is completed there it will develop a wheat belt almost as large as our own rich one in the far northwest. So, too, in Bolivia and Peru, at some time in the next century, there will be devoted to wheat cultivation an immense area which must bring South America seriously into competition with the United States for the wheat markets of the world.—Pittsburg Post.

Limited Partnerships.

The word "limited," so often seen after the business title of a firm, is a precaution against disaster. Under the English law there are two kinds of stock companies; in one the liability of the stockholders is unlimited, that is to say, if the stock of the company has a nominal value of $100,000 and the company fails for $500,000, the private property of the stockholders may be taken by process of law to satisfy the difference between the amount of the stock and the amount of the liability. When, however, the company is "limited" the liabilites of the stockholders are limited to the amount of stock they hold, and in case of the failure of the concern they are not liable to a greater extent than the value of their stock.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

SPECIAL OFFER. You want the election news; you want the war news, Take THE BANNER fromnow until November 1, 1898 only 40 cents, EVERY election should prove of educational value to the voters, and prior to the election it is the duty of the candidates to get out before the people and discuss the leading questions of the day.

UP to the present war with Spain has not materialized, but it looks almost an impossibility to withhold a declaration of war much longer. The latest news is that President McKinley will send a message to Congress next Monday, and it probable that the message will be followed by Congress declaring war.

WE must appeal to our correspondents to make their communications short and to the point. We have on hand a number of letters which it is utterly impossible to find room in this issue for, and at the rate they are accumulating it would take a dozen issues of THE BANNER to find room for them. We are glad to see so much interest aroused at this time, but correspondents will please remember it takes time and space to publish all their epistles, and the shorter they are the better prospect there is of our being able to publish them. It is our endeavor to show partiality to none.

THREE weeks to-morrow the primary will take place, and it behooves every Populist in Chilton county to make it a most especial point to turn out that day and vote for the men of his choice. At this time the issue is narrowed down to a point of three candidates for the Probate Judge's office—Messrs J. P. VanDerveer, J. W. Moore and S. M. Adams being the only candidates before the voters. Judge Honeycutt declining to go before the primary has apparently cleared the situation. For Clerk of the Circuit Court there are also three candidates.—E. B. Deason, J. M. Burnett and E. L. Manning. As only one candidate, Judson Strock, is out Superintendent of education it appears that he will have an easy nomination. There is yet another office to be filled, and a very important office it is—that of Representative in the Legislature. It is a foregone conclusion that the party will make every exertion to procure a constitutional convention for the exbress purpose of disfranchising a large number of voters. Consequently Populists should see to it that their best men are sent to the Legislature in order to keep the measure for a new constitutional convention within reasonable limits. Let Chilton send its very best man.

An Up to Date Fable.

"The early bird gets the worm, remember," said an old bird to a young one.

Having an appetite for worms, the young bird resolved to profit by the suggestion contained in the proverb quoted by the elder fowl, and thereby accumulate a worm. The next morning that young bird was out looking for worms with a lantern. Sure enough, he found a wriggler, and he got him.

But that worm was a bad, tough worm. He had been out all night and was carrying a load home when gobbled by the bird. Besides being tough and indigestible the worm was filled with nicotine, benzine, rum, opium and such like deleterious and harmful ingredients.

When that young bird became an old bird, he was wont to say to his friends, "I date my dyspepsia from the hour that I swallowed that early worm."

Moral—Don't be too previous.—Truth.

Morgan and Reed.

Senator Morgan's new name for Speaker Reed, "the great white filibuster," seems likely to stick to the speaker, for it is being quoted and repeated all over the country. This reminds one of the fact that Senator Morgan occasionally hits the bullseye with a phrase that sticks. No one, says the Washington Post, will ever forget his utterance that certain senators were cuckoos, who, every time the White House clock struck the time of day, put out their heads and repeated the hour. It is not known, however, that the senator got his suggestion for his famous saying from a cuckoo clock in the house of a personal friend in this city. One night, while the senator was calling upon his friend, the cuckoo came out of the clock and uttered its plaintive note. The senator made no comment at the time, but on the following day he used the simile which traveled over the country like wild fire.

Transfer of the Chinese Seals.

The ceremony of the transfer of the seals from the retiring Chinese minister, Yang Yu, to the present minister plenipotentiary, Mr. Wu, took place in the annex of the Arlington recently. Mr. Yang Yu and his suit came down from the legation on Fourteenth street, bearing the seals with them. They are made of brass, stamped with the imperial signature, and bearing the words, "Manchuria and China." They were inclosed in a handsome leather case, and with them were the documents which Mr. Yang Yu signed on taking office.

Minister Wu and his suit met Mr. Yang Yu and the others in his parlors, and there the seals were solemnly transferred, Minister Wu signing the papers of state, which were then placed in the case with the seals in place of the documents bearing Mr. Yang Yu's signature. After this ceremony was over Minister Wu gave the retiring minister some very handsome presents of jewelry which he had brought from China.

Yells That Cost $3.

It costs money to yell even in a business way in the streets of Washington. The vocal powers of Alexander E. Simpson were the cause of his appearance in the police court the other day, and he left the building $3 poorer than when he entered it. For many years Simpson has been selling crabs to the residents of Capitol hill, and he is a familiar figure in that section. To invite attention to his wares, Simpson exercised his lungs to such an extent that complaints resulted. These complaints took the form of an information, and the judge decided that Simpson's outcries would cost him $3. CARL SCHOFIELD.

National Committeeman W. C. Hill of Tennessee had an experience in Washington not long since that will linger long in his own memory and that of a certain cab driver of the capital. Mr. Hill is a small but wiry and resolute gentleman. The particular cabby with whom he had to do was big and strong and not overburdened with integrity. His fare was on the point of leaving the city, but got the jehu to drive him to a down town hotel, the bar of which he entered for liquid refreshments. While in the place the Tennessean dropped a roll of bills amounting to nearly $200. He re-entered the vehicle, but shortly afterward discovered his loss and directed the driver to take him back to the hotel where he had last remembered taking out his money.

On entering he made eager inquiry for the lost roll, but nobody had seen it. It was a good bit to let get away, and Mr. Hill was much put out. He went back to the street and said rather savagely to the coachman, "Drive me to the police station." The fellow demurred to this, and at last flatly refused to go. Hill's temper arose, and he made a grab for the man to pull him off his seat.

"Hold on, sir. That'll do. I'll give you back your money," and to the astonishment of the southerner cabby began to unscrew his ancient lamp, and from the socket drew forth a bundle of currency so blackened and soiled with grease and dirt that it was scarcely to be recognized as money. Mr. Hill counted it and found there was not a dollar missing.

He was so amazed at the denouement that he forgot to tell the driver what he thought of him, and the latter began to mumble forth a lame explanation that he hadn't meant to steal the cash, but only intended to keep it for awhile to teach the owner not to be so careless in future. Mr. Hill let it go at that, but he has his own ideas touching the intentions of the other party.—Washington Post.

Something to Know

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys and aids them in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1.00 per bottle.

Whether war shall have been declared between Spain and the U. S. when this reaches the reader, or not, it is a fact that every effort to prevent hostilities has been made by the money power in this country and Europe. The sequel to this is the probability of the utter bankruptcy of Spain and the repudiation of that country's bonds in the event of war. The bondholders are all bound together, and their interests are the same the world over.

Wharton Barker, editor of the Philadelphia American, who seems to have a large sized presidential bee in his bonnet, makes a bid for the middle-of-the-road Populist nomination in every issue of his paper. His attacks on Senator Butler are in bad taste from a man who has never been recognized as anything else than a Republican. Mr. Barker's rather sudden change of heart will be looked upon with suspicion by those who were engaged in the reform movement during all the years he was aiding plutocracy.

Hon. A. H. Livingston, the Populist candidate for Congress in the 11th Missouri district during the last campaign, is reported to have offered a resolution at the late meeting of the so-called re-organization meeting of the People's Party in St. Louis, favoring a bolt from the regular organization. In a recent public speech Mr. Livingston advised Populists to support goldbug republican candidates, rather than vote for fusion with the Democrats. Thus are the middle-of-the-roaders openly allying themselves with the Republicans.

Col. Jacob L. Green, President of a Connecticutt life insurance company, who assumes to be an authority on finance, claims to have found a new way of suppressing the "silver craze." He advocates a change in the present law, allowing National Banks to issue a circulating medium on bank assets consisting of railroad stocks, straw bonds or "any old thing" as a means of providing a "cheap money" for the south and west. Great head! Great financier!

It is somewhat significant that the Rothchilds are buying silver mines in this country. One of their recent purchases is the North Star mine of Washington. With the enormous discoveries of gold in Alaska, it may be possible that the Rothchilds will want to change the standard of money back to silver.

The receivership of the Kansas Pacific railroad has ended and the property has been turned over to the Union Pacific and will become a part of that system.

The Republicans of Alabama will go through the formality of holding a state convention on June 7.

Arrangements have been made for a union of Populists, Democrats and Free Silver Republicans in Oregon this year, which, it is believed, will succeed in carrying the state.

Almost at the beginning of the present war scare Senator Mark Hanna stood in Wall street and declared that there would be no war. So far, and in the face of great provocation, his prophecy has been fulfilled, and yet there are people in this country who can still look an honest man in the face and deny that the money power has the administration by the throat.

Czar Reed in his bulldozing methods when preventing the passage of war resolutions enthusiastically offered and urged by the Democrats and Populists, showed that all the abuse heaped upon him as an unscrupulous despot has been richly deserved.

Secretary of State John Sherman refuses to be read out of office, in spite of frequent rumors as to his immediate resignation. His manifest age and infirmity and Mark Hanna's well-known dislike render his tenacity all the more remarkable.

So far as heard from all the Populists in congress and the senate advocate war with Spain.

Senator Allen has been heard from on the war question. He spoke with his usual force and vigor.

Gen. Blanco's assertion that the flag of Spain stands for civilization, progress and humanity is only equaled by the oft-repeated assertion during the campaign of '96, that the Stars and Stripes represented "peace, prosperity and Republicanism."

A meeting of the People's Party central committee of Illinois was held recently at Springfield with a fair attendance. It was decided to hold the convention in Springfield on Tuesday, May 17, the same date as the Democratic State convention. Basis of representation will be same as that of the convention of 1896. This will give the convention 700 delegates. A resolution was adopted stating that the party was in favor of co-operation with the Democrats and Silver Republicans. The resignation of Herman Taubeneck as chairman was accepted and Charles F. Palmer was elected to fill the vacancy. A. R.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine, you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail, upon receipt of three two-cent stamps to cover cost of postage on the bottle. Mention The Banner and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Joseph H. Sibley's plan of "pouring oil on the troubled water" is not a peace measure. He maintains that oil or benzine could be conducted by easily adjusted pipes to the neighborhood of hostile vessels and ignited, causing their destruction, cheaper and certainly than by projectiles or submarine explosives.

A TEXAS WONDER.
Hall's Great Discovery.

One small bottle of Hall's Great Discovery cures all kidney and bladder troubles, removes gravel, cures diabetes, eminal emissions, weak and lame back, rheumatism and all irregularities of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women. Regulates bladder troubles in children. If not sold by your druggist, will be sent by mail on receipt of $1. One small bottle is two month's treatment, and will cure any case above mentioned. E. W. Rev. L. B. POUNDS.

Senator Wolcott of Colorado, chairman of the committee on Post offices and post roads, took occasion last week to "roast" the Honorable secretary of the treasury Gage, for sending a flippant and impertinent letter to the committee in answer to a courteous request for his opinion upon a postal savings bank system. The secretary is too busy looking after the interests of Wall street to pay any attention whatever to a small matter like postal savings banks.

An Uncertain Disease.

There is no disease more uncertain in its nature than dyspepsia. Physicians say that the symptoms of no two cases agree. It is therefore most difficult to make a correct diagnosis. No matter how severe, or under what disguise dyspepsia attacks you, Browns' Iron Bitters will cure it. Invaluable in all diseases of the stomach, blood and nerves. Browns' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

Weak Lungs

If you have coughed and coughed until the lining membrane of your throat and lungs is inflamed,

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil will soothe, strengthen and probably cure. The cod-liver oil feeds and strengthens the weakened tissues. The glycerine soothes and heals them. The hypophosphites of lime and soda impart tone and vigor. Don't neglect these coughs. One bottle of the Emulsion may do more for you now than ten can do later on. Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion.

Suffered 20 Years.

MRS. MARY LEWIS, wife of a prominent farmer, and well known by all old residents near Belmont, N. Y., writes: "For twenty-seven years I had been a constant sufferer from nervous prostration, and paid large sums of money for doctors and advertised remedies without benefit. Three years ago my condition was alarming; the least noise would startle and unnerve me. I was unable to sleep, had a number of fainting spells and slowly grew worse. I began using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills. At first the medicine seemed to have no effect, but after taking a few bottles I began to notice a change; I rested better at night, my appetite began to improve and I rapidly grew better, until now I am as nearly restored to health as one of my age may expect. God bless Dr. Miles' Nervine."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address, DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Circuit Court of Chilton county, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against S. A. Foshee, out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said S. A. Foshee, I have levied on the following property:

Lot Number 3 in the town of Maplesville, Alabama, together with the two-story store-house thereon, which said lot is bounded as follows, to-wit: On the east by the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad; on the south by property of A. S. Wooley, on north and west by property of Dr. J. S. Johnson, Jr., and to be sold as subject to two mortgages executed by said S. A. Foshee to Montgomery Woolsey, and by said Woolsey duly transferred and assigned to H. J. Foshee. And also lot Number 17 in the town of Maplesville, Chilton county, Alabama, together with the dwelling house thereon.

Therefore, according to said command I shall expose for sale, at public auction, all the right, title and interest of the above named S. A. Foshee in and to the above described property on

A Victim of Athletic Heart.

Billy Vernon, the boxer who was recently killed in New York by the solar plexus blow that whipped Corbett, had a well developed case of athletic heart. He was a man who did not dissipate—he neither drank, smoked nor had any other vices—but he did train until he had exhausted every bit of vitality in his system. It may be truthfully said that Vernon has practically been in training ever since he first began boxing, which was about six or seven years ago. He had considerable trouble in getting engagements with the clubs because it was known that at least four times he had collapsed in the ring, and it took hours to bring him around. One time he was out for eight hours, another for four, and still another time he was unconscious five hours. He had been repeatedly warned by physicians that if he persisted in boxing his heart would go back on him once too often, but he paid no attention to these warnings.—New York News.

EASTER.

Frail, trembling hands outreached in eager groping,
If, haply through the shadows of the tomb,
Ye might but find and feel Him—vainly hoping
For life from lifeless touch, for light from gloom;
Tired feet that linger where no Christ lies hidden;
Sad eyes that weep, and lips that sob and moan—
No longer grieve nor grope. See! God has bidden
His strong white angels roll away the stone.

He whom ye seek behind yon gloomy portal—
Mingling your burial spices with your tears—
No more is dead; in strength and light immortal
He lives to crown with joy the desolate years.
Lives to o'ercome earth's anguished cry and sobbing,
Give rest for struggle, and for wounds His balm,
His strong sweet life through human pulses throbbing,
Changing all fear to trust, all strife to calm.

How shall ye know? Not by the radiant altars
Whose incense draws the fainting lilies' breath,
Not by the tide of praise that falls nor falters
Through countless psalms of victory over death.
Not by the sacred help of priestly praying,
Nor all that temples, shrines, or symbols give,
They only know whose hearts have heard Him saying:
"My life is thine, because I live ye live."

Sad fettered souls long held in self's dim prison,
Bound fast by error, ignorance, or pride,
Do ye not hear? The Conqueror is risen;
In His brave death thy foes and His have died.
Bury thy dead! Live, live the wondrous story
That lifts the world from deeps of woe and wrong.
Wouldst flood the shadows with the Easter glory?
Sing out, the whole year round, thine Easter song.

—Harper's Bazar.

ORIGIN OF EASTER.

EASTERTIDE, the oldest church festival, comes down to us from the ancient Hebrews. With them, however, the time was not associated with the death and resurrection of Christ, but with the season of the year when the earth pours forth its freshest blossoms and the revivification of nature—the springing forth of life in the spring.

It is from this that the Easter egg custom springs, and centuries ago, even before the birth of Christ, colored eggs were given and received by the celebrants of the feast. The egg for all time has been regarded as symbolical of the spring, when the earth receives from nature its new life. Not only the ancient Hebrews, but the ancient Persians, employed the colored eggs in their celebrations of the feast of the solar new year, in March.

With the Hebrews the festival was called Pasch, and the name still lives, with slight alterations, among many nations. The French call the festival Paques; the Dutch term it Paschen; the Danes Paaske, and the Swedes Pask. In the early days of Christianity the influence of the Jewish Pasch upon the holy day commemorating the slaying of Christ and his resurrection was such that it created many bitter dissensions between the western and the eastern churches. Finally the discussions assumed such a threatening aspect that Polycrates, bishop of Ephesus, appealed to Victor, bishop of Rome, asking for a general council to decide the much-vexed question.

Accordingly, councils met in all the countries, as well as at Rome, but, alas, for visions of harmony, they could not agree. They finally decided to recognize the day as their respective fathers before them had done, and no sect should censure the other for a difference of opinion.

Many warm and even bitter discussions still continued on the subject of Easter celebrations, and it finally led to the great emperor, Constantine, in 325, issuing an order for the dispute to be settled by the council of Nice. It was the momentous theme of the day. In obedience to royal command, 318 bishops and some 2000 inferior clerics assembled at Nice in Bithynia.

The first sessions met in the church, and as the council continued its work the place of meeting was transferred to the imperial palace, where special apartments were reserved for this august body. The main trouble was between the Jewish Christians and the Gentile Christians.

On the 14th day of the first lunar month the Jews observed with all the solemnity and regard for the Mosaic law the Feast of the Passover; thus they celebrated the death of Christ as represented by the Paschal Lamb. The first Sabbath after the 14th day of the March moon the Gentile Christians celebrated with joyous religious services the resurrection of Christ. Neither sect would recognize the other's festive day, and the council of Nice was greatly perplexed as how best to please all parties.

After continuing their debates, pro and con, for several months, the ecclesiastical dignitaries announced that the bitterly waged war of dispute was settled. Easter day was for all time to be the first Sabbath immediately following the fourteenth day of the March moon. By this arrangement the world may celebrate Easter, justly called the "Queen of Festivals," as early as March 22, and again it may not arrive until April 25, when nearly the entire earth is fragrant with spring buds and blossoms.

The word Easter is derived from a Pagan goddess of the early Teutons called Ostera. The German word for Easter is Ostern, but some philologists maintain that both the German and English words come from the ancient Saxon word Oster, or Osten, meaning "rising." Ostera, the German goddess, was credited with being the personification of the morning, and of the east, and also of the opening year.

Ostera was worshiped very generally in northern Germany, and it is believed that the fame of the goddess spread to England, where the Saxons joined in worshiping her. Until the beginning of the present century court was paid to Ostera by the kindling of great bonfires and in other ways, and even to-day in some of the remote districts where many superstitions beliefs are treasured by the peasantry the fame of Ostera still lives.

The early Christians made the Easter celebration extend over a period of eight days, but in the eleventh century the festival was reduced to three days, and later to one day. In olden days Easter was the popular time for baptism. The law courts were shut and the poor and needy were feasted regally in the churches, a custom that was much abused and which led to great disorder. Slaves were temporarily free, the people gave themselves up to hilarity and all sorts of enjoyment. Popular sports and dances were added, and the joyous solemnity of the day bade fair to be ruined.

While many curious observances cluster about Easter, the egg as an emblem of resurrection was, and is most generally used by all Nations. De Gebelin has connected it with the ancient Egyptians, Persians, Greeks and Romans, and Dr. Schwartz finds that it was customary among the Parsees to distribute red eggs at their spring festival. In Germany, instead of the egg, is an emblematic print, in which three hens are holding a basket wherein are three eggs.—Picayune.

EASTER CUSTOMS.

The Typical Use of the Egg is Common to All Countries.

This year Easter falls in April, so that in some localities we may really enjoy the soft air, the green of the grass, the song of birds and fragrance of flowers, so often only in the future at the Easter time. Hope comes again to the invalid with Easter days; the violets are peeping from their beds and all things seem "Emblems of our own great resurrection, Emblems of the bright and better land."

The egg in some form or other has been a type of the new life from the very beginning of the Christian era, a growth, probably, from the pagan idea that the egg was the beginning of all kinds of life. Various customs and ways of using the egg have grown up in different countries.

In Russia, as early as 1580, eggs colored red, typifying the blood of Christ shed as an atonement for our sins, were the most treasured of exchanges at Easter. Every believer went abroad at this season with his pockets well supplied with Easter eggs, as the society man of to-day attends to his well-filled card case. When two Russians met for the first time during the Easter holidays, if they had not met on the day itself, the belated Easter compliments were passed, first by solemnly shaking hands in silence, then the elder (or the younger, if he outranked the elder) would say: "The Lord is risen," and his companion would reply: "It is true;" then they kissed each other and ceremoniously drew from their respective pockets the Easter emblem and exchanged eggs.

Hyde, in his description of Oriental sports, tells of one with eggs among the Christians of Mesopotamia on Easter day, and forty days afterward: "The sport consists in striking their eggs one against another, and the egg that first breaks is won by the owner of the one that struck it. Immediately another egg is pitted against the winning egg, and so on till the last egg wins all the others, which their respective owners shall before have won."

THE EDEN LILY.

When God bid run Euphrates' stream,
Ere yet man came to earth,
For Faith and Virtue's future theme
He gave the lily birth.

He robed it as Himself divine,
Gave to its heart the gold
And majesty of royal line,
In simple, snowy fold.

Our parents loved the many flowers
They found in Eden blest;
The poetry of all the hours—
But hailed the lily best!

When the Archangel came and walked
The groves all golden shod,
Gravely to Adam, Michael talked
Of purity and God.

Then pointing to the lily fair,
Said, "Though you bring the gloom
Of death to earth, this lily rare
Shall typify the Bloom."

The angels now around the Throne
Circling are singing on,
When Easter brings the lifted stone,
And fear from earth has gone.

They tell that fallen man long doomed
At last has met the light;
That Israel's Lily now has bloomed
On altars pure and white.

—James Riley, in Boston Bouquet.

Eggs were held by the Egyptians as a sacred emblem of the renovation of mankind after the deluge. The Jews adopted them to suit the circumstances of their history as a type of their departure from the land of Egypt; they were also used in the feast of the Passover.

The Syrians believed that the gods from whom they claimed descent were hatched from mysteriously laid eggs. Hence we infer that our present custom of offering the Easter egg emblem has the heathen legends for its origin; in fact all our most precious festivals come down from similar sources, but purified with the light of Christianity.

THE EASTER BIRTH.

Again the flower-shoot cleaves the clod;
Again the grass spear greens the sod;
Again buds dot the willow rod.

The sap released within the tree
Is like a prisoned bird set free,
And mounteth upward buoyantly.

Once more at purple evening dream
The tender-voiced, enamoured stream
Unto the rush renews its theme.

How packed with meaning this new birth
Of all the growing things of earth—
Life springing after death and dearth!

Thou, soul, that still dost darkly grope,
Hath not this, in its vernal scope,
Some radiant resurrection hope?

—Clinton Scollard.

POLITICAL PROGRESS.

THE MOVEMENT IN FAVOR OF DIRECT LEGISLATION.

The Populist States Lead—Rapid Advances Made Toward Public Ownership of Franchises and Public Utilities—State Railroads and Income Taxes.

E. D. Durand, in Annals American Academy, summarizes recent political and municipal legislation, showing that the Populist party has already been instrumental in making some important local reforms. The movement in favor of direct legislation by the people, which has manifested itself for the years in the increased practice of referring special subjects of state or local legislation to popular vote, and in the increasing agitation for a general use of the initiative and referendum, has at last culminated in some of our western states. South Dakota goes further yet by proposing a constitutional amendment, to be voted upon in November next, declaring that "the people reserve to themselves the right to propose measures which measures the legislature shall enact and submit to a vote of the electors of the state, and also the right to require that any law which the legislature may have enacted shall be submitted to a vote of the electors of the state before going into effect. * * * provided that not more than five per centum of the qualified electors of the state shall be required to invoke either the initiative or the referendum."

The sister state of Nebraska has meanwhile enacted a law, to take immediate effect, introducing the same principle for all local subdivisions—counties, townships, cities, villages and school districts—but not for the state government itself. A petition of 15 per cent of the voters is necessary to initiate measures, or to demand the reference of proposed measures to the people. The question must then be submitted to a vote at the next general election, but if the petition be signed by 20 per cent of the electors and contain a request for a more immediate vote, a special election must be held. The local legislative body may suggest amendments to measures proposed by popular initiative. In such case the original and modified propositions must both be placed on the ballot. Unless a majority declares itself against both forms, the form receiving the most affirmative votes becomes law.

The recent and growing popular agitation concerning the management of municipal property, works and privileges is beginning to bear fruit in legislation. A large proportion of our states now allow cities and towns themselves to construct and operate lighting as well as water plants. Washington last year went further and authorized the establishment of municipal street railways. Especially is there a tendency to regulate the granting of franchises to private individuals and companies. The chief advances are in limiting the duration of such grants, in demanding some commensurate payment for them, and in making them subject to popular control. The provisions of the new charter of New York is an instance in this regard. Far more radical is a Kansas law of 1897, which, however, applies only to light, heat, power and water plants. This act requires the grantees of franchises to report in minute detail the exact cost of constructing their plant, and semi-annually thereafter the exact receipts and expenditures of every sort. A profit of 6 per cent per annum is to be allowed on the actual investment shown by these statements, and the entire surplus of receipts is to go to the public treasury, unless a higher allowance be made to the holders of the franchise by consent of three-fifths of the taxpayers. No grant may be for more than twenty years, and after ten years the municipality may buy the plant at an appraised valuation. This law imposes terms even more severe than those regulating public franchises in any European city.

Several other states have adopted the practice of requiring franchises of all sorts to be disposed of upon competitive bids. While this system may prevent jobbery, in part, experience shows that it does not ordinarily win for the public a reasonable payment for privileges granted. Real competition is seldom possible, especially in the case of renewals or additional grants after one corporation has become thoroughly established. California, adopting this practice in 1897, prescribes further that the minimum payment to the municipal treasury for any kind of public franchise shall be three per cent of the gross receipts. No payment whatever is to be made, however, during the first five years of the grant. Wisconsin has passed a somewhat similar law, whose adoption is left to local option. The municipality is to fix such conditions as it sees fit as specifications in advertising for bids. Annual reports of gross receipts must be made by grantees of franchises, whether percentages upon them are demanded or not. The terms of franchises may not be altered without consent of the holders. Regarding light and water plants, it is further enacted by another law that any proposed franchise may be submitted to popular vote and must be so submitted if 20 per cent of the voters petition. Minnesota prohibits all perpetual franchises, and provides that if privileges are made exclusive, they must be limited to ten years and approved by popular vote. This latter provision signifies little, since evidently a large proportion of such grants, though not exclusive formally, are so practically.

Arkansas has established an ex-officio board to construct and operate one or more state railways. Wishing to avoid the experience of Tennessee, which earlier burdened itself with a heavy debt by building railways, Arkansas provides that the road shall be paid for by donations of money and land from the counties and municipalities through which it passes, and by issue of bonds secured upon the road itself, and not upon the state at large.

Inheritance taxes have been in favor and have been increased in many more states than have been added to the list. Massachusetts has increased the rates of its inheritance tax, and Kansas has established one. Kansas provides that the rate shall be 1 per cent on estates above $1,000 and not exceeding $2,000, and 5 per cent on those above $100,000. It is to be feared that the rate of this tax in many of those states which have it will fail to give a fair test of the working of the progressive income tax.

PROSPERITY NOTES.

After more than two months' hard fighting, the Globe rolling mill strike at Cleveland, Ohio, has been declared off and the men compelled to acknowledge a defeat, which may mean the total disintegration of their local union. The Globe mills are owned by Senator Mark Hanna.

The employes of Seyfert's rolling mill at Chikaiser, Pa., have been informed of a reduction in their wages. The puddlers from $2.40 to $2.25 per ton and the men in the plate mill about 10 per cent all around.

The appeal of the New Bedford, Mass., textile workers, now on strike, sets forth that 600 families, comprising 2,000 men, women and children, are slowly starving to death, and that unless aid is forthcoming within a short time the strike will have to be abandoned.

All the street car lines in Saginaw, Mich., were tied up Friday. The motormen went on strike. The men demand regular hours and pay for overtime. They have been working fourteen to sixteen hours daily.

Arthur Hamlin, a grandson of Hannibal Hamlin, vice-president of the United States when Lincoln was president, was arrested in this city on Monday last and charged with vagrancy. Hunger drove him to desperation, so he went into a restaurant, and after eating a hearty meal, left without paying. The proprietor of the place made the charge. The "culprit's" defense was that he was without either money or friends, had not eaten for days, and could not obtain employment, which he had earnestly sought for a long time. Judge Conlan, very properly, dismissed him, but, probably ironically, commanded him to "secure a situation." Can the judge secure it for him? Hundreds come into our office every week looking for that very thing, and we can say, because we know, that even most highly educated and refined men are grateful if they can secure a "place" even as "common laborer," which in most cases is impossible for the "market" is glutted.—San Francisco Star.

The Old Guard.

A health unto the Old Guard here,
A health to the Old Guard.
Who dared to march till the ranks of Truth
In times when the way was hard,
Who boldly stood for the people's cause,
And made that cause their own
In days before it had won applause
In days when they stood alone.

A health unto the Old Guard, here,
A health to the Old Guard,
Who gave of their time and life and means,
With hope of no reward.
Who battled long 'gainst Might, Mammon, Might,
Like veterans true and tried,
Who dared to fight for the love of right,
Though they fought on the losing side.

A health unto the Old Guard, true,
A health to the Old Guard,
We little know how much we owe
To these warriors, battle-scarred;
But when the fight is won at last,
The world will place each name
Away up high, for the Future sees
On the deathless roll of Fame.

FIFTY FIFTH CONGRESS.

The Senate Wednesday.

Again today were the galleries of the senate crowded to the doors.

Mr. Frye reported from the committee on foreign relations the senate resolution: "That the president be requested, if not incompatible with the public interest, to transmit to the senate all of the consular correspondence relating to the conduct of the war in the island of Cuba, the condition of the people, and other matters relating thereto."

Mr. Hawley, of the military affairs committee, reported a joint resolution providing that, in any case of emergency in which the immediate erection of any fort or fortification is, in the opinion of the secretary of war, deemed necessary and urgent, where the legislature of the state is not in session, so much of the existing law as prohibits the erection of such fortifications until the consent of the legislature has been obtained, shall be suspended so as to authorize the construction of such temporary fort on the written consent of the land. It went over.

The entire day was consumed considering various Cuban resolutions.

The House.

A wild and uproarious scene occurred in the house of representatives today when Mr. Bailey, the democratic leader, attempted to force the hand of the republicans upon a proposition to overrule the speaker and pass a resolution recognizing the independence of the Cuban republic. He was cheered on by the crowded galleries, but the members of the majority refused to support him. Many of them sympathized with the purpose of the resolution. Mr. Hull, chairman of the military committee, going so far as to indorse the proposition, under the impression that it provided for a declaration of war, but most of the radicals who yesterday were in favor of any sort of revolutionary methods had been won over to the policy of sticking to the party organization, and refused to do anything until the initiative came from their side. They were rallied by two of the leading advocates of armed intervention, and the speaker himself from the chair made a direct appeal to his party associates to stand firm, at the same time intimating that their impatience was curbed a little longer they would have the opportunity they coveted. When the vote was taken only two republicans, Messrs. Atcheson and Robbins, of Pennsylvania, broke from the party lines. About a dozen more sat silent in their seats and refused to vote. The scheme throughout was most dramatic, and the members and spectators in the galleries were wrought up to a high pitch of excitement. The vote on sustaining the speaker's ruling that the resolution was out of order was 180 ayes and 149 noes. Mr. Bailey's resolution which occasioned such story scenes is as follows:

"Resolved, by the senate and house of representatives, That the heroic struggle of the Cuban people against the force of arms and the horrors of famine has shown them worthy to be free; and

"Second, The United States hereby recognizes the republic of Cuba as a free and independent state."

The house then went into committee of the whole and resumed consideration of the naval appropriation bill. Without reaching provisions relating to increase in the navy, the house adjourned.

The Senate—Thursday.

The request made in the senate today by Mr. Frye, on behalf of the foreign relations committee, that the resolution calling upon the president for the Cuban consular reports lie upon the table until such time as the committee desired to take it up, unexpectedly precipitated a discussion on the Cuban question. Upon the conclusion of the Cuban discussion the sundry civil appropriation bill was taken up, and forty pages of it were disposed of. The measure was then laid aside, and Mr. Hawley presented in amended form the joint resolution offered by Mr. Bacon concerning the erection of temporary fortifications. It is as follows: "That in case of emergency, when, in the opinion of the president, the immediate erection of any temporary fort or fortification is deemed important or urgent, such temporary fort or fortification may be constructed upon written consent of the owner of the land upon which such work is to be placed, and the requirements of section 355 of the Revised Statutes shall not be applicable in such cases." The resolution was passed and the senate adjourned.

The House.

For three hours today the packed galleries and excited members of the house listened to a passionate outburst of oratory on the Cuban question, during which the intensity was alternately manifested by cheers, jeers, and hisses. Time and time again the excited throngs in the galleries were admonished to be silent. At one time, at least, it seemed as if a motion would be made to clear them. The three speeches that stirred the assemblage to its depths were made by Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, who, it was assumed, spoke for the administration, and who practically pledged it to the cause of free Cuba; Mr. Bailey of Texas, the democratic leader, who announced the democratic position as for Cuba without war, if it could be avoided, but with war if necessary; and Mr. Johnson of Indiana, who spoke for peace, declaring that it was the duty to go to the extreme in magnanimity to avoid the horrors of war. No progress was made on the naval appropriation bill. The only important amendment was one appropriating $100,000 for the erection of new buildings at the Naval Academy.

The Senate—Friday.

The senate spent almost the entire day in the discussion of the resolution reported yesterday from the senate committee on foreign relations for the acquisition of the West India islands owned by Denmark to be used for a coaling station, and the session was closed by the practical withdrawal of the resolution by Senator Lodge, its author. He stated that the debate had developed such a wide difference of opinion in the senate, where there had hitherto been such unanimity, that he would not further press the matter at a time when the president needed the support of all senators of all parties.

The House.

In an exceedingly turbulent session of six hours the house today passed the naval appropriation bill and then adjourned until Monday. The war spirit was manifested in all the speeches and overrode the naval committee itself by increasing the number of torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers to twenty-four, the bill as providing but twelve and increasing the appropriation to $4,300,000 instead of $2,300,000. The amendment of Mr. Cannon, to reduce the number of battleships to one was buried under an overwhelming majority. The provision relating to armor plate which, in ordinary times would have precipitated a debate of several days, was disposed of in ten minutes, a proposition to decrease the price agreed to in the bill from $400 to $300 per ton being drowned in a perfect chorus of "noes." Mr. Underwood, democrat of Alabama, offered an amendment appropriating $4,000,000 for the establishment of a government armor plate factory. The amendment was ruled out on a point of order. The house at 6 p. m. adjourned until Monday.

BRIBED BY RUSSIA.

Li Hung Chang Accused by High Officials—In Danger of Losing His Life.

It is announced at Shanghai that a person of the highest rank has memorialized the emperor in the most vigorous language, accusing the whole Tsung Li Yamen (Chinese foreign office) of being in the pay of Russia. He asserts that Russia expended 10,000,000 taels in bribery during the recent negotiations regarding the cession of Port Arthur, Tallen Wan, etc., and claims that Li Hung Chang's share was 1,000,000 taels.

Thereupon the personage referred to demands a full investigation and asks that Li Hung Chang be beheaded if the accusations are proven, the memorializer offering to be executed himself if his charges are not sustained.

FORTY SUB-MARINE MINES

Placed in Havana Harbor Last Wednesday Night.

A dispatch to the New York World from Havana says:

Forty floating sub marine mines were secretly planted in Havana harbor last Wednesday night by the Spanish government. This information comes from official sources, and is absolutely correct. The mines were laid in the narrowest part of the channel, between Moro and Punta, in two lines of twenty mines each. They float twenty-four feet under the surface. Each is attached by an anchor chain to a heavy cable anchored to the bottom. The denotating wires run up the chains. There is sufficient force there to paralyze the biggest ships afloat. But if an entering fleet should use countermines or bow torpedoes on approaching the narrowest part of the entrance to the harbor the mines could be exploded.

TWO NEW VESSELS

Bought in Europe to be Hurried Across the Atlantic to New York.

Orders have been cabled to Lieut. J. J. Knapp, commanding the torpedo boat Somers, purchased from Germany, to proceed to England and take command of the cruiser Diogenes, purchased from the Thames Iron Works.

The Diogenes is a cruiser of 1,800 tons displacement, and will be used as a member of the second line of defense, for which purpose this government is purchasing a large number of yachts, and is converting them into torpedo boats. The Diogenes was originally built in 1882 for the Portuguese government, but as the Lisbon authorities failed to take her, she remained at the Thames Iron Works, and was rebuilt during the last year. She has a speed of sixteen knots, some protection and has an excellent battery for her size.

GERMANY WANTS SATISFACTION.

Has a Grievance Against Spain—May Send a Warship to Cuba.

BERLIN, (Special.) — Germany has commenced diplomatic representations to Spain relative to the Cannamaba case, and the German cruiser Geier has been ordered to get ready to proceed to Cuba, if satisfaction is not quickly forthcoming. The German version of the Cannamaba case is that some Cuban insurgents, during the night of March 12, attacked a German refinery at Cannamaba, belonging to the firm of Fischer & Schmidt, of Trinidad, province of Santa Clara. The insurgents are said to have rifled the safes, burned the buildings, killed four persons and wounded ten occupants of the refinery.

Wheeler for Belligerency.

Mr. Wheeler, of Alabama, introduced the following joint resolution in the house of representatives Wednesday: "Resolved, That the government of the United States hereby declares that the struggling patriots in the island of Cuba are belligerents, and are recognized as such by the government."

Women and the Wheel.

From the Gazette, Delaware, Ohio.

The healthfulness of bicycle riding for women is still a disputed question between eminent physicians and health reformers.

Used in moderation it surely creates for women a means of out-door exercise, the benefit of which all physicians concede. Used to excess, like any other pastime, its effect is surely to be dangerous.

The experience of Miss Bertha Reed, the seventeen-year old daughter of Mr. J. R. Reed, 335 Lake st., Delaware, Ohio, may point a moral for parents who, like Mr. and Mrs. Reed, have experienced some concern for their daughters who are fond of wheeling. In the fall of '95 Miss Bertha who had ridden a great deal, began to fail in an alarming manner. She grew steadily paler and thinner, and it appeared she was going into consumption. Rest and quiet did her absolutely no good. A physician found her pulse at 104—a very high rate. Thinking this may have been due to temporary nervousness when he examined her, he watched her closely, but her pulse continued at that rate for two weeks. He was satisfied then, from her high pulse and steadily wasting condition that she was suffering from anæmia or a bloodless condition of the body. She became extremely weak, and could not stand the least noise or excitement. In this condition of affairs they were recommended by an old friend to get some of that famous blood medicine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They did so, and almost from the first dose Bertha began to improve. She continued to take the pills and was by means of those pills made entirely well, and more grateful people than her parents cannot be found in the whole State of Ohio.

She Rides Well.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved a boon to womankind. Acting directly on the blood and nerves, they restore the requisite vitality to all parts of the body; creating functional regularity and perfect harmony throughout the nervous system. The pallor of the cheeks is changed to the delicate blush of health; the eyes brighten; the muscles grow elastic, ambition is created and good health returns.

WISCONSIN'S YOUNG JURIST.

Judge John E. Pannier, of Chippewa Falls, but 23 Years Old.

The youngest judge in Wisconsin and probably the youngest in the country, is John E. Pannier, elected County Judge at Chippewa Falls, Wis., last spring. He is 23 years old and succeeded Judge Belden, of Racine, who ten years ago, at the time of his election, was the youngest judge on the bench.

Judge Pannier was born in Chippewa Falls and is a product of the public schools, which he attended until he was graduated from the high school in 1892.

JOHN E. PANNIER.

He then spent a year or more making the best of his time and opportunities in studying in the law office of Colonel L. J. Rusk, after which he went to Madison, where he entered the law course and was graduated with honors in 1895. Shortly after he began the practice of his profession. At the time of the spring election he secured the nomination and was elected to the office of County Judge.

GEORGIA LADIES

TELL THE TRUTH.

Miss Mercer Spence

Buffalo, Ga., writes: Eight years ago I was slow fever'd, five doctors attended me, but I continued to grow worse until I commenced taking Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine three times a day, and (was well before one Package was taken. Have taken few doses "Black Draught," but did not think it equaled my Liver as well as Dr. M. A. S. L. M.

Female Complaints.

There are two critical and even dangerous periods in female life, when the greatest care is necessary.

The first, when the girl passes from childhood to womanhood; if through ignorance or neglect this mysterious development is interfered with or thwarted, even in the smallest degree, they are liable to some malady frequently proving most serious, such as hysteria, fever even consumption; while at the second period, called "change of life," there is often much distress and danger. At both the periods of life Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine is invaluable, and it is recommended that a dose of it be taken twice a week for some time, between and during the menstrual periods, and for strengthening the system we strongly urge the use of Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine, a dose at bedtime.

R. J. Redock

Scriba, Ga., says: I have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine in my family for 20 years with success in many cases of Indigestion and Sour Stomach. I think it superior to anything but "Black Draught" and "Zeilin's Regulator," and I shall recommend Dr. M. A. S. L. M. as long as I live.

Hysteria

Is caused by natural or acquired feebleness of constitution, mental suffering and, chiefly, derangement of the sexual system, such as menstrual irregularities, delayed development of the genital organs, excessive or too strong sexual propensities. During a fit, the patient's clothes should be loosened; she should have an abundance of fresh air. The sudden, copious and continuous application of cold water to the head and face will cut the fit short. Between the paroxysms, Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine should be taken in correct tonicity of the bowels, and a course of treatment with Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine which is especially adapted to remove the uterine disorders.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life. It makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1.00 at the drug store.

McELREE'S

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

W. I. ADDISON, M.D., Cary, Miss., says: "I use Wine of Cardui extensively in my practice and find it a most excellent preparation for female troubles."

5 DROPS

Hundreds of thousands of Sufferers cured without a single failure by "FIVE DROPS."

Though so universally used and tested did you ever hear anyone speak ill of this great remedy? No, you never did and never will, for if taken as directed and in the proper quantity "5 Drops" cannot fail to cure any of the diseases for which it is recommended. What it has already done to relieve the suffering is told in thousands of letters of grateful praise.

Mr. Z. P. Limeburner, widely known for many years as the special representative of the Populists and Free Silver Press of the United States, has kindly forwarded the following letter for publication:

DEAR SIRS—I am anxious for the sake of the suffering and out of gratitude to you to give my personal endorsement of your wonderful remedy. On the ... of January 1897, I was in Washington and was suddenly seized with an aggravated case of inflammatory rheumatism; so severe and painful was the attack that within 24 hours my left arm was paralyzed and I was only able to dress with assistance. I secured a bottle of 5 Drops and took a dose that night, rubbing some on externally as directed. The following morning I was surprised to find myself almost entirely free from pain, and ... woke the second morning cured. My arm was absolutely free from pain, and all swelling and stiffness had disappeared. The weakness ... was remarkable. I have known for over a year of the great ... of "5 Drops," and have several friends who have been cured by it of Neuralgia, Catarrh and Asthma. Wishing you every success and trusting that those similarly afflicted will at least give this remedy a trial. Sincerely yours, Z. P. LIMEBURNER.

Bureau of Populist and Reform Papers, Old Stock Exchange Building, Chicago, Ill.

CURES THE INCURABLE.

DEAR SIRS,—I would like to thank you for your great remedy "5 DROPS," and tell you what it has done for me. I had Rheumatism in every joint and in the heart, and had Catarrh of the head for ... years. I was so poorly that I lost the use of my legs ... and could not move without pain. I was so crippled, that I had done but little work for seven years and our family physician, a good doctor, told me that my Rheumatism and Catarrh were incurable, and I believed him. But now, after using "5 DROPS" only two months, I can truly say I have not felt so well for seven years. This is a little more than is claimed for it. At this time my Catarrh is ... better, and I have scarcely any Rheumatism at all and the heart weakness and pains are gone. My hearing is now good and my eyesight is much better. I have gained more than ... and can do a full day's work. It is the best medicine I ever saw to give ... for it has the same effect on the child ... lives of the child and causes ... Yours ... W. ... KELLEMS.

Jan. 29, 1898.

We received the following letter from Mr. J. S. Wilson of ... in regard to the above letter ... his endorsement was genuine, and received this reply, which is forwarded ...

MR. J. S. WILSON.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of recent date at hand. The testimonial you speak of is genuine. The company who manufactures and sells "5 Drops" published my testimonial just as I gave it to them and every word of it is true, and I could swear to it and prove it by many witnesses. The company did not ask me for it. I sent it to them last January for publication in order that poor sufferers, then able as I once was, and as you are, might be cured. Get "5 Drops" and use it and it will cure you as it has cured me. I have received many letters like yours, and it is a pleasure to me to answer all who write. Tell your neighbors what I have written about "5 Drops." I know how to sympathize with those who are afflicted, for though I suffered so long, it is now ... months since I have felt any pain. Dr. S. W. Kellems, my brother, uses "5 Drops" in his practice, and joins me in endorsing this great remedy. He says for a case like yours it is a positive cure.

Sept. 21, 1898. MR. W. M. AND DR. S. W. KELLEMS

If you have not sufficient confidence after reading these letters to send for a large bottle, send for a sample bottle, which contains sufficient medicine to convince you of its merit. This wonderful curative gives almost instant relief and is a permanent cure for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Backache, Asthma, Hay Fever, Catarrh, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuralgic Headaches, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, "La Grippe," Malaria, Creeping Numbness, Bronchitis and Kindred Diseases.

"FIVE DROPS" is the name and dose. Large bottles (300 doses), $1.00. Six bottles for $5.00. Sample bottle prepaid by mail 25c. Not sold by druggists, but only by us and our agents. Agents appointed in new territory.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in the "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for it is, as the Bookman says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it gives its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the political, economic, and literary events which are of value to intelligent men and women. The "Progress of the World" gives succinctly an illustrated story of the month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazines in brief comments; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the men of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of serious import.

"We know of no review published, in this country or in Europe, which combines so successfully as the AMERICAN MONTHLY the alertness, timeliness, and energy of journalism with the sound judgment, carefully weighed opinion, exact knowledge, and well-chosen English of the purely literary periodical."—The Outlook.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly magazine the information needed by intelligent people of "live" instincts is best proved by the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library in itself"; "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of genius"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

Editor BANNER. Pardon me for again imposing upon your kindness, but I have learned that a report is being circulated over our county by certain parties, and that the report is something like this: "That shortly after I was honored by the People's Party with the office of Circuit Clerk that I said that I was satisfied with the office but did not like the party that put me in." Now these may not be the exact words, but the idea and substance is the same.

I want to here say that this report is false and untrue, and that I have never used the above language or any words or language that could be twisted or construed in to any such a meaning, but that on the other hand as I stated in a communication in your last issue I now as I have always in the past endorse the People's Party platform in every thing. J. P. VANDERVEER.

I was reading an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the Worcester Enterprise recently, which leads me to write this. I can truthfully say I never used any remedy equal to it for colic and diarrhoea. I have never had to use more than one or two doses to cure the worst case with myself or children.—W. A. STROUD, Pocomoke City, Md. For sale by J. S. Johnson jr.

Editor BANNER. I am a voter of Chilton County and an earnest worker and supporter in the interests of the People's Party in national, state and county affairs. I am one who has always supported and labored for our party interests in every way in my power and am today more determined than ever for its success.

I am acquainted with all the men now asking for the nomination for the office of Probate Judge in our party primary on the 29th., I know them all to be true People's Party men, and I would like to make a few statements, having as my only object a desire to have our offices filled by competent men who are true to our party.

In looking over the list of candidates for Probate Judge, I notice the name of J. P. VanDerveer, our present Circuit Clerk. Mr. VanDerveer has been a resident citizen of our county for about twenty years. He came to this county when only about seventeen years of age and chose the life of farming as the means of making a support. For about fifteen years of this time I have been intimately acquainted with him and have always found him as he now is, a straightforward, honest, sober man of business, not spending his time traveling over the county trying to keep up and make new acquaintances that he might be in a better position to ask the people for an office, but staying always in the office the People's Party had entrusted to his care, and conducting the same in a manner that we are all proud of, and not only this but conducting his office in such a manner as to command the endorsement of every man no matter to what party he may belong.

Now I cannot say that the duties of his office are unusually light or that they are unusually heavy, but I do know that he is the only man for whom we voted in 1892, having an office in the court house, who has not been forced to employ an attorney to conduct his office for him. And right here let me say that I do not condemn a man too much for hiring an attorney, but I am in favor of electing a man for Probate Judge who is qualified to fill the office and not have it said any longer that we have to go outside of the People's Party to get men to show our officers how to fill their offices. Our people have heard this so often we are sick and tired of it.

We all know that the first time that we put in office all the men we had elected was in 1892, and we

"A word to the wise is sufficient" and a word from the wise should be sufficient, but you ask, who are the wise? Those who know. The oft repeated experience of trustworthy persons may be taken for knowledge. Mr. W. M. Terry says Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other in the market. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twelve years; has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy and nearly all other cough medicines manufactured, which shows conclusively that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people, and is the best. Verbena, April 11, 1898
Editor BANNER. I want to say a few words in reply to one who signs himself "Beat 5". Judging from the tone of his letter he is laboring under a false impression. That is that Mr. Adams is the only candidate true to the People's Party. I think "Beat 5" did the other candidates who are running subject to the People's Party primary a great wrong to cast such slurs at them. Mr. Adams has doubtless been true to the party. Others have been equally loyal. Mr. VanDeveer expresses himself clearly in last week's paper, and his statements we have no right to dispute.

Both of the gentlemen referred to will doubtless get a respectable vote in beat 5, but there is another who is not less worthy and capable, Mr. J. W. Moore. Having been born and bred in this county, having always commanded the respect of his acquaintances, and having always been true to the principles of the People's Party both by his influence and vote, as is known throughout the county we feel certain that he will receive at the hands of the voters on the 29th due consideration for past services. I am always

Collins Chapel, April 12, 1898
Editor BANNER. As politics is all the go these days, I would like to say a few words about our candidates. I was glad to see Mr. Deason out for Circuit Clerk and Mr. S. M. Adams for Probate Judge. I think he is a man who is well qualified for the office. And I think he is a man to whom the people should turn for the office. He is a man who has done more for the People's Party than any other man in the county.

The people are done planting corn and are preparing for cotton. They were all glad to see the nice rain that has fallen.

SIXTEEN YEARS

His Wife Had Been a Chronic Invalid—Cured at Last.

Mr. J. F. Scott, Cherokee, Texas, in writing to Dr. Hartman, stated: "I had kidney disease for about fifteen years and had got so bad that I could hardly get about and could not perform any kind of labor. I had tried quite a number of doctors and had taken nearly a wagon-load of patent and proprietary medicines, but continued to gradually grow worse. Also, my wife had been an invalid for about sixteen years, and you doubtless remember when I wrote you about her, there was hardly ever a day that she could sit up all day. We tried a great many remedies, but neither of us was ever benefited, only temporarily, till we began taking your Peruna and Manalin, as instructed in your letters to us. It has made a healthy man of me; I never felt better in my life and my wife is a most like a different person, she is so much better. The Peruna is the most wonderful medicine I ever saw; for la grippe it is a sure cure. I know this and have had my neighbor to try it."

Hundreds of similar testimonials may be found in a little book entitled "Facts and Faces," which will be sent free to any address by The Peruna Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Clanton, Ala. March 28, 1898
Editor BANNER. Among the names of the honorable gentlemen who have announced themselves as candidates for the trusty gifts that are in the hands of the citizens of Chilton county, not to my surprise, I notice the name of the worthy and deserving young man, J. Monroe Burnett. Mr. Burnett is a perfect example of the energetic, ambitious and Christian-hearted young men who avail themselves of the surrounding opportunities that Chilton county affords, and utilize the passing time in preparing themselves for active use in life.

He has invariably set the example of an honorable and Christian young man; and his acquaintance is not hemmed in by the limits of his home vicinity but is extended throughout the county. His friends are many and in different locations; and there is no doubt that they will rally to the primary on the 29th of April and show, by their votes, their appreciation of such young men as he.

He will get a hearty support in this beat and I fully believe he will get it all over the county. The solicitation of his friends has brought him before the people in a candidate's capacity and now their duty is to crown him victor and give him courage to push to the front ranks of Alabama's useful men.

The Greatest Discovery Yet.

W. M. Rippe, editor Fiskilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. Kings New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottle free at J. S. Johnson's Drug Store.

On Monday April 4th, the death angel passed over the home of Mr. Geo. W. Fox and bore away his son, Willie E. He was only confined to his bed one week. He bore his sickness very patiently and passed away quietly. He seemed to be conscious of his end and perfectly willing to go. The last three months of his life were full of quietude and peace and he passed from earth to eternity in perfect peace. We have good evidence of his salvation. Willie left father, mother, two brothers and four sisters besides a number of friends to mourn his loss. He was very devoted to his family and a true friend to his country. His age was 23 years 6 months 12 days. We hope to meet our brother where parting is no more.

West Chilton, April 11, 1898
Well Mr. Editor, as politics is beginning to wax warm again in Chilton, I thought perhaps some of my friends would like to hear from me. I am very cool on the subject. I see a good many have announced themselves candidates and they all seem to be fine men. But some one is going to get left. Judge Honeycutt is my choice and I shall support him regardless of man or money. And Mr. E. B. Deason in the main for our next clerk, and I shall do all in my power for his support in the coming election. I shall also support Mr. Strock for County Superintendent if he has no opposition. I am very sorry that Mr. Moore did not run for Superintendent again, if he had run for that office, he would have been elected without a doubt.

The frost on the 5th and 6th gave the farmers a black eye and a long face. Every thing is set back, besides the great damage to the fruit.

The state of Alabama needs a dog law; there are too many worthless dogs in the county eating up the bread that should be given to hogs. There ought to be, and there must be, a tax levied on every dog to the amount of $2, and that go to the public schools. This would enable the schools to run longer, and it would do away with so many worthless dogs, and be the means of raising more sheep. I hope everybody may take this into consideration before our next legislature meets again. Let us send men there who will take and pass this law. There are too many dogs, they must be taxed. Peace and good will to all men.

Phoenix, Arizona, is said to be the cleanest city in the world. She has splendid streets, with asphalt sidewalks. No one is permitted to spit upon them under a penalty of $5. The City Attorney was the first person subjected to the fine, and, to his credit, paid up and promised to do so no more.

Uncle Sam's canned goods are going like hot "flapjacks." Germany, Russia, France, England and Japan are all ordering them by the carload. War may not break out, but rations are needed for the navy just the same. America is the gainer by the fleets which are confronting one another in the Yellow Sea.

The French Ministry of Finance recently instituted an inquiry to learn the amount of gold in circulation. It has ascertained that there is $800,000,000 worth bearing the French stamp in circulation. It is claimed that this is a record amount. It is stated that the United States has $720,000,000, Germany $680,000,000, and Great Britain and Russia $600,000,000.

A Spanish newspaper says that "two descendants of Christopher Columbus are now inmates of a poorhouse in Cadiz. Columbus was treated very shabbily in Spain before he died." Upon which the Philadelphia Record makes the comment that "the fate of his descendants only furnish a new proof that a great man's posterity cannot expect to live upon the fame of his achievements."

That belief in lex talionis obtains strongly in New York has been demonstrated by the latest trials for murder. In the Borough of Brooklyn the cowboy Hinz, who shot and killed his brother-in-law, was tried and the jury disagreed, only two men favoring conviction. In Manhattan the jury in the case of Pietro Barcia, tried for killing the man who had slain his father in Italy, also disagreed. In this case only two men were for acquittal. Young Barcia had followed Francesco Cassatta from Italy in pursuit of his vendetta, and was proud of having fulfilled it. Both men will have to be tried again.

The Romany band of gypsies will crown a new queen in Topeka, Kan., on the 22d of May. It will be an unusual event in the United States, and members of the band from every State in the Union, and from foreign countries as well, will be present at the coronation. One thousand gypsies are expected at the ceremony. The young queen will reach her twentieth year May 22, and a law of the tribe prescribes that a sovereign must not be crowned before attaining that age. She is known as Molly Stanley, or, more properly, Molly Stackovitch, and her mother, the former queen, was Sofia Fryer, and for more than forty years reigned as the head of the Romany tribe in Austria. She died several years since. Father Belah Metrovitch, of Chicago, the only Romany priest in the United States, will perform the coronation ceremony, and Miss Minnie Youngs, also of Chicago, a cousin of the young queen, will have the honor of placing the crown on the head of the sovereign.

The marine sentry who gave Captain Sigsbee the first report of the disaster to the Maine is worthy of mention. His task was trifling, perhaps, but he did it with an American spirit of fidelity to his trust. Amid all the excitement, with explosions filling the air with noises that only partly drowned the shrieks of the wounded and dying men, with the ship blazing and filling with water, this marine calmly drew himself up to a salute as the commander of the vessel stumbled against him in the dark and made the formal report of the disaster in the briefest possible terms. This gallant fellow now makes light of his experience, saying that "any Yankee marine would do the same thing." He pays a high but not undeserved tribute to the trustworthiness of the men who go to sea in the American ships of war. The spirit that animates him is that which enabled the American navy in 1812-13 to sweep the Atlantic and gave to the young Republic the command of the seas and a high rank among the world's naval powers. The English papers were inclined to suggest that the disaster may have been due to negligence or lack of discipline on board the ship. The utter improbability of such a slanderous theory is indicated by this display of good order on the decks of the Maine in the first moments of the disaster, when all conditions were ripe for panic and demoralization.

CALLS FOR INTERVENTION.

The President Asks Congress for Power to Act at His Discretion

AND TO USE ARMY AND NAVY IF NECESSARY

To Terminate Hostilities in Cuba and Secure a Stable Government There—Arguments Are Advanced Against an Immediate Recognition.

Summary of the Message.

The president's message asks congress to authorize the president to take measures, at his discretion, to secure the termination of hostilities in Cuba and to secure the establishment of a stable government there, and to use the military and naval forces of the United States as may be necessary for those purposes.

The president says the only hope of relief from a condition which can be no longer endured is enforced pacification of the island.

The issue is now with congress, and he awaits its action, standing prepared to carry out every obligation imposed upon him by the constitution.

Spain's decree for a suspension of hostilities is submitted to congress for just and careful attention, with the observation that if the measure attains a successful result, "then our aspirations as a peace-loving people will be realized. If it fails it will be only another justification for our contemplated action."

The president opposes recognition of the present Cuban government.

The Maine incident figures prominently in the message. The president argues that the wreck of the Maine in Havana harbor shows that Spain is not able to guarantee security to foreign vessels.

Spain has disavowed any connection with that disaster and has offered to submit to arbitration all the differences which may arise from that affair.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The president today sent the following message to congress:

To the Congress of the United States:

Obedient to that precept of the constitution which commands the president to give from time to time the congress information of the state of the Union, and to recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient, it becomes my duty now to address your body with regard to the great crisis that has arisen in the relations of the United States to Spain by reason of the warfare that for more than three years has raged in the neighboring island of Cuba.

I do so because of the intimate connection of the Cuban question with the state of our Union and the grave relation the course which it is now incumbent upon the nation to adopt must needs bear to the traditional policy of our government, if it is to accord with the precepts laid down by the founders of the Republic and religiously observed by the succeeding administrations to the present day.

Spanish Methods Condemned.

The present revolution is but the successor of other similar insurrections which have occurred in Cuba against the dominion of Spain, extending over a period of nearly half a century, each of which, during its progress, has subjected the United States to great effort and expense in enforcing its neutrality laws, caused enormous losses to American trade and commerce, caused irritation, annoyance and disturbance among our citizens, and by the exercise of cruel, barbarous and uncivilized practices of warfare, shocked the sensibilities and offended the humane sympathies of our people. Since the present revolution began in February, 1895, this country has seen the fertile domain at our threshold ravaged by fire and sword in the course of a struggle unequalled in the history of the island and rarely paralleled as to the number of combatants and the bitterness of the contest by any revolution of modern times where a dependent people, striving to be free, have been opposed by the power of the sovereign state.

Devastation in Cuba.

Our people have beheld a once prosperous community reduced to comparative want, its lucrative commerce virtually paralized, its exceptional productiveness diminished, its fields laid waste, its mills in ruins, and its people perishing by tens of thousands from hunger and destitution. We have found ourselves constrained, in the observance of that strict neutrality which our laws enjoin and which the laws of nations command, to police our own waters and watch our own seaports to prevent any unlawful act in aid of the Cubans. Our trade has suffered; the capital invested by our citizens in Cuba has been largely lost, and the temper and forbearance of our people have been so sorely tried as to beget a perilous unrest among our own citizens, which has inevitably found its expression from time to time in the National legislature, so that issues wholly external to our own body politic engross attention and stand in the way of that close devotion to domestic advancement that becomes a self-contained commonwealth whose primal maxim has been the avoidance of all foreign entanglements.

All this must needs awaken and has indeed aroused the utmost concern on the part of the government, as well during my predecessor's term as in my own.

Mr. Cleveland's Effort.

In April, 1897, the evils from which our country suffered through the Cuban war became so onerous that my predecessor made an effort to bring about peace through the mediation of this government in any way that might tend to an honorable adjustment of the contest between Spain and her revolted colony, on the basis of some effective scheme of self-government for Cuba under the flag and sovereignty of Spain. It failed, through the refusal of the Spanish government then in power to consider any form of mediation, or, indeed, of any plan of settlement which did not begin with the actual submission of the insurgents to the mother country, and then only on such terms as Spain herself should see fit to grant. The war continued unabated.

The resistance of the insurgents was in nowise diminished. The efforts of Spain were increased by the dispatch of fresh levies to Cuba and by the addition to the horrors of the strife of a new and inhuman phase happily unprecedented in the modern history of civilized Christian people.

An Inhuman Policy.

The peasantry, including all dwellings in the open agricultural interior were driven into garrison towns or isolated places held by the trochas. The razing movement in the provinces of all kinds was inaugurated. Fields were laid waste, dwellings unroofed and fired, mills destroyed and in short everything that could desolate the land and render it unfit for human habitation or support was condemned by order of one of the contending parties and executed by all the power at their disposal.

By the time the present administration took effect—a year ago—reconcentration, so-called, had been made effective over Santa Clara, Matanzas, Havana and Pinar del Rio. The agricultural population to the estimated number of 300,000 or more was herded within the towns and their immediate vicinage; families deprived of support, rendered destitute of shelter, left poorly clad and exposed to the most unsanitary conditions. The scarcity of food increased with devastation of the populated areas, and the destitution and want became misery and starvation. Month by month the death rate increased in an alarming ratio.

By March, 1897, according to conservative estimates from official Spanish sources, the mortality among the reconcentrados from starvation and the diseases thereto incident exceeded 50 per cent.

The unfortunates, being for the most part women and children, with aged and helpless men, enfeebled by disease and hunger, could not have tilled the soil without tools, seed or shelter, for their own support or for the supply of the city. Reconcentration, adopted avowedly as a war measure, in order to cut off the resources of the insurgents, worked its predestined results.

The Military Situation.

Meanwhile the military situation in the island had undergone a noticeable change. The extraordinary activity that characterized the second year of the war, when the insurgents even evaded the hitherto unharmed fields of Pinar del Rio and carried havoc and destruction up to the walls of the city of Havana itself, had relapsed into a dogged struggle in the central and eastern provinces.

Spain's Many Promises.

In this state of affairs my administration found itself confronted with the grave problem of its duty.

The assassination of the Prime Minister, Canovas, led to a change of government in Spain. The former administration, pledged to subjugation without concession, gave place to that of a more liberal party, committed long in advance to a policy of reform involving the wider principle of home rule for Cuba and Puerto Rico.

The overtures of this government, made through its new envoy, General Woodford, and looking to an immediate and effective amelioration of the conditions of the island, although not accepted to the extent of admitted mediation in any shape, were met by assurances that home rule, in an advanced phase, would be forthwith offered to Cuba without waiting for the war to end, and that more humane methods should thenceforth prevail in the conduct of hostilities.

Measures of Relief.

The president then takes up the measures of relief adopted by the United States for the suffering Cubans, and in part says:

Nearly $200,000 in money and supplies have already reached the sufferers and more is forthcoming. The supplies are admitted free of duty and transportation to the interior has been arranged so that relief, at first necessarily confined to Havana and the larger cities, is now extended through most if not all the towns where suffering exists. Thousands of lives have already been saved.

The necessity for a change in the condition of the reconcentrados is recognized by the Spanish government. Within a few days the orders of Gen. Weyler have been revoked.

No End in Sight.

The war in Cuba is of such a nature that short of subjugation or extermination a final military victory for either side seems impracticable. The alternative lies in the physical exhaustion of the one or of the other party, or perhaps both—a condition which in effect ended the ten years' war by the truce of Zanjon. The prospect of such a protracted and conclusion of the present strife is a contingency hardly to be contemplated with equanimity by the civilized world, and least of all by the United States, affected and injured as we are, deeply and intimately by its very existence.

Proposals to Spain.

Realizing this, it appeared to be my duty, in a spirit of true friendliness, no less to Spain than to the Cubans, who have so much to lose by the prolongation of the struggle, to bring about an immediate termination of the war. To this end I submitted, on the 20th ult., propositions to the Spanish government looking to an armistice until October 1 for the negotiation of peace, with the good offices of the president. In addition, I asked the immediate revocation of the order of reconcentration, so as to permit the people to return to their farms and the needy to be relieved with provisions and supplies from the United States, co-operating with the Spanish authorities, so as to afford full relief.

The Reply from Madrid.

The reply of the Spanish cabinet was received on the night of the 31st ultimo. It offers, as the means to bring about peace in Cuba, to confide the preparation thereof to the insular parliament, inasmuch as the concurrence of that body would be necessary to reach a final result, it being, however, understood the powers reserved by the constitution to the central government are not lessened or diminished. The Cuban parliament does not meet until the 4th of May next.

End of His Effort.

The action of the Cuban parliament in the matter of "preparing" peace and the manner of its doing so are not explained in the Spanish memorandum. With this last overture in the direction of peach and its disappointing reception by Spain, the executive was brought to the end of his effort.

Precedents.

The president then refers to his annual message of December last in reference to untried measures to end hostilities on the ill-fated island, and reviews the situation in the light of President Grant's words uttered in 1875, when he reached the conclusion that the recognition of independence of Cuba was impracticable and indefensible; that recognition of belligerence was not warranted by the facts according to the tests of public law. The president then refers to Jackson's action in regard to Texas and says:

"Turning to the question of recognizing at this time the independence of the present insurgent government in Cuba, we find safe precedents in our history from an early day. They are well summed up in President Jackson's message to congress, December 21, 1836, on the subject of the recognition of the independence of Texas."

Against Recognition.

I said in my message of December last:

"It is to be seriously considered whether the Cuban insurrection possesses beyond dispute the attributes of statehood which alone can demand the recognition of belligerency in its favor."

The same requirement must certainly be no less seriously considered when the graver issue of recognizing independence is in question, for no less positive test can be applied to the greater act than the lesser; while on the other hand the influences and consequences of the struggle upon the internal policy of the recognizing state, which form important factors where the recognition of belligerency is concerned, are secondary, if not rightly, eliminatable factors when the real question is whether the community claiming recognition is or is not independent beyond peradventure.

Nor from the standpoint of experience do I think it would be wise or prudent for this government to recognize at the present time the independence of the so-called Cuban Republic. Such recognition is not necessary in order to enable the United States to intervene and pacify the island. To commit this country now to recognition of any particular government in Cuba might subject us to embarrassing conditions of international obligations towards the organization so recognized. In case of intervention our conduct would be subject to the approval or disapproval of such government. We would be required to submit to its direction and to assume to it the mere relation of a friendly ally. When it shall appear hereafter that there is within the island a government capable of performing the duties and discharging the functions of a separate nation, and having as a matter of fact the proper forms and attributes of nationality, such government can be promptly and readily recognized, and the relations and interests of the United States with such nation adjusted.

There remain the alternative forms of intervention to end the war, either as an impartial neutral, by imposing a rational compromise between the contestants, or as the active ally of the one party or the other.

As to the first, it is not to be forgotten that during the last few months the relation of the United States has been one of friendly intervention in many ways, not in each itself conclusive, but tending to the exertion of a potential influence toward an ultimate pacific result, just and honorable to all interests concerned. The spirit of all our acts hitherto has been an earnest, unselfish desire for peace and prosperity in Cuba, untarnished by differences between the United States and Spain, and unstained by the blood of American citizens.

Forcible Intervention.

The forcible intervention of the United States as a neutral to stop the war according to the large dictates of humanity and following many historical precedents where neighboring states have interfered to check the hopeless sacrifice of life by internecine conflicts beyond their borders is justifiable on rational grounds. It involves, however, hostile constraint upon both the parties to the contest, as well as to enforce a trust to guide the eventual sentiment.

The grounds for such intervention may be briefly summarized as follows:

First—In the case of humanity and to put and end to the barbarities, bloodshed, starvation and horrible miseries now existing there, and which the parties to the conflict are either unable or unwilling to stop or mitigate. It is no answer to say this is all in another country, belonging to another nation and is, therefore, none of our business. It is especially our duty, for it is right at our door.

Second—We owe it to our citizens in Cuba to afford them that protection and indemnity for life and property which no government there can or will afford, and to that end to terminate the conditions that deprive them of equal protection.

Third—The right to intervene may be justified by the very serious injury to commerce, trade and business of our people and by the wanton destruction of property and devastation of the island.

Fourth—And which is of the most importance for the present consideration of affairs in Cuba, is a constant menace to our peace, and entails upon the government enormous expense. With such a conflict waged for years in an island so near us, and with which our people have such trade and business relations; when the lives and liberty of our citizens are in constant danger, and their property destroyed and themselves ruined; when our trading vessels are liable to search and are seized at our very doors by warships of a foreign nation; the expeditions of filibustering that we are powerless to repress altogether, and the irritating questions and entanglements thus arising—all these, and others that I need not mention, with the resulting strained relations, are a constant menace to our peace, and compel us to keep on a semi-war footing with a nation with which we are at peace.

The Maine Affair.

Those elements of danger and disorder already pointed out have been strikingly illustrated by a tragic event which has deeply, painfully moved the American people. I have already transmitted to congress the report of the naval court of inquiry on the destructive of the battleship Maine in the harbor of Havana during the night of February 15.

The destruction of that noble vessel has filled the national heart with inexpressible horror. The Naval Court of Inquiry was unanimous in its conclusion that the destruction of the Maine was caused by an exterior explosion, that of a submarine mine. It did not assume to place the responsibility. That remains to be fixed. In any event the destruction of the Maine by whatever exterior force is a patent and impressive proof of a state of things in Cuba that is intolerable. That condition is thus shown to be such that the Spanish government cannot assure safety and security to a vessel of the American navy in the harbor of Havana on a mission of peace and rightfully there.

The president again refers to words of President Grant, in 1875, and to the warning to Spain by President Cleveland that the time would soon come when our obligations to the sovereignty of Spain in Cuba would be superseded by the right of intervention.

The War Must Stop.

The long trial has proved that the object for which Spain has waged the war cannot be attained. The fire of insurrection may flame or may smoulder with varying success, but it has not been and it is plain that it cannot be extinguished by present methods. The only hope of relief and repose from a condition which cannot longer be endured is the enforced pacification of Cuba. In the name of humanity, in the name of civilization, in behalf of endangered American interests, which give us the right and duty to speak and to act, the war in Cuba must stop.

Wants Discretionary Power.

In view of these facts and of the considerations, I ask congress to authorize and empower the President to take measures to secure a full and final termination of hostilities between the Government of Spain and the people of Cuba, and to secure in the island the establishment of a stable government, capable of maintaining order and observing its international obligations, insuring peace and tranquility and the security of its citizens, as well as our own, and to use the military and naval forces of the United States as may be necessary for these purposes.

Appropriation for Relief.

And in the interest of humanity and to aid in preserving the lives of the starving people of the island, I recommend that the distribution of food and supplies be continued, and that an appropriation be made out of the public treasury to supplement the charity of our citizens. The issue is now with the congress. It is a solemn responsibility. I have exhausted every effort to relieve the intolerable condition of affairs which is at our doors. Prepared to execute every obligation imposed upon me by the constitution and the law, I await your action.

The Armistice Decree.

Yesterday, and since the preparation of the foregoing message, official information was received by me that the latest decree of the queen regent of Spain directs Gen. Blanco, in order to prepare and facilitate peace, to proclaim a suspension of hostilities, the duration and details of which have not yet been communicated to me. This fact, with every other pertinent consideration will, I am sure, have your just and careful attention in the solemn deliberation upon which you are about to enter.

If this measure attains a successful result, then our aspiratoins as Christian, peace-loving people will be realized. If it fails, it will only be another justification for our contemplated action.

Havana seemed dazed when the people found that General Lee was really going, and that all the Americans were going with him. Not to see the United States flag floating from the staff struck many residents as little [illegible] less than a calamity.

The fact that Mr. Gollan, the British consul, called with General Lee on Captain General Blanco also puzzled many, some believing this meant an English alliance had been settled. The truth is that the Havana newspapers have been under such close surveillance for months, have been made to publish so many untruths, and have printed so many tales of the United States backing down at the demand of Germany, Italy, Austria and Russia, that the residents take no stock whatever in anything published. Consequently when they saw the Americans leaving, despite the statements of the papers that they had no intention of going, the people believed a crisis at hand.

All arrived at Key West Sunday in a state of wreck. Everybody was sick. After brief reception, General Lee went on board the Olivette, which had been kept waiting, and sailed for Tampa at noon. He will go direct to Washington. Nineteen refugees were landed from the Bache and one hundred from the Evelyn.

SATURDAY'S PRIMARIES.

Results So Far as Returns Are In—Warm Time in Calhoun County.

In the democratic primary election held over the state Saturday there was much interest. In some counties the vote was light, while in others the fight was red hot. The following is a size-up of the situation, so far as heard from:

At Blocton, J. C. Jones ran ahead for probate judge and James Oakley for clerk. C. C. Collier was the favorite for representative and J. G. Moore for superintendent of education. Thos. H. McClellan was endorsed for chief justice, and Chancellor W. H. Tayloe was endorsed, as was Solicitor W. W. Quarles.

In Hale county, Charles E. Waller and Hon. A. M. Tunstall are overwhelmingly elected for the house of representatives. W. C. Christian was elected probate judge. T. W. Coleman for chief justice and Thomas E. Knight for chancellor have certainly carried the county.

Smith won for probate judge and Harwood for representative in Greene county. Coleman for chief justice carried the county.

In Montgomery delegates were named in the interest of Judge Tyson for Associate Justice of the Supreme court. McClellan was the favorite for Chief justice.

Madison county named Humes for State Senator, Liles and Taliaferro for Representatives.

Reports from Gadsden, Attalla, Walnut Grove, Ball Play, Hoke's Bluff and Rock Springs beats indicate that the democratic delegates are instructed pretty evenly between Major Herzberg and J. H. Lovejoy for Probate Judge of Etowah county.

A report from Anniston says: Calhoun county has instructed for John W. Abercrombie, for State Superintendent of Education, and the Anniston beat favors Coleman for Chief Justice. Anniston's thirty-six delegates to the county convention are instructed for Mayor Hight for Probate Judge. The Jacksonville delegation favors Judge E. F. Crook, but is instructed to withdraw from the convention if that body seeks to name candidates for county offices.

Shepperd for probate judge, Little for clerk, Hargrove for superintendent of education, won out in Walker county, it seems. Lacy was named for representative.

One of the Sumter representatives will be W. H. Seyman. The other is in doubt. W. R. DeLoach wins for probate judge. The race for clerk is in doubt. Coleman may be endorsed for chief justice.

W. E. Skeggs seems to have won for probate judge in Morgan, with J. S. Morrow for clerk. Representative is still in doubt. McClellan is the favorite for chief justice.

A red-hot fight for probate judge in Lowndes makes the returns unreliable.

Indications from Conecuh county show that McClellan will be the choice for chief justice, and Tyson for associate.

Lee endorsed McClellan for chief justice.

Coleman carried Mobile county for chief justice.

In Talladega beat meetings were held in the eighteen beats of the county. Hon. J. E. Camp had no opposition for probate judge. J. A. Huey for circuit clerk against M. G. McCargo claims seventy-six delegates to the county convention out of the 118 for the entire county.

The full delegation from Perry will be for McClellan for chief justice.

Autauga county elects Livingston, a pronounced free coinage and Johnston man, for probate judge. He carried every beat in the county but four.

The free coinage democrats swept Bullock county. The delegates will be instructed for McClellan for chief justice.

Horton carried Hale county by 148 votes. Owens was elected clerk. Tunstall representative, and Christian for probate judge.

The Talladega county democratic convention will endorse J. M. Thornton for commissioner of agriculture, and also present his name to the state convention on April 20.

Tallapoosa county has gone for McClellan for chief justice, both the free silver and gold standard men endorsing him.

The returns from Morgan county shows the following nominations: For representatives, Hon. O. Kyle, Prof. D. F. Green; probate judge, Wm. E. Skeggs; superintendent of education, Prof. E. L. Hays; clerk of the circuit court, James R. Fowler; commissioner first district, Walter E. Todd; commissioner fourth district, James H. Harrison. Kyle will be a candidate for speaker of the house.

The democrats of St. Clair, in a convention at Broken Arrow, selected J. P. Woodall, E. J. Robinson, J. M. Mise, J. D. Fross, T. M. Jones, S. E. Farmen, Judge Joseph T. Green, J. T. Hodges, G. B. Foreman.

Patriotic Words From Wheeler.

The governor has received a patriotic letter from Gen. Wheeler, containing a suggestion that is of peculiar interest to the people of the gulf coast. In his letter he says:

"It looks very much as though we would now become involved in war with Spain, and it would not surprise me for the president to call for volunteers in a very short time. I am convinced that the only men who could most safely go to Cuba at this time, would be those from the gulf coast, and I have so stated to the secretary of war. I feel it the duty of every man who has had experience in military affairs, to tender any services you may direct."

DESPITE THE WAR SCARE

Business Continues to Show Activity All Along the Line.

STATE OF BUSINESS NOT EASY TO JUDGE.

Wheat Outgo Continues and the Exports of Cotton is Considered Extraordinary—Iron and Steel Industry Shows Demand Greater Than Ever.

R. G. Dun & Co's weekly review of trade says:

When everybody is asking whether it is to be war or peace, the state of business is not easy to judge. Since nobody can judge just how wise bankers may be in an emergency, there is some uncertainty, but thus far scarcely any stoppage whatever of manufacturing concerns appears nor any indications that the producing force is likely to be diminished, nor is any such symptoms to be seen in business reports. Evidence of existing conditions is not confusing or favorable. So far banking conservatism has not caused failures, which continue smaller than for many years, nor has it caused stoppage of any manufacturing concerns, nor lessened the volume of business reported by railroads in tonnage or clearings at the principal points.

The wheat outgo counts for much, and continues, Atlantic exports having been 2,241,217 for the week, against 1,521,122 last year, and corn exports were 3,483,650 bushels, against 3,323,287 last year. The price rose steadily and closed 2 cents higher for wheat, with corn 1 cent higher.

The exports of cotton are extraordinary, though just now deferred by the caution which causes larger shipments to New York, instead of outside from gulf ports. For four weeks it has averaged nearly $2,500,000 per week, lower than in 1895, from the largest crop ever grown, in spite of many reports of decreased production. In such conditions heavy industrial demands for a great force of operatives have been effective. The truth is that every industry meets enormous overproduction compared with corresponding demands in any other year, however prosperous, and yet nearly all are keeping almost their whole force employed and some are increasing their force. In one branch of woolen manufactures, two carpet mills have stopped, others are about to stop, as it is between seasons, but much complaint of cancellation causes lower prices. Sales of the week are insignificant, and prices have declined two cents for finer grades and over one cent in the average for all qualities.

In the iron and steel industry, with demands greater than ever before from general sources, urgent orders from the government enlarge work, but do not advance prices. Disasters in trade shown this week by separate branches of the business for the month of March and for the first quarter of 1898 make the best report that has been possible for five years. It is interesting to note that nearly all branches of business show surprising movement. Meanwhile banks are extremely cautious and commercial loans are but 10 per cent of their aggregate. The belief that quick expansion in all branches would follow greater liberality and patriotism by the banks is not wholly unfounded, and the heavy receipts of gold from Europe counts for little compared with the greater or less liability in loans by banks.

CLEARED FOR ACTION.

The Flying Squadron is Complete and Only Awaiting the Word.

The flying squadron at Fort Monroe is ready for action and complete in all details except the possible addition of a dispatch boat and a hospital boat. The battleship Texas has arrived which practically complete the squadron. "The Texas," said Captain Philips to the Associated Press representative, "is ready for sea at a hour's notice and ready to fight and, all rumors to the contrary, I believe she will show herself to be the worthiest ship in the ocean." The improvement to the tarrets of the Texas allows her 12-inch guns to be fired once in every three minutes instead of formerly only once in every eight minutes. All of the ships are practically cleared for action.

TO MOBILIZE MEN.

General Graham Looking for an Available Point.

General William M. Graham, commander of the department of the gulf, located at Atlanta, has visited two localities adjacent with a view of recommending the best available place for a mobilization point. He held a conference with Mayor Collier and other prominent citizens of Atlanta looking to the question of water supply. Gen. Graham says he now has his data in such shape that he will wire his recommendation to Washington immediately.

Ward Line Steamers Withdrawn.

R. A. C. Smith, of the Ward Line steamship company, returned to New York from Washington and stated that all the Ward Line steamers have been withdrawn from service. None of their steamers will go into Cuban ports again until the Spanish-Cuban situation has been settled.

"Thou Shalt Not Steal."

Rev. Dr. S. C. Swallow, of Harrisburg, Pa., has accepted the independent nomination for governor on the platform "Thou shalt not steal."

SPAIN GRANTS AN ARMISTICE.

Looked Upon as a Ruse to Gain Time. Has No Effect on the Message.

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington Sunday night says: The Spanish government, through its minister at Washington, Senor Bernabe, tonight delivered an important official document to the state department stating that the armistice which the queen regent of Spain had commanded General Blanco to proclaim Sunday night was without conditions, that her majesty's government had granted the liberal institutions to the island of Cuba which the coming Cuban parliament would develop; recalling the condolence and sympathy expressed by the queen regent and her government on the disaster of the Maine and the horror this disaster had occasioned in Spanish hearts, and appealing to the courtesy and sense of justice of the United states government to enlighten public opinion upon the attitude of Spain. The note also repeats the offer of the Spanish government to submit the Maine question to experts designated by the maritime powers of the world.

Although the Spanish note was surrounded with the usual secrecy of official negotiations, the following summary of its contents was secured:

"First. Her majesty, the queen regent of Spain, desirious of ending the troubles which are desolating Cuba, has commanded a suspension of hostilities. Gen. Blanco has been ordered to proclaim today an armistice without conditions. He will determine later the duration and details of this armistice, so as to carry out the generous intentions of her majesty and the wishes of the friends of peace.

"Second. Her majesty's government has granted to the island of Cuba instructions as liberal as those enjoyed by Canada under the British flag. The Cuban chambers will meet on the fourth of next May. It will be their duty and privilege to put into practice and develop these institutions. In addition to this Cuba is represented in the parliament at Madrid.

Third. Public opinion in this country appears to ignore the fact that the loss of the Maine was immediately followed by official and reiterated expressions of condolence from her majesty's, the queen's, government, from her charge d'affairs in Washington, and from the authorities in Havana; all of which tended to affirm the horrors which this disaster has caused to arise in Spanish hearts, as also the sympathy felt for the United States government and navy, and for the American nation.

"The Spanish minister feels confident that he can count upon the courtesy and sense of justice of the United States government to enlighten public opinion upon this subject.

"Fourth. As to the cause of this lamentable disaster, it resolves itself into a question of facts which can only be settled by martial proofs. The Spanish minister reiterates the assurance that his government is ready to submit the question to experts designated by the maratime powers, whose conclusions are in advance accepted."

A cabinet meeting was held after the note was presented to the president. It is said that the note will not alter the president's message on the situation.

THE CUBAN BONDS.

Guerrera Says Only $100,000 Worth Have Been Sold.

Deputy Treasurer Benjamin Guerrera of the Cuban republic was before the senate committee on foreign relations Friday. He said that only about $100,000 of Cuban bonds had been sold, and that the bonds were not on the market at all for general sale. The bonds brought about 40 cents on the dollar. He said the expenses of the war were paid by private subscriptions and by the returns from the taxation of the property in the portion of the island controlled by the insurgents. Not less than $400,000, he said, had been collected by taxation. The insurgent army generally secured its supplies from the country, and all the soldiers, both officers and men, were serving without compensation.

Mr. Guerrera was asked about the Spanish-Cuban bonds issued against the revenues of the island. He replied that he did not know their amount, which report placed as $400,000,000, but that they were the accumulation of year's of deficit. Many of them had, he said, been issued to pay the cost of putting down the rebellion in Cuba.

Paragraphs Got Mixed.

It was an Irish newspaper, according to Macmillan's Magazine, that once published this highly defamatory paragraph: "Dr. F. has been appointed resident medical officer to the Mater Misericordia hospital. Orders have been issued by the cemetery committee for the immediate extension of Glasnevin cemetery. The works are being executed with the utmost dispatch." It is perhaps unnecessary to explain that two paragraphs about quite different matters had got "mixed."

Reception Will be Given Lee

The Confederate veterans will give Gen. Lee a great ovation on his arrival in Washington. Gen. Fleming, president of the association, has telegraphed Lee that he will be given the greatest reception ever given to any man in that city. In the opinion of many, it will be the launching of Gen. Lee's presidential boom. He is to be given a state dinner at the White House about next Thursday evening.

Regulars Concentrating at Chickamauga

Two thousand four hundred United States regulars, stationed in Arizona and Northwest Texas, are en route to Chickamauga Park, near Chattanooga.

RED HOT EDITORIALS.

An Editorial Page That Is Unique Among the Great Daily Papers of This Press Subsidizing Era—Talks That Tell.

The following are editorials from recent issues of the New York Daily Journal, with an alleged circulation of half a million. They would be quite appropriate in the editorial page of any country Populist paper, but there is no other metropolitan daily in which they could ever by any possibility be found. Read the following:

The men of Pennsylvania who shot a lot of workingmen in the back have been declared innocent of any wrong doing. The cowardly hired newspapers that have not dared all through the trial to speak in defence of the killers now come out bravely and cheer the verdict. These newspapers are well paid, but they do their employers a sorry service.

The Lattimer free killing bee must be paid for in this country. It will be paid for by men such as those who hire the venal newspapers of New York. The man who knows that he can be safely murdered is not a pleasant man to deal with when trouble comes.

The gentlemen in Fifth avenue who have built high steel railings around their houses know how foolish it is to make workmen feel the hoplessness of an appeal to law against money.

But these men with the steel railings misunderstand the American workingman's idea. No railings are needed, unless they can be put around the ballot box. That particular institution will avenge the Lattimer murders.

The judge who set free without bail a body of men indicted for murder will learn, before he goes under ground to sicken all decent worms, that he has hurt the pocket-books that he tried to serve.—New York Journal.

The average British review is as insular as a St. Giles cockney and as ponderous as a witticism in Punch, but while the current Fortnightly is not without these characteristics it almost pays to plod through it in order to reach the instructively frank explanation by one writer of the way in which England really subjugates the world. He is discussing the problem of financing the proposed Chinese loan and the danger that it may be taken by a Franco-Russian syndicate.

"It is clear," says the contributor, who, by the way, is one of the best equipped English writers on international relations, "that if our immense interests in China are to be adequately protected we must not allow the empire to be the exclusive vassal of any foreign power or group of powers, and this is what must occur in a thinly disguised form if we abstain from competing with the state-guaranteed loan-mongering of Russia and France at Pekin. * * * We can safely and even profitably lend the money without rendering an increase of the burdens on trade necessary, and since the loan would be calculated to strengthen our interests at Pekin, and thus advance our interests in the far East, it was manifestly our duty to undertake it."

The debtor is the abject vassal the world over. Man or nation, it is the same; he who owes the debt is the serf of its holder. Interest has added almost as much territory to the British empire as was ever won by the British sword. Egypt is the "exclusive vassal" of Britain, because Egypt fell into the hands of Lombard street money lenders. China will go the same way, unless her rulers make the unimportant choice of preferring the Rothschilds that dominate French finance to the branch of the same family which rules Lombard street.

By the way, how great a proportion of United States bonds, national, state or corporation, are held in England? And how far is discernible the purpose of Great Britain to use her rights as a creditor to strengthen her influence at Washington, as she hopes to at Pekin, to control our currency system and to dominate our politics?—New York Journal.

Workingmen, in thinking of the Lattimer murders, never to be officially avenged, need not feel that the lives of the murdered men were entirely wasted. It is true that justice has been outraged and that a certain score some day to be wiped out is a little bigger than it was. But some good has been done. It is not likely that such a killing will occur again for many days. It is probable that the next coward armed with a repeating rifle will hesitate, fearing that murderer No. 2 may not fare as well as No. 1. Public opinion has crystallized about this Pennsylvania murder affair. Murder on a cash basis will probably receive a set-back, despite the verdict.

Of course, no such verdict could have been rendered in England or in France, where the rights of ordinary men are now recognized. They were not recognized in France at one time. But the most ordinary kind of men got a sort of habit of cutting off heads indiscriminately, and as it turned out that the heads belonged to persons of high degree, the memory of that affair has stuck.

In England the ordinary British person has reminded the powers so often of his presence, sometimes by cutting off a king's head, sometimes in other playful ways, that he is considered quite a serious quantity. The American locomotive engineers, at their last strike, managed to make it clear that they are not to be trifled with; the men of Pittsburg made themselves felt, and incidentally defeated a Republican candidate for the presidency. These are indications that the American ordinary man is gradually establishing himself as an animal with rights. The progress is slow, but it is sure.

Constant use of the ballot, with something more drastic on occasions when hired Pinkertons appear to shoot, is bound in the long run to frighten even the Carnegies who hire the Pinkertons and then run away to Europe.—New York Journal.

Lord Salisbury got, in the London City Council election recently, a response to the direful warnings which he uttered last November anent the awful consequences of popular government in New York. The whole power of the Tory Ministry, backed by the landlorders and bondholders and the titled nobs and snobs of the West End, was exerted to get control of the council with a view to carrying out the Salisbury scheme of depriving the people of London of the measure of home rule that they have succeeded in getting. The scheme was further supported by the monopolies which not only control the transit system of London, such as it is, and the gas supply, but even purvey water for the inhabitants of most of the British metropolis.

The efforts of officialdom and swelldom were especially directed against the labor candidates and the "Socialist" candidates for the governing body in which alone the popular power is exerted. Of course, "Socialist" was exploited as a term of opprobrium freighted with grave menace to good order, but it really applied to men who seek to have the public interests controlled by public agencies for the public benefit, instead of by private monopolies for private profit.

The result of all the scheming and manipulation of Salisbury and Chamberlain, who carried national politics into municipal affairs with all their might, and of the vigorous and skillful electioneering of landlords and property owners, which included some enticing blandishments of "noble ladies," there was a notable triumph of the radicals and progressives. More labor men and "Socialists" were returned than before, and those against whom the sharpest fight was made had increased majorities.

This is simply another step toward a government of London by its people instead of by the occupants of its palatial mansions and the holders of places in the imperial service. It means gradual progress toward a home rule in which those who toil and live in the metropolis all the year, and not those who pass the "season" and collect their rents and their interest and annuities there, shall control the administration of affairs. It works toward a government in which the people and their rights and interests, and not property, will be the chief object of public care. The Tory effort to stem this progressive movement, with all the power at the command of the Imperial Cabinet, suffered a signal defeat.—New York Journal.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

Striking Facts Regarding Two Systems of Railway Ownership.

The unusually heavy surplus of the Prussian railroads this year has attracted attention. The railroads of Prussia, as is well known, are owned and operated by the state. The Twentieth Century says the rate of transportation is about one-third the rate in this country for both passenger traffic and freight, but the annual profits have been very large, notwithstanding the great sums expended on the road bed and the rolling stock. It is customary to disparage the service in Prussia, but every traveler knows that the service is far superior to the service in this country. Class for class, the advantage is decidedly on the side of the state-owned railways of Prussia. This is a matter that can be very easily demonstrated, for there are in this country thousands of Germans who pay regular visits to the fatherland. The testimony of these men on the subject, wherever available, would show that the last five or ten years have resulted in epochmaking strides in Prussian railroading until to-day the service stands second to none. In spite of steady reductions in rates and lavish expenditures in improvements, the surplus has steadily risen. These surplus earnings have gone for military purposes but this year there is an excess over the needs of the army.

We are often told of the tremendous burden the poor Germans are forced to bear in the expense of the huge standing army. The burden of army expenditures in Prussia at least, is borne by the railway system. Now the railway system of Prussia costs the Prussians much less than the New York Central Railroad costs the people of New York. The profits of the Prussian railroads support the army and the profits of the Vanderbilt railroads support the Vanderbilts. But the Vanderbilts exact a great deal more from the New Yorkers than the Prussian army exacts from the Prussians. That is to say, it would be money in the pockets of the people of New York to take the Prussian army and the Prussian railroads and give away the Vanderbilts and the Vanderbilt railroads. The statistics on the subject may be studied at length in the Prussian Jahresberichte and the reports of the New York Railroad Commission. It is facts like these which make the conventional talk about the "freedom" and "opportunities" of the American people so discouraging in its humbug. One does not wonder at the talk because the corporations pay the newspapers to purvey it, but one does wonder that even the guileless and simple minded American countryman can swallow it.

Once Upon a Time.

"I am for the largest use of silver in the currency of the country. I would not dishonor it. I would give it credit and honor with gold. I would make no discrimination. I would utilize both metals as money, and discredit neither. I want the double standard."—President McKinley, in 1890.

THE Chilton delegation to the Democratic State convention which meets next Wednesday at Montgomery will doubtless go energetically to work to secure the nomination of our Chilton county candidate, Prof. E. Y. McMorries, as State Superintendent of Education. Chilton is proud of its distinguished educator, and if we are to have another Democratic administration we hope to see Prof. McMorries inducted in the office to which his merits fully entitle him.

RUMORS are about that there is a determination on the part of some Populists not to participate in the primary on April 29. We hope there is no foundation for the rumor. So long as we live under party government there are several obligations due the party—one of the most important of which is that the members of the party should, by their votes, uphold and strengthen it. By abstaining from voting at the primary, Populists only encourage the opposition, and retard the progress of the party to which they look for relief. Let every Populist in Chilton do his duty and vote at the primary.

PRESIDENT McKinley's long expected message to Congress has proved disappointing, inasmuch as it leaves everything in an unsatisfactory state. 'Tis true he says the war in Cuba must stop, and asks Congress to give him power to stop it, but he does not say in what manner he proposes to stop it.

If he is disposed to give Cuba freedom from Spain, well and good; but if his purpose is to force some sham sort of autonomy it will not meet with support from the American people. The indications are that Congress will be too strong for the President and that war is inevitable.

Congress itself seems to be getting in a belligerent mood, yesterday there was a fight on the floor of the House between a Democrat and a Republican.

A FEW weeks ago THE BANNER suggested that, the present depot at Clanton being in a dilapidated condition, if a petition for a new depot was presented to the railroad company, the L. & N., with its accustomed liberality and public spirit, would recognize the fact that a new depot was needed. The suggestion was taken up by our leading merchants, headed by Mr. W. H. Sartor, and a petition was unanimously signed and presented to the Company. On Monday the division Superintendent, Mr. Newbold, and other officials came and made an investigation, and we understand they came to the conclusion Clanton was deserving of a much better depot than we now have, and will so report to the Company. Complaints as to the inadequate accommodations at the depot can now cease as doubtless at the earliest opportunity the Company will put th. work in hand.

WE have received the following communication from our highly esteemed friend, Mr. D. N. Riggins, and are pleased that it gives us the opportunity to further explain our position in the matter of correspondence. One thing about it we heartily commend, it is short and to the point. That explains the situation.

Thorsby, Ala., April 11, 1898
Editor BANNER. Please say to the people that you failed to publish my letter in full, a part of which appeared in your last issue, and oblige. D. N. RIGGINS.

Now, if every one of our correspondents had signed the above letter it would have been no more than their right, each and everyone could have made the same complaint. It is in no sense disrepect to our correspondents that we are sometimes compelled to cut their communications shorter. We refer Mr. Riggins and other correspondents to the columns of this issue. They will find we have gone to the utmost limit to find space for their letters, and to give everyone a fair show we have had to cut everyone of them. We think this meets the views of all interested. The several candidates have each their friends, but we do not believe any one of them wishes by sending in a lengthy communication to crowd out another. In addition to the letters we publish this week we have now on our desk a number which we have been unable to reach at all and we apologize to the writers for this mischance.

L. H. REYNOLDS.

The announcement of Mr. L. H. Reynolds as a candidate for re-election to the General Assembly will, we think, be hailed with satisfaction by the Populists of Chilton. The work before the Populist members of the house in the next Legislature will probably be of such a nature that one conversant with the proceedure there will be in a better position to accomplish more for the people than a new man would be. Mr. Reynolds' general qualification are well known to the people of Chilton county, and we will merely mention that as their representative in the last Legislature he acquitted himself to the thorough satisfaction of all good Populists. He introduced the bill raising the age of consent from 10 to 16 years, and this same bill was passed with an amendnent from 16 to 14 years. In all other measures he acted with the Populist party and to the best interests of the people. If elected we feel confident he can be relied upon to pursue the same cousre in the future he has in the past.

ROBT. J. EILAND.

Another of Chilton's ambitious young men this week announces his candidacy as Superintendent of Education. Mr. Robt. J. Eiland was born near Coopers, and was raised and educated in this county, and for sometime past has been one of our school teachers. He is an old Alliancemen as well as a Populist who has always voted with the party. At the request of a number of friends he submits his claims for the first time to the Populists of Chilton and asks them to nominate him County Superintendent of Education. As an educator himself, he is familiar with the educational needs of the county, and if elected will doubtless use his utmost endeavors to promote the cause of education.

A Clever Trick.

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can try it who has Lame Back and Weak Kidneys, Malaria or nervous troubles. We mean he can use himself right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to the Liver and Kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures Constipation, Headache, Fainting Spells, Sleeplessness and Melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at all Drug Stores.

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., April 13, 1893

Among the most interesting features, of the war flurry, to the reformer, are plans proposed by Cabinet members and other dignitaries for raising war funds. Men who profit by such issues, always advocate bonds, in season and out of season; so we have already been assured of $100,000,000 3 per cent short term bonds, with every possibility of the sum being raised to $500,000,000. An increased tax is suggested on tea, coffee, beer and tobacco. One dollar per barrel on beer alone would add, it is estimated, over $40,000,000 to the revenues. At a recent consultation as to ways and means of raising war funds where most of the cabinet and nine Senators (Republicans or Gold Democrats) were present, some intrepid member ventured to suggest that an income tax would be the most simple and speedy method, but was promptly silenced with the assurance that taxing wealth was "unconstitutional."

Notwithstanding the fact that S Hanna has been most vociferous in his cries for peace he has cast an anchor to windward by securing an enormous coal contract from Uncle Sam, although his bid was $1 higher than all others.

Congress has again allowed $30,000,000 to pay the railroads for carrying the mails, although the veriest tyro now knows that the job could be done for one-third that sum and a neat profit secured. Just as long as the post office commission is composed of special agents for the railroads such disgraceful steals will be perpetrated.

The most marked activity is seen among gold Democrats, and unless foiled in their plans they will secure many places in the next congress and may even gain a strong foothold in the Democratic party.

Another farce equal to that recently perpetrated under the name of a trial of Sheriff Martin and his deputies is assured, if the bribery charges made against Hanna, in the last Ohio election, are sustained. The details of the case are all obtained and indisputably true, but the committee refuse almost to a man to sign them. It is understood that S Mark has lost no sleep in regard to the matter.

The Democrats and Populists of Milwaukee having made municipal ownership their main plank, carried that city at the recent municipal election by an overwhelming majority.

The fusion ticket in Lincoln, Neb., at the late election cut down the Republican majority from 15,000 to 300.

It is announced that Governor Leedy of Kansas has abandoned the proposed extra session of the legislature to be called with the view of improving the railroad laws.

Five thousand union carpenters are out on a strike in Chicago on a demand for an 8 hour day at 37½ cents per hour.

The railroads in Michigan have placed a boycott on all papers that print anything favorable to Pingree. No passes, no usual favors for the papers that print anything he says.

The New Jersey Legislature has reduced the Governor's sslary from $10,000 to $7,500, and passed a bill authorizing municipalities to sell franchises to the highest bidder.

In Oregon the Populists, Democrats and Silver Republicans have agreed on a state and congressional ticket. The Populists get Governor, Attorney General, State Printer and State Superintendent; the Democrats, one Congressman and Judge of the Supreme court, and the Silver Republicans one Congressman and Secretary of State.

Senator Allen of Nebraska last week wired the governor as follows: "Hon. Silas A. Holcomb, Lincoln, Neb.—Tender all State troops without delay. In the event of war with Spain I desire through you to place my services at the disposal of the State to serve the country in such capacity as you may assign me in defense of the national honor and for Cuban liberty. What is Scott's Emulsion?

It is a strengthening food and tonic, remarkable in its flesh-forming properties. It contains Cod-Liver Oil emulsified or partially digested, combined with the well-known and highly prized Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, so that their potency is materially increased.

What Will It Do?

It will arrest loss of flesh and restore to a normal condition the infant, the child and the adult. It will enrich the blood of the anemic; will stop the cough, heal the irritation of the throat and lungs, and cure incipient consumption. We make this statement because the experience of twenty-five years has proven it in tens of thousands of cases. Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine, you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail, upon receipt of three two-cent stamps to cover cost of postage on the bottle. Mention The Banner and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Jemison.

The friends and relatives of Mr. Agrippa Atkinson of Trussville Ala. were grieved to hear of his sad death which occured at his home in that place Sunday March 27. Mr. Atkinson was sick of typhoid fever only twelve days. Death, that great destroyer, entered their home again, and claimed for the victim Mrs. Lizzie Atkinson, his wife. Mrs. Atkinson was sick when her husband died and only lingered a few days until she too departed this life. Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson leave two sons to mourn their loss. Mr. Atkinson was formerly of this place but moved to Trussville about 20 years ago where he has since resided. Mr. A. J. Atkinson and daughter, Miss Leila, attended the burial of Mr. Atkinson.

Valuable to Women.

Especially valuable to women is Browns' Iron Bitters. Backache vanishes, headache disappears, strength takes the place of weakness, and the glow of health readily comes to the pallid cheek when this wonderful remedy is taken. For sickly children overworked men it has no equal. Sold by druggists. Use without this famous tonic. Genuine Brown's Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

Cures a Prominent Attorney

M. E. C. PHELPS, the leading pension attorney of Belfast, N. Y., writes: "I was discharged from the army on account of ill health, and suffered from heart trouble ever since. I frequently had fainting and smothering spells. My form was bent as a man of 80. I constantly wore an overcoat, even in summer, for fear of taking cold. I could not attend to my business. My rest was broken by severe pains about the heart and left shoulder. Three years ago I commenced using Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, notwithstanding I had used so much medicine and taken drugs from doctors for years without being helped. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure restored me to health. It is truly a wonderful medicine and it affords me much pleasure to recommend this remedy to everyone."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee; first bottle benefits or money returned. Book on diseases of the heart and testimonials free. Address

The Warship "Dixie."

They've named a cruiser "Dixie"—that's what the papers say—
An' I hears they're goin' ter man her with the boys that wore the gray;
Good news! It sorter thrills me, an' makes me want ter be What ter han' is payin' "Dixie," an' the "Dixie" puts 'ter sea!

They've named a cruiser "Dixie." An' lobsters, I'll be bound You're goin' ter see some fightin' when the "Dixie" swings eroun'!
Ef any o' them Spanish snips shall strike her, east or west,
Jest ot the han' play "Dixie," an' the boys'll do the rest!

I want ter see that "Dixie"—I want ter take my stan'
On the deck of her, an' holler: "Three cheers fer Dixie lan'!"
She means we're all united—the war hurts healed away,
An' "Way Down South in Dixie" is nationai today!

I bet you, she's a good 'un! I'd stake my last red cent
Thar ain't no better timber in the whole blame settlement!
An' all their shiny battleships besides that ship are tame,
Fer, when it comes to "Dixie," thar's somethin' in the name!

Here's three cheers an' a tiger—as hearty as kin be;
An' let the ban' play "Dixie" when the "Dixie puts to sea!
She'll make her way and win the day from shinin' east to west.—
Jest let the ban' play "Dixie," an' the boys'll do the rest!

POWERS ASK FOR PEACE.

Representatives of Six Foreign Nations Appeal to the President.

EXPRESS HOPE FOR FURTHER NEGOTIATIONS

Both Notes Were Mild—McKinley Makes Pointed Reply and Hoped the Powers Would Appreciate Our Efforts to Emancipate People of Cuba.

WASHINGTON (Special).—The representatives of the six powers of Europe seeking to avert war between Spain and the United States, called on President McKinley at noon Thursday. The governments of Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria, Russia and Italy were represented. Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador, was the first to arrive, followed by Ambassador Von Hollonben, of Germany. Within a few minutes all the ambassadors had been ushered into the blue room, and President McKinley immediately left his office and went down to meet them. Sir Julian Pauncefote, as representative of the powers, presented the following:

"The undersigned representatives of Germany, Austria-Hungary, France, Great Britain, Italy and Russia, duly authorized in that behalf, address in the name of their respective governments, a pressing appeal to the feelings of humanity and moderation of the President and of the American people in their existing differences with Spain. They earnestly hope that further negotiations will lead to an agreement which, while securing the maintenance of peace, will afford all necessary guarantees for the re-establishment of order in Cuba. The powers do not doubt that the humanitarian and purely disinterested character of this representation will be fully recognized and appreciated by the American nation."

President McKinley replied as follows:

"The government of the United States recognizes the good will which has prompted the friendly communication of the representatives of Germany, Austria-Hungary, France, Great Britain, Italy and Russia as set forth in the address of your excellencies, and shares the hope therein expressed that the outcome of the situation in Cuba may be the maintenance of peace between the United States and Spain, by affording the necessary guarantee for the re-establishment of order in the island, so terminating the chronic condition of disturbance there which so deeply injures the interests and menaces the tranquility of the American nation and the consequences of the struggle thus kept up at our doors, besides shocking its sentiment of humanity. The government of the United States appreciates the humanitarian and disinterested character of the communication now made on behalf of the powers named, and for its part is confident that equal appreciation will be shown for its own earnest and unselfish endeavors to fulfill a duty to humanity by ending a situation the indefinite prolongation of which has become insufferable."

The call of the representatives of the powers on the president was quite brief, and was evidently by appointment, for they were at once shown into the diplomatic room of the state department, where they were joined by Secretary Sherman and Assistant Secretary Day, with whom they were closeted behind closed doors.

Simply an Act of Friendship.

The British ambassador said in reference to the note signed by him with the other powers, submitted Thursday to the president, should not be misconstrued so far as England was concerned. It meant, he said, simply an act of friendship and to indicate to the United States that his government was willing to render any service within its power, should this government indicate as much.

Germany to Send a Ship.

A dispatch from Berlin says: In view of the probable outbreak of hostilities, the German Admiralty, which at present has not a single ship in West Indian waters, is considering the advisability of sending at least one cruiser for the protection of the political and commercial interests of Germany there.

In Favor of Carmack.

The contested congressional election case of Patterson against Carmack in the Tenth Tennessee district was reported to the house Friday, house election committee No. 1 recommending the seating of Carmack and declaring against ex-Representative Patterson's contest. The committee corrects the vote to make a majority of 590 for Carmack.

FIFTY FIFTH CONGRESS.

The Senate—Monday.

In the senate today the greater part of the time was consumed in set speeches on the Cuban question. Mr. Perkins, of California, openly charged that Spain was responsible for the Maine disaster, and that it had been brought about by Spanish machinations and treachery. Mr. Clay, of Georgia, followed, basing his remarks upon the resolution of Mr. Foraker, which called for Cuban recognition and if necessary of armed intervention. Mr. Mantle followed with an extended speech upon the absorbing topic of Cuba, and urged immediate intervention. Mr. Rawlins, of Utah, made an argument for absolute declaration of armed intervention. At the conclusion of Mr. Rawlin's speech the sundry civil appropriation bill was taken up, but without disposing of it the senate went into executive session, and adjourned.

The House.

While there was no attempt to force consideration of the resolution regarding the Cuban situation in the house, there was a brief outbreak, in the course of which the warlike temper of the crowded galleries was so manifest that Speaker Reed threatened to clear them if it was repeated. Mr. Cannon, chairman of the committee on appropriations, asked unanimous consent for the consideration of the senate resolution suspending a portion of section 355 of the Revised Statutes so as to permit the United States to erect fortifications in cases of emergency upon any land upon obtaining the written consent of the owner. After several hours' debate on the resolution and the Cuban question in general, the bill was passed without division and the house adjourned.

The Senate—Tuesday.

"The United States ought immediately to declare war against Spain, and maintain that was until the people of Cuba are made free from Spanish starvation and cruelty and the government of the island firmly established as independent republic."

This utterance of Senator Chandler of New Hampshire, in a carefully prepared statement of his position on the Cuban crisis was the climax of an extended discussion of the subject participated in by several members of the senate this afternoon. The speeches had been delivered by Mr. Turner of Washington, Mr. Harris of Kansas, and Mr. Kenney of Delaware, all of whom took strong ground for vigorous and instant action by the United States.

At the conclusion of the speeches on the Cuban question the senate resumed consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill, the only progress made being the adoption in slightly modified form of the committee's amendment suspending the forestry reservation proclamation of 1897.

At 4:15 p. m. the senate went into executive session, and at 6:10 p. m. adjourned.

The House.

The crowds which thronged the galleries of the house today were disappointed. There were no outbreaks of any kind on the floor on the Cuban question. The whole day was spent on the private calendar, with the result that several bills were passed, among them one to pay the heirs of John Roach, the shipbuilder, $330,000 on a claim which has been pending a dozen years and another to pay O. C. Bosby Shell, superintendent of the Philadelphia mint $17,000 extracted from the gold vaults by a weigh-clerk.... At 5 o'clock the house recessed until 8 p. m., the evening session to be devoted to private pension bills.

The Senate—Wednesday.

The postponement of the coming of the president's message on the Cuban situation caused intense disappointment in the senate today, both on the floor and in the galleries. The president's message had been positively promised and its coming was awaited with genuine anxiety. Ten minutes after the senate convened consideration of the sundry civil bill was resumed and consumed almost the entire session.

The House.

The house was called to order promptly at 12 o'clock. It was arranged last Friday that the army reorganization bill should be a special order for today (not to interfere with a report from the committee on foreign affairs). It having been announced that the president's message on the Cuban situation would be presented today the demand for admission to the halls of congress was greater than has been known in many years; but when it was finally announced that the message would not be presented today, the immense crowd who had been waiting from 6 in the morning to 3 in the afternoon, turned away, weary and disgusted at the delay. Never was there such a disappointment at the capitol. The members felt it even more keenly than the spectators, and for two hours afterward they stood about the lobbies discussing this latest phase of the situation. The news of the proposed armistice, which came in on the heels of the announcement that Gen. Lee had cabled for delay, received quite as much attention as the request of Lee. The debate in the house over the army reorganization bill attracted little or no attention. At 5 o'clock, without action on the bill, the house adjourned.

The Senate—Thursday.

Some sharp war talk was indulged in by the senate today. When consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill was resumed, the question pending was the amendment of Mr. Pettus, of Alabama, providing for such improvement of the harbor at Mobile as would enable war vessels to obtain coal and other supplies there. Mr. Allison, in charge of the bill, made a point of order against the amendment. This called out a bitter speech by Mr. Morgan, who charged the appropriations committee with discriminations against proper measures, and he threatened to assist in dissolving the committee. Mr. Allison had a telegram read from Secretary Alger, saying that while he was willing that the improvement should be made, the money to be expended within the discretion of the secretary of war, he thought the outer bar should be left for the present, so as to prevent the too easy ingress of the foreign hostile ships. On this telegram the chair overruled Mr. Allison's point of order, and submitted the question to the senate whether the amendment should be considered. A yea and nay vote was taken on this proposition, and resulted in the negative—19 to 33. The vote had the effect of ruling the amendment out of order. At 2 o'clock the bill was laid aside, and Mr. Walthall, of Mississippi, presented resolutions on the death of his colleague, Senator James Z. George, and several senators paid tribute to his memory. At 4 o'clock, as a further mark of respect, the senate adjourned until Monday.

The House.

There was a scene of great excitement in the house late this afternoon during the consideration of the bill for the reorganization of the army. It was caused by Mr. Lentz, an Ohio democrat, who made a vigorous assault on the administration, charging that the policy of delay was in the interest of stock jobbers of Wall street. Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, replied in defense of the administration.... A great deal of opposition developed during the day to the army bill. Mr. Hull tried to save the bill by agreeing to strike out all its provisions, even the three battalion function features, but it was in the end recommitted—150 to 61.... The house adjourned until Monday.

BRAINY AMERICAN GIRL.

Miss Dorothea Klumpke Opens the Eyes of French Astronomers.

It was quite a surprise in American scientific circles when Miss Dorothea Klumpke, a San Francisco girl, won her way into the Paris Astronomical Observatory over the heads of more than fifty Frenchmen who were competing for entrance into this most celebrated school of astronomical science. She not only gained an entrance into the institution, but her splendid talent soon secured for her charge of the department which computes the measurement of the stars in the Paris belt. She has under her supervision several French scientists who have spent their whole lives in the study.

She is passionately devoted to the science. From 9 in the morning till 5 in the afternoon she works eagerly every day, always on the lookout for new facts and always perfecting her knowledge of facts already known.

Miss Klumpke went to Europe ten years ago at the age of 20, and has studied in Germany, Switzerland and Paris. She has a brilliant education, and is a charming and accomplished woman of whom all Americans may well be proud. She has recently been decorated by the French Government. She is one of a group of remarkable sisters. Anna Klumpke is a famous portrait painter of Boston; Augusta is a practicing physician in Paris; and Julia, the youngest, a girl of 19, is one of the most brilliant of Ysaye's pupils. They were all born in San Francisco, and educated in the public schools of that city. Their father was born in Holland, and came to America when very young. He settled in the South, but in '49 went west with the gold seekers.

MISS DOROTHEA KLUMPKE.

Miss Klumpke's great ambition is to finish her immense task in Paris and to return to her own country to carry on her work in science. She is a firm believer in the astronomical future of America, and feels confident that it will soon lead the world in the great science. Miss Klumpke, in spite of her love for science, has still a woman's fancy for pretty clothes, and dresses in charming taste, her gowns being of her own designing.

Progress is reported in the matter of union between the South African republic and the Orange Free State, and there really seems some probability that the Transvaal will succeed in swallowing its little neighbor.

CURRENT EVENTS IN ALABAMA.

Addition to Anniston Mill.

The Anniston company is erecting an addition to its already large cotton mill. The addition will be about 50x50 feet in size and one story high.

McClellan for Chief Justice.

Telegrams from throughout the state received at Montgomery show that of the 504 votes in the state convention at least 325 are sure for Judge McClellan for chief justice.

New Industries in Prospect.

Negotiations are now on for the location of two plants in New Decatur, which promise to be successful. If so they will place capital to the amount of $150,000 in stable industries.

Receiver Appointed.

Upon the application of J. H. Bartlett, representing the English stockholders of the Jasper Land company, the Chancery Court has appointed Mr. Bartlett temporary receiver for the Corona Coal & Coke company.

A Government Order Filled.

The Birmingham Rolling Mill company has filled an order from the government for four tons of steel "round," to be used in fortifications work at Pensacola. The rods will be used in securing the foundations for fortifications.

Anniston Pipe Works Sold.

The plant of the Anniston Pipe and Foundry company was sold last week to the Southern Pipe company, a new corporation. The plant is one of the largest in the world. A portion of it was burned last summer, and is now being rebuilt. The new owners will enlarge the plant still further.

Jefferson's Democratic Primaries.

In the democratic primary election of Jefferson county Saturday, the following were the successful candidates: For probate judge, J. P. Stiles; senior judge of city court of Birmingham, Wm. W. Wilkerson; associate judge of city court of Birmingham, Charles A. Senn; judge of the tenth judicial circuit, W. C. Ward.

Courtland Municipal Election.

At the regular annual city election held at Courtland the following ticket was elected: Mayor, A. J. Crosthwait; aldermen, J. E. Brown, E. O. Campbell, C. A. Hall, Dr. J. F. Master and S. W. White; city marshall, W. T. Simmons. One of the aldermen, S. W. White, is a negro. A bitter fight was made against White, but a heavy republican vote, mostly negroes, carried the day for him.

Land Company Elects Officers.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Jasper Land Company the following directors were elected for the next year: J. H. Bartlett, E. W. Coleman, J. H. Bankhead, Jr., J. H. Crawford, R. Y. Lang. At a meeting of the directors the following officers were elected: E. W. Coleman, president; J. H. Crawford, vice-president; J. H. Bankhead, Jr., secretary and treasurer. The land company is capitalized at $500,000, and has much valuable land in Jasper and vicinity.

Pushing the Work at Fort Morgan.

The work of preparation at Fort Morgan, at Mobile, is being rapidly pushed. Major Russell is busily engaged in gathering material for the two new batteries which he has been ordered by the government to build at Fort Morgan. On one of these batteries he will mount two rapid fire guns and on the other will be mounted two twelve-inch disappearing guns, each of which with its carriage weighs in the neighborhood of half a million pounds. There are already mounted at Fort Morgan and in fine working order four eight-inch disappearing guns.

Indebted to the State.

Assistant Examiner Foster has filed with the governor his report on the office of Mr. C. C. Kelly, clerk of the circuit and exofficio clerk of the county court of Walker county, from the beginning of his term of office to January 1, 1898. Mr. Kelley according to the figures of the assistant examiner, owes the state $3,965.68. This is the recapitulation: Fees and removal bills not issued for paid labor and penitentiary cases, $3,626.10; amount due on fees bills collected, $47.80; fees and removal bills not taxed in cases of confession, $231.16; amount estimated due on solicitors fees, $30.62; total, $3,965.68.

End of the Carson Case.

Governor Johnston ended a unique case Friday by appointing Drewry B. Carson sheriff of Lauderdale county to succeed A. D. Carson, resigned. The governor recently ordered impeachment proceedings against the sheriff on account of his being frequently intoxicated. Out of the proceedings grew a $30,000 libel suit against the Western Union Telegraph Company and The Age-Herald Publishing Company, of Birmingham. The telegraph company transmitted a message to the Age-Herald before the court had come to a decision, saying that Carson had been found guilty. Subsequently the court held that Carson was drunk and the libel suits were dismissed.

Shipping Iron to Italy.

A shipment of 500 tons of pig iron bound for Genoa, Italy, is being made from the warrant yards at Ensley City furnaces. The shipment began a few days ago, and has been completed almost. The American Pig Iron Storage Warrant Company has been shipping considerable iron from their yards at Ensley recently, and it is estimated that a removal of at least 5,000 tons from one yard there has occurred in the last few months. M'KINLEY EXPECTS WAR.

The Cabinet Discusses the War Situation. No Fresh Developments

The cabinet meeting Friday occupied a little over an hour and a half. It was mainly devoted to an informal discussion of the situation. The president's demeanor was grave throughout, and the proceedings indicated that there was no expectation on the part of the administration that war would be averted.

It can be positively stated that there was no fresh development in the situation brought to the attention of the cabinet, or any dispatches or communication of any sort placed before it.

The joint note of the powers was considered, but that it will practically have no effect on the situation as it now exists was plainly evident.

Consul General Lee, it was reiterated, would surely leave Havana Saturday, according to the cabled instructions. Just when General Woodford is expected to vacate his post is not ascertainable and may not have been decided.

Owing to the complete formation of the policy and the absence of an overnight development, the entire meeting was devoted to discussion, including safety of Americans and the last fruitless session of the Spanish cabinet.

Secretary Long, one of the last to leave, carried numerous papers on matters of detail for consideration.

Pending the actual culmination of the diplomatic developments now rapidly approaching a head, the administration is steadfastly and consistently avoiding all possible outward evidence of the crisis.

The Cuban message will be placed before congress next Monday, unless some radical and unexpected events shall happen to change the firmly fixed intention of the president, and meantime the evacuation of the American citizens from Cuba will continue, and Gen. Woodford will arrange his affairs so as to leave Madrid at a moment's notice.

THIRTY-ONE MEN MEET DEATH.

A Snow Slide at Chilkoot Pass Leaves Death in Its Wake.

Advices from Skaguay, Alaska, state that about noon Friday, on the Chilkoot trail, between the Scales and Stonehouse, at least thirty-one men met death and a large number of others were injured more or less seriously in a snow slide. The dead were crushed under an avalanche of snow and ice.

Fully fifty people were overtaken by the slide and are either buried in the snow or scattered along the borders of the avalanche in a more or less injured condition.

The point at which the accident occurred is some five miles above Sheep camp. A blinding snow-storm was raging all day upon the summit, and as a consequence many of those in the vicinity were making no attempt to travel. Thousands of people were encamped in the vicinity of the accident at the time and were soon upon the scene rendering such assistance as was possible.

Enormous Contract for Powder.

The E. I. Dupont-DeMourse Company, at Wilmington, Del., it is understood, has received from the United States government a contract for furnishing $15,000,000 worth of powder, and the mills are being rushed to turn out the material as rapidly as possible. Most of the powder manufactured at the mills is being made red, and is more difficult to ignite than the black powder; there are fewer explosions, and it can be produced more rapidly by the machinery.

EMINENT DIVINES SERMONS

DISCOURSES BY TWO ABLE WORKERS IN GOD'S VINEYARD.

The Rev. George H. Hepworth's Sunday Discourse in the New York Herald is Entitled "Heresy"—Dr. T. DeWitt Talmage Preaches on the Evil of Gambling.

TEXT: "My heart shall not reproach me so long as I live."—Job, xxvii., 6.

It is very important that your heart or conscience shall not accuse you. Your happiness does not depend on anybody else's conscience or heart, but on your own. God gave you a conscience, with the command that you should follow its behests, and when you get into the other world that conscience will be your judge. In other words, God will not judge you, but you will judge yourself.

It is your conscience that makes you an individual, which spiritually isolates you; and its approval is worth more than the approval of all the world beside. You cannot go far wrong if you always do what you think is right. You may ask advice, but you should decide for yourself what it is best to do, and then do it, whether people blame or praise. If every one were to follow this rule we should have a large difference of opinion among men, but above it a divine harmony of purpose. When the millennium comes we shall not all think alike, neither shall we allow any one to do our thinking for us, but we shall think for ourselves until thinking changes to conviction. Then we shall follow our convictions as we follow the flag of our country, and hold to them and be true to them, and so win the smile of God.

What you need most of all is to be your best, truest and noblest self. For that end you came into the world, and unless you accomplish that end your life will be essentially a failure and the requirements of the Almighty will stand neglected.

Men may call you heretical, but what men say of you is of no importance in comparison with what God will say. Your business is to be on His side, and to be sure in your heart that He is on your side. If, after that, people agree with you, you may well rejoice, but if they do not, that is their affair and not yours. Your duty is what you think your duty is after the enlightenment or illumination which always comes to him who is in accord with the Holy Spirit of the universe, and thus breathes the atmosphere of the spiritual life. To that duty you should never be false, for it is what makes you a living soul, what forms the quality of character, what opens the door of communion with the other world, what gives you a claim to the assistance of the angels and assures you of the approval of the Most High. Not ... [illegible] ...

This is a very queer world in one respect. We like to be sheep and follow a bell-wether. Even in matters of dress we must be told what to wear, and whether it is comely or uncomely we wear it. In the matter of religion there is as much fashion as there is in dress. What the majority believe we try to believe, because it is so easy to go with the majority. If it does not commend itself to our judgment we somehow consent, but openly approve. This induces an element of hypocrisy into the life of Holies, demoralizes mind and heart, takes from us our self-respect, and deprives us of heavenly recognition and approval. Our vital energy is sapped, our manliness and womanliness are injured, unless we can say of an opinion, I made it myself, and it is therefore mine.

In this matter of belief, of religious belief, you are to search for the truth—God's truth, Christ's truth, eternal truth. You are to dive into the depths of your soul, and what you bring therefrom is to be the foundation on which to build your life and character. The world may say nay or it may say yea, it makes no difference; you are to be governed solely by God's yea and nay as the words are whispered in your ear by Him who reveals Himself to every man, during every day and hour of his life. You may not get at the whole truth, eternity must unfold itself before you can know that; but you will get at that much of truth as will serve your purpose, be it great or small.

Men may tell you to believe this or that; it is nothing. You may believe as others do, or you may not; but if you believe what God shall tell you when you and He are together in the sacred ... [illegible] ... your days will be radiant and yet will be at peace.

... [illegible] heresy is the heresy of an evil life. Honest belief is never heresy, ... [illegible] ...

Be therefore, be yourself, and make ... [illegible] ... alone is orthodoxy, and high ... the result of pure feeling and ... thinking. If your conscience tells you you are right you have nothing to ... here or hereafter.

GEORGE H. HEPWORTH.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

The Downward Path of the Gamester Serves as a Subject.

TEXT: "Aceldama, that is to say, the field of blood."—Acts i., 19.

The money that Judas gave for surrendering Christ was used to purchase a graveyard. As the money was blood money, the ground bought by it was called in the Syriac tongue, "Aceldama," meaning "the field of blood." Well, there is one word I want to write to-day over every race course where wagers are staked, and every pool room and every gambling saloon and every table, public or private, where men and women bet for sums of money, large or small, and that is a word incarnadined with the life of innumerable victims—Aceldama.

The gambling spirit, which is at all times a stupendous evil, ever and anon sweeps over the country like an epidemic, prostrating uncounted thousands. There has never been a worse attack than that from which all the villages and towns and cities are now suffering.

Some years ago, when an association for the suppression of gambling was organized, an agent of the association came to a prominent citizen and asked him to patronize the society. He said: "No; I can have no interest in such an organization. I am in no wise affected by the evil." At that very moment his son, who was his partner in business, was one of the heaviest players in ... [illegible] ... Another ... [illegible] ... Directly or indirectly this evil strikes at the whole world.

Gambling is the risking of something more or less valuable in the hope of winning more than you hazard. The instruments of gaming may differ, but the principle is the same. The shuffling and dealing of cards, however full of temptation, is not gambling unless stakes are put up; while, on the other hand, gambling may be carried on without cards, or dice, or billiards, or a tenpin alley. The man who bets on horses, or elections, on battles, the man who deals in "fancy" stocks, or conducts a business which hazards extra capital, or goes into transactions without foundation but dependent upon what men call "luck," is a gambler.

Whatever you expect to get from your neighbor without offering an equivalent in money, time, or skill, is either the product of theft or gaming. Lottery tickets and lottery "policy" come into the same category. Bazars for the founding of hospitals, schools and churches, conducted on the raffling system, come under the same denomination. Do not, therefore, associate gambling necessarily with any instrument, or game, or time, or place, or think the principle depends upon whether you play for a glass of wine or one hundred shares of railroad stock. Whether you patronize "auction pools," "French mutuals," or "book-making," whether you employ faro or billiards, roulette and keno, cards or bagatelle, the very idea of the thing is dishonest; for it professes to bestow upon you a good for which you give no equivalent.

Men wishing to gamble will find places just suited to their capacity, not only in the underground oyster-cellar or at the table back of the curtain, covered with greasy cards, or in the steamboat smoking cabin, where the bloated wretch with rings in his ears deals out his pack, and winks in the unsuspecting traveler—providing free drinks all around—but in gilded parlors and amid gorgeous surroundings. This sin works ruin, first, by providing an unhealthy stimulant. Excitement is pleasurable. Under every sky and in every age men have sought it. We must at times have excitement. A thousand voices in our nature demand it. It is right; it is healthful; it is inspiring; it is a desire God-given.

A young man having suddenly inherited a large property, sits at the hazard tables, and takes up in a dice-box the estate won by a father's lifetime sweat, and shakes it and tosses it away. Intemperance soon stigmatizes its victim, kicking him out, a slavering fool, into the ditch, or sending him, with the drunkard's hiccough, staggering up the street, where his family lives. But gambling does not in that way expose its victims. The gambler may be eaten up by the gambler's passion, yet you only discover it by the greed in his eyes, the hardness of his features, the nervous restlessness, the threadbare coat, and his embarrassed business.

The infernal spell is on him; a giant is aroused within; and though you bind him with cables, they would part like thread; and though you fasten him seven times around with chains, they would snap like twisted wire; and though you piled up in his path heaven-high Bibles, tracts and sermons, and on the top should set the cross of the Son of God, over them all the gambler would leap like a roe over the rocks, on his way to perdition. "Aceldama, the field of blood!"

Notice, also, the effect of this crime upon domestic happiness. It has sent its ruthless ploughshares through hundreds of families, until the wife sat in rags and the daughters grew up to the same infamous practices, or took a short cut to destruction across the murderer's scaffold. Home has lost all charms for the gambler. How tame are the children's caresses and a wife's devotion to the gambler! How drearily the fire burns on the domestic hearth! There must be louder laughter, and something to win and something to lose; an excitement to drive the heart faster, fillip the blood and fire the imagination. No home, however bright, can keep back the gamester. The sweet call of love bounds back from his iron soul, and all endearments are consumed in the fire of his passion. The family Bible will go after all other treasures are lost, and if his crown in heaven were put into his hands he would cry: "Here goes; one more game, my boys. On this one throw I stake my crown of heaven."

The Church of God has not seemed willing to allow the world to have all the advantage of these games of chance. A church bazaar opens, and toward the close it is found that some of the more valuable articles are unsalable. Forthwith the conductors of the enterprise conclude that they will raffle for some of the valuable articles, and, under pretense of anxiety to make their minister a present or please some popular member of the church, fascinating persons are dispatched through the room, pencil in hand, to "solicit shares," or perhaps each draws for his own advantage, and scores of people go home with their trophies, thinking that it is all right, for Christian women did the embroidery and Christian men did the raffling, and the proceeds went toward a new communion set. But you may depend on it that as far as morality is concerned, you might as well have won by the crack of the billiard ball or the turn of the dice box. Do you wonder that churches are built, lighted, or ... [illegible] ... All this I style ecclesiastical gambling, ... [illegible] ... one man who is destroyed can say that his first step on the wrong road was when he won something at a church fair.

Shall I sketch the history of the gambler? Lured by bad company, he finds his way into a place where honest men ought never to go. He sits down to his first game, but only for pastime and the desire of being thought sociable. The players deal out the cards. They unconsciously play into Satan's hands, who takes all the tricks and both the players' souls for trumps—he being a sharper at any game. A slight stake is put up, just to add interest to the play. Game after game is played. Larger stakes and still larger. They begin to move nervously on their chairs. Their brows lower, and eyes flash, until now they who win and they who lose, fired alike with passion, sit with set jaws, and compressed lips, and clenched fists, and eyes like fireballs that seem starting from their sockets, to see the final turn before it comes—if losing, pale with envy and tremulous with unuttered oaths cast back red-hot upon the heart—or winning with hysteric laugh—"Ha! ha! I have it!"

A few years have passed, and he is only the wreck of a man. Seating himself at the table, ere he throws the first card, he stakes the last relic of his wife—the marriage ring which sealed the solemn vows between them. The game is lost, and, staggering back in exhaustion, he dreams. The bright hours of the past mock his agony, and in his dreams fiends with eyes of fire and tongues of flames circle about him with joined hands, to dance and sing their orgies with hellish chorus, chanting: "Hail, brother!" kissing his clammy forehead until their loathsome locks, flowing with serpents, crawled into his bosom, and sink their sharp fangs and suck up his life's blood, and, coiling around his head, pinch it with chills, and shudders unutterable.

Take warning! You are no stronger than tens of thousands who have by this practice been overthrown. No young man in our cities can escape being tempted. Beware of the first beginnings! This road is a down grade and every instant increases the momentum. Launch not upon this treacherous sea. Split hulks strew the beach. Everlasting storms howl up and down, tossing unwary craft into the Hell-gate. I speak of what I have seen with my own eyes. To a gambler's death-bed there comes no hope. He will probably die alone. His former associates come not nigh his dwelling. When the hour comes his miserable soul will go out of a miserable life into a miserable eternity. As his poor remains pass the house where he was ruined, old companions may look out for a moment and say: "There goes the old carcass—dead at last;" but they will not get up from the table. Let him down now into his grave. Plant no tree to cast its shade there, for the long, deep, eternal gloom that settles there is shadow enough. Plant no "forget-me-nots" or eglantines around the spot, for flowers were not made to grow on such a blasted heath. Visit it not in the sunshine, for that would be mockery, but in the dismal night, when no stars are out, and the spirit of darkness comes down, horsed on the wind, then visit the grave of the gambler.

The Boston Mechanics' Fair is announced for the month beginning on October 10. The hall will be open for the reception of exhibits four weeks prior to that date.

Inflammatory Rheumatism.

From St. Lawrence Plaindealer, Canton, N. Y.

To suffer for years with a prevailing painful ailment, which baffled skillful medical treatment, yet which was cured by a simple household remedy, is the lot which befell Mrs. George L. Rogers, of West Main Street, Canton, N. Y.

"Thirteen years ago," said Mrs. Rogers to a reporter, "I was attacked with inflammatory rheumatism and a complication of diseases. You can judge somewhat of what I endured, when you look at these hands. They were distorted, twisted and swollen. My foot, too, is so much out of shape that the big toe lays across the others, the end touching the little toe.

Goes to Church.

"Notwithstanding I am sixty-five years old, have a pleasant home and other comforts, life to me was far from enjoyable, for all other things pale into significance when you are without good health. I tried different doctors and many proprietary remedies, but was not benefited.

"Last March I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and before I had finished the first box I began to feel that they were doing me good. I continued using them and steadily grew better.

"I have used thirteen boxes of the pills and to-day feel better than for the past fifteen years. My appetite is good, I feel bright, cheerful and have a desire to live and enjoy society.

"I have been a member of the Methodist church for many years, but for six years was unable to attend. I am able now to attend the church services regularly and certainly appreciate that privilege. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People a wonderful medicine and am confident no other medicine could have effected the wonderful cure they have in my case." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are composed of vegetable remedies that exert a powerful influence in purifying and enriching the blood thus curing many diseases.

Three Good Things.

Three good things about Tetterine, besides the one great, good fact that it cures, are that it is painless, harmless and has no bad odor. It is the only sure cure for Tetter, Ringworm, Eczema. Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

5 DROPS

Hundreds of thousands of Sufferers cured without a single failure by "FIVE DROPS."

Though so universally used and tested did you ever hear anyone speak ill of this great remedy? No, you never did and never will, for if taken as directed and in the proper quantity "5 Drops" cannot fail to cure any of the diseases for which it is recommended. What it has already done to relieve the suffering is told in thousands of letters of grateful praise.

Mr. J. J. Tomhervey, widely known for many years as the special representative of the Populists and Free Silver Press of the United States, has kindly forwarded the following letter for publication:

Jan. 25, 1896.

DEAR SIRS: I am anxious for the sake of the suffering and out of gratitude to you to give my personal endorsement of your wonderful remedy. On the 9th of January, 1895, I was in Washington and was suddenly seized with an aggravated case of inflammatory rheumatism, so severe and painful was the attack that within 24 hours my left arm was paralyzed and I was only able to dress with assistance. I secured a bottle of "5 Drops" and took a dose that night, rubbing some on externally as directed. The following morning I was surprised to find myself immensely relieved, and continuing treatment woke the second morning cured. My arm was also limber. Over four weeks of intolerable pain and suffering had disappeared. The quickness and completeness of my cure was remarkable. I have known for over a year of the great curative properties of your incomparable remedy and have several friends who have been cured by it of Neuralgia, Catarrh and Asthma. Wishing you every success and trusting that those similarly afflicted will at least give this remedy a trial, sincerely yours,

J. P. VANDERVEER.

Berea, of Populist and Reform Papers, Old Stock Exchange Building, Chicago, Ill.

CURES THE INCURABLE.

DEAR SIRS:—I would like to thank you for your great remedy, "5 DROPS," and tell you what it has done for me. I had Rheumatism in every joint and in my heart, and had Catarrh of the head for 20 years. I was so lame in the legs of my feet and ankles and could not move without pain. I was so crippled that I had done but little work for seven years, and our family physician, a good doctor, told me that my Rheumatism and Catarrh were incurable, and I believed him. But after using "5 DROPS" a long two months, I can truly say I have not felt so well for so many years. This medicine does more than is claimed for it. After the first bottle my Catarrh left entirely, and I have no sign of Rheumatism at all and the heart weakness also. I am now in my 70th year, but by hearing so good and my strength is much better. I have gained over fifteen pounds in flesh and can do a full day's work. It is the best medicine I ever saw, and I recommend it to my friends. I would say for it has the same effect on the old as on the young. Let all who read this know of it and it will save the lives of the child and cause years of healthy existence to many people now old.

Yours, respectfully, W. M. KELLEMS.

Jan. 29, 1896. Iberia Parish Co., La.

We received the following letter from Mr. J. J. Walker of Omaha, Ill. Mr. Walker has been for many years an invalid, and in doing the [illegible] which was published in one of our exchanges, stating it has endorsement was genuine, and we are glad to say, which is unquestionable.

MR. J. J. WILSON.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of recent date at hand. In answer would say that the testimonial you speak of is genuine. The company who manufactures and sells "5 Drops" has not my testimonial for use. I gave it to them and every word of it is true, and I am ready to swear to it and prove it by many witnesses. The company did not ask me for a letter. I sent it to them and Dr. Kellems for publication in order that poor sufferers, as I once was, might be induced to try, by the cured, what "5 Drops" and that I did so. Since then I have received many letters like yours, and it is a pleasure to me to answer all who write. Tell all your neighbors what I have written about "5 Drops." I know now to sympathize with those who are afflicted, for though I suffered so long it is only six months since I have felt strong.

Dr. S. W. Kellems, my brother, uses "5 Drops" in his practice, and joins me in endorsing this great remedy. He says for a case like yours it is a specific cure.

Sept. 21, 1895. GEO. A. G. AND DR. S. W. KELLEMS.

If you have not sufficient confidence after reading these letters to send for a large bottle, send for a sample bott e, which contains sufficient to demonstrate to you of its merit. This Wonderful curative agent almost instantly relieves and in a few days permanently cures Sciatica, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Backache, Asthma, Hay Fever, Catarrh, Despondency, Nervousness, Nervous and Neuralgic Headaches, Heart Weakness, Toothache, Earache, Croup, "La Grippe," Malaria, Creeping Soreness, Bronchitis and Kindred Diseases.

"FIVE DROPS" is the name and one dollar (200 doses), $1.00. Six bottles for $5.00. Sample bottle (postpaid by mail 25c. Not sold by druggists, but only by us and our agents. Agents appointed in new territory.

CORRESPONDENCE.

W know that Mr. VanDerveer had charge of and looked after the interests of the People's Party in that election, and though we had to fight over every inch of the ground we know full well that he brought us through and that every man elected went into their office. None of us has forgotten the fact that they tried to get us to drop him then, making all kinds of promises, they knew that he was a leader whom they might well fear, and our wisdom in sticking to him has been fully proven. They know that with VanDerveer as our nominee there will be no more counting out and that we will march to certain victory in August.

Mr. VanDerveer is not the kind of a man to go over the county telling the people what he has done for them, and it is unnecessary, for they have not forgotten the number of times that he has come to their rescue.

We have not forgotten the time when the Legislature of Alabama was about to disfranchise the voters of our county by allowing the Governor to appoint our county commissioners, and that we sent to Montgomery a petition signed by nearly every man in our party begging that this great wrong be not imposed upon us. We well remember that they laughed at us and said that we would have to stand it. We remember how we felt, we have not forgotten it and never will. We had done all in our power and could do no more. We all remember full well how J. P. VanDerveer came to the rescue of our people and to the relief of the men who had voted for him, we remember how he devoted his time and his own money to the defeat of this law. He helped the People's Party of our county when they could not help themselves, he caused the bill to be defeated and the people to be protected in their rights. He did so without pay or hope of reward. He was put in office by our party to protect the people's rights and interests and he did so without fear.

Mr. VanDerveer has grown up among us and his interests and his property are and has always been with us and we have nothing to fear from this score. He is the best qualified man in our party to fill the office and when elected in August can and will take charge without help from any man. I could go on and write pages of what this man has done for our party, but cannot take up too much of your valuable space. As to the manner in which he has conducted his office, ask Judge Denson, Solicitor Brewer, or any of the many citizens who have served upon our grand juries since 1892 and they will say at once that he is the best qualified man in our party and even in the whole county for Probate Judge. Again ask any man in our county who goes to the court house and he will tell you that he has always found Mr. VanDerveer ever ready to give free of charge advice to our people, that they have found him always kind, polite, pleasant and respectful to our most humble citizen.

In conclusion I want to assure the voters of our party that if they nominate J. P. VanDerveer Probate Judge of our county on the 29th that he will fill the office and that he will do it in such a way that none of us will ever have cause to regret having voted for him. BEAT 4

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in the "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for it is a publication, as Chairman says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it presents to its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the progress of the world in economic, and literary lines, and of the things which are of value to the thinking men and women. The "Progress of the World" department is strictly an illustrated review of the month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazine comments; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of serious import.

"We know of no review published, in the country or in Europe, which combines as successfully as the AMERICAN MONTHLY the alertness, enterprise and energy of journalism with the thoughtful comment, carefully weighed opinion, exact knowledge, and well-chosen English of the purely literary periodicals."—The Outlook.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly publication the information needed by intelligent people of "live" interests is to reflect the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library in itself"; "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of genius"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

Jemison, April 18, 1898.
Editor BANNER. The contest in our primary election will very soon close. With good will to all the candidates we must give S. M. Adams our preference. He is a man of convictions and we know him to be true to his convictions. In all the questions connected with the great reform movement that is stirring the people from ocean to ocean Adams stands as firm as the solid rocks of the hills. He is the people's man in every sense of the word. He espoused the cause of the people some years ago and has fought his way through thick and thin in defense of the principles we all love so dearly. Let me say to the people of Chilton let us stand by him. He will stand by us to the end. Come to the polls all who love the people come and vote for S. M. Adams. You all know him. He is known all over the state. Come out on the 29th inst. and do your duty. Don't say I am too busy—he will be elected any way. This idea has been the defeat of many a good man. Wake up, fellow-citizens and be at your post Friday the 29th.

Mountain Creek, April 19, 1898
Editor BANNER. I would be glad to be granted a little space in the BANNER this week to speak to the voters of the People's Party through its columns, and will say in the first place my work at home has occupied all of my time, and would have prevented me from canvassing much if I had been so inclined, but as I always have and do yet heartily indorse the principles of the People's Party I understand it to be one of their distinct principles for the party to seek and select their own representatives, and as I consider a rambling canvass a straightout office-seeking policy I shall simply commit my name and leave the voters free to say who or which of the candidates they think most suited for the places, and shall gracefully submit to their choice and heartily support the ticket nominated. I will say here that I wish to emphasize the fact that if the people confer the honor upon me of nominating me for Circuit Clerk I will then feel it my bounden duty to take the stump in defence of the Party and its principles against all outside attacks and opposition.

Now I understand that both of the young men that are out for the same office with me are young men of good morals and good education; young men that the whole party should feel proud of, and not only the People's Party but the entire citizenship of the county should feel proud of its young men of good morals and culture. As I realized the fact that if I get the nomination I will have two good men to beat which if I do will place me under lasting obligations to the voters of the People's Party of Chilton.

In conclusion I wish to congratulate brother L. H. Reynolds for again consenting to represent the people in the legislature. I think you have done the right thing at the right time, brother Reynolds.

E. L. MANNING.

Clear Creek, April 18, 1898
Editor BANNER. I read with pleasure the letter in last issue signed by "Beat 4" in the interest of J. P. VanDerveer for Probate Judge. I will not consume as much space as he did but I want to say I endorse every word of it. I have known J. P. VanDerveer since 1883, have lived on the same farm with him as a neighbor to him up to the time that he moved to Clanton and know every word Beat 4 said to be true. If any man doubts his ability to fill the office of Probate Judge or his fidelity to our principles let that man come to beat two and enquire about him, this beat in which he lived for seventeen years will vouch for him. If it had not been for J. P. VanDerveer in 1892 our party would have been defeated not only in the 1892 primary but in the August election as well. Has our party forgotten how he held us solid in the primary with the famous red tickets and the work that was done in the August election? I do not speak from hearsay but from personal knowledge. I was secretary of the court house meeting and an officer of our County Alliance and am in a position to know whereof I speak. I say to our party let us elect this man who is able and has nerve to pull us through in August. If VanDerveer heads our ticket we can rely on it being elected.

W. H. SHAW.

"A word to the wise is sufficient" and a word from the wise should be sufficient, but you ask, who are the wise? Those who know. The oft repeated experience of trustworthy persons may be taken for knowledge. Mr. W. M. Terly says Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other in the market. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twelve years; has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy and nearly all other cough medicines manufactured, which shows conclusively that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people, and is the best. Editor BANNER. Having attended the Massey Business College at this place for the last three weeks will say for the benefit of those who contemplate attending a business college that at this will not find a more up-to-date business college anywhere, one that offers more advantages to its pupils.

There is no doubt that one, after attending school here, will be better prepared to meet all problems of the business world and cope with the same successfully.

His course of bookkeeping is to be admired, as it embraces in a condensed form that which is needed along a business line from the simplest transactions to the most complex, treating the same in attractive and instructive manner.

THE MOST FAVORABLE SEASON

To cure catarrh is in the spring. During the winter the patient is likely to take fresh cold and have a set-back. But if treatment is begun in the spring and continue into the summer, nothing need be feared for the succeeding winter. Of course, it all depends on the medicine. There are a great many catarrh medicines which relieve the most disagreeable symptoms temporarily. Pe-ru-na cures more slowly but also more permanently than this class of medicines. A course of Pe-ru-na during the spring will cure catarrh more quickly than at any other season. Mr Walter H. Tucker, Concord, N. H., writes Dr. Hartman as follows: "When I began taking your medicines four years ago I was suffering with chronic catarrh. I had taken nearly two dozen bottles of a so called catarrh cure without much relief. Pe-ru-na cured the night sweats and dizziness; it cured the cough I have had from my cradle; I can say it saved my life."

Dr. Hartman has published in book form a series of lectures on various phases of chronic catarrh, which he calls "Winter Catarrh." This book will be sent free to any address by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus Ohio.

Thorsby, April 16th, 1898
Editor BANNER. I wish to say through your columns that a report has reached my ears that I have come out of the race for Judge of Probate of Chilton county. This report is false and untrue. I am in the race for Judge of Probate until the 29th day of April, 1898, and on that day the voters of Chilton can say by their votes whether or not I shall come down or continue.

Very truly yours,

J. W. MOORE.

Editor BANNER. Please allow me through your paper to express myself in regard to the People's Party. Believing as I do that the principles advocated by the party are such as tend to promote the interest and well being of our people at large, I would urge upon all that there be no strife among us. Let the canvass be such that the best of feelings may prevail. Whether successful or defeated may we all be found working together in the party.

Jemison, Ala. April 18, 1898
To the People of Chilton county.

As you see I have announced again for Representative. My business is such I cannot go over the county which I would like to do to try to show the people the necessity of standing together for there is the same cause now for the existence of the People's Party there was a few years ago to organize it. Let us stand together, nominate the best ticket we can, and then rally to its support in August. I assure you that the People's Party is bigger than any man and the patriotic men who organized it never expected it to be used to put a few men in office. No! It was organized for a more glorious and noble purpose—that of serving the whole people. Again I say to the people of Chilton if they want me to represent them in the next legislature, and so decide by their votes, I will do as I did in the last session look after their interests. I fully endorse the party platform and believe as I have in the past that if the principles of the party were put in force times would be a great deal better than they are now.

Respectfully,

L. H. REYNOLDS.

The Surprise of All

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones and Son, Cawden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with La Grippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into Hasty Consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. Kings New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottle at J. S. Johnsons Drug Store.

Editor BANNER. Up here in beat one we have talked a good deal about our candidates for Probate Judge and I believe that I speak the sentiments almost solid of this beat when I say that we expect to vote for J. P. VanDerveer for Probate Judge. We know he is competent to fill the office and we are satisfied that he will hold up our principles, and we do not propose to be led or influenced by men outside of our party telling falsehoods on him.

To the Voters of Chilton County:

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the important office of Judge of Probate as a free silver and reform Republican opposing conventions. Through a convention of a few politicians, Alabama and every other Southern State was voted out of the union, which was our blood-bought right.

It would only be reasonable, first, for the voters of this county to want to know where I am at. I think, myself, the time is ripe for each and every aspirant for office, in Beat, County, State, and Nation, to explain fully the principles that he, or they, endorse free from partisan policy. These are the things that the voting constituency of every county and State of the Nation ought to, and should know before choosing their representitives to fill the offices through America. Had this course been pursued, even for the last twenty-five years, our government would have been in fact a government of, for, and by the people, and not for the plutocrats to aggregate their stolen millions of dollars to euslave the rest of humanity.

It is said by a great many people that State and National politics should not be coupled together. That is erroneous. It shows conclusively that man is a trickster, or else is ignorant of the situation. Our United States senators are elected by our legislatures and, in case of the death of a senator, the Governor appoints one; and the Governor might be a free silver man to catch votes and a gold bug to catch money.

Have the voters of Chilton county followed the rule to exact of each and every aspirant for office to know just how they stand upon all important questions both State and National and especially upon the monetary question? If you have

One hundred and sixteen thousand, four hundred and ninety hummingbirds were sold at a recent sale in England, and a corresponding number of other birds. With regard to the lyre-bird an eminent ornithologist says, "This wonderful bird will soon become a thing of the past, and with it will disappear the sole survivor of a very ancient race before even its habits and structure are wholly known."

The twenty-second annual report of President Arthur Von Briesen, of the Legal Aid society of New York city, tells of legal assistance given during 1897 to 5350 persons, of $35,979 actually collected in the office of the society, and $36,839 recovered by settlement outside the office. At least 3000 other applications received attention, but did not require actual legal service, and were not recorded. The society's business is to give legal assistance to persons too poor to engage counsel. It undertakes many cases where the claims would cost private counsel more to collect than they are worth. The recovery of a sewing-girl's four dollars, or an artisan's five or six dollars, honestly earned but withheld, comes within the scope of society's good offices.

It has come to be the habit to give the whole name of a benefactor to a university. We have Johns Hopkins, Leland Stanford, Jr., and now the John B. Stetson university of De Land, Florida. On February 10th, which was presentation day, President Harper of Chicago university, and the Hon. J. L. M. Carey of the Peabody and Slater funds, were present, and gifts were announced for a new chapel and library, erected by Mr. Stetson at an expense of $50,000, provided with valuable organ and a collection for a museum of natural history by Mrs. Monroe Heath. The announcement was made of $100,000 additional endowment, half of it having been conditional, given by Mr. Stetson, who also transferred real estate to the value of $15,000 to the trustees. The day that added something like $180,000 to the property of the college.

Nature seems to be able to regulate the births of males and females without the help of German savants, asserts the New York Times. It may be remembered that Buckle found that the average birth rate the world over was twenty-one boys to twenty girls, thus giving every girl a chance for a Jack Potter allowing for the greater death rate among males. The Springfield Republican is authority for the assertion that in Massachusetts for forty years the male birth rate relative to the female has not noticeably changed, the number of male births to each 1000 female births in the last twenty years being 1053 as compared with 1059 for the preceding twenty years. In Europe, observations covering ten years indicate an average of 1060 males born to every 1000 females, England being at one extreme, with 1038, and Italy at the other, with 1071.

A corn convention held in Chicago recently developed several schemes for extending the use of the great American grain. It was resolved reports the Atlanta Journal, to make elaborate exhibits of corn and the many forms in which it is prepared for food uses at the Omaha exposition, the Buffalo exposition and the Paris exposition of 1900. The present high price of wheat has done much to improve the prospects of corn as a food product. Already a large proportion of the flour used in this country is made largely of corn. This flour is cheaper than pure wheat flour and quite as nutritious. More corn is being consumed as food in this country than ever before and the quantity will increase. Our corn is also becoming more popular in Europe. The prejudice against it among the masses of Europe is being destroyed. They are learning by actual experience that corn is good as well as cheap; that it may be prepared in many palatable forms, and that it has excellent qualities as a food substance. This is the main reason why our exports of corn have increased so rapidly. Corn is already our greatest crop both in size and value, and will continue to hold the supremacy. The movement to extend its use in foreign countries is timely, and will conduce to the interest of nearly every section of the country.

RESOLUTION PASSED FOR CUBAN INTERVENTION.

Severed Are the Tender Threads of Peace Between Spain and the United States.

TOCSIN OF WAR HAS BEEN SOUNDED BY CONGRESS.

The President Directed to Use Arms to Force Spain to Evacuate. Nations Are Notified That This Country Doesn't Want Cuba---The Joint Resolution Goes to the President.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special.) — Congress has declared for war with Spain. It was fifteen minutes to 2 o'clock Tuesday morning when both houses reached an agreement. The night sessions began at 8 o'clock. The time was spent mostly in recess. This offered opportunity for those in the house who were willing for fun to participate in it, and the result was it was a season more of mirth than business, except the frequent disagreements of the committee and reports. The house had at last became a deliberate body. Congress waited with patience and was willing to sit the night out in order to show the country that it was ready to act, and acted. The direct recognition of Cuba was eliminated—for which the democrats of the house had fought in the house, together with Senator Foraker and his republican followers in the senate.

The president will send his ultimatum to Spain Tuesday night. There was great cheering on both sides when the resolution was read as amended. Partisanship was subjugated and patriotism brooke loose.

The Fight a Memorable One.

The fight in both houses has been a memorable one. It was a kind of shuttle-cock affair, or checker-board play. It was the house's first move, and from 10 in the morning until after midnight each body took a hand at moving toward the king row. It was a struggle from the outset, and each side stood much firmer than was expected.

In the House.

The house, after one of the hardest and most desperate fights in its history, succeeded in forcing the senate to yield the main contention in the war resolutions—the independence of the existing government in Cuba. With that exception the house accepted the senate resolutions. The republicans who joined with the democrats in an attempt to concur in the senate amendments entire, rallied fourteen votes at one time, and on every vote thereafter they dwindled. When the final vote was taken, shortly before 3 o'clock Tuesday morning, 310 votes were cast for the declaration upon which we are to have war, if war it is to be. Six votes only were cast against it. They included five republicans and one democrat.

Conference Report in the Senate.

At 1:15 a. m. Mr. Davis presented a conference report, which embodied the resolutions passed by the senate Saturday night, with the one exception that it does not recognize the independence of Cuba. The report was adopted by a vote of 42 to 35 as follows:

Yeas—Aldrich, Allison, Baker, Burrows, Carter, Chandler, Clark, Cullom, Davis, Debse, Elkins, Fairbanks, Faulkner, Foraker, Frye, Gallinger, Gear, Gray, Hale, Hanna, Hansbrough, Hawley, Kyle, Lodge, McBride, McMillan, Mason, Morgan, Morrill, Nelson, Penrose, Perkins, Platt (Conn.), Pritchard, Proctor, Quay, Sewell, Shoup, Spooner, Warren, Wilson, Wolcott—42.

Nays—Allen, Bacon, Bate, Berry, Butler, Caffery, Cannon, Chilton, Clay, Cockrell, Daniel, Harris, Heitfeld, Jones (Ark.), Jones (Nev.), Kenney, Lindsay, McEnery, McLaurin, Mallory, Mantle, Martin, Mitchell, Money, Pasco, Pettigrew, Pettus, Rawlins, Roach, Stewart, Teller, Turley, Turner, Turpie, White—35.

The Resolution as Passed.

The resolution as agreed to by both houses is as follows:

"Joint resolution for the recognition of the independence of Cuba, demanding that the government of Spain relinquish its authority and government in the island of Cuba, and to withdraw its land and naval forces from Cuba and Cuban waters and directing the president of the United States to use the land and naval forces of the United States to carry these resolutions into effect:

"Whereas, The abhorrent conditions, which have existed for more than three years in the island of Cuba, so near our own borders, have shocked the moral sense of the people of the United States, have been a disgrace to Christian civilization, culminating, as they have, in the destruction of a United States battleship, with 266 of its officers and crew, while on a friendly visit in the harbor of Havana, and cannot longer be endured, as has been set forth by the president of the United States in his message to congress of April 11, 1898, upon which the action of congress was invited; therefore,

"Resolved, First—That the people of the Island of Cuba are and of right ought to be free and independent.

"Second—That it is the duty of the United States to demand, and the government of the United States does hereby demand, that the government of Spain at once relinquish its authority and government in the Island of Cuba, and withdraw its land and naval forces from Cuba and Cuban waters.

"Third—That the president of the United States be, and he hereby is, directed and empowered to use the entire land and naval forces of the United States, and to call into the actual service of the United States any militia of the several states, to such extent as may be necessary to carry these resolutions into effect.

"Fourth—That the United States hereby disclaim any disposition or intention to exercise sovereignty, government or control over said island, except for the pacification thereof, and assert their determination, when that is accomplished, to leave the government and control of the island to its people."

TO CONCENTRATE TROOPS.

Twenty-two Regiments to Move Toward Chickamauga is the Plan.

WASHINGTON (Special.) — In the event that the war policy contemplates the invasion of Cuba, the army may be increased to 109,000 men. Of this, the regular troops and the national guard will aggregate about 55,000 men, and the remainder will be made up of volunteers. In the event of a call upon the national guard, attention will be directed first to the organizations in the states of New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio and the District of Columbia.

General Miles's plan is to mobilize seventeen of the twenty-five regiments of infantry and five of the ten regiments of cavalry at the Chickamauga park as speedily as possible.

"Infamous Calumny," Says Sagasta.

Senor Sagasta, the Spanish premier, is quoted in a special dispatch from Madrid as saying, with reference to the destruction of the Maine having having been caused through Spanish agency: "This infamous calumny merits the reprobation of the whole world. All the nations know the true cause of the disaster and many officials know it, too. For the American government to base a plea of intervention upon heartless calumny of this character is to rebel against reason and justice. For this reason it is impossible for us to refrain from protesting formally against the imputation."

Munitions of War.

The Wilson line steamer Marengo, which arrived Friday from New Castle, England, brought 250 tons of war material recently purchased from the well known firm of Sir William Armstrong, Mitchell & Co. The munitions of war consist of guns, gun cartridges and unloaded cartridges.

Death Under the Wheels.

While inspecting cars at Stonega, Va., John Stewart, of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, was run over by an engine and killed outright.

NO "TIPS" TO SPAIN.

Movements of Warships Will Not Be Made Public.

Gradually the lines are tightening around the news centers of the navy department. The officials of the bureau have given notice that hereafter no more information would be given to the public respecting the arrival and departure of vessels from any of the United States or foreign ports. This is done under explicit orders from Secretary Long, who believes that in times of great public crisis like the present, when the navy is likely to be called into active requisition, the best interests of the government require that no publicity shall be given to the movements of the ships composing it.

Queen Regent Threatens to Abdicate.

The Queen Regent of Spain has informed the members of her court that it is her intention to abdicate immediately if the cabinet takes any steps derogatory to Spain's honor and dignity. The last dispatches from Washington have created profound excitement throughout Spain. The Spaniards protest against the "odious imputation" setting forth that Spanish officers were responsible for the loss of the Maine. It is asserted in Madrid that proof can be furnished to show that no torpedoes have ever been laid in Havana harbor.

A Thirty-Million-Dollar Combination.

Representatives of about fifty knitting mills met in New York the past week and formed a knit goods manufacturers' association. The combination, which is to include only the underwear branches of the knit goods manufacturers, will be incorporated and capitalized at $30,000,000.

Another Spaniard Packs His Grip.

Senor Poling, Spanish vice-consul at Jacksonville, Fla., has packed his personal effects, and is waiting for further orders.

MORE WAR PREPARATIONS.

Naval Reserve Will Demand Patrol Boats. After the O'Higgins Again.

Several important and decisive steps in the work of war preparations were taken by the navy department Friday. It was decided that when hostilities appear certain to assign the naval reserves of New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Maryland and Michigan to the five auxiliary cruisers hereafter to be known as patrol boats. It was decided to charter the American liners St. Louis, St. Paul, Paris and the New York.

But of greater moment than any of these developments was the re-opening of negotiations for the purchase of two warships and several torpedo boats from Chili and Argentine. One of the cruisers is the O'Higgins, just completed in England.

The proposition has taken definite shape in the suggestion that Chili shall sell the O'Higgins and one torpedo boat, while Argentine shall dispose of their Garibaldi or the San Martini, both fine cruisers, and two torpedo boats.

This would leave the two navies in about the same respective condition.

Gladstone's Condition.

HAWARDEN, ENGLAND.—Mr. Gladstone's doctors say there has been little change in his condition during the past week. The family attended service in the Hawarden church Sunday morning, Rev. Stephen Gladstone officiating. As indicating the gravity of Mr. Gladstone's condition, it is noted that the clergyman requested the prayers of the church for his father. He also requested the prayers of his congregation that "peace might be maintained between the two great Christian countries the United States and Spain."

Carlists Ready to Seize Spanish Throne.

The supporters in Spain of Don Carlos, the Spanish pretender, headed by the Earl of Ashburnham, are actively preparing for an emergency. Every detail has been arranged to seize the propitious moment for action. The Carlists are convinced that the present Spanish dynasty is doomed, and that Sagasta will be forced to choose between republicanism and Don Carlos. They hold that the only chance for the present dynasty is a successful war against the United States, the possibility of which is scouted.

Want Lee to Lead Them.

It is known that a high position in the army has been offered General Lee. There is a clamor from the south to have him put in command of the southern soldiers who are sent to the front. General Lee said while in Washington that there will be no great danger from disease if the troops are properly handled. "If the troops are kept out of the sun and dew as much as possible, they will be all right," he said.

The Dauntless a Dispatch Boat.

The world-famous filibusterer, the swift and rakish sea-tug, Dauntless, is now the dispatch boat of the Associated Press. The United States court released her Monday upon a bond of $25,000. She is being provisioned and coaled for her mission in southern seas. When the necessity arises, she will go the front of the fray and bear news to the world of the battles.

Roosevelt Will Go to the Front.

Hon. Theodore Roosevelt probably will resign his office as assistant secretary of the navy in case of hostilities with Spain, to accept a commission for active service in the army. Nothing definite has yet been decided upon as to what assignment he will accept, but it is believed that he would prefer to serve with the New York state troops.

Final Effort for Peace.

ST. PETERSBURG, (Special.) — The diplomatic body, discussing together with Russian statesmen the desirability of a second friendly peace representation to the United States, have agreed strongly desiring that a last effort be made to avert war. It is believed such a step is about to be taken.

Spain Trying to Raise a Loan.

It is reported in London that the government of Spain has been in communication with leading financial houses, including the Rothschilds, in an effort to raise a loan of £4,000,000 ($20,000,000) on the security of the Almaden mines. The Rothschilds decline to confirm or deny the rumor.

Crespo Killed.

A special cablegram from Caracas, Venezuela, to the New York World, says that Ex-President Joaquin Crespo, of Venezuela, was killed in battle with Hernandez, the leader of the rebel forces, last Friday.

Panic at Manilla.

A special from Singapore says the steamship Leo XII, from Manilla, has arrived there, crowded with Spanish officials and well-to-do Spanish families, who are escaping from the rebellion, which is spreading rapidly in the Philippines. The report is that Manilla is panic stricken.

Germany is Not Hostile.

The semi-official North German Gazette at Berlin, published a note to the effect that the reports that the ambassadors of the powers at Washington have assumed a hostile attitude toward the United States are incorrect so far as Germany is concerned.

The Nue Freie Presse, like all other Vienna papers, has lost all sympathy for the United States. It says: "War is inevitable and America will triumph, but it will not become a page of fame in her history."

LAUNCHING OF THE ALABAMA

Senator Morgan's Daughter Will Christen the Battleship.

It was learned at Philadelphia today that May 18 has been fixed as the date for the launching of the United States battleship Alabama. The christening ceremonies will be performed by Miss Morgan, daughter of United States Senator Morgan, of Alabama, the state's representative on the battleship committee.

The Alabama will be the largest battleship ever built in the United States for the navy. She will be 368 feet long between perpendiculars and 72 feet beam. Her displacement will be 11,565 tons. Her guns will be of the following caliber: Four 13-inch guns, eight 8-inch guns, fourteen 6-inch rapid fire guns, twenty 6-pounder rapid fire guns, four 1-pounder rapid fire guns, four machine guns and four 18-inch torpedo tubes. The armor belt will be 17 inches thick at the water line, 12 inches thick at the protective deck, 17 inches thick on the turrets, 12 inches thick on the conning tower, and 2 inches thick on the deck. The engines will be of 10,000 horsepower, and will be capable of driving the ship 16 knots an hour.

The armament will be supplemented by a secondary battery of rapid fire guns, consisting of fourteen 6-inch guns and four 8-inch guns, together with a number of machine guns. She will have a complement of 500 officers and men. The Alabama will be 16 inches deeper and 4 feet broader in the beam than the Kearsarge, the largest battleship now in the United States navy. She will be 17 inches longer than the Kearsarge, and will have a displacement of 1,565 tons more than the Kearsarge. She will be the largest battleship ever built in the United States navy, and will be the most powerful vessel of her class in the world, and 2 of the best.

NEW ENTERPRISES IN SO

Several Important Works Under Construction.

A great variety of new enterprises in the south is reported in Tradesman for the past week, the most important of which are works, two cotton factories, a large cotton factory, a large cotton mill in Texas, a 1,000 spindle cotton mill in Georgia, an electric light and electric power plant, a cotton oil mill, to make ice and furnish electric power, one factory to build an ice and cold storage plant, and three companies, a bond issuing company, a land company, and a sugar refinery.

The timber industry includes a more saw mills, a lumber company, a planing mill, a factory for making parquet steps, a factory for making veneer nail.

Two mattress factories, one mine in Alabama, a manufactory in Virginia, two oil mills, a cotton seed oil mill, a cotton compress, the rebuilding of a cotton mill in Tennessee and a stove factory in Kentucky, recently burned, and a tobacco factory, a company of unusual diversity and importance.

Fighting in Cuba.

News of further fighting between the insurgents and the Spaniards in the province of Pinar del Rio reached Havana Monday. It is said that a force of insurgents, under Aguilar Rios, made an attack upon the Spanish garrison at Punta del Rio, just west of the fishing village of Mariel, to the Spanish capital. The official report says the fort was attacked and besieged by volunteers who made a brave defence, lasting two days. "In the meantime, however, officially admitted, "the insurgents entered the town and partially destroyed a tobacco warehouse." Spanish report adds that the garrison of the fort lost four men killed and nine men wounded.

Indians Threaten to Make Trouble.

Nearly a thousand Cheyenne Indians are gathered on the banks of the Canadian river, in Oklahoma, 30 miles from the agency, holding a war dance. It is feared by many that the Indians, incited by their medicine men, will take advantage of the war with Spain and start an uprising to secure their lands, and in revenge of the encroachments of the anti-territorial policy which has caused great discontent among the Indians.

No More Ships Can Be Sold.

It was stated at the state department Monday that the offer of the Chilian battleship O'Higgins has been practically withdrawn, that there is no longer any prospect that the United States desires or intends to secure any more warships, and that those longing to foreign nations are being built in foreign ship yards.

Batteries for Southern Ports.

General Wilson, chief of artillery, has been given an allotment from the emergency fund for erecting temporary batteries for the protection of Georgia, Florida and Louisiana ports.

Polo's Instructions.

According to a special dispatch from Madrid, the supreme council of war has authorized Senor Gullon, foreign minister at Washington to inform Spain directly President McKinley accepts "any resolution of congress which attacks Spain's sovereignty in Cuba."

Bound West.

LAUNCHING OF THE ALABAMA.

Senator Morgan's Daughter Will Christen the Battleship.

It was learned at Philadelphia Sunday that May 18 has been fixed as the date for the launching of the United States battleship Alabama, in course of construction at Cramp's shipyard. Miss Morgan, daughter of United States Senator Morgan, will, it is said, christen the ship named in honor of her native state.

The Alabama will be the first in water of the big battleships contracted for in October, 1896. The other two, the Wisconsin and Illinois, are being built respectfully at San Francisco and Newport News. All three are [illegible]

To Tampa, Fla.—The Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Ninth, Thirteenth, Seventeenth and Twenty-first.

The command of the army will devolve upon Major General Nelson A. Miles, who is now at the head of the military branch of the government. His temporary headquarters it is said, probably, will be at Atlanta. General Miles's permanent headquarters will depend entirely upon the exigencies of the situation and the developments of the campaign.

THE NEWS OF OUR OWN STATE.

Boom in Telephone Construction.

There is a boom in telephone construction in North Alabama, and especially around Huntsville. Within the next few days the American Long Distance Telephone Company will begin erecting a line from Huntsville to Decatur, and from that place to Pulaski, Tenn., and Birmingham and Florence. Birmingham and Alabama cities south of there will have two lines connecting them with the north, as will Huntsville. The company proposes to connect every town in North Alabama, and it will take many months to do the work. In Madison county the local Bell telephone exchange is making a number of new stations in the country towns, connecting them with the exchange. Connections have been made recently with Meridianville, Hazle Green, Bell Factory and Maysville, and additional lines will soon be erected to Deposit, New Market, Noten's Chapel, Monrovia, Jeff and Triana.

To Erect Cotton Factory at Florence.

Mr. F. M. Perry, who recently purchased a tract of 1,100 acres of land near Florence for the purpose of erecting a cotton factory, has decided to add a combination flour and grist mill and two large cotton gins, making five large industries to be established by one man under one management. The flour and grist mill will have a capacity of twenty-five barrols of each daily, but will grind only the home-grown wheat and corn, and will not attempt to sell any but the home and country trade. Mr. Perry has about 12,000 acres of cotton land in this county, and will raise and gin a considerable portion of the raw material for the cotton mill. He will spend more than $100,000 upon the plant, and a force of hands is now at work making the necessary repairs upon the property.

Mobile Harbor Channel Mined.

Defenses of the channel and harbor at Mobile were completed Saturday. The whole bar channel is mined with gun cotton and dynamite, and hundreds of torpedoes were placed at irregular distances a mile from the fort, which is now one of the most strongly fortified harbors on the gulf. It will be connected by telegraph with Mobile and by cable with Fort Gaines, whence the wire will lead to the city along the western shore. An attempt was made by the government officers to purchase the present telegraph line from Fort Morgan to Mobile, but it failed, and the new lines were commenced on Western Union poles Monday.

A Noted Horse Thief Jailed.

One of the slickest horse thieves in the country was lodged in jail at Center Monday. James Foster is his name, and his head is as white as snow, being probably 60 years old. When captured he had on his person memoranda showing where he had stolen horses from, the amount expended for food for them before being disposed of, and the net profit on each horse stolen. His book showed that he operated from South Carolina to Texas.

Organizing Negro Regiment.

William J. Stevens, a well known negro politician, is organizing a regiment of negro troops in Anniston and nearby towns for service in Cuba. Stevens wired President McKinley and Governor Johnston tendering his own services in case of war and those of the negroes who are joining his regiment.

Government Buying Alabama Granite.

The government has given out a contract to supply granite for the fort at Mobile. Being pressed for time and unable to send to Maine for granite, the government's agent fortunately found that Tallassee granite from the Coosa region of Alabama would fulfill all the requirements. The contract is for 50,000 tons.

For Fort Morgan.

Mr. Walter Sarjeant, agent in Mobile of the Angier Line, has closed a contract to deliver at Fort Morgan for the use of the United States government 12,000 barrels of cement. The cement will come from Germany and is purchased by the Mobile Coal company.

Appointed Sheriff of Pickens County.

The governor has appointed B. C. Salmonds sheriff of Pickens county to succeed R. C. Long, resigned.

Populists' State Convention.

A call has been issued by order of the executive committee of the people's party of Alabama to meet in state convention at McDonald's opera house in Montgomery on May 4 to nominate candidates for state officers, etc. The representation of the respective counties is based on the number of votes cast for Hon. A. T. Goodwyn for governor in 1896.

Both Instantly Killed.

On Rough and Ready creek, Posey county, Kentucky, George Whitaker and William Jackson quarreled over a line fence. Both drew revolvers, fired simultaneously and both were killed.

The Pope Trying to Influence Spain.

A Rome correspondent of the London Times says: "In vatican circles the opinion is still held that an outbreak of war may yet be averted, and a rumor is afloat to the effect that the pope is endeavoring to persuade Spain to recognize the independence of Cuba."

There were 3,500 pounds of dynamite and a number of old car wheels, to be used as anchors for torpedoes, sent down to Fort Morgan from Mobile Saturday afternoon.

GOOD ROADS NOTES.

Good Roads in Maryland.

It has required much demonstration to convince the Maryland farmers that good roads are a profitable investment. The work of the agricultural experiment stations in this regard has been invaluable. Experiments with broad and narrow tires conducted under the eyes of the farmers have definitely shown the folly of maintaining the present system of small-tired wheels, as long as the roads are indifferent or positively bad in quality. There are two points from which to view the relationship between the tires and the quality of the road. The experiments have shown first that as long as the roads are in poor condition, subject to much moisture and thereby liable to become heavy and muddy at short notice, the use of the narrow tire is a positive hindrance. It requires more power to haul a wagon so equipped, for the tire sinks deep into the material of the road and thus forms for itself a constant obstruction that must be overcome. But the broad tire has a use other and indeed better than that of minimizing the labor and therefore the cost of hauling. It cures the bad conditions that have been largely caused by the narrow tire, serving as a compressor and gradually compacting the material and greatly improving its condition. Thus the use of the broad tire means a double gain. It saves in the cost of hauling, by permitting heavier loads to be hauled by the same agencies and in less time, and it saves, too, in the cost of road making and in repairing. It is believed that if all road users could be persuaded to change the tires of their draft vehicles, especially in the districts where bad roads are the rule rather than the exception, the ultimate cost of bringing the country thoroughfares up to a modern standard would within a very short time be so low that the most comprehensive road improvement laws could be passed without difficulty. The present movement in Maryland is concentrated in an effort to secure the enactment by the Legislature of certain pending bills that aim at the construction of good roads by authorizing the people to bond themselves for this purpose. In some States much has been done by granting exemptions from road taxes to those road users who have adopted the broad tires and likewise to those who have adjusted their vehicles so that the front and rear wheels will not "track," thus minimizing the chances of wearing the surface of the road. It has been found that with broad tires in use the amount of surfacing material needed is comparatively small.—Washington Star.

Steel Country Roads.

The steel country roads, with which the United States department of agriculture is experimenting, will practically be constructed as follows: The present design calls for an inverted trough-shaped steel rail, with a slightly raised head on the inside, and an 8-inch tread and 7-16-inch thick. These rails would be bedded in gravel laid in well-drained trenches, and the rails would be tied together at the ends and at the middle. On grades the rails would be indented slightly to prevent the horses slipping on the rails; the joints would be made stronger than the rail to prevent "low joints," and to prevent the formation of ruts alongside the rails each joint would form a "remount" for the wheels. The advantage claimed for these steel roads is the reduction in traction from forty pounds per ton on macadam to eight pounds on the steel rails. The materials for the heavier class of steel roads of this design will cost about $3,500 per mile in small quantities. The amount of material required is less than 100 tons per mile, and long lines could probably be built for $2000 per mile. The lighter type of road only requires 50 tons per mile and would cost about $1000 per mile. These prices are exclusive of grading and track-laying.

The average difference between rails and billets for the six years, 1891 to 1896, inclusive, was $6.72. The figures for the three years 1888, 1889 and 1890 showed that the rails could be sold at an average of less than $1 a ton above the price of billets, leaving, say, $5.72 per ton as the average extra profit which the pool enabled the steel-rail men to make. As during these six years their sales were in the neighborhood of 7,500,000 tons, this represents a profit of $40,000,000.

Country Doctors and Bad Roads.

The condition of country roads affects the rural doctor perhaps quite as much as anybody, especially as his duties compel him to use them pretty constantly, no matter what shape they may happen to be in. A Bloomington paper says that a physician in a small Illinois town has had life made a burden to him by the roads over, or rather through, which he has had to travel. "In some places the mud is actually a foot-and-a-half deep. It is at times almost impossible for a horse to get through it. Yet he has calls to make a distance of ten miles or more, over that kind of roads. Recently he was on a good horse galloping through the mud, in spite of the fact that, at every jump the horse went over his ankles,—when the horse slipped and fell. The doctor was thrown bodily over a ditch of water, while the horse went into the ditch head first. The soft ground let both rider and horse escape unhurt, but they were both so covered with mud that it was impossible to tell what color they were. The doctor had on a waterproof and did not get wet. He caught the horse, mounted and went on. It was not an unusual occurrence.

A Good Roadmaker.

Edwin McIntyre, who lives a hermit life in the house near Warren where Dr. Pilson R. Baker was shot, has a queer hobby. One of the prettiest and best pieces of road in Maine passes in front of his retreat. It has been built by Mr. McIntyre, who for the past twenty-three years has been picking up the stones and rocks near his home and pounding them into pebbles, which he has put in the highway. In twenty-three years' time he has pounded 900,000 stones and made them ready for road use. The town authorities, recognizing the value of the work, for years have compensated the man by giving him his road tax. He estimates that he has placed on the road twenty cords of these manufactured stones. Other towns might envy Warren such a faithful road builder.—Rockland (Me.) Star.

Pebbles.

Toll roads have been largely abolished in Indiana.

With bad roads farmers are dependent on the weather; with good highways they would be independent of it.

This is the season of the year to watch the roads. A road that is genuinely good is fit for traffic at all seasons.

A Good Roads League has been formed in Colorado, and is actively agitating highway improvement needs, means and methods.

A sample piece of five hundred feet of steel roadway, the plates being laid on cement, is to be put down on the Brecksville road near Cleveland.

Over five thousand citizens signed a petition for better street paving and repair, and presented it to the Mayor and Board of Public Works of Denver.

To keep down the cost of repairing macadamized roads as low as possible, they must receive constant attention, and all ruts and depressions be filled up as soon as they appear.

Sweep off the mud and dust as fast as they are formed, and fill up the ruts and bad places with new materials as soon as they appear, are all that is necessary in order to ensure good roads all the time.

A farmhouse near Osnaburg, Ohio, took fire the other night, and burned down, because no engines could reach it on account of the condition of the roads. An old man, who was alone in it, perished in the flames.

Removal of ruts from the highways, says Governor Mount, of Indiana, will be the initiative step in getting out of the ruts in the methods of our farming, and bring farm life to a higher plane of intelligent progress.

Life Without a Stomach.

The stomach has always been supposed to be absolutely essential to the proper performance of the digestive functions. The fact that two people have had their stomachs removed, and that one of them is alive and apparently in the enjoyment of excellent health, upsets all preconceived theories as to the absolute necessity of this portion of the human anatomy. A woman has had her stomach removed completely, that organ being hopelessly affected. The oesophagus was united with the canal leading from the stomach, and there seems to be nothing wrong in the internal economy of the owner of this curious digestive apparatus. To be sure, instead of full meals she takes an occasional bite, and is compelled to be very careful that she does not overload or overtax this substitute. The operation was almost in the nature of a caprice. It was evident that something was wrong with the patient's stomach, and, after careful preparation, the operation was begun. Almost immediately it developed that the entire stomach was involved, and that it would be impossible to save any portion of it. It was a foregone conclusion that death was only a matter of a few days. The operating physician conceived the rather original idea of uniting the oesophagus with the canal leading from the stomach. It is a matter for congratulation that thus far there have been no grave symptoms and that the patient takes food with relish, and apparently without discomfort. One is led to wonder to what lengths surgery may go, and how many of our notions and theories about the possibilities and limitations of the physical will hold in the face of these great advances in modern surgery.—Ledger.

What the Fox Should Have Said.

"No," said the man with the large head, "I can't say that I think very much of the fox in the old fable of 'The Fox and the Grapes.' It is recorded of him that after trying to get the grapes by every way that his ingenuity could suggest he finally turned up his nose and said, 'Oh, I don't care! they're sour anyway.'

"Now, if that fox had any really commendable wisdom in his triangular skull he would have looked at the grapes blandly, and then have announced to the world that they were sweet, but that sweets didn't agree with him; that owing to the condition of his stomach he considered it inadvisable to eat anything containing saccharine matter, and that, besides, a properly philosophical fox believed in self-denial and in taking things that were easily at his disposal, instead of trying to climb a trellis to secure attractive but deleterious grapes.

"If he had done that, instead of being the laughing stock of succeeding generations, he would have stood a good chance of being appointed professor of philosophy in a subsidized university, and of living on yellow-legged chickens for the rest of his natural life."—Tit-Bits.

A Waterproof Paper Church.

Bergen, Norway, boasts a paper church large enough to seat 1000 persons, the building being rendered fire-proof by a solution of quick lime, curdled milk and white of eggs.

UNCERTAINTY IS APPARENT.

Dun & Co.'s Trade Review Says There Is Much Hindrance to Business on Account of War Preparations.

R. G. Dun & Co's. weekly review of trade says:

Preparations for war continue as if it were inevitable. There is much hindrance to business, and yet the volume of payments through clearing houses is still 12.9 per cent. larger than last year, and outside New York about 2.2 per cent. larger than in 1892, though speculative stagnation here makes the aggregate lower. New York banks may now realize that they are strong enough for all possible emergencies and may give the government valuable aid by greater freedom in business loans. Sound New York banks are not in the least alarmed about the business situation, nor have they any occasion for alarm.

The industries are doing well because they have enormous orders taken in February or earlier, which insures operations for a period varying from a fortnight to several months.

But new orders are restricted by apprehension about the money market and the possibility of loans.

As to the iron business, foreign orders for six large vessels are pending in eastern yards, and orders for cars alone cover 20,000 tons basic steel at Pittsburg. Angles have advanced $1 per ton and structural works are all crowded with orders, while pipes are in heavy demand.

Print cloths are at the lowest point ever touched. The stagnation in wool is remarkable, the total sales at the three chief markets having been only 1,182,000 pounds, against 9,606,000 last year. Manufacturers are somewhat encouraged by a rather better tone in the clothing trade of late.

Wheat rose 5¼ and held 2¼ of it for the week. The volume of legitimate business is enormous and meanwhile failures are remarkably small, 245 this week, against 207 last year.

TO REVIEW CUBAN CASE.

Spain Will Send a Note to the European Powers.

A special dispatch from Madrid says: "Spain will send a note to the powers, which will review the whole Cuban question, pointing out that all the trouble with the United States arises through the clamor of the sugar manufacturers, who, it is claimed, fomented and organized the entire revolt. Attention will be recalled to the alleged unmolested filibusterings, and it will be asserted that the chief insurgent leaders are not Cubans, but adventurers of all nationalities, whose sole purpose is plunder and robbery.

"The concessions made by Spain will be enumerated and the note will say that Spain has done everything possible to pacify the island; the Consuls of the United States have constituted themselves insurgent agents, and the further statement will be made that whenever autonomy promised the desired results the American squadron was sent to Cuba to encourage the insurgents to hold out.

"These contentions, it is added, will be supported by documentary evidence, which, it is alleged, will prove the barefaced displayed throughout by the United States toward Spain.

"The note to the powers will conclude with the declaration that Spain, having exhausted the means of peace, is reluctantly compelled to prepare for war and to fight for the maintenance of its right and honor."

GEN. MILES EXPLAINS.

President Has the Authority to Call Out 12,000,000 Men.

Maj.-Gen. Miles, commanding the army, says that considerable misapprehension exists in regard to the raising of troops in the event of war. He thought the people should understand the situation more thoroughly than appears to be the case at present.

"In the event of the passage of the resolution reported by the senate foreign relations committee," said Gen. Miles, "the president would have authority to call into the service of the government militia to the number of about 12,000,000 men. The third section of the resolution directs and empowers the president to use the entire land and naval forces of the United States and to call into the actual service of the United States militia of the several states to such extent as may be necessary to carry these resolutions into effect."

SPANISH PARLIAMENT

Has Been Summoned to Meet on Wednesday, April 20.

MADRID, (Special.)—At a cabinet council, which was held Thursday under the presidency of the Queen Regent, it was decided to hasten the reopening of the Spanish parliament. The date for the assembling of the Cortes was April 25, but parliament will now be summoned on Wednesday, April 20, next.

The Queen Regent, at the cabinet council signed the decree for a national subscription to increase the strength of the Spanish fleet.

Again at Hampton Roads.

The flying squadron, the departure of which caused so much excitement on Wednesday, returned Friday to anchorage at Fort Monroe, after having completed two days and two nights of arduous labor, with satisfaction to its commanding officer.

Purchase of Mules Ordered.

The quartermaster general of the army has been instructed to purchase 1,000 mules for transportation purposes. The purchase probably will be made at St. Louis or Kansas City.

FORTY-EIGHT HOURS THE LIMIT

For Spain to Relinquish Her Hold on Cuba, Says the Washington Post.

The Washington Post's summary of the situation published in Sunday's issue includes the following statement:

"Immediately the president is empowered to use the army and navy he will issue an ultimatum to Spain, giving her twenty-four hours—possibly forty-eight—within which to answer whether she will peaceably withdraw her troops and flag from Cuba. Her refusal to evacuate the island, which is, of course, expected, will be the signal for action on the part of this government and that action will be the use of both our naval and land forces. The Post makes this statement upon the highest possible authority, the course of action indicated having been decided upon at yesterday's cabinet meeting. Should the resolutions reach the president, accompanied by the amendment recognizing the republic of Cuba, the president will sign them, but in a brief message to congress he will hold that the constitutional prerogatives vested in the president to recognize other governments cannot be taken away and that the amendment is therefore void and inoperative."

CANNOT BE CONFIRMED.

Reported in Chicago That the Man Who Laid the Mines That Destroyed the Maine Is Under Arrest.

The Chicago Times-Herald says: "Charles A. Crandall, alias Emanuel Escadaro, who, acting under the personal orders of Captain General Weyler planted the mines and torpedos in the harbor of Havana, has been run to earth in Chicago. Thursday night he was in custody of three United States secret agents, who are taking him to Washington, where he is expected to give information to prove beyond any possible doubt that the Maine was blown up by a mine and her 266 officers and crew murdered designedly by agencies known to the Spanish officials.

"He was run down by a Cuban spy.

"Ever since the Maine was blown up Crandall, or Escadaro, has been dodging about the country. When the United States secret agents assured him that he would be protected he volunteered to accompany them.

"Crandall's statements are substantiated by letters in his possession from Weyler's officers and from Weyler himself."

The Times-Herald story, after diligent inquiry, could not be confirmed.

ENGLAND WITH US.

Will Take No Part in Reported Naval Demonstration Against United States.

LONDON, (Special.)—The officials of the British foreign office, when questioned on the subject, refused to make a statement on the hypothetical case as to whether Great Britain would join in a naval demonstration in behalf of Spain, but they added that they did not believe that such a demonstration would be attempted.

A representative of the Associated Press, however, learns from the ambassador here of a continental power that no such demonstration is contemplated, "though it might be mooted by some despairing friend of Spain." He added: "Such a movement could not succeed if attempted, in view of Great Britain's flat refusal to join in any demonstration or step with the view of putting pressure upon the United States. If the continental powers attempted it Great Britain would probably openly endorse the United States, a certain snub to Europe. The Austrian ambassador openly says he has given up any hope of Europe preventing war."

SPAIN FOR BLOODY WAR.

Cabinet Confirms Belief That War is Inevitable.

MADRID (Special.)—The action taken by the Spanish cabinet has confirmed the general belief that war is now inevitable. The warlike tone of the official note issued by the Spanish government finds general approval here, and creates much excitement.

Contrary to the general opinion that the queen regent has been negotiating for peace at any price, her attitude had much to do with the firm action of the cabinet.

The queen says:

"I prefer even the horrors of war, rather than a tarnish on the prestige of the army, or an impairment of the rights of the crown."

Angry Mob at Malaga.

MALAGA, SPAIN—There was a serious disturbance here Saturday, resulting in an attack upon the United States consulate. The demonstration began with the parading of small crowds through the streets shouting patriotic cries. But the mob eventually gathered and attacked the United States consulate. Stones were thrown, and one of the mob leaders procured a ladder, tore down the shield having upon it the arms of the United States, and dragged it along the streets. The prefect arrived and addressed the people, begging them to disperse, which to some degree restored order.

Disabilities Removed.

Governor Atkinson has issued orders as commander-in-chief of the Georgia militia, removing the disabilities of twenty five members of the Atlanta artillery, who were discharged by court martial in March, 1897. The young men were charged with an uprising against their captain.

This promises to be the most interesting meeting of the campaign, and it is expected that the several candidates will have delegations of their friends from all over the county to help whoop things up for them.

THE United States battleship "Alabama" will be launched at Philadelphia May 18. The cruiser "Alabama" made a world-wide reputation during the late trouble between the States, and doubtless the new battleship will make a record of which all will be proud. Here's to the "Alabama!"

THE last grand jury made a recommendation that some improvements be made in the conditions of the public conveniences near the jail. Something should be done at once before the hot weather sets in. Whether the county or the city is responsible we do not know, but some arrangements could surely be made when the health of the town is at stake.

WAR! The fiat has gone forth and once again in its history the United States will prove her prowess to the world. The resolutions passed by Congress are equivalent to a declaration of war against Spain, and it is probably only a matter of a few days before actual hostilities commence. The ultimate result is questioned by none—the freedom of Cuba, and the eternal abolition of the power of Spain in the Western hemisphere. Considering the vast resources of the United States and the shaky political and financial condition of the Spanish government it will in all probability be a campaign of short duration. An American army of 40,000 or 50,000 men in Cuba with the aid of the Cubans would easily be more than a match for the Spanish troops there, while the American navy can be relied upon to prevent any reinforcements or supplies reaching Cuba from Spain. With Cuba pacified, the remainder of the war will be between the navies of the two countries and Spain is in no condition to make good the losses she will unquestionably meet.

"The army and navy forever.
Three cheers for the red, white and blue."

As we go to press we learn the Democratic convention at Montgomery has nominated Joseph F. Johnston for governor; Thomas N. McClellan for chief justice; associate judges H. A. Sharpe, of Jefferson; Jonathan Harrison, of Dallas; John R. Tyson, of Montgomery; James K. Dowdell, of Chambers. Secretary of State, Robt P. McDavid, of Montgomery; Attorney-General Chas. G. Brown, of Jefferson; Auditor W. S. White, of Colbert; Treasurer G. W. Ellis. The convention is still in session and will probably conclude its labors today

SEVEN trains of troops passed through Clanton last night en route to Cuba via Tampa. They were the Sixth Infantry from Fort Thomas, Ky., the Seventeenth regiment from Columbus, O., and a part of the Fourth Infantry from Fort Sheridan, Ills. A large number of our citizens was at the depot and greeted the boys in blue with cheer upon cheer and words of encouragement.

FIRE AT STEWART'S GIN.

Yesterday afternoom shortly before two o'clock the cry of fire was raised, and a dense cloud of black smoke coming from a northerly direction showed the conflagration to be at Stewart's gin. With commendable promptitude every man and boy in town formed themselves into a bucket brigade and a large quantity of water thrown on the gin house prevented its destruction. The fire originated in the woodpile and was probably started by sparks from a passing locomotive. The boiler house was totally destroyed, and nougt remains of the woodpile but ashes. The wind was high and blowing towards the gin house and it was only owing to the hard work of our citizens that the entire building was not destroyed. Mr. John Oates, who was conspicuous by his efforts at the fire, had his arm and face scorched. Mr. Stewart was at his place at Lomax and we were unable to learn if he carried any insurance.

Clanton, April 21, 1898

Editor BANNER. Please allow me to offer my earnest thanks to all who came to my assistance yesterday in putting out the fire at my ginnery. When the fire started I was away and I appreciate the fact that it was only the real hard work of my neihbors and friends that saved whole the gin from destruction. I hardly know how to express myself and must therefore kindly beg all and everyone to accept these few words from a grateful heart. C. J. STEWART.

J. G. BARBOUR.

As an independent candidate, Mr. J. G. Barbour announces himself to the people of Chilton county soliciting their suffrage at the general election in August. Mr. Barbour himself gives a lengthy explanation of his position before the people, which renders it unnecesary for us to say much on the subject. If the people of Chilton county are prepared to dispense with all party distinctions and to elect independent candidates they will have an opportunity of so doing this summer. But this is a matter for the people to determine. Mr Barbour is a Chilton county man, and for three years was a justice of the peace in beat 5 He is a member of the Protestant church. He promises if elected to work for the best interests of the people.

Mr. DEASON'S HEALTH.

Clanton, April 20, 1898

E. B. Deason, Clanton.

Dear Sir. In reply to your request, I can unhesitatingly say that you are free from anything like consumption.

I treated you for asthma, but it is not at all like consumption.

So far as appears now, I know of no reason why any one should hesitate to vote for you on account of any fatal disease; with the care you have been taking, I see no reason why you should not live the usual allotment.

You are at liberty to make what use you like of this letter, remembering that in giving it, I in no way endorse your political views or in any way endorse you for the place you seek.

Yours truly,
W. E. STEWART.

Maplesville, April 19, 189

Editor BANNER I see that J. P VanDerveer is a candidate for the office of Probate Judge. I have known him since he first came to our county, a mere boy, for about ten years I lived within two miles of him and if I wanted a favor done or wanted advice he is the man I would go to He does not claim to be a lawyer but he has saved me a lawyer's fee more than once. He will get a heavy vote in this beat and I hope to see him Judge BEAT 7.

To the Members of the People's Party Executive Committee of Chilton County:

Gentlemen: The interest that I feel in the People's Party and the peace and happiness of our people is the only apology that I have in giving you and the managers of the primary election on the 29th inst. a word of warning and caution, for I know that if our people are awake and will watch, all will be well. But if the managers of the primary on the 29th should neglect any duty, and any illegal votes, or error in the count should be the result of such neglect, then our party in Chilton county in my judgment will be greatly injured if not entirely destroyed.

It has been predicted already that we will practice fraud in this election. My friends, let us see to it that this evil shall not come into our party, and I think that I know it will not if our managers will do their duty. Our party was organized as a protest against frauds in elections and I feel confident that we will not have anything of that kind in the coming election if you will watch, for I believe that the Executive Committee is made up of honest men, and, I only ask them and the managers to watch and see to it that our enemies are not gratified after the primary is over by rejoicing over our division as a party on account of some unfair or dishonest methods used on the 29th inst. I beg to suggest first, that you observe the rules laid down by the committee with reference to the qualification of those who vote in the primary.

Second, see that you have qualified and honest men for clerks, preserve the ballots, and be as careful as you would in the general election, in the count, in preserving the list; in a word, let us for the sake of the future of our cause and in order that we may elect those who are nominated, see that all things come up right. Respectfully,

W. H. CONWAY

Free Pills.

Send your address to H. E. Bucklen & Co., Chicago, and get a free sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills. A trial will convince you of their merits. These pills are easy in action and are particularly effective in the cure of Constipation and Sick Headache. For Malaria and Liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guaranteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 25c per box. Sold by J. S. Johnson, Druggist.

Jemison, April 16, 1898

Editor BANNER. Please allow me space to express to the voters of the People's Party that it behooves us to stand firm and steadfast to the principles of the party and support the man that stands for the party and protects the same. Let us look to the interest of the party and people. I suggest we nominate S. M. Adams for Probate Judge, for there is not a firmer man in the county than he is, notwithstanding there are some who are enemies to him that claim he came in the county for no other purpose than that of being judge. I wish to state in his interest that he has as good a right in Chilton county as any man in it. He has stood by our party in all its struggles and was at our service at a moment's warning. Let us come together on the 29th, the day of the primary, as one man and nominate S. M. Adams for Probate Judge, E. B. Deason for Circuit Clerk. Make no more b...ders. BEAT 7 BOX 2.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda supplies exactly what they want. They will thrive, grow strong and be well all winter on this splendid food tonic. Nearly all of them become very fond of it. For adults who are not very strong, a course of treatment with the Emulsion for a couple of months in the fall will put them through the winter in first-class condition. Ask your doctor about this.

Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion. See that the man and fish are on the wrapper.

SCOTT & BOWNE, ...

Jemison, Ala., April 19, 1898

Editor BANNER. I am glad I have lived to see Rev. S. M. Adams announced as a candidate for Probate Judge. He is our man. When I say that I mean he is the people's man. We were boys together. That dont signify anything if I did not know his ability, his firmness and all that makes him the very man that we need in the probate's office. He is unflinchingly strickly for the People's party. That is what we need and must have. The friends of Mr. Adams must not allow any one to ride into office on the back of the Alliance and the Populist party. We want a full blooded whole stock Populist, not for selfishness but a godly principle. Our rights we must defend. If beat 4 is a Populist he should let his name be seen. Now for Adams first and all the time. Friends, keep your eyes open till the last day in the evening, as a friend of the Banner, as a friend of the whole people. E. P. FLETCHER.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail, upon receipt of three two-cent stamps to cover cost of postage on the bottle. Mention The Banner and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Thorsby, April 18, 1898

Editor BANNER. Beat 9 will oppose any independent or siraddler. Mr. Honeycutt's letter is a very weak thing, notwithstanding he used some very strong language against the Populists of Chilton county. S. M. Adams and J. W. Moore for Probate and J. M. Burnett for Circuit Clerk will get about all the votes of this beat. Voters let me ask you not to forget J. M. Burnett. He is one of the best posted young men in Populist doctrines in the county and he believes in them. VOX.

A Shattered Nervous System.

FINALLY HEART TROUBLE.

Restored to Health by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

MR. EDWARD HARDY, the jolly manager of Sheppard Co's. great store at Beaseville, Ill., writes: "I had never been sick a day in my life until in 1890. I got so bad with nervous prostration that I had to give up and commence to doctor. I tried our local physicians and one in Joliet, but none gave me any relief and I thought I was going to die. I became despondent and suffered untold agony. I could not eat, sleep nor rest, and it seemed as if I could not exist. At the end of six months I was reduced to but a shadow of myself, and at last my heart became affected and I was really miserable. I took six or eight bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine. It gave me relief from the start, and at last a cure, the greatest blessing of my life."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address,

HUMOR OF THE HOUR.

A small Washington girl is very ingenious and shares the aversion peculiar to her years to being made presentable for the afternoon. She had, with great reluctance, relinquished her play and gone with her nurse from the room. In a few minutes her voice was heard outside the door begging the nurse to return for and accompany her back to her mother's presence.

"It won't take a minute," she said, "and I know my mother won't be angry, because it is something you ought to know about."

"What is wanted?" inquired the mother, opening the door.

"If you please," said the nurse, "she wouldn't have it any other way than that I should come back and see you."

"What for?"

"To have you tell me a story."

"I don't understand."

"I didn't want her to take my word for it," interrupted the little girl. "I want you to tell her the story father read out of the paper about an intoxicated gentleman who wouldn't listen to the advice of his friends and who was finally drowned in his bathtub. Nurse won't believe that there is any danger in my being washed and dressed so much."—Washington Star.

When persons are feverish and thirsty beyond what is natural—indicated by a metallic taste in the mouth or by a whitish appearance of the greater part of the tongue—one of the best "coolers" is to take a lemon, cut off the top, sprinkle over it some loaf sugar, working it down into the lemon with a spoon, and then suck it slowly.

Mountain railways attracted the attention of engineers at a comparatively early date in the history of railway traffic. Undoubtedly the Semmering railway—which was the first line to cross the Alps—holds the distinction of being the first mountain railway that was built. This line connects Vienna with the Mediterranean at Triest.

REDEEMABLE BANK NOTES AND DISCOUNTS.

These Are Always Dangerous and Always Breeders of Panics—Gage and His Associates Attempting to Fasten Spurious Money on Country.

Paper issues redeemable in coin and the loaning of banking deposits, called bank credits, are the explosives of finance and the breeders of panic, according to the Silver Knight-Watchman. Money redeemable in other money and the compound loaning of deposits have been the cause of every financial panic of which we have any record. Redeemable paper and bank credit furnish for the time being additional means for the purchase of property, and in that way temporarily cause a rise in prices. If such credits could be made permanent, and not abused by excessive issues, they might have no bad effects. But all paper which is not money, but convertible into money, and all bank credits which are not based upon a like quantity of real money held by the bank issuing the credit, are the sources of panic, bankruptcy, and ruin.

The credits which pass for the time being as money, inflate prices, encourage imports and force the export of coin, which prevents the forthcoming of money when demand is made to meet the paper promises. The time must come, sooner or later, when real money cannot be had to meet outstanding promises. When the first crash comes the community is brought face to face with a vast volume of credits which they have been dealing in as money, but which are not money, and cannot be made good for want of money for redemption.

The history of bank issues and bank credits of every description in Europe and America is a history of inflation, robbery and collapse. Men of sense ought to know that there must be some relation between promises to pay money and the money with which to make payment, and that human nature is such that if people are allowed to issue promises to pay, and increase their wealth in that way, they will do so without regard to the fate of their victims, who, when the crash comes, hold their promises. As long as money manipulators are allowed to issue paper and pass it off as money and draw interest on their debts, they will do so, and while they are doing this, they will imitate the Pharisees of old, whose peculiarities are described in the New Testament.

Banker Gage, his associates and the entire money manipulating forces of the United States and London are now engaged in trying to fasten upon this country a volume of spurious money which they insist shall be redeemabble in gold. They expect to deceive the country by the pretense that the hundreds and perhaps thousands of millions of credit which they will issue is as good as gold because they promise to redeem it in gold. The promise they make is precisely the same as that which has been made in every instance where credit money has been issued and repudiated after it had served the purpose of robbing the community. There are some who admit that bank credit of every description issued by private persons or corporations is dangerous, because it always ends in a collapse.

But they say the government can issue credit money with perfect safety. We deny that proposition in toto. Mark the difference between silver coin and silver certificates and greenbacks and treasury notes. Silver coin is full legal tender, redeemable in nothing. Silver certificates are legal tender for the payment of public dues, and they are redeemable in silver coin which is in the treasury, dollar for dollar. These certificates have given the government no concern. No obligation was created by the issue of silver coin, nor by the issue of silver certificates, except to safely keep the silver coin for their redemption. Both are issued by the power of the government to create money, and when that power is exercised there is no after-clap about it any more than there is an after-clap in the passage of any other law. But the greenbacks are credit money. They are legal tender and that makes them as good as any other real money while they are out, but the United States has promised to redeem them in gold or silver coin at the option of the government. The executive department has given away or sold that option. We do not believe they are fools enough to give it away, because it is worth hundreds of millions. But ever president, from Hayes to McKinley, has insisted contrary to law that the creditor was entitled to demand gold for greenbacks. Behold the calamities resulting from the power of the bondholder to demand gold for greenbacks. If that power had not been conceded to the creditor it would have been impossible for Mr. Cleveland to have frightened the banks and the community and brought on the panic of 1893. He declared that the greenbacks were payable in gold; that the country would be dishonored if it did not pay them in gold, and that unless the purchasing clause of the Sherman act was repealed the country would be utterly bankrupted and that it was then on the verge of bankruptcy. This slander on the public credit by the president of the United States and the secretary of the treasury and by other high officials of the government and bank officers brought on the panic of 1893, which still continues, and which has wrecked the fortunes of millions of honest and industrious people. Nothing illustrates the wickedness of issuing credit money when the government has power to issue real money better than the use made of the greenbacks, and nothing illustrates more graphically the beneficial effects of issuing real money than the honest, steady work done by silver and silver certificates.

We do not propose to occupy space with the discussion of credit money of any kind, whether issued by the government or by private parties, because it is too manifest that money redeemable in other money is a trick and device to deceive the public and induce people to conform their business operations to a volume of money which does not exist, and which must inevitably disappear and spread ruin everywhere.

What argument is there in favor of the government issuing credit when it costs no more to coin real money than it does promises to pay? Real money will never bankrupt the government or swindle the community, and it is the duty of the government to furnish that kind of money. The duty of the government does not end there. It should make it a criminal offense for any person or corporation to issue any kind of currency to pass as money. Checks, bills of exchange, and other devices to facilitate business are all that are required if the government does its duty and maintains a volume of money sufficient to keep pace with population and business.

In this connection the distinction between bills of exchange, checks and the like and credit money must be borne in mind. The former are simply orders for money in existence, and do not pretend to be more than a transfer of the title of that money, whereas the latter purport to exercise a money function in themselves, and are not the representatives of any money in existence, or any money which will be found in case of stringency.

PROSPERITY NOTES.

The Androscoggin mills weavers at Lewiston, Me., have voted to remain out until the New Bedford strike is settled.

There's one sure thing about the prosperity wave, anyhow—we've always got something coming.—Toledo Bee.

Cigarmakers and packers, to the number of 380, employed by Seidenberg & Co., in New York city, went on strike on the 12th against a proposed reduction of wages, which, in some instances, is alleged to be as much as 25 per cent.

If a reduction in the wages of operatives in the New England cotton mills is to be universal there is no reason why the announcement should not be made at once. The elections are over.—New York World.

The strike among the canal laborers at Rome, N. Y., is over, and nearly all the men have returned to work at the old price, 12½ cents per hour.

It is a beautiful fact that the wave of prosperity and the discovery that a man may live without a stomach were practically simultaneous in the time of their arrival and announcement. Thus does Providence provide for the wants of the children of men in every emergency.—Auburn (Cal.) Herald.

An attempt was made at Westerly, R. I., recently to start the White Rock cotton mill, which has been closed for six weeks on account of a strike. Only fifty of the strikers returned to work.

Owners of the Post Office Department.

The lower branch of congress has passed the postoffice appropriation bill without reducing the item of $30,000,000 for railway mail transportation. This is tantamount to a confession that the railway corporations own the postoffice department. It was shown, in the debate upon the bill, that the railways now receive fully $20,000,000 per year more than they are entitled to for carrying the mails. This enormous overcharge is, of course, a great load for the department to carry, and it explains the poor financial showing made by our postoffice department in comparison with that of England, France or Germany. But the postoffice committee of the house is composed mostly of special agents of the railway corporations, and they naturally reported the bill favorably. But this was no excuse for the conduct of the house in passing the bill. But the house is in the same predicament as its committee. It is under the control of the railway corporations. There is something almost laughable in this incident. Every one knows that the corporations are receiving $20,000,000 per year more than they are honestly entitled to, and the corporations themselves do not deny it, yet the robbery of the government is calmly decreed to continue. This is Chinese, as truthful James remarked.—Twentieth Century.

The Wall Street Game.

And now come the patriots of Wall street through their congress and demand that the nation shall bow to the men who have the gold cornered and shall demand that tariff duties be paid part in gold. That is the game these traitors played during the dark days of the late civil war and by the law made a legal demand for their worthless gold when the nation had no more use for it than it had for diamonds. By this means they can force gold to a premium, buy bonds at a discount and make millions out of the hide and tallow of the labor of the country that is too ignorant to see how the game is played. And the band continues its music.—J. A. Wayland.

Let Them Try It.

If some well-to-do university men, who talk of what the poor should do, were pitchforked into one of the slum districts with nothing in their pockets and made to hustle for themselves for a month, they would return sadder, wiser and thinner men.—Ben Tillett.

FUNNY STATISTICS.

A FEDERAL INVESTIGATOR'S GREAT DISCOVERY.

The Main Cause of Poverty He Announces Is the Inordinate Consumption of Bulky Food—Every Poor Man Should Be a Chemist.

It is not that they laugh and sing and make merry—those statistics. On the contrary, they look very solemn and think themselves very scientific. Their humor is quite unconscious. Political economy used to be considered painfully slow. It was called the dismal science. People avoided it like a problem play. They wanted vaudeville. Now we know that a comic line can be stretched through discussions of the production and distribution of wealth, and that drollery lurks even in questions of food and shelter. For here comes Mr. Charles D. Wood, a federal food specialist who has been investigating life in the east side. After a series of scientific tests, culminating in computations, the accuracy of which cannot for a moment be questioned, says a writer in Criterion, he assures us that:

"The main cause of poverty, in almost all cases studied by the government in New York tenement dietary districts, was that weight or bulk was what was sought in food rather than nutriment value."

In this investigation everything is correct except the conclusion. The logic of the preliminary steps is unanswerable. The poor do run after bulk. They like something filling at the price. They use bad judgment in marketing; they are ignorant of the chemistry of cooking. Yes, they even waste food. Beside that, they will live in crowded, noisome streets, over foul butcher shops and subterranean dens, filled with stale vegetables. It has been noticed that they are slovenly, shiftless and that many of them have little regard for appearances. Some spend as much as 26 cents per day per person for food, while everybody knows, or ought to know, that "food sufficient to meet the demands of one grown man, at moderate work, need cost him but from 15 to 20 cents a day, if good management is used in its purchase." I have for a long time suspected that the poor do not know protein and carbo-hydrates when they see them. As for this examination, it leaves nothing to be desired from a scientific standpoint. I will overlook for the time being its impertinence, nor will I attempt to guess what conditions of waste might be revealed by a search through the abject wealth of Fifth avenue. What do you suppose the slum types were now and again detected in the act of eating? Chicken, cod, flounder, shad, condensed milk, canned asparagus, radishes, celery and cherry jelly! Had they but known it, there is more protein in peas, beans, wheat flour, rice and cheap cuts of beef, veal and mutton. One little girl, who did the marketing for the family, was caught redhanded buying peanuts. But do not tremble for her, gentle reader—she did just right. Peanuts are full of protein. The investigators patted her on the head. Some families wasted their substance in riotous round steaks, pork chops and green peas, or in great quantities of eggs and butter. Others had French rolls and buns instead of bread, or threw their money after soda crackers and jumbles. Far too much beer was drunk. An inexplicable and well nigh irresistible craving for bananas was observed, although any schoolboy dietary expert could have told the culprits at once that bananas are of no account as far as carbo-hydrates are concerned. Yes, also, all too true! Gentlemen of the governmental experimental-kitchen-station, we grant your premises. You have conducted your investigation well, but your conclusion is pitiable. We would let it pass unnoticed but for its desperate character. The step from unconscious comedy to black tragedy is a short one. You have stumbled into a common fallacy. Economy cannot solve the social problem, nor does waste produce general economized on the lines suggested in the investigation, they might possibly better their material condition slightly. But the moment all the families did the same, which is, of course, the result hoped for by the investigators, wages go down and rents up. Political economists tell us that wages do not depend upon the real earnings of labor, but upon what is left to labor after rent is taken out. Where land is monopolized, as it is everywhere except in the newest communities, rent must drive wages down to the point at which the poorest paid class will be just able to live and reproduce. By living more economically the denizens of the tenement would simply lower their standard of living and leave more for the landlord. It is system which is wrong. Land monopoly—that is the enemy. Just taxation—that is the cure. Rent is the first care of the poor, food is the last. Under the circumstances, 'oh, long-suffering poor, cast all thoughts of protein and carbo-hydrates to the winds. Have bananas just as often as you like. By and by we will come to your rescue, bearing justice in our hands, over the intervening hill tops of conservatism. In the meantime live high, just as high as you can!

A Veteran.

"Would you feel brave enough to face an enemy?"

"Would an enemy hurt worse than McKinley prosperity?"—Twentieth Century.

Regarding the Temporizers.

They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety.—Benjamin Franklin.

POINTS FROM THE PRESS.

Congressman Loud has been an enemy to mankind in general and should be re-elected to remain at home in the future.—Journal of the Knights of Labor.

Reform will move with laggard steps so long as reformers are laggards in the matter of supporting reform papers. This is the vital point in the battle.—National New Era.

I care not what may be the label of any party; the principles they uphold, and their effect on the country should be the only things considered.—St. Louis Retriever.

Mark Hanna has demonstrated one thing; it is not necessary to be either right or president to run the government of this country.—Phoenix Gazette.

The man who loves to correct railroad abuses by passing repressive measures and creating commissions is indeed a very sanguine specimen. He might as well try to appease his appetite by rubbing a beefsteak across his stomach. Government ownership is the only remedy.—The Free Republic.

Is it not an outrageous crime against God and humanity, that in a country abounding in such natural resources of soil and minerals as are here found any man, woman or child should be doomed to live in abject poverty and wretchedness?—Good Citizen.

Supervisor Britt's resolution to prohibit the erection of any gas works without permission of the board may be in the interest of the monopoly or may be designed to promote public safety. The way to suppress any evil from that source is public ownership, not "competition"—falsely so-called.—San Francisco Star.

Wealth is not to be abused if honestly obtained by patient endeavor and economy. But when it is by law taken from the multitude and bestowed upon those who have purchased the smiles of power, its possession is a menace to the welfare of the country.—Columbus Post.

The Central Labor Union of New York has passed some red hot resolutions about the Lattimer tragedy, in which it denounces the court and officers as murderers. Well, what of it? Were they not the men elected by the votes of the laboring men? The laboring majority are responsible for the acts of the men they elect. When trades unions go into politics and kick out the leaders who have led them to such terrific ends, they will be entitled to some sympathy.—Appeal to Reason.

The people will not know what real freedom is until they elect every officer by a direct vote, until by ballot they accept or reject the laws offered them to live under, until by imperative mandate they can discharge any unsatisfactory official. At the present day the United States has no such thing as "a government of, by and for the people." A party that is not unmistakably in favor of the initiative, referendum and imperative mandate is a party not worth voting for.—Grander Age.

The Power of Exchanging.

A little study will show how fatal to us is the confinement of our legal tender to any rare, limitable commodity. For a sudden outpour of gold will stimulate and expand trade and double the demand for more gold. This being supplied the demand doubles again. The force of money, like that of steam or electricity, increases the demand for its use by the very act of employing it. In fact, the only kind of money representatives should be such as are illimitable, else substitutes must be used that our laws make new legal tender. A panic ensues, and the substitutes are rushed on to the legal tenders for redemption, and all goes into the hands of the few holders of the gold. We might with just as much reason, confine all our manufacturing power to natural gas or other limited supply. The business of the world calls for the use of an unlimited money, just as its manufactures and distribution require an unlimited power. Study of the subject would convince every disinterested, candid mind of this.—Clarke Irvine.

A Characteristic Incident.

A wholesale discharge of conductors on the electric railway in Milwaukee took place the other day. The men were lined up before the inspector and each one was required to empty his pockets. Those who did not have $5 of their own money to make change were discharged. Many of them had only 50 to 75 cents. The rules of the company require conductors to carry at least $5 of their own money while on duty, but some of the men have found this a hardship, owing to the beggarly wages they received. A more striking commentary on our swinish social system could not be desired than is furnished in this little incident.

The Koreshian Theory.

Speaking of the Koreshian theory that this world is a hollow sphere and that we are living on the inside of it, the editor of the New Dispensation finds occasion to remark: "I do not know whether the earth is a hollow cell or not. I am willing to let the scientists settle that among themselves but I do know positively that the present system of political economy and some more of our systems, religious, social and pseudo-scientific, are hollow sells and we are on the inside of them, like Jonah in the whale. But the old whale is getting pretty sick and I expect we will get out before long."

A GOOD COUNSEL

And the Good Words It Drops Under a Good President.

EDWIN R. STERLING, LL. D.

President Sterling's Work in State Educational Matters—A Wise Selection—Some good men, the President of the State Normal College, shall pass away from earth. The work of his hands will live after him, and whose many seek his monument will find it in the splendid institutions of learning which he has reared. Could a man have it in their memory? This is a nobler monument than towering dome or storied windows richly dyed. It will endure when marble shall have crumbled to dust.

This distinction was conferred upon Edwin R. Sterling, LL. D., when the appropriating Legislature of 1896-7 made its first donation from the Peabody Fund since 1867, a period of thirty years. Dr. Eldridge has been its President. Its growth has been remarkable and without precedent or parallel in the history of Alabama.

In his recent official statement to the Governor, Hon. Joseph F. Johnston, Dr. Sterling, State Superintendent of Education, has said, viz:

"Alabama has just reason to be proud of the successful and valuable and far-reaching work accomplished by its normal schools. As a summary of the results of its efforts during this time, we may consider briefly the subjoined facts and figures with regard to one of the normal schools, the State Normal College, at Troy. The growth of this college has been phenomenal. Hon. Willis G. Clark, the distinguished author of the History of Education in Alabama, which was published eight years ago, in speaking of the attendance at this college in 1888-89, used these words: 'At this time the Troy school will soon take the first place in the State, both in the normal and academic departments.' This prophecy has been fulfilled in ample measure. The school was founded by act of the Legislature in 1887. The following comparative statement will in part this story of its remarkable development:

	1887-88.	1896-97.
Normal students	84	250
Graduates	7	41
Amt. paid to teachers	$1,200	$9,250
Alabama counties represented	9	41
States represented	2	12

"The school is just closed (1896-'97) has been even more prosperous than that (1895-'96). The statistics given above relate to a period of eight years. They constitute a record of expansion about which the people of Alabama may well congratulate themselves. Never before has such been equaled in any State.

Under its plan of organization the College is made up of two departments, a model school or kindergarten, primary and high school, and a normal school, with its elective courses, scholastic, professional and special, post-graduate.

In each department the course of study is progressive, moderate and thorough, and in effect of the same character as that of the best colleges. The courses are graded and the work of each year is based upon the completion of the work of the preceding year. The Peabody Summer School of Pedagogy is the attendance work, and the other terms' work is

DISCOURSES BY TWO ABLE WORKERS IN GOD'S VINEYARD.

Subject: "Herding the Sheep"—Prays That His Flock May Listen to the Piping of the Good Shepherd, Bidding Them to Renounce Sin and Ask Pardon.

TEXT: "The Lord is my shepherd."—Psalms xxiii., 1.

What with post and rail fences and our pride in South Down, Astrakhan and Flemish varieties of sheep, there is no use now of the old-time shepherd. Such a one had abundance of opportunity of becoming a poet, being out of doors twelve hours a day, and oftimes waking up in the night on the hills. If the stars or the torrents or the sun or the flowers had anything to say, he was very apt to hear it. The Ettrick Shepherd of Scotland, who afterward took his seat in the brilliant circle of Wilson and Lockhart, got his wonderful poetic inspiration in the ten years in which he was watching the flocks of Mr. Laidlaw. There is often a sweet poetry in the rugged prose of the Scotch shepherd. One of those Scotch shepherds lost his only son, and he knelt down in prayer and was overheard to say, "O Lord, it has seemed good in Thy providence to take from me the staff of my right hand at the time when to me sand filled [illegible] I seemed to be most in need of it; and how I shall clinch up the hill of sorrow and hold me without it Thou [illegible] but I dinna."

David, the shepherd boy, is watching his father's sheep. They are pasturing on the very hills where afterward a Lamb was born of whom you have heard much, "the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." David, the shepherd boy, was beautiful, brave, musical and poetic. I think he often forgot the sheep in his reveries. There in the solitude he struck the harp-string that is thrilling through all ages. David, the boy, was gathering the material for David the poet and David the man. Like other boys, David was fond of using his knife among the sandtrips, and he had noticed the exuding of the [illegible] of the trees, and when he became a man he said: "The trees of the Lord are full of sap." David the boy, like other boys, had been fond of hunting the birds' nests, and had watched the old stork off the nest to find how many eggs were under her, and when he became a man he said, "As for the stork, the fir trees are her house." In boyhood he had heard the terrific thunderstorm that frightened the red deer into premature fawnings, as I when he became a man heard the voice of the Lord make[illegible] the hinds to calve." And the boy had looked up into the starry canopy, and in his boyish [illegible] the sky seemed like a [illegible] and the divine fingers working [illegible] threads of light and the beasts of [illegible] and became a man and wrote, "When I consider the heavens, the work of Thy fingers." When he became an old man thinking of the goodness of God, he [illegible] the blessing of his father's [illegible] many years and to think of the time when he toiled there on the hills [illegible] and he cries out in the text, "The Lord is my shepherd."

And first of the shepherd's plaid. It would be preposterous for a man going out to [illegible] and [illegible] work to put on [illegible] apparel. The potter does not work in velvet; the serving maid does not put on [illegible] while toiling at her duties; the shepherd does not wear a splendid robe in which to go out and [illegible] the storms and the rocks [illegible] the nettles; he puts on the rough apparel appropriate to his exposed work. The Lord our Shepherd, coming out to hunt the lost sheep, puts on no regal apparel, but the plain garment of our humanity. There was nothing pretentious about it. I know the old painters represent a halo around the babe Jesus, but I do not suppose that there was any more halo about that child than about the head of any other babe that was born that Christmas eve in Judea. Bending a man, how even was [illegible] garment. The scissors and needle had done nothing to make it graceful. I take it to have been a sack with three holes in it, one for the head and two for the arms. Although the soldiers quarreled over it that is no evidence of its value. I have seen two ragpickers quarrel over the refuse of an ash barrel. No, in the wardrobe of heaven be left the sandals of light, the girdles of beauty, the robes of power and put on the [illegible] and tattered raiment of our humanity. Sometimes he did not even wear the seamless robe. What is that hanging about the waist of Christ? Is it a badge of authority? Is it a royal coat of arms? No, it is a towel. The disciples' feet are filthy from the walk on the dusty ways and not fit to be put upon the sofas on which they are to recline at the meal, and so Jesus washes their feet and gathers them up in the towel to dry them. The work of saving this world was rough work, rugged work, hard work, and Jesus put on the raiment, the garb, raiment, of our flesh.

Next I mention the shepherd's crook. This was a rod with a curve at the end, which, when a sheep was going astray, was thrown over its neck, and in that way it was pulled back. When the sheep were not going astray the shepherd would often use it as a sort of crutch, leaning on it, but when the sheep were out of the way the crook was always busy pulling them back. All we, like sheep, have gone astray, and had it not been for the Shepherd's crook we would have fallen long ago over the precipices.

Here is a man who is making too much money. He is getting very vain. He says: "For a while I shall be independent of all the world. Oh, my soul, eat, drink and be merry." Business disaster comes to him. What is God going to do with him? Has God any grudge against him? Oh, no. God is the wing over him the shepherd's crook and pulling him back into better pastures. Here is a man who has always been well. He has never had any sympathy for invalids. He calls them coughing, wheezing nuisances. After awhile sickness comes to him. He does not understand what God is going to do with him. He says, "Is the Lord angry with me?" Oh, no. With the shepherd's crook he has been pulled back into better pastures. Here is a happy household circle. The parent does not realize the truth that these children are only loaned to him, and he forgets from what source came his domestic blessings. Sickness drops upon those children and death swoops upon a little one. He says, "Is God angry with me?" No. His shepherd's crook rules him back into better pastures. I do not know what would have become of us if it had not been for the Shepherd's crook. Oh, the morales of our troubles! You take up apples and plums from under the shade of the trees, and the very best fruits of Christian character we find in the deep shade of trouble.

When I was on the steamer coming across the ocean, I got a cinder in my eye, and several persons tried to get it out very persistently. It could not be taken out in that way. I was told that the engineer had a device in such cases. I went to him. He put his large, sooty hand on me, took a knife and wrapped the lid of the eye around the knife. I expected to be hurt very much, but without any pain and instantly he poured the cinder. Oh, there come times in our Christian life when our spiritual vision is being spoiled and all gentle annoyances fail. Then there comes some giant trouble and, black handed, lays hold of us and removes that which would have made our vision forever. I will gather all our joys together in one regiment of consolation, and I will put them under Colonel Joy. Then I will gather all your sorrows together in one regiment of woe, commander and put them under Colonel Breakheart. Each of these regiments has gained for God the greater spiritual victories. Certainly that under Colonel Breakheart.

There is no animal that struggles more violently than a sheep when you corner it and catch hold of it. Down in the glen I see a group of men around a lost sheep. A plowman comes along and seizes the sheep and tries to pacify it, but it is more frightened than ever. A miller comes along, puts down his grist and caresses the sheep, and it seems as if it would die of fright. After awhile some one breaks through the thicket. He says, "Let me have the poor thing." He comes up and lays his arms around the sheep, and it is immediately quiet. Who is the last man that comes? It is the shepherd. Ah, my friends, be not afraid of the shepherd's crook. It is never used on you save in mercy to pull you back. The hard, cold iceberg of trouble will melt in the warm gulf stream of divine sympathy.

There is one passage I think you misinterpret. "The bruised reed He will not break." Do you know that the shepherd in olden times played upon these reeds? They were very easily bruised, but when they were bruised they were never mended. The shepherd could so easily make another one, he would snap the old one and throw it away and get another. The Bible says it is not so with our shepherd. When the music is gone out of a man's soul, God does not snap him in twain and throw him away. He mends and restores. "The bruised reed He will not break."

Next I speak of the shepherds' dogs. They watch the straying sheep and drive them back again. Every shepherd has his dog, from the nomads of the Bible times down to the Scotch herdsman watching his flocks on the Grampian hills. Our shepherd employs the criticisms and persecutions of the world as his dogs. There are those, you know, whose whole work it is to watch the inconsistencies of Christians and bark at them. If one of God's sheep gets astray, the world howls. With more avidity than a shepherd's dog ever caught a stray sheep by the flanks or jugged it by the ears would Satan seize the Christian astray. It ought to do us good to know that we are thus watched. It ought to put us on our guard. They cannot bite us if we stay near the Shepherd. The sharp knife of worldly assault will only trim the vines until they produce better grapes. The more you pound marjoram and rosemary the sweeter they smell. The more dogs take after you the quicker you will get to the gate.

You have noticed that different flocks of sheep have different marks upon them—sometimes a red mark, sometimes a blue mark, sometimes a crooked mark. The Lord our Shepherd has a mark for his sheep. It is a red mark, the mark of the cross. "Blessed are they that are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."

Furthermore, consider the shepherds' pasture grounds. The old shepherd used to take the sheep upon the mountains in the summer and dwell in the valleys in the winter. The sheepfolding out of doors perpetually, their wool was better than if they had been kept in the hot atmosphere of the sheepcot. Wells were dug for the sheep and covered with large stones in order that the hot weather might not spoil the water. And then the shepherd led his sheep wherever he would. Nobody disputed his right. So the Lord our shepherd has a large pasturage ground. He takes us in the summer of the mountains and in the winter to the valleys. Warm days of prosperity come, and we stand on sun gilt Sabbaths and on hills of transfiguration, and we are so high up we can catch a glimpse of the pinnacles of the heavenly city. Then cold wintry days of trouble come, and we go down into the valley of sickness, want and bereavement, and we say, "Is there any sorrow like unto my sorrow?" But, blessed be God, the Lord's sheep can find pasture anywhere. Between two rocks of trouble a tuft of succulent promises, green pastures beside still waters, long sweet grass between bitter graves. You have noticed the structure of the sheep's mouth? It is so sharp that it can take up a blade of grass or clover top from the very narrowest spot. And so God's sheep can pick up comfort where others can gather none. "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him."

Lastly, consider the shepherd's fold. The time of sheep shearing was a very glad time. The neighbors gathered together, and they poured wine and danced for joy. The sheep were put in a place inclosed by a wall, where it was very easy to count them and know whether any of them had been taken by the jackals or dogs. The inclosure was called the sheepfold. Good news I have to tell you, in that our Lord the Shepherd has a sheepfold, and those who are gathered in it shall never be struck by the storm, shall never be touched by the jackals of temptation and trouble. It has a high wall—so high that no troubles can get in—so high that the joys cannot get out. How glad the old sheep will be to find the lambs that left them a good many years ago. Millions of children in heaven. Oh, what a merry heaven it will make! Not many long meter psalms there. They will be in the majority and will run away with our song, carrying it up to a still higher point of ecstasy. Oh, there will be shouting. If children on earth clapped their hands and danced for joy, what will they do when to the gladness of childhood on earth is added the gladness of childhood in heaven?

It is time we got over these morbid ideas of how we shall get out of this world. You make your religion an undertaker planing coffins and driving hearses. Your religion smells of the varnish of a funeral casket. Rather let your religion to-day come out and show you the sheepfold that God has provided for you. Ah, you say, there is a river between this and that. I know it, but that Jordan is only for the sheep washing, and they shall go up on the other banks snow white. They follow the great Shepherd. They heard his voice long ago. They are safe now—one! and one Shepherd.

Alas for those who are finally found outside the inclosure! The night of their sin howls with jackals; they are thirsting for their blood. The very moment that a lamb may be frisking upon the hills a bear may be looking at it from the thicket.

In June, 1815, there was a very noble party gathered in a house in St. James' square, London. The prince regent was present, and the occasion was made fascinating by music and banqueting and by jewels. While a quadrille was being formed suddenly all the people rushed to the windows. What is the matter? Henry Percy had arrived with the news that Waterloo had been fought and that England had won the day. The dance was abandoned, the party dispersed, lords, ladies and musicians rushed into the street, and in fifteen minutes from the first announcement of the good news the house was emptied of all its guests. Oh, ye who are seated at the banquet of this world or wailing in its gayeties and frivolities, if you could hear the sweet strains of the gospel trumpet announcing Christ's victory over sin and death and hell, you would rush forth, glad in the eternal deliverance. The Waterloo against sin has been fought, and our Commander-in-chief hath won the day. Oh, the joys of this salvation! I do not care what metaphor, what comparison you have, bring it to me, that I may use it. Amos shall bring one simile, Isaiah another, John further. Beautiful with pardon. Beautiful with peace. Beautiful with anticipations. Or to return to the pastoral figure of my text, come out of the poor pasturage of this world into the rich fortunes of the Good Shepherd.

The shepherd of old used to play beautiful music, and sometimes the sheep would gather around him and listen. To-day my heavenly Shepherd calls to you with the very music of heaven, bidding you to leave your sin and accept His pardon. Oh, that all the flock would hear the piping of the Good Shepherd.

The Cause of Dyspepsia.

From the Republican, Scranton, Penna.

The primary cause of dyspepsia is lack of vitality; the absence of nerve force; the loss of the life-sustaining elements of the blood.

No organ can properly perform its function when the source of nutriment fails. When the stomach is robbed of the nourishment demanded by nature, assimilation ceases, unnatural gases are generated, the entire system responds to the discord.

A practical illustration of the symptoms and torture of dyspepsia is furnished by the case of Joseph T. Vandyke, 440 Hickory St., Scranton, Pa.

In telling his story, Mr. Vandyke says:

In Misery.

"Five years ago I was afflicted with a trouble of the stomach, which was very aggravating. I had no appetite, could not enjoy myself at any time, and especially was the trouble severe when I awoke in the morning. I did not know what the ailment was, but it became steadily worse and I was in constant misery.

"I called in my family physician, and he diagnosed the case as catarrh of the stomach. He prescribed for me and I had his prescription filled. I took nearly all of the medicine, but still the trouble became worse, and I felt that my condition was hopeless. I tried several remedies recommended by my friends but without benefit. After I had been suffering several months, Thomas Campbell, also a resident of this city, urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

"He finally persuaded me to buy a box and I began to use the pills according to directions. Before I had taken the second box I began to feel relieved, and after taking a few more boxes, I considered myself restored to health. The pills gave me new life, strength, ambition and happiness."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure dyspepsia by restoring to the blood the requisite constituents of life, by renewing the nerve force and enabling the stomach to promptly and properly assimilate the food. These pills are a specific for all diseases having their origination in impoverished blood or disordered nerves. They contain every element requisite to general nutrition, to restore strength to the weak, good health to the ailing.

"Liquor," said the temperance orator, 'causes nearly all the unhappiness there is in this world."

"That's right, Colonel!" exclaimed a Kentuckian in the back of the hall. "I'm always unhappy when I can't get it."

A Good Dictionary For Two Cents.

A dictionary containing 10,000 of the most useful words in the English language, is published by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. While it contains some advertising, it is a complete dictionary, concise and correct. In compiling this book care has been taken to omit none of those common words whose spelling or exact use occasions at times a momentary difficulty, even to well educated people. The main aim has been to give as much useful information as possible in a limited space. To those who already have a dictionary, this book will commend itself because it is compact, light and convenient; to those who have no dictionary whatever, it will be invaluable. One may be secured by writing to the above concern, mentioning this paper, and enclosing a two-cent stamp.

"I Feel In Fancy As if Awakened From an Uneasy Dream in My Relief From the Superhuman Power of Morphine."

DR. B. M. WOOLLEY,
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir—I feel myself wholly inadequate to the task I am undertaking, and yet, in one respect, I may perhaps claim to be qualified. To express my appreciation and gratitude to God and yourself as His almost superhuman agents, for my complete restoration to real life, and I fondly hope a future useful manhood, is a task of which I am totally incompetent. But to speak of my emotions, when I recognize of a truth that I have been emancipated from the bondage of a tyrant, more cruel and relentless than ever swayed scepter over a helpless people. I may find words to feebly express; I do not wish to indicate that I have a mind of commanding powers, yet I hope it may exhibit at least a heart of deepest gratitude.

Fifteen years ago I was the victim of severe acute rheumatism; my suffering was intense and almost unbearable. Three noted physicians in succession failed in their honest endeavors to give me relief. The fourth, my favorite, who was indisposed himself, when I was first attacked, finally came to my bedside. He, in his anxiety and sympathy to lull the pain and induce sleep, thought best to give me at intervals a small quantity of morphine. Ignorant of its wonderful power, I continued its use for several days, and then it was that I awoke to the sad realization that I was bound in chains which no human power or will could break asunder. Since the fatal hour I became an involuntary and unconscious victim of that fascinating and yet most potent drug, as the greatest enemy and destroyer of human hope and ambition, mine has been a weary pilgrimage in the dark, ever dying, yet could not die. Many times during the passing of those fifteen long and dreary years, and especially since the death of one of the best women that ever wore the sacred crown of wife, I was tempted to snap asunder the silver cord of life and leap to meet the nameless terrors of the great unknown. And if for once I had consulted the awful dread the world would have cried out "insane," when as nothing else could have been [illegible] true. One day, about nine months ago, while suffering the horrors of Dante's mimic hell, there came to me in my delirium the thought to go and tell my tale of suffering and despair to Dr. Woolley. Perhaps he can and will cause the very darkness of night to show the approach of morning. I wandered to your office, as you know, in a condition suggestive of one [illegible] the dark and troubled waves of death. I told you of my slavery to a habit which deserves the pity of every intelligent and charitable person on earth, and cried out for help. After a careful diagnosis of my case, and learning how long I had used Opiates or Morphine, and the quantity necessary to sustain me at the time, you prepared for me a bottle of your Antidote, and from that good hour I have neither wanted, needed nor used a grain of Morphine, Opium or other Opiate. After commencing the use of your Antidote my general health began to improve wonderfully, and despair that had been my constant companion, by degrees deserted me and one month ago I realized that my system no longer required the use of your Antidote, and that I was indeed a free man. I am pleased to report that my health is constantly improving. I weigh to-day fifty pounds more than I did. I have some of the last bottle of your Antidote and will preserve and keep it as a sacred relic of my restoration from midnight darkness into the bright light of day and happiness.

In looking back upon my unhappy unreal past, I feel as if awakened from an uneasy dream, to look upon life with wide-open eyes, and a new mind that understood its realities. A few short months ago I was bound and in a [illegible] desert, a level waste stretched back to the tomb where Ambition was left to starve, and Sweet Content lay festering in her shroud. Yet, with my release from the almost superhuman power of Morphine, my hands are broken asunder, my chains are rent in twain, and at last after a weary night of hoping, and no despairing, I can walk forth into the beautiful sunlight of heaven, into "Eden's sacred greening from as a bird on its wings, endless as a man. The God I called upon was not [illegible] and has heard. God has crowned [illegible] with his most favored heritage, "Victory."

Severe Pains in the Back,

BEARING-DOWN pains and symptoms of a like nature are forerunners of the most distressing and also the most common of female diseases, Whites and Falling of the Womb. Whites is often the result of neglect, and when permitted to continue frequently causes inflammation of the womb, the ligaments are weakened and relaxed and Falling of the Womb and other complications arise, producing general debility and undermining the health. These loathesome and weakening diseases will be cured and the entire female system built up if a few bottles of the great female tonic

WINE OF CARDUI

THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure

McELREE'S

taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life. It makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1.00 at the drug store.

For advise in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

W. I. ADDISON, M.D., Cary, Miss., says: "I use Wine of Cardui extensively in my practice and find it a most excellent preparation for female troubles."

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

Is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.

Is the only organization which, while striving to secure for wage-workers the best possible terms as to wages, hours and conditions, aims at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.

It secures to each trade and locality absolute control over its own trade or local affairs, yet its perfect organization enables its members to act unitedly, promptly, and, therefore, effectively when concentrated action becomes necessary to remedy injustice or to resist oppression.

It is pledged to work for the overthrow of the capitalistic system of production and exchange, yet, realizing that reforms are only be beneficial and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a wisely educated people, it seeks to accomplish its objects only by appeals to reason and conscience—never by force.

It is a secret organization only so far as secrecy is necessary, to protect its members from wrong-and persecution, and can never be used to shield wrong-doing.

Its doors are open to all who labor honestly and usefully either by hand or brain, without question or discrimination on account of creed, race or nationality.

not I would advise you to change the schedule and adopt that plan, and above everything hold your representatives strictly to their promises. Then, if you elect competent men for your officers you are bound to have a sound government and laws enacted to benefit the whole people. That principle would dispense with so much partyism. Adherence to party ties has enslaved the masses of the people, by blindly following after their leaders for years, after they had departed from all principles of a free republican form of government.

Fears are talked of by many people of war springing up between labor and capital. If these principles and rules are enacted by the whole people of the nation war could and would be averted forever under that head. These principles put into practice is the road that will ever lead you from under the yoke of political slavery.

I will now come to the point, to wit: I was born and raised in Chilton county; was raised a Democrat; went to the war between the South and North at 15 years old, and having the good fortune to return home after peace was declared, never having voted or even cast a thought in regard to politics. I thought democracy was right and voted the ticket until after the days of reconstruction. After the party went to destruction I quit it and went into independentism and there remained perhaps for twenty years until the Alliance sprung up. I joined it and remained with it until the leaders of it were going to land in the same boat that destroyed the Democratic party.

Attended the first labor convention that was ever held in the state, which was held in Montgomery. There I helped make the People's Party. The platform was made and referred to the counties of the State for ratification, which was done and sent to Cincinnati, was forwarded to Ocala, and after slight variations it was adopted by the Farmer's Alliance and Co-operative Union of America, and to-day I regard these principles enunciated in that platform the soundest democracy and republicanism of any in the known world.

All that we now have to do is to fight in unison for these demands to be put into statute laws of the United States. Let me impress upon your minds to watch, as you are taught by your God, as well as pray. Do not be deceived by false gods. Promises are cheap.

I promise all of the people of the county, if entrusted to the responsible position for which I offer, that every right that belongs to them shall be accorded, and the intesests of the whole county shall be closely guarded. I also expect to be, if elected Probate Judge, making every reform in the office that I can if any be necessary.

In future, when a national contest comes for President or Congressman let your watchword be vote for no man who will not promise if elected to free us from the cursedness called the single gold standard, and see to it that they redeem their pledges.

I am a Republican from principle owing to the tariff. I regard the people of the South as having been taught wrong in regard to a low tariff, which means cheap labor and low prices for American products.

While it may be said that I have been very changeable in politics, circumstances have caused it. Watts, or some other great writer, has said wise men change their minds, fools never. I will say on behalf of the Democracy that a great change has been wrought in their ranks since their natonal convention at Chicago. A hint to the wise is sufficient it may be that your leaders have been educated in a school of legerdemain which teaches pure deception.

Having due regards for all the people of the county, and all of the parties and aspirants for the different offices, if you think I am the man for the place I would be pleased to have your votes.

I am yours very truly,
J. G. BARBOUR.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in the "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for it aims, as Bookman says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it presents to its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the political, economic, and literary happenings which are of value to thoughtful men and women. The "Progress of the World" is concisely an illustrated story of the month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazines in their contents; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the men of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of serious import.

"We know of no review published, in this country or in Europe, which combines so successfully as the AMERICAN MONTHLY the alertness, timeliness, and energy of journalism with the sound judgment, carefully weighed opinion, exact knowledge, and well-chosen English of the purely literary periodical."—The Outlook.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly volume information needed by intelligent people of "live" instincts is best proved by the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library in itself"; "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of progress"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

Editor BANNER. I know your columns will be crowded this week but I think one from this part of the county is entitled to a little space to speak a few words in behalf of our friend and neighbor Mr. E. L. Manning, who is running for the Clerk's office. Knowing Mr. Manning as we do we think the people will make a great mistake if they do not vote for and elect him.
1st. Because we know him to be sound in the principles of the party and an able worker in the interests of the same.
2d. Because we think he is thoroughly competent to fill the office and we could rely upon his honesty in the discharge of all his duties.
3d. Because he is a man that really needs the office he having a large family of small children to support and we think he is worthy and truly deserves it. A VOTER.

The warm weather and bonntiful showers of the past week have induced dispelled every fear of further winter.

Two lumber kilns belonging to F. Pletcher were destroyed by fire the first of last week. Business along the line of the new railroad seems to have begun, several cars of lumber passed over the road last week for the Birmingham market.

The Union Sunday-school enrolled ten new members last Sunday, total membership 62. Reports from Pilgrim show a large attendance. The weekly prayer meeting is progressing nicely, meetings are held in the school building every Saturday night. The subject of a Teachers Institute being held at Pilgrim, the first of July was discussed at a meeting a few days ago and received the hearty approbation of the people. Now Prof. somebody, we must have that Institute. Every inducement is offered. The best of accommodations for all visitors is assured. How can we be denied when we will do anything required of us.

The Byrum school enrolled several new pupils of this week.

Prof. Gibbon of the Briarfield school was a visitor among us for a few days. He is thinking of locating a summer school at this place.

Miss Clara Mills, recently of Montevallo, is teaching at Propst.

Work on the new depot will commence in a few days.

"A word to the wise is sufficient" and a word from the wise should be sufficient, but you ask, who are the wise? Those who know. The oft repeated experience of trustworthy persons may be taken for knowledge. Mr. W. M. Terry says Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other in the market. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twelve years; has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy and nearly all other cough medicines manufactured, which shows conclusively that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people, and is the best. Verbena

Mr. Harrison Kendrick was born in Wilkes county, Georgia, on the 9th day of May, 1832, and died near Verbena on the 14th day of April, 1898. He was married three times. His last wife survives him. He leaves nine children. His father, Jacob Kendrick, of Georgia, was a very wealthy man before the war. He owned a great many negroes. After the war Harrison Kendrick came to Alabama; he first settled in Montgomery and then moved to Chilton county.

Chilton county has lost a good citizen. He was a good neighbor and a kind friend, generous and free-hearted. I don't think he ever turned anyone in want from his door. He was a typical Georgia gentleman of the old school.

I might write pages about Mr. Kendrick's life and not do justice to him. I thought it best to condense his obituary as much as I could, because people do not read long obituaries these days. He had many friends here and they deeply sympathize with his family in their great loss.

Wedding at Mountain Creek

On Wednesday, April 20, one of our fairest young maidens became a happy bride, and while we regret her departure from her childhood's home our best wishes for her future happiness go with her. Mr. J. H. McClure, of Hartselle, Ala., is the luckiest man in the State, and he evidently thought so when Rev. J. R. Carwell, of Deatsville, united him in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Fanny L. Faulkner, the accomplished and charming daughter of W. A. B. Faulkner. The ceremony took place at the hospitable home of the bride's parents, only members of the family and a few intimate friends being present. After the ceremony the happy couple left for the home of the groom's parents at Hartselle where they will spend the honeymoon, and then will make their home at Decatur, Ala., where we wish them all possible happiness and prosperity.

How to Look Good.

Good looks are really more than skin deep, depending entirely on a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the liver be inactive, you have a bilious look; if your stomach be disordered, you have a dyspeptic look; if your kidneys be affected, you have a pinched look. Secure good health, and you will surely have good looks. "Electric Bitters" is a good Alterative and Tonic. Acts directly on the stomach, liver and kidneys. Purifieis the blood cures pimples, blotches and boils and gives a good complexion. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold at all Drug Stores

Candidates at Clanton

Yesterday there was a gathering of candidates who addressed a large meeting of voters at the Courthouse. The audience listened attentively to the speakers and went home fully satisfied with the days proceedings. S. M. Adams, J. W. Moore and J. P. VanDerveer were on hand as candidates for the Probate office. E. L. Manning, E. B. Deason and J. M. Burnett exhibited to the voters three good-looking candidates for Clerk of the Circuit Court. L. H. Reynolds played a lone hand for Representative, and R. J. Eiland yesterday had it all his own way. J. M. Dykes filled the chair.

There was a good deal of talk on the streets as to the probable outcome of the primary, but as it is now so close at hand we think it is hardly worth while to mention the winners. One thing worth mentioning is that there seemed to be a feeling of good temper pervading the meeting, and the candidates were hail-fellow-well-met with everyone.

Such beauty there should languish quite Unknown to fame.

Tippy, tappy, tippy, tappy,
How her fingers fly!
Though now and then she finds the time
For just an eye glance sly.
And now and then a smile illumes
The bleak and desert air,
And business isn't half the grind
With such a mascot there.

Oh, you little blessing!
If you up and married now,
That would be distressing.
And so I think I'll ask you first
In self defense, you see.

CLANTON, - ALABAMA.

The search for whiskey in the hull of the Arabia, sunk in the Missouri river, near Parkville, over forty years ago, has been abandoned, with complete loss of capital invested in the venture. This is not the first failure that whiskey can be credited with.

The aggregate bonded debt of the cities of the United States is over $800,000,000; that of the cities of England, $1,025,000, and that of the cities of France, $640,000,000. In the last seventeen years the increase in the debt of American cities was $116,000,000, and of those of England $565,000,000.

A gang of thieves organized to prey upon thieves has been discovered in Paris. Their plan was to watch for shoplifters in the department stores like the Louvre and the Bon Marche, to follow them home, and then enter under pretence of being police inspectors to search the apartments for stolen goods, which they carried off, with no fear of complaint being made.

It will require from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 from the Klondike regions this year to return to the prospectors who go there this spring and summer as much money as they will require to go there and maintain them a year. This thought may give a pause to some who are now enthusiastic for going in search of gold. Only in rare instances does gold seeking prove a success.

The advantage of drawing boards of health to the service of the public schools has been abundantly proved by results in Boston and New York, where competent medical inspection of schools has been secured through the combination. The health commissioner of St. Louis, authorized to report on the sanitary condition of the schools of that city, has disclosed an alarming array of unsanitary and even pestilential evils. It seems almost incredible that a city whose schools were but a few years ago the pride of the West, should suffer the neglect indicated by this report.

The parliament of the United Kingdom is the largest representative body in the world. In the House of Lords there are 553 persons entitled to vote, and in the House of Commons there are 670 members. France in its Corps Legislatif has 300 senators and 584 deputies. Italy has a varying number of senators and 508 deputies. Japan has 500 peers and 300 representatives. Germany, in its Bundesrath, or Senate, has fifty-eight members, but its Reichstag has 397 members. Spain's Cortes has 431 members. Canada has a Senate of eighty members and a House of Commons of 215 members.

A writer in the New York Independent discusses at some length why the United States is so unpopular with Europeans. Beginning with France, the writer says: "For years there has been a large American colony in Paris, but its members find it difficult to get any entree into French society. French ideals differ from ours as much as they do from the English. Besides, the natural sympathy of France is with its neighbor, Spain, which has a large colony in Paris; and Spanish bonds are held in France which would be almost worthless if Cuba were to secure independence. The French believe what the Spaniards tell them, that the United States is lingering to annex Cuba. We need not argue the ill-will of Germany; it is too plain to be missed. It is caused partly by the operation of our tariff and partly by the loss to the United States of so many German citizens and possible soldiers. But still more the cause is in that which is seen all through Europe, the growth and prosperity of this country, the development of its manufactures and commerce, which excite general apprehension. What Germany feels is what the Austrian premier, Gelchowski, startled us by proclaiming that the twentieth century must see the union of Europe against America to shut out American products and influence. The yellow peril, from China, is not so much feared as the American peril. This apprehension affects all Europe, though just now more clearly expressed in Germany and Austria. But Italy feels it as well, although she has her special grievance in the New Orleans lynching case. Of the great powers there remain Russia, which has no public opinion and Great Britain, the mother country, remains our friend."

HAVANA WILL BE BOMBARDED.

British Consul Gullon Has Notified the City Officials of the Attack.

INHABITANTS OF HAVANA TERROR STRICKEN

Blanco is Marshaling His Land Forces to Repel the American Invaders—General Pando to be Placed in Charge of Spanish Army—Rebels Active.

A special to Monday morning's Age-Herald from Havana says:

Havana knows it is to be bombarded, and is on the verge of a panic in consequence.

The news came in a notification to British Consul Gullon by his government that warning of the bombardment had been given by the United States.

The news spread over the city like fire through dry grass. The newspapers all prepared extras, but the censor at the palace crossed out every line of the news. They appealed to Blanco, but he told the editors he did not want the city alarmed, and would not permit the fact that the bombardment was imminent to be made public. But the news spread from lip to lip. It is pitiful to watch the women of Havana; the streets are full of them, and nearly one looks on the verge of hysteries. The government is doing all it can to keep the excitement down.

The new sand batteries and several thousand troops are waiting to repulse the landing party of the United States.

General Pando will be placed in charge of the Spanish troops. He is expected in Havana, and will probably be placed in direct charge of the Spanish army massed for the defense of the city. Mor troops are arriving from the interior of the island.

Rebels have blown up a troop train ten miles from the city. The train was ditched and ten men were injured. The engineer and firemen were killed.

Srturday night the city was tremendously excited by cannon firing from Moro Castle. About a dozen discharges convinced everybody that the bombardment had begun. The newspapers telephoned to Moro Castle and received a message that the American cruiser New York ard steamed into within three miles and had been fired upon.

MORO CASTLE OPENED FIRE.

For the Second Time She Turned Loose Her Batteries on U. S. Fleet.

During the early hours of Sunday morning the Moro Castle batteries at Havana again opened fire on the fleet, but without the slightest effect. There have been no casualties among our forces up to Sunday morning and not a single shot has been fired against the batteries.

At 3 o'clock Sunday morning the Detroit made a rich haul, capturing the large Spanish merchant steamer Catalina, bound from New Orleans for Cadiz with cotton, oil and staves. She also captured a large quantity of provisions which she intended to land in Havana.

Ensign Christy from the Detroit, naval Cadet Jones, from the New York and four marines and sixteen blue jackets were placed on board of her and she steamed off for Key West.

Call for 125,000 Volunteers.

The president Saturday issued proclamation, calling for 125,000 troops, the same to be proportioned as far as practicable, among the several states and territories and of the District of Columbia according to the population, and to serve two years, unless sooner discharged. The details for this object will be immediately communicated to the proper authorities through the war department.

EASTERN FLEET WILL SAIL.

The American Squadron at Hong Kong Will Attack Manila.

The American squadron at Hong Kong, according to a special dispatch from Shanghai, has sailed for Manila, which it will attack. The dispatch says: Three steamers recently purchased by the United States government will follow the fleet with coal. The approaches to Manila are mined. It is reported that the priests and the commercial classes in the Philippines are in favor of a peaceful surrender rather than to suffer a bombardment, but that the military are determined to resist.

Annulled by Gen. Miles.

A battalion of the Nineteenth infantry, Capt. Vernon, commanding, from Fort Brady, Mich., passed Birmingham en route to Mobile. The troops were proceeding via the Mobile & Ohio railroad, but at Corinth, Miss., received a telegram from Gen. Brooke ordered them to Chickamauga. The train started to Chattanooga over the Memphis & Charleston railroad, but at Tuscumbia a telegram was received from Gen. Miles annuling Gen. Brooke's orders. The train then proceeded to Mobile via Decatur.

SPANISH STRENGTH.

Has Now Fifty-Eight Ships in Cuba and Porto Rican Waters.

A special from Washington says: Resistance attempted by the Spanish vessels now in Cuban and Porto Rican waters to the blockade instituted by the North Atlantic squadron will be followed by their destruction.

Although Spain has a total of fifty-eight ships distributed in Cuban and Porto Rican waters, no doubt exists in official circles of the ability of the North Atlantic squadron to easily destroy those which it will meet in the vicinity of Cuba.

Of the Spanish force the largest cruiser, the Alfonso XII. 3,900 tons displacement, lies in a disabled condition in Havana harbor and it is expected that it will remain there until the American flag displaces that of Spain.

Spain's next largest ship in Cuban waters is the cruiser Reina Mercedes, of 3,090 tons, built in 1887, which is regarded as a very good vessel of her type. The only other ship which American men-of-war have to fear are seven torpedo vessels: The Filipinas, of 750 tons and twenty knots; the Jorge Juan, of 935 tons and thirteen knots; the Nueva Espana, of 630 tons and 18.6 knots, and the Galacia, the Marquese de Molins, the Martin Alonzo and the Vincente Yanez, each of 571 tons and 18.6 knots.

Four cruisers of between 1,100 and 1,200 tons are distributed around the island. In addition to this force, Spain has stationed in Cuban waters a large number of gunboats, ranging in displacement from 500 to 20 tons.

TO INVADE CUBA.

More Than One Hundred Thousand Men Will be Landed on the Island.

Four army corps are to invade Cuba. This will place a force of 120,000 American soldiers in the island. The volunteer army called into existence will be merged with the regulars. To command this army it will be necessary to have ten major-generals and thirty brigadier-generals. The president will appoint these general officers as well as the staff. Major-General Miles will remain in command, and will go to Cuba with the army of occupation. The amalgamated armies will be divided into corps, divisions and brigades.

WOODFORD IN PARIS.

The Minister Had an Exciting Ride Through Spain.

Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, United States minister to Spain, accompanied by the party with which he left Madrid, arrived in Paris Friday morning, after some exciting experiences. The Spanish police attempted to capture a member of the legation and at Valladolid the train was attacked. Mr. Moreno was the member of the United States legation singled out by the Spanish police for capture on the ground that he is a subject of Spain, but the attempt was frustrated owing to the presence of mind of the minister. At Valladolid the Unitd States minister's train was attacked and stoned. Windows were broken and the civil guards compelled to protect his carriage with drawn swords. The Spanish police made a determined effort to get Mr. Moreno, but Gen. Woodford stood in the doorway of the carriage, declaring he should only be removed by force. A detachment of police accompanied the train from Toloso to San Sebastian, where the police officials left, on seeing that the general was determined to maintain his rights.

GENERAL GARY RESIGNS.

Charles Emory Smith, Editor Philadelphia Press, is His Successor.

Postmaster-General Gary has resigned, and Charles Emory Smith, of Pennsylvania, has been named as his successor. In his letter to the president Mr. Gary stated that his only reason for leaving the cabinet was the serious condition of his health.

Charles Emory Smith, the new postmaster-general, is at present editor of the Philadelphia Press. He has been minister to Russia, is an earnest, active republican, and known to public men throughout the United States.

Gigantic Mail Robbery.

A mail bag consigned to J. M Hammill, attorney for the Louisville & Nashville road at Belleville, Ill., was stolen from an express wagon in Belleville, Ill. The bag is said to have contained letters, official documents and a registered letter, in which were several drafts for almost $30,000.

Right of Privateering.

The conservative organ, El Epoca, at Madrid, says that Spain will not renounce the right of privateering.

NEARING THE CLASH.

The North Atlantic Squadron Preparing to Shell Moro Castle.

A special from Washington to the Age-Herald Tuesday says: Tomorrow the Spanish ships must leave the Cape Verde Islands or defy Portugal. All neutral nations would be antagonized by such a defiance, for a defiance of Portugal might be followed by similar action at other ports. As soon as it is positively known that the bulk of the Spanish navy is rendezvoused at Porto Rico, Schley's squadron and Sampson's fleet will form a junction, sail to Porto Rico and engage the enemy. It is either this or before forty-eight hours the guns of the North Atlantic squadron will belch forth death against Moro castle. The government, before midnight tomorrow, is almost certain to be informed by its secret agents abroad that the Spanish fleet has left the Cape Verde Islands. If the prows of the flotilla point to the west a sea fight may be expected in nine days, for in that time the distance between Cape Verde and Porto Rico, 2,400 miles, may be sailed.

POWDER PLANT BLOWN UP.

Explosion in California Works Causes Loss of Many Lives.

Three explosions Tuesday evening at the California Powder works at Santa Cruz caused a greater loss of life than any of the previous accidents in the history of these works. The wildest rumors are current regarding the number of killed and wounded, the exact number not having yet been ascertained. It is known that seven were killed and four injured.

The primary cause of the disaster was the explosion of the gun cotton plant. The igniting of this plant caused a fire which communicated to the powder mill flat, which are located the houses of the employes of the works. The plants manufacturing powder for the government were uninjured.

The belief is current that the plant was blown up by the agents of Spain.

A VALUABLE PRIZE.

The Big Spanish Steamer Panama Captured by the Little Mangrove.

The big Spanish steamship Panama, of the Ceballos Line, which left New York on April 20 for Havana, with a number of Spanish refugees on board, and a very valuable cargo, including, it is understood, stores for the Spanish, was captured Monday about twenty miles from Havana by the lighthouse tender Mangrove, now belonging to the Mosquito fleet. The Mangrove mounts two six-pounders and thirty-eight revolvers. She is commanded by Lieutenant Commander W. H. Everett, and has a crew of fifteen men. The Panama is of about 2,800 tons and a very valuable prize.

Three shots were fired across the Panama, with a threat that if he did not heave to a shot would be sent through his vessel.

Two More Captured.

The United States gunboat Newport has brought to Key West the Spanish sloop Paquette and the Spanish schooner Pireneo, Cuban coasting vessels, which she captured off Havana Tuesday morning.

NATIONS NOTIFIED.

That the United States Has Officially Declared War.

The state department has conveyed notice to all of the powers and nations with which the United States holds friendly relations of the official declaration of war by the government of the United States. This is a necessary formality in order to set in motion the neutrality laws in many countries, and stop claims for damages on the part of neutrals for vessels detained and turned back at blockades without due notice. The instructions which were sent to all the United States locations directed attention to the fact that the war has existed since April 21, when the Spanish government broke off diplomatic relations in order to avoid accepting the ultimatum at the hands of Minister Woodford.

Italy Defies the Dons.

Italy has asked Spain to revoke the declaration that sulphur is contraband of war, and threatens retaliation in event of Spain's refusal.

ARMY OFFICER LANDS IN CUBA.

He Goes to the Island to Arrange for Cooperation With General Garcia.

First Lieutenant Andrew S. Rowan, of the Nineteenth infantry, under orders from the war department, was landed on the Cuban coast somewhere west of Santiago, probably before dawn on Monday. His Cuban guides and an open sail boat were used. The guides have not returned. Lieutenant Rowan is on his way to the camp of General Calixto Garcia. He will represent the war department in arranging for the cooperation of the insurgents in the invasion of eastern Cuba by the forces of the United States.

Contraband of War.

A special dispatch from Madrid says the Spanish government has been officially notified that Great Britain will regard coal as contraband of war.

Texas Tornado.

A destructive tornado passed about four miles southwest of Atlanta, Tex., tearing its way as it went. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson were killed outright. A man named McDuffie died from his injuries and several others were seriously injured.

AGAIN APPEALS TO POWERS.

Spain Tells Them That She Is Compelled to Resort to Force

TO REPEL THE "SCANDALOUS AGGRESSION"

Of the United States Charge Americans With Disloyalty and Impulse of Unbridled Ambition—Grave Trouble in the Philippine Islands.

MADRID, Special.—The Spanish government Tuesday sent a circular note to the powers, supplementing the circular of April 18, and expressing regret at the "hard necessity of being compelled to appeal to force in order to repel the scandalous aggression of the United States and defend the national dignity and historical integrity of the fatherland."

Continuing, the circular note says: "History presents few instances wherein the reason is so evident on one part and the outrage so undisguised on the other. Spain has on her side right, correct procedure and prudence, while the United States has on her side only disloyalty and the impulse of unbridled ambitions."

After a reference "to the execrable conduct" of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, the note reproduces the text of the resolutions of congress, underlining the last words "as intended to deceive the Cubans."

It is then predicted that the island of Cuba will not be declared pacified until it is ready for annexation.

Further on the note gives the details of the rupture of the negotiations between Spain and the United States, concluding with the following declaration: "The Spanish people await the attack with tranquil serenity, determined to sell their lives dear and to defend energetically their right to remain in America, confident that in this work they will have the assistance of the Cubans, who are Spaniards like themselves."

Revolt Around Manila.

HONG KONG, Mail advices which reached here Tuesday from Manila, dated Saturday last, say the insurgents were then gathered in masses around Manila, and that the massacre of the Spaniards at that port was apprehended. It is also announced in the dispatches that the Spaniards have laid mines about Manila. The United States squadron leaves Mirs Bay to watch the Philippine ports. The insurgent leader Aguinaldoh is on board the United States cruiser Olympia.

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION.

Alabama Troops Receive Call For Two Regiments and a Battallion of Infantry.

The governor Tuesday afternoon issued a proclamation as follows:

"Whereas, The president has, under the authority conferred upon him by the constitution and the laws of the United States, called upon this state for two regiments and one battalion of infantry to serve in the war against Spain; now, therefore, I, Joseph F. Johnston, governor of Alabama, hereby notify the people of Alabama that such call has been made, and that I will receive for such service companies of infantry to the number of twenty-eight, each company containing not less than eighty men. Complying with the request of the president, preference will be given to the companies composing the Alabama National Guard, but the infantry of the said guard not being sufficiently numerous to supply the troops called for, tender of volunteer companies will be received. Commanding officers of the infantry companies of the National Guard and of the volunteer companies desiring to serve will report tomorrow by wire to the adjutant-general at Montgomery, Ala., stating number of men enlisted, and ready to move, at once."

Spanish Fleet Still at Cape Verde.

A special from St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, Tuesday, says: The Spanish fleet is still here and there is no sign of its intention to put to sea today. Ammunition and projectiles are placed ready on deck for each gun and on board the warships the men appear to be anxious to fight. The squadron is still busy coaling and taking stores on board.

American Squadron to Attack Manilla.

HONG-KONG (Special).—Orders have been received by the American squadron to attack Manilla. The ships are getting ready for action. Notwithstanding the report that the American fleet had sailed to attack Manila, the ships are still in their waters. A dispatch from Manila says the Spanish squadron will resist any American attempt to blockade.

Army Bill Signed by the President.

Both the house and senate agreed Tuesday to the conference report on the army reorganization bill, and it left the capitol at 2:05 o'clock for the president's signature. The president signed it as soon as he received it.

Roosevelt to Command Cavalry.

The president has decided to appoint Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, at present assistant secretary of the navy, to be a lieutenant-colonel of United States volunteers, to serve in a regiment of cowboys and mounted riflemen, to be raised by Mr. Roosevelt and Dr. Wood, the president's family physician, who is now in the medical department of the regular army. Dr. Wood will be colonel of the regiment.

House Resolution That War Has Existed Since April 21 Between the United States and the Kingdom of Spain

The preamble was adopted Monday as a message was received from the president transmitting correspondence relative to the United States already acted in the matter. Then the house began to act. Under the rules of the house a bill introduced on one day must lie over one day before it can be passed. But the rules were suspended by a vote of 310 to 6 and the following bill was introduced by Mr. Adams, of Pennsylvania, and passed in less than two minutes:

"A bill declaring that war be and exists between the United States of America and the Kingdom of Spain.

"Be it enacted, etc.

"First—That war be and the same is hereby declared to exist, and that it has existed since the 21st day of April, A. D. 1898, including said day, between the United States of America and the Kingdom of Spain.

"Second—That the president of the United States be and he is hereby authorized and empowered to use the entire land and naval forces of the United States, and to call into the service of the United States the militia of the several states to such extent as may be necessary to carry this act into effect."

The bill passed the house without a dissenting vote in just one minute and 30 seconds after it had been introduced. Its passage was greeted by prolonged applause.

A majority of the senate committee on foreign relations has agreed upon a war declaration as follows: Senators Morgan and Turpie, committee, reserve the right to offer amendments in the senate. They want a declaration of the belligerent rights of Spain.

HONOR OF FIRST TARGET

Falls Taking Soundings at Night Torpedo Boat Foote Was Fired

The United States torpedo boat Foote, Lieutenant W. Rodman Reading, has the honor of having been the first to get for first shots fired by the navy in this war. Shots at the American flag were just begun. The firing between 5 and 6 o'clock afternoon while the torpedo boat was making soundings in the harbor of Cardenas. She was within a few yards of the shore. Suddenly a masked battery on the east side of the harbor and not very far from the Foote, fired three shots. The torpedo boat. They all struck their mark and the Foote turned and steamed away to the Cincinnati, which supported the result of her shots and then announced she had been fired on. The Cincinnati was ordered to silence them instantly and reduce the batteries, but she was not able to do so.

NO CALL FOR STATE TROOPS

Has Been Received by Governor Johnston—Statement From the Executive

Governor Johnston, of Alabama, has received no information as to the number or character of troops that will be required from Alabama. The following statement explaining the situation was issued from his office Monday: The governor has not to this time received any communication from the president or the war department in regard to any call for troops. Should the governor has had any communication, except in the way of general rumors, tending to prepare him in a general way for such appeals, he is still without any communication with the adjutant general's department or other official information as to the number of troops that can volunteer.

THE SQUADRON'S DEPARTURE.

The North Atlantic squadron, except for the monitors Terror and Puritan and the smaller cruisers, sailed from Key West at 5:45 o'clock Friday morning headed for the Florida straits. The skies were growing grey with the coming dawn when the formidable family of ... quietly and unostentatiously steamed away, presumably for the shores of Cuba. Besides the two monitors the ships left behind are the gunboat Helena, cruisers Marblehead, Detroit, Dispatch boat Dolphin and the torpedo boats Cushing, Dupont and Porter.

The departure of the fleet was not so imposing as had been anticipated. On the contrary, there was something of ... in getting away. When all was ready the flagship swung around and came well into the harbor, signaling to the other ships about to sail. After receiving responses, she turned and headed for the open sea, with the Iowa and Indiana closely in her rear. The gunboat Machias lay nearest to three big warships, and was first to swing her bulk into line. She was followed by the Newport, which lay outside. Of the fleet lying close to shore, the Amphitrite was the leader. She was lumbering along after the Machias, her immense guns stretching above her low free board. She was the first of the monitors to join the warlike procession.

The ships that followed the three leaders—the New York, Iowa and Indiana—were the cruisers Cincinnati, Detroit, Nashville, the gunboats Wilmington, Castine, Machias, Newport, Monitor, Amphitrite, the Mangrove, Mayflower and torpedo boat Foote.

Why the powerful monitors Puritan and Terror did not accompany the fleet could not be learned.

LEE WILL ENTER THE FIGHT.

Thought That He Will be a General in the Volunteer Service.

It is understood that Gen. Lee will unquestionably be made a major general in the United States volunteer army and will lead a division or corps in Cuba.

When asked if the Virginia troops would be attached to his command, he stated unhesitatingly that they would be, and it has leaked out that he wired Secretary Alger suggesting that the troops destined for Cuba be uniformed in the lightest possible clothing.

When asked if he would accept anything less than a major general's command, Gen. Lee referred to his telegram sent to the Washington authorities from Key West offering his services for any duty he might be called upon to perform, and said:

"I am anxious to return to Cuba to put to rout the Spanish troops, and I would accept a lieutenant's commission, if it permitted me to lead as much as a squad in Cuba."

President Confers With Senators.

It was learned at the capitol that the president, in conversation with senators, asked them what they thought of the proposition to take the Hawaiian islands as well as the Philippines as a war measure. Those in favor of annexation of Hawaii express the hope that the San Francisco's report is true.

SPAIN CALLS OUT RESERVES.

Patriotic Enthusiasm Reigns Throughout Spanish Provinces.

MADRID (Special).—A royal decree has been gazetted calling out 30,000 men of the reserves of 1897. All the persons who have been consulted by the queen regent have advised a continuance of the Sagasta cabinet. It is probable, however, that the minister of marine, Admiral Bemujo, will insist upon resigning in order to take command of a squadron. Patriotic enthusiasm reigns throughout Madrid and the Spanish provinces.

CUBAN PORTS BLOCKADED.

The President Issues Proclamation to the World That the United States

INSTITUTES AND WILL MAINTAIN BLOCKADE

Of the North Coast of Cuba, Including Ports Between Cardenas and Bahai and Honda, and the Port of Cienfuegos on the South Coast of the Island.

The following proclamation announcing a blockade of Cuban ports was issued Friday:

"By the president of the United States:

A Proclamation.

"Whereas, by joint resolution passed by the congress and approved April 20, 1898, and communicated to the government of Spain, it was demanded that said government at once relinquish its authority and government in the island of Cuba and withdraw its land and naval from Cuba and Cuban waters, and the president of the United States was directed and empowered to use the entire land and naval forces of the United States and to call into actual service the militia of the several states to such extent as may be necessary to carry said resolution into effect; and

"Whereas, In carrying into effect said resolution the president of the United States deems it necessary to set on foot and maintain a blockade of the north coast of Cuba, including all ports on said coast between Cardenas and Bahia Honda, and the port of Cienfuegos on the south coast of Cuba;

"Now, therefore, I, William McKinley, president of the United States, in order to enforce the said resolution, do hereby declare and proclaim that the United States of America have instituted and will maintain a blockade of the north coast of Cuba, including ports on said coast between Cardenas and Bahai and Honda, and the port of Cienfuegos on the south coast of Cuba, aforesaid, in pursuance of the laws of the United States and the laws of nations applicable to such cases. An efficient force will be posted so as to prevent the entrance and exit of vessels from the ports aforesaid. Any neutral vessel approaching any of said ports, or attempting to leave the same, without notice or knowing of the establishment of such blockade, will be duly warned by the commander of the blockading forces, who will endorse on her the fact and the date of such warning, and where such endorsement was made; and if the same vessel shall again attempt to enter any blockaded port she will be captured and sent to the nearest convenient port for such proceedings against her and cargo as may be deemed advisable.

"Neutral vessels lying in any of said ports at the time of the establishment of such blockade will be allowed thirty days to issue therefrom.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington, this 22d day of April, A. D. 1898, and of the independence of the United States the one hundredth and twenty-second.

"WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

"By the President: John Sherman, Secretary of State."

To Pass Declaration of War.

A resolution formally declaring war against Spain will be introduced in the congress of the United States Monday. The decision to do so has been reached after mature deliberation in order to safeguard the interests of the United States.

The New York Captures the Pedro.

The Spanish tramp steamer Pedro, from Antwerp for Santa Cruz and Pensacola, which was captured by the United States flagship New York, was brought to Key West Saturday under her own steam, but in charge of a prize crew under Lieutenant Capehart. She is owned by the Navigation Company of Bilboa, is of 1,628 tons net register, and has on board a crew of thirty-six men.

The report that Spain had captured the steamer City of Paris on her way from Southampton to the United States is denied.

FEARED TO CROSS THE OCEAN.

Spaniards Disabled Their Own Boat—Treacherous Plot by Engineers.

The British steamer Asloun arrived at Galveston, Tex., Friday from Las Palmas, Grand Canary, one of the Canary Islands group. The commander of the vessel is Capt. P. H. Barnett. Captain Barnett arrived at Las Palmas March 31, two days after the Spanish torpedo flotilla left that port. The machinery of the several torpedo-boats and torpedo-boat-destroyers was purposely disabled by the engineers of the various crafts. Captain Barnett says he received this information from absolutely reliable sources. A plot was entered into by the several engineers to do the work, and successfully it was done. The engineers, crew, and many of the officers did not relish the trip across the ocean in torpedo-boats, and finding the Spanish government determined to make them go, as a last resort crippled the machinery. In proof that the machinery was purposely disabled, none of the engineers of the torpedo flotilla were allowed to repair it, the work being done by a local machine shop at Las Palmas.

Captain Barnett says he obtained it from an unquestioned source that the torpedo flotilla did not want to encounter a United States fleet if it could be avoided. They will likely keep out of the track of our vessels, and may content themselves with picking up an occasional prize.

The torpedo flotilla left Las Palmas March 29, and its destination was unknown.

PROTEST AGAINST INTERVENTION

Cuban "Colonial" Government Says We Intervened on the Eve of New Regime.

HAVANA.—The colonial government has published a manifesto "protesting against the intervention of the United States at the moment of the establishment of the new regime and political liberty, and when Cuba, for the first time, was going to elect a colonial parliament, replacing Spain's sovereignty in Cuba with autonomy."

The manifesto also intimates that it is the intention of the United States to annex Cuba, and adds: "It is the duty of all inhabitants to repel the invaders. Remember the heroic conduct of the defenders off Havana over a century ago against the invaders of Albemarle" (referring to the British invasion).

The manifesto concludes with acclaiming Spain, Spanish Cuba, the king and queen regent.

Blanco's Sweeping Decree.

Captain-General Blanco has published a decree confirming his previous decrees and declaring the island to be in a state of war. He also annuls his former similar decrees granting pardon to insurgents and places under martial law all those who are guilty of treason, espionage, crimes against peace or against the independence of the nation, seditious revolts, attacks against the form of government or against the authorities and against those who disturb public order, though only by means of printed matter.

Sampson for Rear Admiral.

Captain Sampson will be nominated a rear admiral. After the war closes he will drop back to his old rank. This step is taken to insure Sampson's command as ranking officer.

Carmack Retains His Seat.

The Patterson-Carmack contested election case from West Tennessee was disposed of in the house Friday, the sitting member, Mr. Carmack, being given the seat by a vote of 136 to 118. Several republicans voted with the democrats, and many declined to vote. Both the contestant and contestee addressed the house in their own behalf.

A Forlorn Hope.

A special dispatch received at Paris Monday from Madrid says that the queen regent of Spain still hopes that foreign intervention will peacefully and honorably prevent a conflict between the United States and Spain.

On to Cuba!

It is learned from a reliable source that 4,000 infantry troops of the United States army stationed at Chicamauga will be landed in Cuba at once. The troops will move perhaps within the next two days.

PLATFORM AND RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by the State Democratic Convention at Montgomery.

The following are the platform and resolutions as reported by Hon. Tennent Lomax, of Montgomery, chairman of the committee on platform and resolutions, and adopted by the Democratic State convention at Montgomery last week:

The Platform.

We, the democrats of Alabama, in convention assembled, do reaffirm our unalterable faith in the principles declared in our platform adopted in 1896, ... and especially in the platform adopted at Chicago in July of the same year, not so much because those platforms were declarations of our party, but for the much higher reason that the principles therein announced are the principles upon which the democratic party and the ... government are founded and ... principles are eternally true.

We favor the improvement of our public common schools, and demand that appropriations for their support be gradually increased as our people are able to bear the additional burden.

We declare that ... principles of the democratic government imperatively require that no person or class of persons shall be privileged from bearing their just share of all the burdens of government, and we therefore commend the action of the present administration in forcing lawfully, all persons to pay their due proportion of taxes for the support of the state government, and we favor the amendment of our laws whenever necessary, so as to attain this wise and just end.

Resolutions.

Resolved, That, standing "to arms" as we do today, we pledge our lives and honor to the cause of our country—for its defense, for the maintenance of its honor and prestige, and for its support in any conflict with a foreign foe.

Resolved, That we especially commend the able, dignified and brilliant manner in which our great leader, W. J. Bryan, has conducted and is now conducting the great contest for the recognition of the essential principles of the democratic faith as exemplified in the Chicago platform.

Resolved, That, recognizing the high character, the distinguished ability and patriotic services of our countryman, General Fitzhugh Lee, we commend him for his wise discharge of his delicate duties as the consul-general at Havana.

Resolved, That we cordially endorse the wise, honest, economical and democratic administration of Gov. Joseph F. Johnston, and especially his firm and just course in requiring all persons handling public funds to honestly account for and promptly pay into the public treasuries all moneys coming into their hands.

SENATOR WALTHALL DEAD.

The Distinguished Mississippian Passes Away.

Senator Edward C. Walthall, of Mississippi, died in Washington last Thursday. His death was not unexpected, the end having been foreseen for several days.

Senator Walthall's illness dated from January last, when he contracted a cold, from the effects of which he never recovered. His last address in the senate was made on April 7, when he delivered an eulogy on his colleague Senator George, in spite of the protests of his physicians. The following Saturday he was confined to his bed with a severe attack of typhoid pneumonia, which resulted fatally. The funeral services provide for services in the senate on Saturday. The remains, accompanied by a congressional committee, left Washington Saturday night for Holly Springs, Miss., where he will be buried.

Edward C. Walthall was born in Richmond, Va., in 1831. He served in the Confederate army during the civil war, rising to the rank of Major General. His profession was the law. With the exception of fourteen months from January, 1894, to March, 1895, Mr. Walthall sat continuously in the senate since the 12th of March, 1885.

A dispatch from Richmond, Va., says that General Fitzhugh Lee has been called to Washington by the president to be made major general of volunteers.

The Paris May Be Intercepted.

The steamer Paris, of the American Line, chartered by the United States government, sailed from Southampton Friday for New York. She had on board 150 passengers, and her cargo included a quantity of guns and ammunition. There was great enthusiasm among the crowds on the dock at Southampton and the bands of the steamer played "Yankee Doodle" as the Paris steamed seaward.

The Spanish embassy in London notified Madrid of the departure of the City of Paris. It is probable that fast cruisers from Cadiz will try to intercept her.

The Jacobinos With Us.

The Brazilian Jacobinos favor the United States in the coming war between this country and Spain. The Paiz, the Jacobino organ, says: "We are with the United States, which is giving Europe a daring example of making sacrifices for a people's liberty."

Believing that the common use of one cup in communion services is a menace to health, the Indiana State Board of Health recommends the use of individual cups.

THE Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company will reinstate employees who enlist in the army, after the Spanish have been settled with.

THE Executive Committee will meet at Clanton on Saturday the 30th inst. to announce the result of the primary election, instead of Monday 2d prox., as previoulsy arranged. This will enable the delegates to the State conventions to have a little more time to arrange matters.

THE State convention of the People's Party will meet next Wednesday at Montgomery and will put out a full ticket. The Chilton delegation will go uninstructed but can be relied upon to exercise their best judgment for the good of the cause. Some interesting developments may be looked for in the convention. It looks very much as if the offices would have to seek the men this time, as there are no strong candidates out for any of the offices.

THE war is progressing quietly. So far all is preparation and getting ready for an invasion of Cuba. The fleet is blockading Havana, and up to the present there has been no collision between the ships of the two nations. Our war vessels have captured several Spanish ships, and on the other hand the Spaniards have captured one American vessel. An American squadron has sailed from Hong Kong to engage a Spanish fleet at the Phillipine Islands in the Pacific, and it is expected that news of an engagement will be received from there in the next two or three days.

At Washington yesterday it was decided to raise American flag over the island of Cuba as a protectorate after the invasion takes place. The Spanish representatives are a party to the agreement and it is understood that the proposition came from Gomez, who realizing that it would give more guarantee to property and safety to residents on the island, advised it. There is no doubt that joint invasion is being planned and may be carried out within a month.

Colonel Hood, a son of General Hood, notified the department of war today, that he had raised a regiment of immunes, men who have all had yellow fever, and who, Colonel Hood said, were ready to take the field in Cuba at once. This was cheering news to the department and the recruiting officers of course will be advised to get as many immunes as possible among the volunteers.

It is a suit settled that General Fitzhugh Lee and General Joseph Wheeler, of Alabama, will both be commissioned as Major-Generals in the army. These appointments will meet with general approbation throughout the country.

It is important that you vote to-morrow.

The fight for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Fourth district has already become interesting. Captain T. S. Plowman, of Talladega, who was ousted from his seat in Congress by W. F. Aldrich, will go into the convention, it is thought, with 17 votes, 10 from Talladega and 7 from Shelby. Some say that Plowman is entitled to an unanimous nomination in order to vindicate himself in regard to his lost seat in Congress. But the supporters of former Representative Robbins, of Selma, claim that he too was kicked out of Congress by the Republicans, and is as much entitled to a vindication as Plowman. He will go into the convention with 21 delegates. R. P. Thomason of Oxford has his home county, Calhoun, solid behind him with 11 votes, and should Colonel Merrill of Cleburn, the fourth candidate, drop out of the race, it is thought that his 4 votes from that county will go to Thomason. Chilton is now the only doubtful county, and Plowman and Robbins stand about equal chances of getting its delegates. Each of these four candidates have some of the strongest politicians in the state as their friends, and the fight in the convention promises to be a lively one. W. F. Aldrich has already been renominated to make the race against the Democratic nominee.—Age-Herald.

The farmer, the mechanic and the bicycle rider are liable to unexpected cuts and bruises. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the best thing to keep on hand. It heals quickly, and is a well known cure for piles. Stanfield & Matthews.

America's Latent Power.

The quickness and inventiveness of American mechanics, engineers, and manufactures have no parallel in Europe. On a year's notice the United States might undertake to cope even-handed with either the Dual or the Triple Alliance—although we have now only the nucleus of an army and the beginning of a navy, while the European powers have made war preparation their principle business for a whole generation. It is to be suspected that one reason why the American people have bought the newspapers so eagerly during the past weeks is to be found in the satisfaction they have taken in learning how a strictly peaceful nation like ours could if necessary reverse the process of beating swords in plowshares. It is true, for example, that we have built only a few torpedo boats and only a few vessels of the type known as destroyers; but we have discovered that about a hundred very rich Americans had been amusing themselves the past few years by building or buying splendid ocean going, steel-built steam yachts of high speed and stanch qualities, capable of being quickly transformed into naval dispatch-boats or armored and fitted with torpedo-tubes. Probably not a single private Spanish citizen could turn over to his government such a vessel as the magnificent Goelet yacht, the Mayflower, which was secured by our Navy Department on March 16; not to mention scores of other private steam yachts of great size and strength that wealthy American citizens are ready to offer if needed.—From "The Progress of the World," in American Monthly Review of Reviews for April.

Make the Best of It.

We may if we choose make the worst of it. Every one has his weak point; every one has his faults. We may make the worst of these. We may fix our attention constantly upon these. But we may also make the best of one another. We may forgive even as we hope to be forgiven. We may put ourselves in the place of others and ask what we should wish to be done to us and thought of us were—we in their place. By loving whatever is lovable in those around us love will flow back from them to us, and life will become a pleasure instead of a pain, and earth will become like heaven, and we shall become not unworthy followers of his whose name is love.—Exchange.

The Pipe's Antiquity.

In Asia and Africa, beside America, the pipe dates from prehistoric times, and in Europe generally it has been in use since and during the Roman period, if not before. One of the most learned antiquarians—Dr. Petrie—says that smoking pipes of bronze are frequently found in Irish tumuli, or sepulchral mounds, of the most remote antiquity.

A Wonderful Discovery.

The last quarter of a century records many wonderful discoveries in medicine, but none that have accomplished more for humanity than that sterling old household remedy, Browns' Iron Bitters. It seems to contain the very elements of good health, and neither man, woman or child can take it without deriving the greatest benefit. Browns' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., April 27, 1898

The G. O. P., which is now in control of all war preparations has again shown its fondness for the negroes. Troops of these, generally kept at the most undesirable western posts have been ordered south and will be shipped to Cuba first if war be declared.

No item of news connected with the war flurry has created as much scornful merriment as the announcement of the formation of a Wall Street regiment. One hundred thousand dollars was subscribed within a few hours and placed in the hands of one Conner, who is known as "the Gould's watch dog." He will expend the money in securing substitutes, drilling and equipping the same.

Labor Commissioner Johnson, Populist of Kansas, makes a specialty of the inequalities of taxation in his last report.

Jerry Simpson's remark on President McKinley's war message has been widely quoted and much approved. The witty Kansan said, "He started out like a Napoleon and ended up like a blind horse in a ditch."

Congressman M. W. Howard of Alabama voted "aye," with the Hanna Republicans on the resolution to cut out the words "are and ought to be free," in the Cuban resolution. Such an omission was a rank administration endorsement.

All readers of his works on socialistic and economic lines will deplore Edward Bellamy's serious illness. The attendant physicians have no hope of his recovery.

Ignatius Donnelly, writer and "Roader," dropped off at Philadelphia, during his recent bridal tour. On his return he wrote a flowery account of his visit to the home of Wharton Barker and incidentally boomed that gentleman for the Presidential position on the Populist ticket.

"Wars and rumors of wars" do not interfere with the working of Hanna's literary bureau. The western and southern mails are loaded with matter bearing the frank of the Ohio Senator.

Dingley, the tariff crank, has long given indisputable evidence of "having wheels," but he is now trying to have such possessions of others taxed. His last suggestion for raising war funds is a levy of $2.00 on every bicycle owned by an individual not manufacturer or dealer.

The Populist State convention of North Carolina will be held at Raleigh May 17th.

The fusion and anti-fusion melee in Minnesota is further complicated by the Democrats and Silver Republicans having selected the same day and place for their state convention.

Congressman R. P. Bland, of Missouri, has introduced a bill providing for the immediate coinage of the seigniorage of the silver bullion purchased in pursuance of the Sherman act and the issue of silver certificates thereon in advance of the coinage of the bullion. This would make immediately available over $42,000,000 for war purposes.

The Canadian government is giving serious consideration to a proposition to own and operate such portions of the Klondike gold fields as are on the Canada side. The contention is that as the mines belong to the whole people they should be operated for their benefit.

The investigation of the city officers of Philadelphia is showing that municipal ownership of the water plan failed there because a private corporation paid the officers to so manage it that it would fail.

Gov. Holcomb of Nebraska has declined to accept the nomination for a third term.

The American Nonconformist, which had been published from Indianapolis, Ind., for several years is now located at Omaha.

An official summary of the stealings of Republican officials in Nebraska puts the figure at $1,323,000—and the party has the gall to want to be placed in control again.

The first move of the American Wire Trust, after getting possession of all the factories, was to post a 30 days notice of a reduction in wages of from 6 to 30 per cent. A. R.

A Fleshy Consumptive

Did you ever see one? Did you ever hear of one?

Most certainly not. Consumption is a disease that invariably causes loss of flesh.

If you are light in weight, even if your cough is only a slight one, you should certainly take

of cod liver oil with hypophosphites. No remedy is such a perfect preventive to consumption. Just the moment your throat begins to weaken and you find you are losing flesh, you should begin to take it.

And no other remedy has cured so many cases of consumption. Unless you are far advanced with this disease, Scott's Emulsion will hold every inducement to you for a perfect cure.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail, upon receipt of three two cent stamps to cover cost of postage on the bottle. Mention The Banner and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

His French.

"You know," said the man in the elevated train, "that I am studying French, and I believed, at my first lesson, that I had thought up a good way of remembering it. I was to have, among other things, the numeral adjectives. It is hard to remember them when they haven't the slightest resemblance to the other English numerals, so I tried to keep them in mind by comparison. For instance, five I was sure of—'Cinq, Sank, Sankey.' You see how simple that is."

"Y-es," said the second man hesitatingly.

"Quite simple," the first went on. "So I set myself to remember Sankey."

"And did you do it?"

"No," answered the French student disgustedly; "of course when I came to five I said 'Moody.'"

And the woman sitting near who had overheard the conversation so far forgot herself as to laugh aloud. —New York Times.

A TEXAS WONDER.

Hall's Great Discovery.

One small bottle of Hall's Great Discovery cures all kidney and bladder troubles, removes gravel, cures diabetes, seminal emissions, weak and lame back, rheumatism and all irregularities of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women. Regulates bladder troubles in children. If not sold by your druggist, will be sent by mail on receipt of $1. One small bottle is two month's treatment, and will cure any case above mentioned. L. W. The Duelist's Disease.

Dr. Pean, according to the Paris Figaro, was once called as a physician to attend a duel. One of the adversaries was so cowardly that he ran away after the first shot, unhurt. The four seconds, the remaining combatant and the doctor stood looking at each other with embarrassment and discomfiture, when Dr. Pean broke the silence by saying gravely, "I know the disease that has suddenly attacked this gentleman." And, taking out his pencil and paper, he drew up a report as follows: "At the first shot Mr. X. was taken with a sudden attack of tachypodia that would not yield to treatment. The seconds, therefore, on consultation with the physician, stopped the duel." Thus "honor" was saved.

The Light That Failed.

They hired a new superintendent at the Casino recently, and he cut down expenses right and left until the management was convinced it had found a jewel indeed.

A few days ago the new man appeared in Mr. Lederer's office and remarked that he had discovered another source of unnecessary expense.

"Where's that?" asked Mr. Lederer.

"Why, in the dressing rooms. You've got several incandescent electric lamps in each room and also a couple of gas jets. What's the use of both? Gas is cheaper. Take out the electric lamps, and it'll save you a couple of hundred dollars."

So out came the electric lamps. That night when the company had assembled and started to make up they found only the gas lights. Suddenly there was a splutter, and then everything was dark and pandemonium reigned. You see, when the actors attempted to soften their grease paint over the gas jets the stuff melted and put out the lights. The dressing rooms at the Casino are now illuminated by both electricity and gas.

JOSEPH RUSSELL.

Rings in the middle ages were sometimes so designed as to inflict injury. In Bavaria up to the beginning of the last century the peasants wore rings of brass, on the octagonal bezel of which stood out five steel points half an inch high. Worn on the middle finger of the hand, a blow from a burly fist thus armed would have left a lasting mark on an opponent.

The gardens of Buckingham palace are about 40 acres in extent, of which space five acres are occupied by a piece of ornamental water. The grounds are skillfully laid out and planted with beautiful trees, and in the queen's summer house are the eight frescoes from "Comus" which were painted by Eastlake, Maclise, Landseer, Dyce, Stanfield, Morris, Leslie and Ross.

SPECIAL OFFER. You want the election news; you want the war news. Take THE BANNER from now until November 1, 1898 only 40 cents,

VOTE to-morrow. Don't fail!

THE Populists of Shelby last Saturday nominated A. P. Longshore for Judge of Probate.

TO-MORROW should see every Populist at the polls voting for the man he thinks will best fill the office.

THE Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company will reinstate employees who enlist in the army, after the Spanish have been settled with.

THE Executive Committee will meet at Clanton on Saturday the 30th inst. to announce the result of the primary election, instead of Monday 2d prox., as previoulsy arranged. This will enable the delegates to the State conventions to have a little more time to arrange matters.

THE State convention of the People's Party will meet next Wednesday at Montgomery and will put out a full ticket. The Chilton delegation will go uninstructed but can be relied upon to exercise their best judgment for the good of the cause. Some interesting developments may be looked for in the convention. It looks very much as if the offices would have to seek the men this time, as there are no strong candidates out for any of the offices.

THE war is progressing quietly. So far all is preparation and getting ready for an invasion of Cuba. The fleet is blockading Havana, and up to the present there has been no collision between the ships of the two nations. Our war vessels have captured several Spanish ships, and on the other hand the Spaniards have captured one American vessel. An American squadron has sailed from Hong Kong to engage a Spanish fleet at the Phillipine Islands in the Pacific, and it is expected that news of an engagement will be received from there in the next two or three days.

At Washington yesterday it was decided to raise American flag over the island of Cuba as a protectorate after the invasion takes place. The Spanish representatives are a party to the agreement and it is understood that the proposition came from Gomez, who realizing that it would give more guarantee to property and safety to residents on the island, advised it. There is no doubt that joint invasion is being planned and may be carried out within a month.

Colonel Hood, a son of General Hood, notified the department of war today, that he had raised a regiment of immunes, men who have all had yellow fever, and who, Colonel Hood said, were ready to take the field in Cuba at once. This was cheering news to the department and the recruiting officers of course will be advised to get as many immunes as possible among the volunteers.

It is a cut settled that General Fitzhugh Lee and General Joseph Wheeler, of Alabama, will both be commissioned as Major-Generals in the army. These appointments will meet with general approbation throughout the country.

IT is important that you vote tomorrow.

The fight for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Fourth district has already become interesting. Captain T. S. Plowman, of Talladega, who was ousted from his seat in Congress by W. F. Aldrich, will go into the convention, it is thought, with 17 votes, 10 from Talladega and 7 from Shelby. Some say that Plowman is entitled to an unaninous nomination in order to vindicate himself in regard to his lost seat in Congress. But the supporters of former Representative Robbins, of Selma, claim that he too was kicked out of Congress by the Republicans, and is as much entitled to a vindication as Plowman. He will go into the convention with 21 delegates. R. P. Thomason of Oxford has his home county, Calhoun, solid behind him with 11 votes, and should Colonel Merrill, of Cleburn, the fourth candidate, drop out of the race, it is thought that his 4 votes from that county will go to Thomason. Chilton is now the only doubtful county, and Plowman and Robbins stand about equal chances of getting its delegates. Each of these four candidates have some of the strongest politicians in the state as their friends, and the fight in the convention promises to be a lively one. W. F. Aldrich has already been renominated to make the race against the Democratic nominee.—Age-Herald.

The farmer, the mechanic and the bicycle rider are liable to unexpected cuts and bruises. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the best thing to keep on hand. It heals quickly, and is a well known cure for piles. Stanfield & Matthews.

America's Latent Power.

The quickness and inventiveness of American mechanics, engineers, and manufactures have no parallel in Europe. On a year's notice the United States might undertake to cope even-handed with either the Dual or the Triple Alliance—although we have now only the nucleus of an army and the beginning of a navy, while the European powers have made war preparation their principle business for a whole generation. It is to be suspected that one reason why the American people have bought the newspapers so eagerly during the past weeks is to be found in the satisfaction they have taken in learning how a strictly peaceful nation like ours could if necessary reverse the process of beating swords in plowshares. It is true, for example, that we have built only a few torpedo boats and only a few vessels of the type known as destroyers; but we have discovered that about a hundred very rich Americans had been amusing themselves the past few years by building or buying splendid ocean going, steel-built steam yachts of high speed and stanch qualities, capable of being quickly transformed into naval dispatch-boats or armored and fitted with torpedo-tubes. Probably not a single private Spanish citizen could turn over to his government such a vessel as the magnificent Goelet yacht, the Mayflower, which was secured by our Navy Department on March 16; not to mention scores of other private steam yachts of great size and strength that wealthy American citizens are ready to offer if needed.—From "The Progress of the World," in American Monthly Review of Reviews for April.

Make the Best of It.

We may if we choose make the worst of it. Every one has his weak point; every one has his faults. We may make the worst of these. We may fix our attention constantly upon these. But we may also make the best of one another. We may forgive even as we hope to be forgiven. We may put ourselves in the place of others and ask what we should wish to be done to us and thought of us were we in their place. By loving whatever is lovable in those around us love will flow back from them to us, and life will become a pleasure instead of a pain, and earth will become like heaven, and we shall become not unworthy followers of his whose name is love.—Exchange.

The Pipe's Antiquity.

In Asia and Africa, beside America, the pipe dates from prehistoric times, and in Europe generally it has been in use since and during the Roman period, if not before. One of the most learned antiquarians—Dr. Petrie—says that smoking pipes of bronze are frequently found in Irish tumuli, or sepulchral mounds, of the most remote antiquity.

A Wonderful Discovery.

The last quarter of a century records many wonderful discoveries in medicine, but none that have accomplished more for humanity than that sterling old household remedy, Browns' Iron Bitters. It seems to contain the very elements of good health, and neither man, woman or child can take it without deriving the greatest benefit. Browns' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

THE BANNER is only $1 a year.

Political Pointers.

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., April 27, 1898

The G. O. P., which is now in control of all war preparations has again shown its fondness for the negroes. Troops of these, generally kept at the most undesirable western posts, have been ordered south and will be shipped to Cuba first if war be declared.

No item of news connected with the war flurry has created as much scornful merriment as the announcement of the formation of a Wall Street regiment. One hundred thousand dollars was subscribed within a few hours and placed in the hands of one Conner, who is known as "the Gould's watch dog." He will expend the money in securing substitutes, drilling and equipping the same.

Labor Commissioner Johnson, Populist of Kansas, makes a specialty of the inequalities of taxation in his last report.

Jerry Simpson's remark on President McKinley's war message has been widely quoted and much approved. The witty Kansan said, "He started out like a Napoleon and ended up like a blind horse in a ditch."

Congressman M. W. Howard of Alabama voted "aye," with the Hanna Republicans on the resolution to cut out the words "are and ought to be free," in the Cuban resolution. Such an omission was a rank administration endorsement.

All readers of his works on socialistic and economic lines will deplore Edward Bellamy's serious illness. The attendant physicians have no hope of his recovery.

Ignatius Donnelly, writer and "Roader," dropped off at Philadelphia, during his recent bridal tour. On his return he wrote a flowery account of his visit to the home of Wharton Barker and incidentally boomed that gentleman for the Presidential position on the Populist ticket.

"Wars and rumors of wars" do not interfere with the working of Hanna's literary bureau. The western and southern mails are loaded with matter bearing the frank of the Ohio Senator.

Dingley, the tariff crank, has long given indisputable evidence of "having wheels," but he is now trying to have such possessions of others taxed. His last suggestion for raising war funds is a levy of $2.00 on every bicycle owned by an individual not manufacturer or dealer.

The Populist State convention of North Carolina will be held at Raleigh May 17th.

The fusion and anti-fusion melee in Minnesota is further complicated by the Democrats and Silver Republicans having selected the same day and place for their state convention.

Congressman R. P. Bland, of Missouri, has introduced a bill providing for the immediate coinage of the seigniorage of the silver bullion purchased in pursuance of the Sherman act and the issue of silver certificates thereon in advance of the coinage of the bullion. This would make immediately available over $42,000,000 for war purposes.

The Canadian government is giving serious consideration to a proposition to own and operate such portions of the Klondike gold fields as are on the Canada side. The contention is that as the mines belong to the whole people they should be operated for their benefit.

The investigation of the city officers of Philadelphia is showing that municipal ownership of the water plan failed there because a private corporation paid the officers to so manage it that it would fail.

Gov. Holcomb of Nebraska has declined to accept the nomination for a third term.

The American Nonconformist, which had been published from Indianapolis, Ind., for several years is now located at Omaha.

An official summary of the stealings of Republican officialls in Nebraska puts the figure at $1,323,000—and the party has the gall to want to be placed in control again.

The first move of the American Wire Trust, after getting possession of all the factories, was to post a 30 days notice of a reduction in wages of from 6 to 30 per cent. A. R.

A Fleshy Consumptive

Did you ever see one? Did you ever hear of one?

Most certainly not. Consumption is a disease that invariably causes loss of flesh.

If you are light in weight, even if your cough is only a slight one, you should certainly take of cod liver oil with hypophosphites. No remedy is such a perfect preventive to consumption. Just the moment your throat begins to weaken and you find you are losing flesh, you should begin to take it.

And no other remedy has cured so many cases of consumption. Unless you are far advanced with this disease, Scott's Emulsion will hold every inducement to you for a perfect cure.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, N. Y.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail, upon receipt of three two cent stamps to cover cost of postage on the bottle. Mention The Banner and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

His French.

"You know," said the man in the elevated train, "that I am studying French, and I believed, at my last lesson, that I had thought up a good way of remembering it. I was to have, among other things, the numeral adjectives. It is hard to remember them when they haven't the slightest resemblance to the other English numerals, so I tried to keep them in mind by comparison. For instance, five I was sure of—'Cinq. Sank, Sankey.' You see how simple that is."

"Y-es," said the second man hesitatingly.

"Quite simple," the first went on. "So I set myself to remember Sankey."

"And did you do it?"

"No," answered the French student disgustedly; "of course when I came to five I said 'Moody.'"

And the woman sitting near who had overheard the conversation so far forgot herself as to laugh aloud. —New York Times.

A TEXAS WONDER.

Hall's Great Discovery.

One small bottle of Hall's Great Discovery cures all kidney and bladder troubles, removes gravel, cures diabetes, seminal emissions, weak and lame back, rheumatism and all irregularities of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women. Regulates bladder troubles in children. If not sold by your druggist, will be sent by mail on receipt of $1. One small bottle is two months treatment, and will cure any case above mentioned. L. W. Hall Soc manufacturer. P. O. Box 218, Waco, Texas. For sale by Dr. J. S. Johnson jr., Clanton, Ala.

READ THIS.

Clanton, Ala., March 3 1897.—I certify that I have been cured of kidney and bladder troubles by Hall's Great Discovery (Waco, Texas) and can fully recommend it.

Rev. L. B. Powers.

The Duelist's Disease.

Dr. Pean, according to the Paris Figaro, was once called as a physician to attend a duel. One of the adversaries was so cowardly that he ran away after the first shot, unhurt. The four seconds, the remaining combatant and the doctor stood looking at each other with embarrassment and discomfiture, when Dr. Pean broke the silence by saying gravely, "I know the disease that has suddenly attacked this gentleman." And, taking out his pencil and paper, he drew up a report as follows: "At the first shot Mr. X. was taken with a sudden attack of tachypodia that would not yield to treatment. The seconds, therefore, on consultation with the physician, stopped the duel." Thus "honor" was saved.

The Light That Failed.

They hired a new superintendent at the Casino recently, and he cut down expenses right and left until the management was convinced it had found a jewel indeed.

A few days ago the new man appeared in Mr. Lederer's office and remarked that he had discovered another source of unnecessary expense.

"Where's that?" asked Mr. Lederer.

"Why, in the dressing rooms. You've got several incandescent electric lamps in each room and also a couple of gas jets. What's the use of both? Gas is cheaper. Take out the electric lamps, and it'll save you a couple of hundred dollars."

So out came the electric lamps. That night when the company had assembled and started to make up they found only the gas lights. Suddenly there was a splutter, and then everything was dark and pandemonium reigned. You see, when the actors attempted to soften their grease paint over the gas jets the stuff melted and put out the lights. The dressing rooms at the Casino are now illuminated by both electricity and gas.

Rings in the middle ages were sometimes so designed as to inflict injury. In Bavaria up to the beginning of the last century the peasants wore rings of brass, on the octagonal bezel of which stood out five steel points half an inch high. Worn on the middle finger of the hand, a blow from a burly fist thus armed would have left a lasting mark on an opponent.

The gardens of Buckingham palace are about 40 acres in extent, of which space five acres are occupied by a piece of ornamental water. The grounds are skillfully laid out and planted with beautiful trees, and in the queen's summer house are the eight frescoes from "Comus" which were painted by Eastlake, Maclise, Landseer, Dyce, Stanfield, Morris, Leslie and Ross.

NOTES OF INTEREST TO THE ANTI-LIQUOR LEADERS.

An Official Opinion of the Late Frances E. Willard. An Editorial from the Union Signal. Serpent in the Liquor Glass.

Oh, Would I Were a Boy Again.

Oh, would I were a boy again,
When life seemed formed of sunny years,
And all the heart then knew of pain,
Was wept away in transient tears,
When every hope whispered then,
All fancy decked was only truth,
Oh, would that I could know again,
The happy visions of my youth.

"[illegible] on that years have shown,
[illegible] were,
Or [illegible] have known,
[illegible] the heart;
[illegible] will fondly cling
[illegible] as truth,
[illegible] to fling
[illegible] my youth.

Edgar Lemon.

Frances E. Willard An Official Opinion.

From the Union Signal.—No one loved home better than Frances Willard. But few in her rank had less of it. The author of "Home, Sweet Home" never had a home. With her, as with him, it was all through life and always "the song of the dying swan."

Next to her mother and her nest at Evanston Frances Willard had her home on earth in the hearts of white-ribboners. They were to her always, in her own language, "our folks," and her home festivals were mostly where they gathered together. So it came about that all of our meetings, including our great conventions when women came together from the ends of the earth, have always been homelike; and the sweetest and most touching things ever said by Miss Willard were her quaint and pathetic utterances at such meetings about home and mother and father and little ones. They were the charm of our gatherings. She threw in so many appreciative sayings about people and things on the inspiration of the moment, that they came to be called Miss Willard's embroidery. Happy are we if we, too, embroider life's pathway with sweet and lovely flowers, rather than wound the weary feet with thorns and nettles.

Frances Willard's life work was preeminently for the home, and it was consistent throughout. The loving care she gave her mother, and the words of almost excruciating tenderness the daughter penned of the last days of St. Courageous, as Madam Willard came to be called, have molded many a life for good.

Women have been accused of being severe and unforgiving and critical toward each other, but the life of our gentle Frances forever denies the charge for one at least, and marks a new era in the centuries, when it is written, "Women demand a white life for two, and extend an equally helping hand to both—equal pity and equal love to fallen women and fallen men."

One of the great elements of Frances Willard's success was her power over women. It was only necessary for gay young girls or society women to come within the pervasive atmosphere of love which enveloped her like the nimbus of the ancient saints, from head to foot, to become her devotees, for the time being at least, and to desire nothing more than to serve her and her cause—for the two were inseparable. Their devotion was given in response to the appreciation she gave of the good in them, for she was a seer who discerned the possibilities in others' lives, and she breathed upon latent good, that it might become instinct with life. She was all this to her white-ribbon constituency and far more. Her head was set upon her shoulders like a rose upon its stem, and it turned or lifted or drooped with the sentiment that scintillated through her great brain like a flower moved by the gentle wind. In our conventions, when at the last moment of the last evening session, the sisterhood forms, as is their custom, a chain of clasped hands from the vast platform down into the auditorium and around the great audience of five or six thousand people and sing our parting song, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," a deaf-mute might follow the sentiment and the rhythm of the song simply by the central figure of Frances leading them by the bend of her head and the swaying of her form—but she was far more than graceful. Her aesthetic taste was cultivated in many directions, by her college education, by books, travel, museums of art, and contact with cultivated people in many lands. These opportunities given to a naturally bright, sensitive and strongly intellectual nature produced an elegant woman who could not do an ungenteel act—but she was far more than elegant. She might have been, to the world at least, simply an educated woman, classical and cold, had it not been for the great cause which developed her emotional nature, and brought her into close touch with all humanity and made her great-hearted. But informed in mind and heart and then touched with a live coal from off the altar with love for humanity, she could adapt herself to the lowliest and the most ignorant. Through all her work love pulsated, and by her kindly spirit women were incited to their best and brought nearer to the full stature of womanhood. She was a great educator of her followers.

The destruction of the base and ignoble possessed her. The building anew and the polishing and perfecting consumed her. Her desire for progress toward the good was insatiable. She was infinitely painstaking and conscientious, and never satisfied with present attainments. One height reached and she caught glimpses of peaks beyond, and thus she inspired all her followers. Her resources were practically limitless. She rarely failed to settle differences amicably. She was never partisan. Her mental poise seemed perfect and that of her heart as well. She never forgot the supreme aim of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in the do-everything policy as some have thought, but made all things contribute to the one great object, the final overthrow of the liquor curse. She had one single purpose with many ideas, and because of this she became a leader in the temperance revolution which Lincoln prophesied in 1842 would follow that against slavery. She was a great general and gave her life as really to the revolution which she led as Lincoln gave his to the cause of the lowliest and most despised, though in a different way, and because of this she will live in the hearts of the people and her cause "will go marching on." To the great organization which belts the globe with its symbolic bands of white, which owes its power and prestige so largely to her tireless brain and consecrated heart, her death means that her cause is immortal.

Serpent in the Glass.

Many of the famous advocates of temperance are dying off, but there is one trumpet-tongued orator who continues to sound his tocsin in every house that contains a Bible. It is the divinely-inspired preacher who utters this tremendous warning—"Look not on the wine when it is ruddy, when it giveth its color in the cup, when it goeth down smoothly; for at the last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder!" Young man, listen to that loud and loving voice before you touch the glass of champagne; good woman, stop and think what you are about before you mix that big bowl of punch for your party; father, be careful how you put that sly serpent on your table, for some of your boys may get stung to death!

The serpent quality of all intoxicants lies in their deceptiveness. "Wine is a mocker; whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." The drinker fancies that his glass is doing him good and promoting his health. Instead of adding to his strength it excites him for a time and the reaction leaves him the weaker.

Thousands of people call for liquors at the restaurants, or set them on their tables to promote digestion; and I have known persons to cling to this fallacy after alcohol had poisoned their stomachs. The heroic Dr. Livingstone of Africa—a physician himself—asserted that he "could stand any and every hardship best by using water and water only." I had a conversation this week with Nansen, and thanked him for his published testimony that during his exploration of Greenland, he found alcohol of no benefit to himself or his men.

Another deceptive quality in intoxicants is that they steal a march on those who use them, and an appetite for them is formed before one suspects it. The reason is that every glass of liquor increases the desire for another glass. A tumbler of water or milk satisfies thirst; a draught of liquor increases thirst. This fact makes it so difficult to tamper with wine or brandy without becoming addicted to it—and in too many cases enslaved by it. An eminent minister of my acquaintance began to use port wine as a tonic; it woke up—a terrible appetite and not long ago he had to resign his charge under a cloud of disgrace! Women in poor health often resort to alcoholic "medicines," or sly "stiffeners," and become victims of the serpent before they are aware. I could startle my readers if I dared to mention some of the deplorable cases.

To break the terrible habit and to shake off the serpent requires such effort that few are permanently reformed. Some surrender to the inevitable and go over the cataract with eyes open to their doom. A young man said to a friend of mine: "This awful drink has used up my money, ruined my health, and almost killed my parents. It will soon kill me, and send me to hell! I know it, and yet the habit is so strong that I cannot stop." And he did not stop; yet when he began to sip his wine, he never dreamed that he would die a wretched sot. Of all the deceivers that betray body and soul to damnation, none is so alluring an ensnaring as the glass.

It is strange that parents—many Christian parents—will allow it to come into their homes, and will provide it for guests. It is strange that, in spite of all the miseries suffered by the wives of drunkards, so many women are willing to marry young men who are in the habit of taking a social glass; they are playing with a viper; if their hearts are stung with agony it is their own fault. No young woman should ever accept the hand of any young man if that hand ever touches an intoxicant. This stand resolutely taken by our women would increase the number of teetotallers immensely. If the above-mentioned things are strange, it is stranger still that churches, Sunday schools and pulpits do not ring out oftener and more vehemently this heaven-sent tocsin—"Look not on the wine! Look not on the wine! It stingeth like a serpent, and biteth like an adder!"—Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler.

A bill has been introduced into the Kentucky legislature, now in session, by Senator Thomas of Bourbon to decrease the penalty for selling liquor in local option counties from one hundred to twenty-five dollars.

If coffee is colored with burnt sugar or caramel it may be detected by sprinkling the coffee on water, which will be rapidly darkened if either adulterant be present.

NOT TWELVE DOLLARS

PER CAPITA VOLUME OF CURRENCY.

The Fictions of the Treasury Department—Twelve Dollars Per Capita an Excessive Estimate. While Mr. Gage Claims $23.62.

The efforts of the treasury department to make it appear that the volume of circulation is large and increasing requires much cooking of figures. For example, in its statement, it says that there are $346,681,016 of United States notes. No deduction is made for loss and destruction of greenbacks, although they have been used since 1862. No one supposes that the existing greenbacks exceed three hundred millions, and those best acquainted with the subject put the amount now in existence at two hundred and seventy-five millions. The statement as to all other outstanding money is based upon the original issue, the same as in the case of greenbacks, says the Silver Knight-Watchman. No allowance is made in any of the calculations of the treasury department for wear, loss and destruction of money in circulation, which is always very great.

The treasury statement shows that there was on the 1st of April, 1898, $582,129,742 of gold coin in circulation after deducting $147,256,076 of gold reserve in the treasury. The reserves in the banks are no more in circulation than the reserves in the treasury. The last comptroller's report states that the reserves in the banks at the end of the last fiscal year were $242,353,002. This vast sum is treated as money in circulation, but so far as the people are concerned it might as well be circulating in Germany or Russia as lying idle in the banks. It is not in circulation; it is held as reserve. The entire reserve in the banks, according to the same report, at the end of the last fiscal year was $628,200,529. This should be subtracted from $1,758,058,645, represented to be in circulation by the treasury statement, leaving $1,127,858,116 in circulation, provided the treasury is correct as to the amount of gold in the United States and is also correct in its assumption that none of the currency which has been in circulation has been lost, but that it is all intact and still in circulation.

First, let us see as to the amount of gold in circulation. Subtract the amount of gold held as reserves in the banks, to wit, $242,353,002, from the $582,129,742 represented as being in circulation, and we have $339,776,738. Does anybody believe that there is that amount of gold in actual circulation among the people outside of the banks? There are only $387,770,898 outstanding of silver certificates. According to the secretary of the treasury there is almost as much gold outside of the treasury and outside of the banks, in actual circulation among the people as there is of silver certificates. We ask our readers how much gold circulates in their particular neighborhood, and how does the amount of gold coin in circulation compare with the amount of silver certificates in circulation as far as their experience goes. The secretary has nothing to show but a guess as to the amount of gold outside of the reserves in the banks, and we do not believe there is $339,776,738 of gold in actual circulation among the people, and nobody believes it. A hundred millions, in our judgment, would be an excessive circulation. A hundred millions subtracted from the pretended $339,776,738 leaves $239,776,738, which we do not believe exists in the country. Subtracting $239,776,738 from the $1,127,858,116 which remained after the bank reserves were deducted, leaves $988,081,378. At least another hundred millions should be subtracted for wear and loss of greenbacks and other moneys in circulation, which would leave $888,081,378. Divide this amount by our population, estimated to be 74,122,000, and we have less than twelve dollars per capita.

It is unnecessary to become involved in figures to ascertain how much money there is in circulation per capita, because everybody knows that the volume of money is too small, which is shown by falling prices. We ascertain whether there is sufficient volume of money to do the business of the country by knowing whether general prices are stable. If they are rising the volume of money is increasing. If they are falling, the volume of money is inadequate. Our main object, however, in calling attention to the matter is to show the desperate straits to which the treasury department is driven to make a false showing to the people.

Small Bonds in Favor.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: The popular loan idea grows. The government will have to borrow large sums of money if war takes place. Large loans will have to be made, and some of the bonds which the government will issue should be in small denominations and be sold in postoffices and national banks. This will give the people a chance to aid the government financially, and to get the best sort of a security which can be had in any market.

A System of Misrepresentation.

The system of government by "representation," as practiced here, is about the worst kind of government in the world. It is emphatically a system of misrepresentation.—Danbury American Freeman.

The Cause of Poverty.

"It is because of monopolies which we permit and create, and advantages which we give to one man over another, that some are tramps and some are millionaires."—Henry George.

POINTS FROM THE PRESS.

The foreign policy of the administration appears to be quite foreign to the sentiment of the American people.—Santa Cruz Penny Press.

The masses will not get justice until the people make the laws. Direct legislation is the solution of the social problem.—Wyoming Freeman.

The profits of the cotton mills that have recently cut wages and profits, a dumb protest in the shape of strikes from the workers has been enormous. The $10,000 a year superintendents and other like employes did not join in the strike. Sensible.—Appeal to Reason.

The government officials report that there are large quantities of counterfeit silver dollars afloat. They are made out of silver and the only difference between them and the government dollar is that they don't have government fiat in them. The men who make them are evidently get-rich-quick gold bugs who don't believe in that money.—American.

Nebraska has a state law which declares that all obligations made payable in gold coin are null and void, contending that silver and gold are both legal tenders, and either can be used in debt-paying, no matter what the amount. Kentucky sees how well it works in Nebraska—for no state is more prosperous—and recently a law similar in every respect passed her assembly. By the way, why would not this be good policy, as well as honest principle, for every state in the Union?—Carson Appeal.

Every interest-bearing bond planted in one generation bears fruit of slavery for that generation in which it matures.—Santa Barbara Equity.

The money of the nation is rapidly congesting in New York city. The banks there now hold over $100,000,000 legal tender money more than they held sixteen months ago. The legal tender cash holdings of the New York banks have doubled since October, 1896. If other eastern cities show a corresponding increase in cash, there certainly must be very little money left in the west and south or in the hands of the masses of people in the east.—Missouri World.

Invention and injustice are pushing the people out into the field where they must fight for progress or turn back to worse conditions. The old system is outworn—the new is not yet sufficiently understood by the people to be immediately made available. And between this casting off of the old and the putting on of the new—during this transition period there will be suffering for the millions.—Coming Nation.

Week before last McKinley planted his presidential tree. He selected an oak. It would have better represented his administration had it been a quaking asp.—Phoenix Gazette.

America's Lost Estate.

Our carpenters build magnificent mansions, with pillared walls, and mosaic floor, and as soon as their work is done they pick up their tools and leave, and never go there any more.

Our mechanics make electric lights and use dangerous kerosene at home; they build carriages and go afoot; they manufacture pianos and do not own a tin whistle.

Our miners dig up gold and die poor; they live in treacherous coal mines, and lack fuel in December.

Our farmers raise grain and lack food; export wool and cotton and lack overcoats in winter; sell cattle to pay off the mortgage and lack meat.

Hundreds of the men who helped to build our railways are now counting the ties from San Francisco to New York.

Hundreds of young men, whose parents were those hardy western parents who transformed a wilderness into a civilization, are today without a foot of land and without hope.

Our marvelous inventions have been monopolized, so that, in spite of the daily miracles of our machinery, the hungry still lack food and the homeless wander through the streets.

Every recent change in legislation has been made to protect property and to disfranchise men.—Herbert N. Casson.

Profit in Lower Fares.

Milwaukee Sentinel: The proposition that a reduction in passenger transportation is good business policy for railway companies in general is not merely a theory, but is borne out by actual experience. It applies both to street railways and to steam railways. The street railway companies of Detroit and Washington, for instance, are firmly convinced of the advantage derived from lower fares in swelling their receipts, as is proved by the statements of their managers. So far as long distance railroads are concerned the movement for a reduction in fares finds one of its strongest arguments in the established fact that lower rates increase traffic.

Bostonian Official Populism.

Boston has a city printing office which employs only union men at union rates and makes nearly $6,000 profits yearly, but we are not informed how the profits are computed. A department of carpentering, plumbing, painting, and glazing is said to have been constructed by Mayor Quincy, which does away with all contract work in those lines.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

Gov. Johnston Nominated by Acclamation—Thos. J. McClellan for Chief Justice.

The following nominations for [illegible] officers were made by the democratic convention which met in Montgomery Wednesday:

For governor, Joseph F. Johnston.

For chief justice, Thomas J. McClellan.

For associate justices, H. A. Sharpe of Jefferson, Jerome Hall of Dallas, John R. [illegible] of Perry, James R. Doster [illegible] of Madison, W. H. McDavid of Marengo.

For secretary of state, Robert P. McDavid.

For auditor, Wm. Brown, of Jefferson.

For treasurer, Wm. Wood of Colbert.

For attorney general, Geo. W. Taylor.

The [illegible] nominated by acclamation, [illegible] state convention. [illegible] Jefferson county, [illegible] Democratic [illegible] Representative John H. Bankhead, acting as chairman of the committee on resolutions, brought about a most enthusiastic organization of the convention. He declared it was war by McClellan strength [illegible] Coleman's 184. That settled it to such an extent that when [illegible] were called for Mr. Bankhead moved to make the nominations of Judge McClellan and the four candidates for associate justices mentioned above unanimous.

For secretary of state, Robert P. McDavid had four opponents and it took three ballots to nominate him. His strength increased with each ballot. But for trades he would have won easily on the first.

Charles G. Brown, of Birmingham, was nominated for attorney general on the first ballot.

Governor Johnston was nominated by acclamation amid unbounded enthusiasm. He was escorted to the hall and made a speech, every sentence of which was received with enthusiastic and ringing applause.

W. S. White, for auditor, and G. W. Ellis, for treasurer, were renominated by acclamation, having no opposition.

Mr. Robert J. Lowe, of Birmingham, was made chairman of the state democratic executive committee, Mr. John B. Knox retiring.

A feature of the convention was the unanimous sentiment in favor of upholding the national government in the contemplated war with Spain.

AN HYPOCRITICAL ACCOMPLICE.

A Parisian Paper Attacks the Position of Great Britain.

PARIS (Special).—The Libre Parole publishes a violent article attacking Great Britain's attitude toward Spain and characterizing Great Britain as the "hypocritical accomplice of the United States."

It says: "Their alliance is ignominy, but perhaps it is just as well that they should work together, for there will be a day when they will be called to account by international justice, and that day the British leech will be forced to disgorge, and Europe will no longer tolerate the disgrace of allowing the law to be laid down by such assassins and malefactors as John Bull and Bro. Jonathon. That day Europe will have reason for congratulation that they will be unable to invoke any excuse for mercy. They have been brothers in infamy, and history will sooner or later chastise them together."

TO INCREASE THE ARMY.

A Bill Passed the House Saturday Making Standing Army 61,000 Men.

A bill to increase the standing army of the United States to 61,000 men passed the house Saturday. The bill reorganizes the army into the three-battalion formation and authorizes the twenty-five regiments of the infantry arm of the service to be recruited up to a total of 31,800 enlisted men. It gives 340 instead of 100 privates to each infantry company. It authorizes the recruiting of the ten regiments of the cavalry arm of the service to a total of 12,000 enlisted men, the seven regiments of the artillery arm of the service to be 10,457 men, and the engineer battalion of five companies up to 752 enlisted men, including two non-commissioned officers, which makes a total for these four arms of the service, when at a maximum strength, 61,000.

WISE WORDS.

The nobleness of life depends on its consistency, clearness of purpose, quiet and ceaseless energy.

The secret of life is not to do what one likes, but to try to like that which one has to do; and one does come to like it—in time.

In brief, the statement is made that our government will not issue letters of privateering; that the enemy's property in neutral bottoms, save contraband of war, are exempt from seizure; that neutral goods not contraband of war, even if the enemy's flag are safe from seizure; that blockades to be binding must be effective. In substance, the declaration of principles laid down in the treaty of Paris of 1856.

THE PREACHERS

DISCOURSES BY TWO ABLE WORKERS IN GOD'S VINEYARD.

Martyrdom of Stephen the Theme For an Able Sermon — Glimpses of Heaven Through the Eyes of the Great Preacher — The Eternal Sleep.

TEXT: "Behold I see the heavens opened," etc. Acts vii., 56-60.

Stephen had been preaching a rousing sermon, and the people could not stand it. They resolved to do as men sometimes would like to do in this day, if they dared, with some plain preacher of righteousness —kill him. The only way to silence this man was to knock the breath out of him, so they rushed Stephen out of the gates of the city, and with curse and whoop and bellow they brought him to the cliff, as was the custom when they wanted to take away life by stoning. Having brought him to the edge of the cliff, they pushed him off. After he had fallen they came and looked down, and seeing that he was not yet dead they began to drop stones upon him, stone after stone. Amid this horrible rain of missiles Stephen clambers up on his knees and folds his hands, while the blood drips from his temples to his cheeks, from his cheeks to his garments, from his garments to the ground, and then, looking up, he makes two prayers—one for himself and one for his murderers. "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit;" that was for himself. "Lord, lay not this sin to their charge;" that was for his assailants. Then from pain and loss of blood he swooned away and fell asleep.

I want to show you to-day five pictures—Stephen gazing into heaven, Stephen looking at Christ, Stephen stoned, Stephen in his dying prayer and Stephen asleep.

First look at Stephen gazing into heaven. Before you take a leap you want to know where you are going to land. Before you climb a ladder you want to know to what point the ladder reaches. And it was right that Stephen, within a few moments of heaven, should be gazing into it. We would all do well to be found in the same posture. There is enough in heaven to keep us gazing. A man of large wealth may have statuary in the hall and paintings in the sitting room and works of art in all parts of the house, but he has the chief pictures in the art gallery, and there hour after hour you walk with catalogue and glass and ever increasing admiration. Well heaven is the gallery where God has gathered the chief treasures of his realm. The whole universe is his palace. In this lower room where we stop there are many adornments, tessellated floor of amethyst, and on the winding cloud stairs are stretched out canvases on which commingle azure and purple and saffron and gold. But heaven is the gallery in which the chief glories are gathered. There are the brightest robes. There are the richest crowns. There are the highest exaltations. John says of it, "The kings of the earth shall bring their honor and glory into it." And I see the procession forming, and in the line come all empires, and the stars spring up into an arch for the hosts to march under. The hosts keep step to the sound of earthquake and the pitch of avalanche from the mountains, and the flag they bear is the flame of a consuming world, and all heaven turns out with harps and trumpets and myriad voiced acclamation of angelic dominion to welcome them in, and so the kings of the earth bring their honor and glory into it. Do you wonder that good people often stand, like Stephen, looking into heaven? We have many friends there.

There is not a man in this house today so isolated in life but there is some one in heaven with whom he once shook hands. As a man gets older the number of his celestial acquaintances very rapidly multiplies. We have not had one glimpse of them since the night we kissed them goodby, and they went away, but still we stand gazing at heaven. And when some of our friends go across the sea, we stand on the dock or on the steam tug and watch them, and after awhile the hulk of the vessel disappears, and then there is only a patch of sail on the sky, and soon that is gone, and they are all out of sight, and yet we stand looking in the same direction, so when our friends go away from us into the future world we keep looking down through the narrows, and gazing and gazing, as though we expected that they would come out and stand on some cloud and give us one glimpse of their blissful and transfigured faces.

Pass on now and see Stephen looking upon Christ. My text says he saw the Son of Man at the right hand of God. Just how Christ looked in this world, just how He looks in heaven, we cannot say. A writer in the time of Christ says, describing the Saviour's personal appearance, that He had blue eyes and light complexion, and a very graceful structure, but I suppose it was all guesswork. The painters of the different ages have tried to imagine the features of Christ and put them upon canvas, but we will have to wait until with our own eyes we see Him and with our own ears we can hear Him. And yet there is a way of seeing and hearing Him now. I have to tell you that unless you see and hear Christ on earth you will never see and hear Him in heaven. Look! There He is! Behold the Lamb of God! Can you not see Him? Then pray to God to take the scales off your eyes. Look that way—try to look that way. His voice comes down to you this day—comes down to the blindest, to the deafest soul, saying, "Look unto Me, all ye ends of the earth, and be ye saved, for I am God, and there is none else." Proclamation of universal emancipation for all slaves! Proclamation of universal amnesty for all rebels! Belshazzar gathered the Babylonish nobles to his table; George I. entertained the lords of England at a banquet; Napoleon III. welcomed the Czar of Russia and the Sultan of Turkey to his feast; the Emperor of Germany was glad to have our minister, George Bancroft, sit down with him at his table, but tell me, ye who know most of the world's history, what other king ever asked the abandoned and the forlorn and the wretched and outcast to come and sit beside him? Oh, wonderful invitation! You can take it to-day and stand at the head of the darkest alley in any city and say: "Come! Clothes for your rags, salve for your sores, a throne for your eternal reigning." A Christ that talks like that and acts like that and pardons like that—do you wonder that Stephen stood looking at Him? I hope to spend eternity doing the same thing. I must see Him.

I pass on now and look at Stephen stoned. The world has always wanted to [illegible]. Their very life is an [illegible] Out with [illegible] the gates of the city [illegible] a stone upon [illegible] so much [illegible] themselves [illegible] upon them. While [illegible] translated by the [illegible] lives in the [illegible] was with [illegible] for persecuting [illegible] to say that [illegible] the anguish [illegible] estate or church [illegible] show you men who utter [illegible]

[illegible] of you, it is because [illegible] a laggard or a dolt. If a [illegible] across the ugly [illegible] Brave soldiers of Jesus Christ will hear the carbines click. When I see a man with [illegible] money and influence [illegible] and some caricature [illegible] at him, and some denounce him, and men who pretend to be actuated by right motives conspire to cripple him, to cast him out, to destroy him, I say, "Stephen stoned."

Pass on now and see Stephen in his dying prayer. His first thought was not how the stones hurt his head nor what would become of his body. His first thought was about his spirit. "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit." The murderer standing on the trap door, the black cap being drawn over his head before the execution, may grimace about the future, but you and I have no shame in confessing some anxiety about where we are going to come out. You are not all body. There is within you a soul. I see it gleam from your eyes, and I see it irradiating your countenance. Sometimes I am abashed before an audience, not because I come under their physical eyesight, but because I realize the truth that I stand before so many immortal spirits. The probability is that your body will at last find a sepulcher in some of the cemeteries that surround your town or city. There is no doubt that your obsequies will be decent and respectful, and you will be able to pillow your head under the maple or the Norway spruce or the cypress or the blooming fir. But this spirit about which Stephen prayed—what direction will that take? What guide will escort it? What gate will open to receive it? What cloud will be cleft for its pathway? After it has got beyond the light of our sun will there be torches lighted for it the rest of the way? Will the soul have to travel through long deserts before it reaches the good land? If we should lose our pathway, will there be a castle at whose gate we may ask the way to the city? Oh, this mysterious spirit within us! It has two wings, but it is in a cage now. It is locked fast to keep it, but let the door of this cage open the least and that soul is off. Eagle's wing could not catch it. The lightnings are not swift enough to take up with it. When the soul leaves the body, it takes fifty worlds at a bound. And have I no anxiety about it? Have you no anxiety about it?

I do not care what you do with my body when my soul is gone, or whether you believe in cremation or inhumation. I shall sleep just as well in a wrapping of sackcloth as in satin lined with eagle's down. But my soul, before this day passes I will find out where it will land. Thank God for the intimation of my text, that when we die Jesus takes us. That answers all questions for me. What though there were massive bars between here and the city of light, Jesus could remove them. What though there were great Saharas of darkness, Jesus could illume them. What though I get weary on the way, Christ could lift me on His omnipotent shoulder. What though there were chasms to cross, His hand could transport me. Then let Stephen's prayer be my dying litany, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit."

We may be too feeble to employ either of these familiar forms, but this prayer of Stephen is so short, is so concise, is so earnest, is so comprehensive, we surely will be able to say that—"Lord Jesus, receive my spirit." Oh, if that prayer is answered, how sweet it will be to die! This world is clever enough to us. Perhaps it has treated us a great deal better than we deserve to be treated, but if on the dying pillow there should break the light of that better world we shall have no more regret about leaving a small, dark, damp house for one large, beautiful and capacious. That dying minister in Philadelphia, some years ago, beautifully depicted it when in the last moment he threw up his hands and cried out, "I move into the light."

Pass on now, and I will show you one more picture, and that is Stephen asleep. With a pathos and simplicity peculiar to the Scriptures the text says of Stephen, "He fell asleep." "Oh!" you say, "what a place that was to sleep! A hard rock under him, stones falling down upon him, the blood streaming, the mob howling. What a place it was to sleep!" And yet my text takes that symbol of slumber to describe his departure, so sweet was it, so contented was it, so peaceful was it. Stephen had lived a very laborious life. His chief work had been to care for the poor. How many loaves of bread he distributed, how many bare feet he had sandaled, how many cots of sickness and distress he blessed with ministries of kindness and love, I do not know, but from the way he lived, and the way he preached, and the way he died I know he was a laborious Christian. But that is all over now. He has pressed the cup to the last fainting lip. He has taken the last insult from his enemies. The last stone to whose crushing weight he is susceptible has been hurled. Stephen is dead. The disciples come. They take him up. They wash away the blood from the wounds. They straighten out the bruised limbs. They brush back the tangled hair from the brow, and then they pass around to look upon the calm countenance of him who had lived for the poor and died for the truth.

Stephen asleep! I saw such a one. He fought all his days against poverty and against abuse. They traduced his name. They rattled at the doorknob while he was dying with duns for debts he could not pay, yet the peace of God brooded over his pillow, and while the world faded heaven dawned, and the deepening twilight of earth's night was only the opening twilight of heaven's morn. Not a sigh, not a tear; not a struggle. Hush! Stephen asleep!

I have not the faculty to tell the weather. I can never tell by the setting sun whether there will be a drought or not. I cannot tell by the blowing of the wind whether it will be fair weather or foul on the morrow. But I can prophesy, and I will prophesy, what weather it will be when you, the Christian, come to die. You may have it very rough now. It may be this week one annoyance, the next another annoyance. It may be this year one bereavement, the next another bereavement. Before this year has passed you may have to beg for bread or ask for a scuttle of coal or a pair of shoes, but at the last Christ will come in, and darkness will go out, and though there may be no hand to close your eyes, and no breast on which to rest your dying head, and no candle to lift the night, the odors of God's hanging garden will regale your soul, and at your bedside will halt the chariots of the King. No more rents to pay, no more agony because flour has gone up, no more struggle with "the world, the flesh and the devil," but peace—long, deep, everlasting peace. Stephen asleep!

You have seen enough for one morning. No one can successfully examine more than five pictures in a day. Therefore we stop, having seen this cluster of divine Raphaels—Stephen gazing into heaven, Stephen looking at Christ, Stephen stoned, Stephen in his dying prayer, Stephen asleep!

GREAT COAL PRODUCTION.

All Records Were Broken, But the Price Per Ton Decreased.

The total output of coal in the United States in 1897 amounted approximately to 198,250,000 short tons, with an aggregate value of $198,000,000, a fraction less than $1 per ton.

Compared with 1896, this shows an increase in tonnage of 6,271,000 tons, or about 3.3 per cent. The increase in the value of the product was only $1,700,000, little less than one-tenth of one per cent. The amount of coal produced in 1897 was the largest on record. The average value per ton was the lowest ever known, continuing the decline for twelve which has been steady without any reaction for the last six years.

NOVEL ARMOR FOR THE NEWARK.

Inner Coating of Cement to Be Used With Cellulose Packing.

The big protected United States cruiser Newark, which has been at the Norfolk Navy Yard for some months undergoing extensive repairs, has been selected as the object for a naval experiment. The efficacy of cellulose on warships it is believed can be increased by the use of a heavy coating of cement all the way around the hull of the vessel.

This will really form an additional belt of protection, which it is believed will prove effective against rapid-fire guns. The Newark is now being prepared for her novel armor.

Mrs. Olney Haywood

Oxford, Ala., writes: Have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine 25 years. I know it cures Dizziness of Head, Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, and many other diseases. I tried "Thedford's Black Draught," but did not find it to be half as good as the M. A. Simmons Medicine.

Leucorrhœa—"Whites."

This is a disorder from which few women escape at some period of their lives. It is in the nature of nasal catarrh. In a healthy condition the lining membrane of the genital organs secretes sufficient mucus to moisten them, but if the mucus membrane is congested or inflamed, the secretion becomes profuse, irritating and offensive. The best results will follow the use of our Mexican Female Remedy as an injection, and a dose twice a day for some time of that great uterine tonic, Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine, will cure the complaint.

G. W. Irby

Energy, Miss., writes: M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine has been used 20 years in my Father's family for Nervousness, Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, Biliousness. My Sister was confined to bed for months from Enlargement of Liver. Our Doctor gave her up to die. She began taking M. A. S. L. M. and was soon entirely well. There is no just comparison between M. A. S. L. M. and Zeilin's Liver Regulator. The latter by careful test having been found not so reliable has been discarded.

Menstrual Irregularities.

Puberty is the period when menstruation is established. It is the time when the girl becomes a woman, and also the time from which many female diseases date. The menstrual flow usually continues from three to six days and comes on about every twenty-eight days. The quantity exuded varies from two to eight ounces, but the amount consistent with the health of one person may be excessive and weakening in another. The function is regarded as being regular when its effect upon the system is favorable. The departures from healthy menstruation are numerous and should be corrected by using Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine.

WINE OF CARDUI

THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure

McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui

taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life. It makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1.00 at the drug store.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

W. I. ADDISON, M.D., Cary, Miss., says: "I use Wine of Cardui extensively in my practice and find it a most excellent preparation for female troubles."

A TOOTHSOME MORSEL.

The Persimmon After It Has Been Perfected by the Early Frost.

Two years ago I went forth one fine January morning to search the surrounding country for some plants I needed for the plantations in town. In due time I found what I wanted, but instead of being contented with my easy success I went farther on and soon came into trouble—that is, I lost my way, and dinner hour came before I knew "where I was at." I did not need to starve, however, and it was then and there that the resources of this seemingly so desolate country became apparent to me, and, though no hospitable shanty was visible, the woods laid the table, and a dainty one in the bargain, for I could feast on persimmons, drink my own and the rest of mankind's health in clear, ice cold spring water and finish up by finding my dessert in prickly pears. It may not be quite devoid of interest that I discovered soon after that I had not been far from Pinehurst at all, only had circled around the town instead of cutting through. Since that day I have preserved a deep gratitude toward our native fruits, and I always try to cultivate the taste of our guests from the north so that they may share my liking.

For those who like to know a little more of the whereabouts of the persimmons I write the following notes: The persimmon (Diospyros virginiana) grows nearly everywhere in North Carolina and is found as far north as New York state and Rhode Island, but commonly it is not hardy beyond Philadelphia. It will be easily recognized in our woods by its perfectly symmetrical growth and its grayish, somewhat rough bark, and, last but not least, by its fruits. Though usually not higher than 15 to 20 feet with us, there are specimens in this vicinity over 40 feet tall and of a trunk diameter of about 15 inches (McKenzie's farm). The foliage is bright green and glossy, appears early and changes to purple before dropping.

The rather insignificant whitish blossoms open in June, are fragrant and much relished by bees. They are followed by the quickly developing fruit, which attains its full size and color by August. But woe to the investigating stranger who might be tempted to try these inviting looking plumlike fruits. Holy horror will soon depict itself upon his face, and his mouth will at once take all kinds of forms from whistling to a broad grin. He will swear off the use of persimmons for all time to come, and—will like them the more later on. For, mind ye, at that time the fruits are puckering and astringent above all things and want to be left quite alone.

Everything, however, cometh unto him who waits, and the first early frost will accomplish quite a marvelous metamorphosis. Instead of looking smooth and plump any more, they will then be somewhat withered, and, best of all, the despicable astringent taste will have made way to a delicious sweetness resembling somewhat that of dates. Now the time has come for man and possum to revel in 'simmons. The gourmet will fare even better yet by following the old druggist's adage, "Shaken before taken," and accordingly he shakes the tree and does not mind to pick up the juicy fruit from the ground. The ripe fruits are sometimes used in the making of a beer—'simmon beer—which is said to be "not bad," while the fermented fruit furnishes a brandy that improves with age. The wood is found very useful for shoe lasts, mallets and violins and is regarded as an equal to ash or beech and nearly coming up to hickory. A decoction of the astringent inner bark is supposed to be salubrious against intermittent fevers.

There hails from Japan another species of persimmon, the Diospyros kaki, which offers some special advantages. It bears much larger and, if possible, sweeter fruits than our native representative, and the fruits are as delicious before as they are after frosts. This Japanese persimmon is fairly hardy with us and under propagation now in our nurseries.—Pinehurst Outlook.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to premise particular features that will appear in the "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for it is, as the Bookman says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it prints for its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the political, the economic, and literary happenings which are of value to intelligent men and women. The Editor's "Progress of the World" tells succinctly an illustrated story of the month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazines in five continents; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the man of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of immediate serious import.

"We know of no review published in this country or in Europe, which combines so successfully as has AMERICAN MONTHLY the alertness, timeliness, and energy of journalism with the sound judgment, carefully weighed opinion, exact knowledge, and well-chosen English of the purely literary periodical."—The Outlook.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly volume the information needed by intelligent people of "live" instincts is best gauged in the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library in itself"; "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of editorial genius"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

Dr. Stewart made a trip to the capital city Tuesday.

Mr. T. M. Dunlap brought Lessanthia negro, to town Tuesday morning, charged with grand larceny. Smith secreted himself in Chapman's store the night before and detached pairs of shoes, pocket knives and some lead pencils. He broke out of the store and was discovered in possession of the goods. He was brought before Judge Brock and after pleading guilty was committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury.

A little boy asked for a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral up in the morning as fast as he could run, the druggist recognizing a household name for "Dr. Ayer's Little Early Risers," and handing a bottle of those famous pills for constipation, sick headache, liver and stomach troubles. Jemison, May 2, 1898

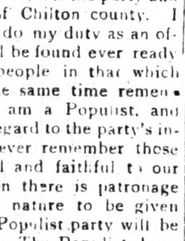
To the Populist voters of Chilton county:

I wish to tender to you my heartfelt thanks for your votes and the confidence you have thereby reposed in me by giving to me the nomination for the office of Judge of Probate. I esteem it a great honor to be nominated to this responsible position and I hope that if elected you will have the pleasure of knowing that you have not only honored me, but the party and the people of Chilton county. I shall strive to do my duty as an officer, and will be found ever ready to serve the people in that which is best, at the same time remembering that I am a Populist, and having due regard to the party's interest I will ever remember those who are loyal and faithful to our cause. When there is patronage of a political nature to be given those of the Populist party will be remembered. The Populists have spoken and in the nomination have uttered no uncertain sound. Each man nominated is a Populist whose loyalty to the party cannot be questioned and each and every true friend of the People's Party will be found in line, supporting by his influence and vote the entire ticket. We have opposition, and have had since the day of the organization of the People's Party, but the men who have stood amid the storms of the past will face the coming battle with renewed courage, and the fiery ordeal will only serve to consume the dross and refine the gold. On the evening of the first Monday in August the people will have the consciousness of knowing that they still reign and rule, and that Chilton county remains a Populist county, governed by and in the interests of the people. Hoping that none will falter by the way, but trusting that each soldier will be found at his post, I remain yours respectfully, S. M. ADAMS.

A BACKWARD SPRING

Brings Blood Diseases, Nervous Derangements and Chronic Catarrh.

Never was there a greater demand for spring medicines—something to cleanse the blood, strengthen the nerves, or regulate the digestion. Is there any medicine so good for these purposes as Peruna? Thousands of doctors, druggists and tens of thousands of people of all classes and vocations have long ago decided this question—that Peruna has no equal in these cases.



Poor, shrunken dyspeptics become strong vigorous and hearty after a few bottles of it. People who are blotched, pimpled and sallow and sluggish never fail to find a course of Peruna to clear the skin, invigorate the system and enrich the blood. Chronic catarrh in all phases and stages, cases that have defied the best of treatment for many years, take a few bottles of Peruna to their entire relief. Nervousness, debility, weaknesses of both sexes, sleeplessness, irritability, despondency, hypochondria, all these disappear when Peruna is used according to directions.

One of the most instructive books on chronic catarrh ever furnished free is being sent by the Peruna Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio. This book is very instructively illustrated with expensive drawings, and will be sent free to any address.

Thirty five years make a generation. Adolph Fisher, of Zanesville, O., suffered from piles. He was cured by using three boxes of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Stanfield & Matthews.

Turn-Round Topics.

The Turn-Round is quite an ideal place for fun, pastime, picnics and enjoyments of almost any kind as it proved to be last Saturday, when a delightful band spent a most pleasant day taking wild flower strolls over the hills of Turn-Round.

Mr. Walter Johnson, wife and two sons, Clay and Willie, arrived here Sunday afternoon from Birmingham to spend a few days with Mrs. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hanes.

Walter Kendrick, Will Manning, Dock, Will and Henry Pyron, Hal Faulkner and Misses Vena Fyron and Beulah Johnson attended the all-day singing Sunday at Pine Flat church, F. M. Connell jr, of Cross Roads paid us a flying afternoon visit Sunday.

I am requested to announce through the BANNER that the annual May singing as usual will convene with Canaan church the 5 Sunday inst., and all lovers of music and those who are not lovers that will behave themselves are cordially and especially invited to come and be with us that day and bring note books and baskets too if possible. Canaan is on the Mountain Creek road half way between Mountain Creek and the Turn Round. Come one, come all, and be with us on Sunday, May 29.

SAME AS BEFORE.

Many old soldiers now feel the effects of the hard service they endured during the war. Mr. Geo. S. Anderson, of Rossville, York county, Penn., who saw the hardest kind of service at the front, is now frequently troubled with rheumatism. "I had a severe attack lately," he says, "and procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It did so much good that I would like to know what you would charge me for one dozen bottles." Mr Anderson wanted it both for his own use and to supply it to his friends and neighbors as every family should have a bottle of it in their home, not only for rheumatism, but lame back, sprains, swellings, cuts, bruises and burns, for which it is unequalled. Whooping Cough.

I had a little boy who was nearly dead from an attack of whooping cough. My neighbors recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I did not think that any medicine would help him, but after giving him a few doses of that remedy I noticed an improvement, and one bottle cured him entirely. It is the best cough medicine I ever had in the house.—J. L. MOORE, South Burgettstown, Pa. For sale by J. S. Johnson jr.

The general health is very good around here.

People are generally late farming but are nearly through planting. There is a good prospect for a large harvest this year. There will not be by a great amount as much cotton planted in this community this year as was last.

The rumor of war has curtailed the acreage of cotton and increased that of grain. Of course it's bad to have war, but I think the rumor up to date has already shown a future benefit to the farmers by causing them to look after bread and meat at home.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

CLANTON, - ALABAMA.

During the debate on the Good Roads bill, in the Senate at Albany, N. Y., Senator Wray said in reply to a question about the cost: "Every cent spent will be an interest-bearing investment." That is not imagination, but fact, demonstrated by universal experience, maintains the New York Tribune.

The six causes of poverty, as defined in a recent lecture by Professor Franklin H. Giddings, of Columbia University, are refusal to work, lack of employment, struggle to rise, unequal distribution of accident, wrong public policy, and sentimental charity. Any reader whose income is inadequate is invited by Harper's Weekly to consider this list and determine which cause fits his own case.

Fifty years London was five times larger than New York. At the present time it is barely more than two-thirds larger, and if the two cities continue to grow in the same proportion it will not be long before the metropolis of the Western hemisphere displaces London and becomes itself the metropolis of the globe. Some enterprising statistician on the New York Herald has reduced the statement contained in the foregoing paragraph to actual figures, with this result:

	New York.	London.
1840	373,000	1,950,000
1850	696,000	2,600,000
1860	1,175,000	3,200,000
1870	1,440,000	3,600,000
1880	2,000,000	4,000,000
1890	2,650,000	4,500,000
1898	3,400,000	5,600,000
1945	16,000,000	16,000,000

From 1840 to 1850 London's population increased 31 per cent. and New York's 75 per cent. Since that time the percentages of increase have been as follows: From 1850 to 1860, London's 23 per cent., and New York's 79 per cent.; from 1860 to 1870, London's 13 per cent., and New York's 21 per cent.; from 1870 to 1880, London's 12 per cent., and New York's 43 per cent.; from 1880 to 1890, London's 13 per cent., and New York's 31 per cent.; from 1890 to the present time, London's 24 per cent., and New York's 60 per cent. In the calculations which the foregoing table makes with respect to New York's future population, it is extremely conservative; for in all probability New York will eclipse London in population long before the approaching century reaches its meridian.

From the military viewpoint the most interesting story of the Cuban war is told by Frederick Funston, late chief of the insurgent artillery, in Harper's Weekly. It is the tale of the first, and probably the last, charge of cavalry on an infantry square armed with magazine guns—Mauser six-shooters. The insurgents were, of course, the attacking party, and Colonel Funston is quite within his rights in calling Desmayo, the name of the action, the Cuban Balaklava. The charge cannot be said to have succeeded, since the Spanish troops did not withdraw until attacked on the flank by Cuban infantry. Moreover, Gomez lost fifty-two per cent. of his mounted force of 479 men, and this chronicler admits that if the infantry had not arrived he might have lost all. Nevertheless the charge was a military marvel. It is not too much to say that the magazine gun was expected to do away with cavalry as a force to be fought in mass or used for other purposes than scouting, foraging and raiding. In fact, it has done away with the old close-order infantry charge, substituting for it the "rushes" in loose formation which so disappointed the war correspondents who followed Edhem Pasha's headquarters with expectations formed by traditions of Gravelotte and recollections of Kinglake and Napier. Hence the fact that the Cuban horse were able to cross a space of 400 yards and reach their foes in fighting condition, so that they disordered their fire and suffered comparatively little after the magazines were emptied with the first six volleys, must be a matter of surprise to military theorists generally. The incident shows that even this age cannot produce military contrivances the deadly efficiency of which brave men are not able to overcome with stout hearts and primitive arms. We may probably call this, as we have said, the last cavalry charge. Certainly Murat himself, with the pick of his cuirassiers, could not have made a better ending for the knightly arm of war than did Gomez, the bush-fighter, with his ragged rough riders

TROOPS FOR PHILIPPINES.

The Cabinet Has Decided to Send 5,000 Men to Dewey's Assistance.

SUPPLIES TO BE SENT TO FLEET AT ONCE.

The Government is Determined to Hold the Island, Pending a Final Settlement With Spain, as Collateral for a War Indemnity.

WASHINGTON.—The cabinet meeting Tuesday resulted in a decision to await a report from Commodore Dewey and then to send him the number of troops he deems necessary to enforce our control of the Philippines.

The whole session was consumed in a general discussion of past events. The administration has practically decided to occupy the Philippine Islands with a strong military force as soon as possible after Commodore Dewey's report, which is expected Wednesday, has been received. For this purpose Pacific slope troops will be used, and it is expected that at least 5,000 will be en route within the next ten days.

There does not seem to be any doubt as to the government's purpose to hold these islands pending a final settlement with Spain, when they will be used as a collateral to secure the payment to the United States of a war indemnity.

High officials are of the opinion that none of the powers will seriously dispute our right to make such final disposition of the islands as suits our purpose in the enforcement of war claims against Spain.

As indicated in Secretary Long's request for an emergency appropriation, the government will take steps at once to supply Commodore Dewey's fleet with provisions and other supplies, including ammunition and coal, and to this end will dispatch at the earliest possible moment a sufficient number of ships to supply all possible needs of the Asiatic squadron.

These supplies will be forwarded at once without waiting a decision of the question as to whether or not troops shall be sent out to relieve the Commodore of the necessity of policing Manila with men from his fleet.

One ship has been secured already as a collier. It is said to be a much fleeter vessel than those usually so employed, but it will take her about three weeks to reach Manila and she may stop en route at Honolulu to replenish her own coal supply from the large accumulation held there by Admiral Miller, in order that the ship shall arrive in the Philippines with a full cargo.

Although without confirmation from any official source, the naval officials are forced to credit some reports coming from Paris that at last accounts the United States fleet was firing upon Corrigodor Island.

This island lies on the outer entrance to the harbor of Manila and is about twenty-five miles below the city. It is crowned by a lighthouse and has several modern guns.

MORE PRIZES CAPTURED.

The Argonauta is Regarded as One of the Most Important Made.

The United States gunboat Castine, Commander R. M. Berry, brought to Key West Tuesday morning a small prize, the two-masted fishing schooner Antonio Y Paco, having on board a cargo of fish. The Paco was captured off Mariel Monday while bound for Havana. Only one blank shot was necessary to cause the little craft to heave to and she was towed in to Key West.

The Spanish mail steamer Argonauta, captured by the Nashville and having on board, besides some Spanish army officers and forty-eight passengers, a large amount of mail matter from the Spanish government intended for Captain-General Blanco and other Spanish officials in Cuba, is regarded as being one of the most important captures since the outbreak of hostilities. The mail matter especially is considered likely to prove valuable to the United States government. She also had on board a large cargo of arms and ammunition, intended for the Spanish troops.

BRAZILIAN CONGRESS.

Government Refuses to Renew Reciprocity Treaty With United States.

RIO DE JANEIRO.—Congress was opened Tuesday with the reading of the message of the president, General Campos Salles, in which he expressed the hope that the British Guiana boundary question would be settled without arbitration.

Continuing, the message said the president had refused to renew the reciprocity treaty with the United States, though the government of the United States had asked for its renewal on account of the great loss in receipts which were recorded during the year 1897.

Greeks Volunteering for American Navy.

The porte has notified United States Minister Angell that Turkey will maintain strict neutrality in the war between Spain and the United States.

The American legation has received more than 2,000 offers of volunteers for the American navy, chiefly Greeks, many of whom declare they will pay their passage to America in remembrance of the assistance rendered them by the United States in the Greek war for independence.

SPANISH FLEET IS COMING.

Four Cruisers and Three Torpedo Boa Are Headed for Cuba.

A dispatch from St. Vincent, Cape de Verde Islands, says the Spanish cruisers Marie Teresa, Almirante Oquendo, Viscaya and Cristobal Colon, accompanied by the Spanish torpedo destroyers Plunton, Terror and Furor, sailed in a westerly direction Friday morning, presumably going to Cuba.

The dispatch adds that the Spanish torpedo boats Azor, Rayo and Ariete, and the Spanish transports San Francisco and Ciudad de Cadiz, sailed at the same time in a northerly direction, probably going to the Canary Islands.

Commenting on the dispatch from St. Vincent, the London Evening News says:

"The import of the cablegram is that the whole effective fighting force of the squadron has been dispatched west, while the non-effectives and the non-combatants are proceeding to another anchorage.

"Well informed naval authorities are aware that the torpedo boats could not travel the Atlantic at the present time, as they have not sufficient coal capacity to go to Cuba, and the risk of coaling in mid-ocean is too great."

This long delayed move is most significant. Its significance is in the fact, which can hardly be emphasized, that it is practically Spain's first real move since the outbreak of hostilities.

ANGLO-AMERICAN AGREEMENT.

The English Ministers Are Very Anxious for Developments.

The New Evening Post's London correspondent cables as follows; "It would be quite a mistake to assume that Lord Salisbury, Mr. Balfour and the ministry generally are unsympathetic toward the movement of Anglo-American accord of which evidences are not less abundant here than in the states. I have the best reason to know that ministers here await with the keenest interest the development on the line of Anglo-American co-operation they suggested some time back to President McKinley. The British proposal was for joint Anglo-American action in defense of the policy of an open trade door in China alone, as against expected Russian-German exclusiveness. I am assured that the British government realizes the far wider scope for Anglo-American co-operation to which the American intervention in Cuba may now open the way."

NO INFORMATION TO THE PRESS

On Subjects Connected With the War Will Be Given.

The war department is very seriously concerned over the publications in some of the morning papers of its intention to select General Shafter to command the first detachment of troops to be sent to Cuba. To prevent any further disclosures of the plans of campaign of the department, Secretary Alger has issued a most sweeping order, directed to all bureau chiefs of the war department and all officers on special duty, from the highest to the lowest, instructing them under no circumstances to give any information to the press on any subject connected with the war.

Naval and Military Activity in France.

PARIS (Special.)—The Aurore announces that extraordinary activity prevails in naval and military circles throughout France. Large orders for war materials of all sorts have been placed, and all the coast batteries have been supplied with provisions and munitions for several months. It is also announced that fresh batteries have been erected at Ushant; that all the French warships recently mobilized are kept in fighting trim and ready for sea at a moment's notice, and that the reserves have been notified to expect a call for active service.

Bismarck's Opinion.

The Berlin correspondent of the London Standard says: "Prince Bismark thinks that Germany must abstain from interference in the conflict of the United States with Spain as long as possible, but that she must interfere instantly and most energetically the moment her interests demand it. Therefore, he thinks Germany ought not to bind her hands by neutrality declarations."

CONFERENCE ON THE FLAGSHIP.

A Concerted Movement of Sampson's Fleet Seems Imminent.

It is understood that a movement has been planned by Sampson's fleet off the coast of Cuba Monday. There was a long conference on board the flagship between Rear Admiral Sampson, Captain Evans, of the Iowa; Captain Taylor, of the Indiana; and Captain Chadwick, of the New York, the purpose of which could not be ascertained. It is believed that a concerted movement on Matanzas is imminent.

A Lieutenant Kills Himself.

First Lieutenant Rowland G. Hill, of Company G, Twentieth infantry committed suicide at Spring Hill Camp Mobile, Monday. He had been standing in front of his tent talking to other officers, and having his revolver in hand. As he turned away he raised the revolver to his head with his left hand and shot himself through the head, back of the left ear. He died instantly. Deceased had been acting queerly for several days.

THE QUEEN REGENT TALKS.

"God Knows We Did Not Desire War and Did Everything to Prevent It."

SHE TRUSTS IN SPAIN'S PATRIOTISM,

In God and the Possible Intervention of the European Powers to Save the Tottering Throne of the Spanish Dynasty.

A commissioner of the New York Journal has obtained an interview with the queen regent of Spain, in which she is quoted as saying:

"Yes, we have almost all Europe with us, and in the painful moments we are now passing through that is a great consolation, and, at the same time, an encouragement. Not that we shall ask anything from the powers, which are expressing their sympathies for us, but from the point of view of the strict right of their attitude touches us profoundly. Not a day passes without bringing to the king and to myself warm letters from abroad, some even came from the United States. These documents go straight to our hearts.

"Everybody here is ready to shed the last drop of his blood to defend his country. Everybody is ready to do his duty, to fight like a hero on the battlefield. The Spaniards are fighting for their country. The Americans are fighting each for himself. That is why we are proud of Europe's encouragement. We have firm hope in the future. God knows that we did not desire war; and did everything to avoid it. I can say that every kind of humiliation was heaped upon us by the United States. But everything has an end.

"The United States government said to itself: 'We can demand everything we choose from Spain, and, after some recrimination, we will obtain satisfaction, because Spain is poor and will never dare to face war.' Reasoning thus, they pushed us till we could go no further. Finally the rupture took place, to the great astonishment of the Americans themselves, who had fallen into their own snare. They were so sure of holding us in their power, through what they consider our great poverty, that they were not ready to go to war. They are not ready now."

"The American government," continued the queen, "gave way before the pressure of public opinion. That is the explanation of an otherwise inexplicable situation, because we had agreed to everything which we could.

"They know that on the day the Spanish government granted autonomy to Cuba it was practically abandoning its very rights over the island. But now it is too late to argue. The time has come for acts, not words.

"Let us have confidence in God, confidence in the future. Who can say that Europe will not intervene after the first serious battle?"

GENEROUS MILLIONAIRES.

John Jacob Astor Places His Road at the Disposal of the Government.

It is said that Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., have offered their tiaras for the purchase of a new warship, if the government should need an extra one.

The famous millionaire, John Jacob Astor, has gone them one step further and placed his immense railroad interests at the disposal of the government. Mr. Astor is president of the Findley, Fort Wayne & Western Railroad company. He has also other railroad stock.

To transport soldiers and ammunition from the interior to the coast is an expensive matter, as the department of war found out. On learning of the money difficulty, John Jacob Astor sent the following letter to the state department:

"If occasion should arise, I beg to place our road and rolling stock at the free disposal of the state government for the movement of troops and supplies, or for other public service in which they may be required."

John Jacob Astor is 33 years old.

Mississippi Troops to Mobilize.

Governor McLaurin has issued an order for the state volunteers to rendezvous at Jackson on Tuesday next. Eighteen companies have so far volunteered.

Cyclone in Texas.

The town of Mobeeti, Tex., has been almost totally destroyed by a cyclone. John Stockers, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Rufus Kitchen and baby were killed; Mrs. Exum and baby and Mrs. Anderson were fatally injured; fifteen were painfully injured. All the county buildings were wrecked. The loss is $35,000.

Postal Service in the First Port.

The postmaster-general has issued an order to establish postal service in the Cuban port first occupied by the United States. The service will cover not only the army mail for troops, but business mail.

Killed With a Rock.

Bob McKennie, a young white man, killed a negro named Jack Pitts, 67 years of age, with a rock at Opelika Tuesday. A dispute arose about a negro boy who was chopping cotton for McKennie, and the negro Pitts started at him with a plow stock, whereupon McKennie threw a rock at him, striking him on the head, producing almost instant death.

It is rumored that British ambassador at Washington, Sir Julian Pauncefort, will be succeeded by Sir Thomas Sanderson.

ACKNOWLEDGE DEFEAT.

Admiral Montejo Says That the Spanish Fleet Was Completely Demolished.

MADRID.—(Special.)—A dispatch to the Liberal from Manila says: Admiral Montejo, the Spanish commander, acknowledges that the Spanish fleet has been completely demolished. He adds that the crew of the Spanish warship Mindano has been saved.

The British Consul at Manila, E. P. Rawson-Walker, has conferred with Commodore Dewey. The object of their conference is not known.

Further advices from Manila to the Liberal say that the United States fleet has taken up a position in front of Manila and has established a blockade of the port.

The population of Manila is fleeing from the city. A bombardment of the city is expected to take place Monday.

The publication of the Liberal's dispatch from Manila removed the last hope of the Spaniard's, and it is now admitted on all sides that the Spanish fleet had been completely destroyed and that it is probably only a question of hours as to when the Americans will occupy Manila.

The fact that the Liberal, which is Premier Sagasta's organ, admitted the complete defeat of the Spaniards gives additional significance to the frank announcement.

NASHVILLE ENGAGES THE ENEMY.

Capturing the Argonauta—Two Spanish Gunboats Turned Tail and Fled.

Key West.—While the cruiser Nashville was cruising off Cienfuegos Monday the Spanish mail steamer Argonauta attempted to enter that port. The Nashville fired a shot at her and she hove to and hauled down her colors. While the Nashville was taking possession two Spanish gunboats darted out of the harbor and opened fire on the Nashville. The American warship swung broadside on and let go her whole port battery at the Spaniards. The attacking boats turned tail at the roar of the Nashville's guns and fled. With the prize the Nashville took twenty-nine prisoners and the Spanish mail. Among the prisoners taken are Colonel Vicente de Cortijo and his staff, of the Third cavalry, who were on their way to join the army in Cuba.

VICTORY AT MANILA

Will Be Followed by Aggressive Action by Cuba.

At the foreign embassies and legations at Washington intense interest is shown in the news of the decisive victory of the American fleet at Manila. It was stated by a high diplomatic official that another such victory would end the cause of Spain and would force her to seek an armistice and peace. The universal belief in diplomatic quarters is that this stroke in the Philippines will be followed immediately by aggressive action in Cuba.

Aside from the immediate effects of the Manila engagement foreign representatives here say it is likely to precipitate an internal convulsion in Spain. This has been apprehended by the powers and has been the chief cause of their activity, as it threatens to bring the war to the continent of Europe.

$36,000,000 APPROPRIATED

By Congress to Support the Army and Navy—Rushed Through Both Houses.

Washington, D. C.—Chairman Cannon, of the appropriations committee, Monday reported and the house passed an urgency deficiency bill appropriating about $36,000,000 for war expenses. Similar action was taken in the senate.

Representative Livingstone, of Georgia, has introduced this resolution in the house: Resolved, That the thanks of congress be, and they are, hereby tendered to Commodore George Dewey, commanding the Asiatic squadron, for the eminent skill and valor exhibited by him and his squadron in the recent engagement resulting in his glorious victory over and destruction of the Spanish fleet at Manila.

The Dons' Fleet Annihilated.

LONDON.—A cable message has been received at the foreign office from the British consul at Manila announcing that the battle of Sunday lasted an hour and a half and that the Spanish fleet was practically annihilated by the fleet of the United States.

The Irish Jubilant.

The Parnellite members of parliament have sent the following dispatch from London to President McKinley: "In the name of millions of Irishmen, the Parnellite members of the house of commons send you their congratulations on the victory of the American fleet."

Will Join Their Command.

The Huntsville and Florence companies of the Third Alabama regiment went to Mobile Tuesday to join Colonel Higdon's command. Both companies carry the maximum number of men.

New Squadron to Guard Our Coast Cities.

Secretary Long has formed a new squadron which will be known as the "Patrol Squadron." The new fleet will include the cruiser San Francisco and the auxiliary cruisers Yosemite, Prairie, Yankee and Dixie, and will be used for the patrol of our coast and the protection of our coast cities. It will be more for the defensive than the offensive. But should it be necessary, these five vessels can put up a very nice fight against any fleet that Spain can send over.

Vessels Which Participated in the Battle.

Following are the two fleets engaged in the naval battle before Manila:

Olympia, first class protected cruiser, 5,800 tons, speed 21 knots; Baltimore, second rate, 4,600 tons, speed 20.6 knots; Boston, second rate, 3,189 tons, speed 15 knots; Raleigh, second class, speed 19 knots; Concord, third rate, 1,700 tons, speed 17 knots; Petrel, fourth rate, 890 tons, speed 13 knots.

THE SPANISH SHIPS.—Reina Maria Christina, 3,520 tons; Castilla, 3,342 tons; Don Antonio de Ulloa and Don Juan de Austria, each 1,130 tons speed 14 knots; General Lezo and El Cano, gun vessels, 524 tons; speed 11.5 knots; Marques del Duero, dispatch boat, 500 tons; Isla de Cuba and the Isla de Luzon are both small gunboats. They are of 1,030 tons displacement. Isla de Mindaros, Compania Transatlantica of Cadiz, armored as a cruiser; length 376.5; beam 42.3; gross tons 4,195; speed 13.5.

Aguinaldo Advancing to Attack Manila.

A dispatch from Madrid to the London Daily Mail dated Monday morning says: The Americans are now attacking Manila, but there has as yet been no capitulation. The Reina Maria Christiana and Castilla were totally burned, and one vessel was purposely sunk and the rest of the fleet was badly damaged. The American fleet is believed to be seriously injured."

Spanish Officers Captured.

Blanco cables his government that American warships off Cienfuegos captured Spanish merchant steamer. A colonel, a sergent and six non commissioned officers were held as prisoners. Civilian passengers liberated.

Hayti Will Be Neutral.

The Haytien government officially informed the United States Minister, Mr. W. F. Powell, in response to his demand on the subject, that Hayti will fulfill all the terms of her treaty with the United States in regard to privateering, etc., during the war between Spain and the United States.

Argentine Republic's Action.

The Argentine Republic will make a declaration of neutrality, but may not make coal contraband of war.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR.

Sketch of the Life of Commodore Dewey, the Hero of the Philippines.

Commodore George Dewey is a native of Vermont. He was appointed to the naval academy from that state September 23, 1854, and took the usual four years' course. After graduation he was assigned to the steam frigate Wabash, of the Mediterranean squadron, remaining on that vessel one year. During the eventful years of 1861-'62 he was transferred to the steam sloop Mississippi, of the west gulf squadron, and participated in the capture of New Orleans in April, 1862.

COMMODORE DEWEY.

He was present at the capitulation of Port Hudson in March, 1863. He was also foremost in the fighting below Donaldsonville in July of the same year.

He had been commissioned as lieutenant April 19, 1861, and the years 1864-65 he spent on board the steam gunboat Agawam, of the North Atlantic blockading squadron, occupying this command during the two attacks on Fort Fisher, December, 1864, and January, 1865. March 3, 1865, he was commissioned lieutenant commander.

In 1366 he was on the Kearsarge, of the European squadron, and the flagship Colorado, of the same squadron, in 1867. He returned to the United States and spent the years 1868-69 at the Naval Academy, but during 1870-71 he was given command of the Narragansett, a fourth-rate vessel in special service.

Part of the following year he spent at a torpedo station, and in April of 1872, having been commissioned as commander, resumed command of the Narragansett, and retained this vessel on duty with the Pacific survey until 1875. In 1883 he returned to sea service in the Asiatic squadron, commanding the Juniata. He was promoted to a captaincy in 1884, and as such commanded the Dolphin, the next year succeeding to the flagship Pensacola at the European station, holding this command until 1888. He was given the rank of commodore, and acted as chief of the bureau of equipment and recruiting from 1889 to 1890. Since that time he has steadily risen until attaining his present rank, and is reckoned one of the most valuable and best equipped officers in the service.

MASSING TROOPS AT TAMPA.

Seven Thousand Men Are Now Concentrated at That Point.

Eleven regiments of infantry, one of cavalry and ten light batteries of artillery are now concentrated at Tampa and Port Tampa, making a force of about 7,000 men. All the troops recently ordered there from Mobile, New Orleans and Chickamauga have now arrived. It is generally believed in Tampa that this force will be augmented in the near future by at least two regiments of cavalry from Chickamauga, besides the artillery.

Two recruiting offices have been opened in Tampa for enlistments of Cubans for Gomez's army. It is believed at least 700 will respond to the call.

About fifteen car loads of rifles and ammunitions from various military schools throughout the country have arrived. The guns are mostly of the Springfield pattern and for the equipment of Gomez's soldiers.

GEN. ALGER'S ESTIMATES.

Items for Which Increased Appropriations Will Be Asked.

The secretary of the treasury has received from the secretary of war estimates of deficiencies in appropriations required for the use of the war department for the remaining two months of the present fiscal year, aggregating $34,019,997.

This estimate is entirely independent of the allotments made by the president to the war department from the $50,000,000 defense appropriation. This will indicate that up to July 1 next (two months) the increased expenditures on account of the war will be approximately $90,000,000.

BRUNSWICK, GA.—Because she neglected to fly the American flag at sea when called upon to do so, the schooner Addie M. Anderson, Captain Taylor, was fired upon off Hatteras by the United States transport Panther.

MADRID.—General Weyler, in the Spanish senate, urged the government to take the offensive against America. He justified his administration in Cuba. He declared that had he been allowed six months longer he would have entirely crushed the insurrection.

MANILA HAS CAPITULATED.

The Great Naval Battle Was Followed by Bombardment of the City.

THE AMERICAN VICTORY IS COMPLETE.

Admiral Dewey Demanded the Surrender the of City, the Control of the Cable and Mastership of the Forts and Harbor Mines.

A special to the London Evening News says that the demolition of the Spanish fleet at Manila was followed by the bombardment of that city by Admiral Dewey's fleet, and that the city had surrendered after a fearful loss of life among the Spaniards.

Demand for Capitulation.

LONDON.—A special dispatch from Madrid says Commodore Dewey gave Governor-General Augusti, of Manila, twenty-four hours to comply with ultimatum demanding all stores and coal. It is believed the government has cabled Augusti to comply.

Manila in American Hands.

LONDON.—The American victory is complete.

That is the substance of the news received through the British consul at Manila, Mr. E. H. Rawson-Walker, after an interview with victorial Admiral Dewey.

The real fighting lasted only an hour and a half. In that time the Spanish fleet was stricken from the sea and the batteries silenced. The rest was merely a matter of diplomacy.

Admiral Dewey demanded the capitulation of the city, the control of the cable and the mastership of the forts and harbor mines. His demand was made through Consul Walker, and by England's representative conveyed to the governor-general and Admiral Montejo. The Spaniards were loth to comply, but their disabled guns and destroyed fleet left them little alternative.

The news of the surrender is not yet as explicit as that of the great naval combat that preceded it. The capitulation is to be a matter of a few words. The battle was full of heroic deeds.

London Amazed at American Intrepidity.

London stands amazed at the intrepidity of the Americans, and everywhere are heard such expressions as: "They're the fighting stuff!" "Give us an alliance with the Americans and we'll defy the world!" "Those chaps are of our blood, you know!" "That's the way! Sit tight and give it to 'em!"

It was supposed that the mines at the mouth of Manila Bay would deter Admiral Dewey. At most, it was expected that he would stand off, establishing a "peaceful blockade," such as Admiral Sampson has fiddled with off Havana.

Four Hundred Spanish Killed.

A special from Paris says: A dispatch from Madrid to the Temps says that according to the latest dispatches the British consul at Manila in his visit to Commodore Dewey made representations in behalf of the consular corps against the bombardment of the town. French, British and German war vessels are in the roads at Manila. No Spanish warships surrendered, and the majority perished. Two Spanish commanders were killed while resisting to the last moment. The Spanish losses are estimated at 400 men killed, including many natives.

The American squadron attacked furiously both the Spanish squadron and Cavite, where it caused great damage.

Commenting editorially on the battle, the Temps says: "The United States put into the balance a too crushing superiority of resources and forces to leave a doubt as to the result."

Later the Temps says: "Directly Castilian honor has received the satisfaction it demands. Will not the moment have come for Europe to say its word, and take as a basis for its mediatory action the wise advice of the Duke of Devonshire in his speech of Saturday evening."

Brief War News.

MOSCOW.—Public opinion in Russia, so far as it is expressed, sympathizes with Spain.

JACKSON, MISS.—Governor McLaurin has just issued a proclamation calling for volunteers.

AUSTIN, TEX.—Texas troops received orders to move, and 42,000 men, infantry and cavalry, are now encamped here.

WASHINGTON.—Ex-Congressman C. H. Allen, of Massachusetts, a personal friend of Secretary Long, is slated to succeed Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, resigned.

WASHINGTON.—The banks of the United States are said at the treasury department to be preparing to subscribe largely to the expected issue of government 3 per cent. bonds.

LONDON.—The Hong Kong correspondent of the Daily News says that Aguinaldo, the insurgent chief, and his colleagues, are embarking a plan to make a descent in force near Manila.

A dispatch from Hawarden, England, says that Mr. Gladstone is rapidly nearing his end.

CABLE TO MANILA CUT.

Latest News That Came Was That Bombardment Was On.

LONDON.—(Special.)—Inquiries made at the offices of the Eastern Telegraph Company show that it has been impossible for any word to have come from Manila since 10 o'clock Monday morning, London time, when the cable was cut. The officials of the company say that according to their test from Hong Kong, the cable was cut fifty miles from Manila. They think a week or even a fortnight may elapse before it can be repaired, as there are no facilities there to repair the cable, and in any event it will be a difficult task to pick up the cable in deep water.

A special dispatch from Madrid says the Spanish Colonial office had advices of the beginning of the bombardment of Manila before the cable was cut, which says "thus far American shells have not reached the town proper, which is strongly protected."

Continuing, the advices to the Colonial office at Madrid are said to have read:

"Only the outlying native quarters have suffered. They are now in flames. Occasionally a shell fell in the European town, where a few houses were struck.

"The batteries of the citadel, especially the six large guns, are vigorously replying to the Americans and have inflicted considerable damage on the fleet."

Want American Protection.

The insurgent leaders at Hong Kong are hoping to administer the Philippine Islands provisionally under American protection, but there are endless dissensions among the insurgents at Hong Kong.

A Wall Street Report.

A Wall Street news agency sends out the following:

"HONG KONG—Manilla has fallen. The Stars and Stripes wave over the Phillippines."

BAYAMO EVACUATED.

Gen. Pando Has Withdrawn From the City and Gen. Garcia is in Possession.

General Pando, the commander of the Spanish forces in Cuba, has withdrawn the Spanish garrison from Bayamo, one of the important towns of the province of Santiago de Cuba, and refugees who have arrived at Kingston, Jamaica, from Manzanilla, the port of Bayamo, say that Gen. Calixito Garcia, the insurgent commander, occupied the town the next day.

Bayamo, or San Salvador, is situated about sixty miles northwest of the city of Santiago de Cuba. It has a population of about 7,000.

The Spanish merchant said residents of Bayamo, it appears, were in great fear of plunder and massacre, but Gen. Garcia issued a proclamation declaring that the property of Spaniards and their civil rights would be respected.

A VOLUNTEER KILLED.

Sergeant Collins, of the Birmingham Rifles, Meets a Terrible Fate.

Fourth Sergeant Hugh Collins, Company K, the Birmingham Rifles, was shot and killed in Camp Clark of the State Volunteers, Mobile, Tuesday by a negro named Reese. The negro was captured shortly afterwards and barely escaped lynching by the infuriated soldiers. The negro Reese is a kind of peddler who hangs around the camp, selling fish and soda water. The boys in camp are in the habit of "bumping" negroes, as well as members of their own companies, against trees. Reese was "bumped" several times, and this led to the killing of Collins.

FITZHUGH LEE LISTED

For a Major-Generalship in the Army. Other Nominations.

WASHINGTON.—The war department officials have prepared a list of persons whose nominations are to be sent to the senate as major-generals and brigadier-generals. The list included the name of Hon. Fitzhugh Lee, formerly consul-general at Havana, as a major-general; and it is believed also those of W. F. Shafter, commanding the brigade at New Orleans, and J. F. Wade, commanding the regiments at Tampa, both of whom are now brigadier-generals, to be major-generals.

The Pope is Prostrated.

ROME.—His Holiness is quite prostrated by the news from Manila. He has expressed his horror at the terrible loss of life and repeatedly said that he could wish to have died before seeing such a war. Both the pope and Cardinal Rampolla, papal secretary of state, have refused to consider any interference, declaring that the attitude of the vatican is one of strict neutrality.

According to a dispatch from Cadiz to the London Chronicle it is believed there that orders have been given for a fleet of five vessels to start for Cuba on May 15.

Hayti Will Be Neutral.

The Haytien government officially informed the United States Minister, Mr. W. F. Powell, in response to his demand on the subject, that Hayti will fulfill all the terms of her treaty with the United States in regard to privateering, etc., during the war between Spain and the United States.

Argentine Republic's Action.

The Argentine Republic will make a declaration of neutrality, but may not make coal contraband of war.

PREPARING FOR INVASION.

The Landing of an American Force in Cuba Will Take Place This Week.

CUBANS FORMING A CAVALRY REGIMENT

Who Will Embark With the American Troops. A Fleet of Vessels Assembling at Tampa to Transport Troops to the Island.

TAMPA, FLA.—Two hundred native Cubans, who have been quietly enlisted in New York by General Julio Sanguilly, arrived in Tampa Monday. They will be formed into a cavalry regiment, and under the leadership of the famous Cuban who enlisted them, will probably embark for Cuba with the American troops. The rest of the regiment will be made of Cubans from Tampa and vicinity.

Slowly but surely arrangements are being made for the landing of an American force in Cuba. By Friday the following fleet of vessels is expected to be in waiting at the wharves at Tampa for the reception of the United States troops. The Florida, Olivette and Mascotte, of the Plant line; the Alamo and Comal, of the Mallory line; the Aransas, and possibly the Lampasas, of the Morgan line, and the Allegheny and Berkshire, of the Merchants' and Miners' line. These boats have a carrying capacity of about 6,000 troops. It is not believed, however, that the actual embarkation will take place before Sunday. Much remains to be done in the way of gathering ammunition and supplies and several days must elapse before all is in readiness. It is believed that the force will be made of 3,000 infantry, 1,000 cavalry and ten batteries of artillery, in all close to 5,000 men. Only one regiment of cavalry; the Ninth, is now in camp at Tampa, but the Tenth, now at Chicamauga, will, it is believed, be brought down here to fill out the quota.

The fortifications commanding the south channel of Tampa bay are now practically complete. Bids for the purchase of about $2,000,000 worth of coal for the use of the government were opened Monday.

TO AVENGE THE DEFEAT.

Great Discontent at Madrid and Martial Law May be Proclaimed.

MADRID.—(Special.)—The newspapers express a determination to avenge the defeat of the Spanish fleet. The conduct of the Spanish admiral in sinking the remnant of his ships to prevent capture is highly extolled by the press. The impartial advises the government to arm all the available shipping and convert the vessels into an auxiliary fleet for the purpose of capturing and destroying American merchant vessels.

Great Discontent at Madrid.

The Madrid authorities have adopted the most extreme military precautions to check the increasing public indignation at the disaster to the Spanish fleet off Manila. Martial law will be proclaimed if the government "is provoked over hostile demonstrations" in the streets.

The feeling of discontent prevails everywhere. The military feel equally with the civil elements the effect of the disaster, in which, according to one announcement, "our inferior war craft, although they fought pluckily, perished through lack of foresight in responsible quarters."

MADRID UNDER MILITARY RULE.

Outbreaks Only Averted by a Proclamation Declaring Military Protection.

London.—The Madrid correspondent of the Standard, telegraphing Tuesday morning, says: Senor Aguitera, the civil governor of Madrid, has just posted on the walls of the home office the customary proclamation intimating that the civil authorities consider the circumstances justify the handing over to the military authorities the mission of keeping order.

Lieutenant General DeBan, captain general of Madrid, has assumed charge and military patrols have appeared in the Puerto del Sol. The measure has been taken in consequence of the attitude of certain political parties since Monday. The whole garrison is ready in the barracks.

Portugal Issues Order of Neutrality.

The neutrality decree of Portugal in the war between Spain and the United States has been published, and contains six articles: Forbids the equipment of privateers in Portuguese waters; forbids the entry of privateers into Portuguese waters; permits belligerents to make a short stay at Portuguese ports; defines legitimate trade as regards belligerents, and forbids trading in goods which may be considered contraband of war; warns Portuguese and foreigners in Portugal against actions contrary to the security of the state; refuses protection to any infringers of the decree.

Wolseley Predicts American Victory.

During a recent dinner party General Lord Wolseley drew a parallel between Cuba and Crete, saying: "While England interfered in Crete on moral grounds, the United States has both moral and material justification for intervention. I believe the quality of the American army and navy is so much superior to Spain's that the Americans will have no difficulty in defeating Spain's ship and land forces which are their equals or superiors on paper only."

THE glorious victory of Admiral Dewey over the Spanish at the Phillippines, when he practically annihilated the Spanish fleet, is cause of great rejoicing throughout the country. It will undoubtedly have the effect of shortening the war and it is quite possible that it may be the only battle which will be fought. The Spanish government has enough trouble at home to make it almost impossible for them to be able to carry on a foreign war. It would seem to be wisdom on the part of our government to retain the Phillippines; the islands are valuaple anp would always be useful as a naval depot.

THE primary is over, the Populist Party has nominated its candidates, and nothing remains to be done but quiet, persistent work to carry the party to victory in August. The ticket nominated is a good one in every respect and entirely satisfactory to the county. The dire predictions of fraud proved to have had no foundation, and the candidates who were not fortunate enough to secure sufficient votes to nominate them have all gracefully accepted result and will do all in their power to see the nominees elected in August. When all the adverse influences which were brought to bear to keep votes from the polls are taken into consideration, the vote is astonishingly large. At this time of the year it is asking farmers a great deal to lose a day's work, and it proves the determination of Populists to stand by their party when so large a proportion of the voters turn out to a primary.

THE State convention of the Populists of Alabama was held yesterday at Montgomery. The attendance was good, not only in point of numbers, but in the quality of the members. Chairman G. B. Deans opened the proceedings by naming A. T. Goodwyn as temporary chairman and Messrs. Powell and Woodruff secretaries. After the committee on credentials had reported, the temporary organization was made permanent. The nomination for State offices were made and in every instance unanimously adopted.

Chilton county is proud of being represented on the ticket by Alex G. Dake, our county treasurer, who was unanimously nominated for the office of State Auditor. When Bro. Dake is elected in August, it will be necessary for the Populists of Chilton to elect another treasurer.

The delegates from Chilton were S. M. Adams, E. G. Rollins, E. B. Deason, Fayette Popwell and L. H. Reynolds.

CONDENSED BY FREEZING.

A Process by Which Milk May Be Preserved Indefinitely.

Considering the wide and extended use of condensed milk products, the method of manufacturing it by a freezing instead of a heating process, as carried out at Cattaraugus, N. Y., is important and interesting. The first treatment consists in placing the milk in a vacuum chamber to rid it of animal gases and atmospheric air dissolved in the milk, which appear at the surface in bubbles, and thus escape. This reduces the volume of the milk about one-tenth. The milk leaves this chamber at the proper temperature for the removal of the fatty contents by means of a cream separator which is set to run heavy cream. During this process any foreign matter, such as solid particles, which are always in evidence, is removed, and the cream is added subsequently to the finished product.

From the separator the fat free milk is run over a bank of copper pipes, through which ice water circulates, reducing the temperature of the milk from 80 degrees. After passing over these cooling coils it is placed in refrigerating chambers and constantly stirred. In about nine hours the whole bulk of milk is converted into a mass of icy crystals and milk sufficiently thick to form into hummocks. This is again placed in a centrifugal and the milk reduced in volume about one-half. An average sample of the ice, which looks very much like snow, gives on analysis only about two-tenths of 1 per cent of solid matter. The now thick milk is returned to the freezing closet, and in about seven hours more it is reduced to a dense mass of crystals, which, after centrifugal treatment, measures only one-quarter of the original bulk. A third freezing of 4½ hours and a centrifugal extraction reduces the bulk of the milk to about 13 per cent of its original volume.

The final step of the process is the admixture of the heavy cream in proper proportions to the fat free milk. This final product, or condensed milk, is a fair representation of milk minus the bulk of its water. Moreover, it is free from foreign flavors and has an aroma which is true to the milk from which it is prepared. It mixes readily with water, forming milk from which cream will separate as from untreated milk. To show the great concentration of the milk, it may be stated that, taking 100 gallons of milk as a unit quantity, this would reduce to 13 gallons in the end. In other words, the 87 gallons of water in the milk are formed into ice, leaving an unfrozen balance of very thick milk, which represents in milk sugar, casein and inorganic salts fully nine gallons of solids. The fat equivalent added by the heavy cream removed in the first operation is adjusted in the final treatment to represent a dilution with water three parts and condensed milk one part, a proportion of 3 6-10 per cent of milk fat, which is the normal proportion in the average milk. It is stated that condensed milk prepared in this manner will keep indefinitely, as the micro organisms producing fermentation are destroyed.—Philadelphia Record.

Robbed The Grave.

A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, Eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides. No appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying "Electric Bitters" and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at J. S. Johnson's Drug Store.

Etiquette In the Queen's Presence.

Nobody can sit down in the queen's presence without being requested to do so by her, and in the open air men must not come nearer than three paces to her person. The queen must not be addressed unless she speaks first, and people may not speak to each other in her presence.

A Boston Suggestion.

A Turkish woman is not permitted to speak above a whisper in the presence of her husband's relatives. Just a little Turkish sauce might not be altogether amiss among some American wives.—Boston Globe.

An Old Idea.

Every day strengthens the belief of eminent physicians that impure blood is the cause of the majority of our diseases. Twenty-five years ago this theory was used as a basis for the formula of Browns' Iron Bitters. The many remarkable cures effected by this famous old household remedy are sufficient to prove that the theory is correct. Browns' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

Political Pointers.

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., May 4, 1893

The Populist and Democratic conference committees of Oklahoma Territory will meet at Oklahoma City, May 6, for the purpose of harmonizing the silver forces of the territory in order that a silver representative may be returned to congress. The people are said to favor a union of the reform forces, but personal and political ambition supplemented by Republican chicanery may prevent the object sought.

John Sherman, the most servile tool of the money power in this country, retired from the office of Secretary of State, "unwept, unhonored and unsung." This is the fitting finale to his career—just retribution for political infamy. His successor Judge Day was promptly confirmed by the Senate.

The Populist state convention of Pennsylvania was held at Williamsport on April 28, and the following nominations were made: For Governor, Dr. Silas Swallow; for secretary of internal affairs, T. R. Ryder; for congressman-at-large, W. H. Berry. There was a clash over the permanent organization, and, after W. M. Deisher of Reading defeated Wharton Barker of Philadelphia for permanent chairman by a vote of 28 to 27 some of the delegates refused to further participate in the proceedings and left the hall.

Only a small paragraph has been given in the daily papers to the indictment of Mark Hanna. No further developments are expected and many are wondering how even this much justice was ever secured.

The open bid of the Republican party for the votes of the South by fulsome praise of Fitzhugh Lee is disgusting McKinley and Lee as the next G. O. P. presidential ticket is endorsed by leading Republicans. All reformers would rejoice to see the lines between Republicans and gold Democrats erased, as it would admonish the opposition to get together quickly and firmly.

Mr. Butler of North Carolina has introduced the following resolution in the Senate as a substitute for the Republican plan of raising revenue: "That the bonded indebtedness of the United States should not be increased, but that the necessary means to carry on the war against Spain should be raised by increasing the revenues of the government, including a tax on incomes and by issuing silver certificates against the seigniorage now in the treasury, and by such additional issues of United States legal tender notes as may be necessary.

The Populist and silver members of the House and Senate are earning the everlasting gratitude of their constituents by opposing any further issue of bonds at this time, while the Republicans receive the plaudits of the plutocrats, by favoring the issue of $500,000,000 of interest bearing gold obligations.

Positive proof of collusion between the so-called middle-of the road Populists and Republicans in Missouri has been obtained. Documentary evidence of a well matured plan of co-operation between these two forces is in existance and will soon be made public. Several middle-of-the readers are now organizing the state and drawing pay from the Republicans. In every close county the Republicans are giving aid and comfort to these allies.

Middle of the Roadism, as expressed in its chief organs, keeps up the talk of a national nominating convention to be held the 4th of July. It is claimed that the State of Mississippi is solidly for such a move.

The print, paper and tone of the articles in advance sheets sent out by the reputed "Populist" from Baltimore, are almost identical with those furnished by the "sound money" League of New York. No further evidence is necessary to prove that the gold-bugs are furnishing the sinews of war for middle-of-the road campaigners.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail, upon receipt of three two-cent stamps to cover cost of postage on the bottle. Mention The Banner and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Rumors in regard to enlistment in the militia of W. J. Bryan have been widely circulated. At this writing it is impossible to give the truth in the matter. Mr. Bryan has gone on with his lecture work and thereby called forth scathing rebukes from gold bugs who expressed the hope that the war scare would give the country a rest on the money question. There are many however who regard the present as the most appropriate time for calling the attention of the people to the dangers and falacies of the single standard. With an unheard of issue of "coin" bonds imminent, financial reformers can do better work than going to Cuba, where the gold bugs would doubtless like to see all such troublesome folk. None but the most ignorant tyro doubts that a decision from any of our incorruptible (?) courts would make "coin" mean gold when the time for interest bayment came.

A TEXAS WONDER.

Hall's Great Discovery.

One small bottle of Hall's Great Discovery cures all kidney and bladder troubles, removes gravel, cures diabetes, seminal emissions, weak and lame back, rheumatism and all irregularities of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women. Regulates bladder troubles in children. If not sold by your druggist, will be sent by mail on receipt of $1. One small bottle is two month's treatment, and will cure any case above mentioned. E. W. Hall sole manufacturer. P. O. Box 218, Waco, Texas. For sale by Dr. J. S. Johnson jr., Clanton, Ala.

Cattle Utilized For Smuggling Opium.

"Some of the shrewdest tricks ever played are by the smugglers of opium," said H. A. Fanning of Seattle, Wash. "A very unique smuggling scheme was unearthed a few years ago by United States secret service officers in North Dakota. It was noticed that an unusually large number of cattle were being driven across the line to the North Dakota markets, and the secret service men planned an investigation. For some time their work was in vain, and they had about given up hope of discovering any unlawful operations when an accident revealed the fact that the nostrils of the cattle were stuffed with opium wrapped carefully in tinfoil. In this way each steer was worth twice its normal value. Hundreds upon hundreds of animals had been driven across the border with their nostrils loaded with opium, and it was estimated that the smugglers had cleaned up a profit of $25,000 before the discovery was made. But the smugglers were sly, and they escaped and were never captured.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Chronic Dyspepsia Cured.

AFTER suffering for nearly thirty years from dyspepsia, Mrs. H. E. Dugdale, wife of a prominent business man of Warsaw, N. Y., writes: "For 28 years, I was a constant sufferer from dyspepsia and a weak stomach. The lightest food produced distress, causing severe pain and the formation of gas. No matter how careful of my diet I suffered agonizing pain after eating. I was treated by many physicians and tried numerous remedies without permanent help. Two years ago I began taking Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and Nervine. Within a week I commenced improving, and persisting in the treatment I was soon able to eat what I liked, with no evil effects. I keep them at hand and a single dose dispels any old symptoms."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address,

Ate the Card In a Ham Sandwich.

On Sunday evening a party of poker experts were seated in a prominent up town hotel lobby, and some good stories were the outcome. One of the veterans at thumbing the pasteboards related an incident in his own career where he had been dealt six cards.

"It was at a critical stage of the game," said the old sport, "and when I looked at the cards they were of the most needful variety."

"What did you do with the sixth card?" queried an attentive listener.

"I ordered a ham sandwich," was the reply, "and, concealing the card between the bread and meat, ate the whole outfit."

When the laugh over this story was ended, another member of the party told of a jack pot which was opened on a pair of nines. In the draw the holder of this pair took in another nine spot and cleaned up the table pretty thoroughly with three nines. When it came to a show down, the query was made, "What did you open with?"

Innocently enough the holder of the big hand acknowledged a pair of nines. His hand was claimed to be a foul one, and the pot was divided among the players according to their bets. This procedure did not suit the jack pot opener, and he left the table, denouncing all present as sharpers and swindlers.—New York Dispatch.

PRETTY NECKWEAR.

A plain, black gown that is worn with the prim linen collars and cuffs for morning can be made to look like festive attire for evening by adding a becoming chiffon stock, finished with a jabot of lace. The long lace scarfs of white or black are very popular. They are put about the neck twice and tied almost at the side. A natural flower pinned in the lace is an added charm.

BOY'S BLOUSE.

The blouse is a thoroughly comfortable and satisfactory garment for a growing boy to wear on warm days in the gymnasium or on the playground, flannels or wash goods being equally fitted for its development.

The fitting is very simple, being accomplished by shoulder and under arm seams only and the closing is effected by buttons and button holes, made through a boxplait on the left side. The sleeves are loose, one seam gathered at the arm's eye and wrist which is finished with a straight cuff. The neck is finished with a simple sailor collar, which with the box plait and stitched on pocket may or may not be made of a contrasting color. The lower edge of the waist is finished with a casing through which an elastic ribbon may run.

ARE YOU JUST MARRIED?

Try to be satisfied to commence on a small scale.

Try to avoid the too common mistake of making an effort to begin "where the parents ended."

Try not to look at richer homes and covet their costly furniture.

Try going a step further, and visit the homes of the poor when secret dissatisfaction is liable to spring up.

Try buying all that is necessary to work with skillfully, while adorning the house at first with simply what will render it comfortable.

Try being perfectly independent from the first, and shun debt in all its forms.

GEORGEOUS HATPINS.

Hatpins are so gorgeous that they out do the gorgeous hats. The newest are set with very large jadestones, which, by the way, are having a great run, being considered as having the properties of a talisman. It's all very well for young women away over in China to think that an evil fate will overtake them if they leave off their jadestones once, but it seems odd that American women should feel the same way about China's sacred stone. This doesn't appear quite fair to that left hind foot of our Southern graveyard rabbit. But to get back to hatpins. The size of the beautiful bits of glass that do duty as opals, amethysts, rubies, emeralds, and so on, declares that they are impostures. So it is just as easy for the maid to skewer her hat on with four or five of these brilliant baubles as it is for the mistress. The prettiest of these pins and the most dainty looking is one set with a large American pearl, incrusted with brilliants.

DON'T LIKE TO BE SERVANTS.

In Manchester, England, recently Mrs. Esdaile read for the Manchester Ladies' Literary Club a most interesting paper on "The Domestic Problem." She said that it was as difficult to get girls of the wage earning class to recognize that domestic work is best for them as it is to get the workingman to return to the soil. Eventually she expects the national character of well appointed homes for separate families will be altered because of the scarcity of good servants.

She thinks a servants' bureau would be better than the usual registry offices, and would have it in charge of an officer appointed by some guild. Lack of personal freedom seems to be the great grievance of the servant.

NEW FAD IN BELTS.

There is something distinctly new in the belt line for the college girl, or rather the girl who has a fondness for college students. It is a belt made of the flags of the leading universities and colleges in this part of the world. These flags are linked together by silver chains, gilded, and the effect is as gay as a happy college boy's heart. The blue emblem of Yale waves side by side with the crimson of Harvard and Columbia, Cornell, the University of Pennsylvania, Princeton, Rutgers and all the others are represented.

MARY ANDERSON ON THE VOICE.

It is said that the American voice is the least musical known to civilization. Americans themselves notice it on returning home after a three months' sojourn in Europe, where a coarse, harsh voice is almost unknown among refined people. Mrs. Louise Chandler Moulton, who spends half of every year in England, once said: "It takes fully a month to become accustomed to the nasal, harsh American voice when I come home. There are two young women among my friends whose coming I should greet with raptures if only for their sweet, low, musical voices, full of modulation and varied intonations." And, as every one knows, Mrs. Moulton's social circle contains all that is most highly cultivated in Boston life.

Surely we are clever enough to change all that, if we try. Let mothers think of their own voices and cultivate them into low, soft tones in speaking, and see to it that the children's voices are not rendered raucous and nasal by screaming, and let teachers drop their pernicious habit of forcing little pupils to read and recite at the utmost capacity of their lungs, and in a generation the "American voice" will have become civilized.

Apropos of which topic an interesting little story is told by a young woman who, as a school girl, lavished boundless adoration upon beautiful Mary Anderson, and one day ventured to call upon the famous actress, with another girl adorer.

Miss Anderson was lovely to them and they had an "interview" that would have enraptured the soul of a journalist. She told them about her favorite books when a child, her dolls' theatricals, in which she played the entire cast, and the more ambitious plays shared by her schoolmates. "One day my dolls were doing 'Romeo and Juliet,'" she said, "when my mother brought a visitor into the room. I went on with my play in a whisper, and the visitor laughed and said: 'What tiny voices your actors have, little Mary.' I replied with much dignity: 'Well, their lungs aren't developed yet, and if they made their voices loud they'd spoil them.'" Possibly the very early perception of that truth explains her wonderful rich and musical voice, a voice of rare charm.

GIRLS' JACKET.

For spring and fall wear, there is no more comfortable and convenient garment than the one we illustrate, a jacket of the reefer style. It is so simple as to be easily made by the home dressmaker. The material is a novelty in blue cloth with raised knots of a darker shade on its rough surface. The loose graceful fronts laps well over upon the other, and buttons to the shoulder, the standing collar closing on the side, the deep sailor collar may be sewed on with the collar or made separate. The back is seamed in the center and joined to the fronts by means of under arm pieces, the seams being left open for a little distance. The sleeves are two seamed and gathered at the shoulder, the pockets are inserted at each side and the conventional pocket lid over them.

The garment is trimmed with three rows of narrow braid on the pocket lids, sailor collar and at the wrists, the standing collar being covered with the same braid with narrow interceses between. This jaunty style is popularly developed in bright red and trimmed with braid.

GIRLS' COATS AND JACKETS.

A very smart style of coat is worn by the little girls this season—that is, the girl's under ten years of age. It is of rough gray cloth, and with it is worn a white leather belt and a broad sailor collar of white silk edged with a double ruffle of white ribbon. In front the collar forms revers which reach to the belt. This is sometimes made up in gray or tan corduroy, and is always a very smart little garment. The reefer and the covert coat are for every-day wear, but there me short coats which have fancy

the smart styles for every-day wear
For smart occasions the fancy straws trimmed with flower gardens of flowers are in fashion. The coloring on the hats is particularly charming: the black hats are the finest, softest straw, are almost flat in shape, and the crown is completely covered with the flowers Wild flowers, poppies, and corn-flow ers are all greatly in use; while for the Leghorns and white straws the rose and the daisies are preferred. All the hats are a good size, and there is not so much eccentricity displayed in the shapes as was the case last year. Indeed, it would seem as though a great effort were made to have the girls look as youthful and girlish in their dress as possible.—Harper's Bazar.

FASHION NOTES.

This season's hat are veritable gardens, violets, lilies of the valley, morning glories, acacia and roses being used in profusion.

Taffeta waists, covered with heavy cream and black net, either put on as applique or in accordion pleats, are much worn this season.

The most beautiful hats have for trimmings abundance of tulle, flowers and spangled net, the popular flowers being those of the old English garden kind.

The pointed shawl cape is the ultra-fashionable one of the season. For carriage wear the materials used most are black chantilly lace, with burnt orange liberty silk.

Silk waists this season are keeping the designers busy, and the result of their labor is seen on all sides. Among the pretty conceits are those with many tucks and finished with a short skirt, which shows a little below the belt.

A pretty effect in hats is of black fancy braid, with double brim and soft crown, overlaid with sequins. At the side are white plumes held with shirred rosettes of three tones of watermelon pink, and fastened with a jewelled buckle.

One neat design in lawn is a gray ground, with three diagonal white stripes, about a quarter of an inch wide, spaced so as to give a checkerboard effect. These unite to form diamond checks, and on the surface are sprinkled carelessly tiny designs of flower springs of conventional figures.

The visiting and reception gowns this season are gentle reminders of ages gone by, the demure quaker colors and lavenders so much worn in the old days being once more in vogue. A pretty gown is of lavender colored crepe de chine, with a trimming of point applique lace and net.

The demand for fancy silk skirts increases, and on all the counters they are displayed in varied styles and colors. One that is worthy of notice is of white taffeta, trimmed with many rows of insertion, and edged with small white chiffon ruffles, the bottom being filled in with flounces of narrow point applique lace.

Antics of Electricity.

The mention of electricity of a frisky behavior will suggest to most people some of its actions on the trolley, or about the street cars, or in connection with electric light wires, when it breaks loose—which are all of too dangerous a character to be amusing; not-ing not at all its pranks on their own desks, though no "live" wire be within a mile of them.

It does not always occur to our minds that electricity is playing a little trick when we take a sheet of writing paper from a pile and find it does not come alone, but drags along another sheet or more, "sticking closer than a brother."

Similar action of the immense sheets of book paper on a printing press in certain states of the atmosphere—when one is slid on to the form of type and has one or more others partially adhering to it for a moment, then taking flight away from the press to some dingy resting place—frequently keeps the pressmen in an uncomfortable state of fidgets.

Such action results from the attraction and repulsion of frictional electricity—the same kind that is produced by the chafing of the silk flaps against the rotating glass disk in the so-called "electrical machine."

An experiment with the same kind of electricity, which can easily be tried, is to apply gentle friction to a thin piece of cloth or paper; when, on bringing it near the wall of the apartment, it will be attracted thereby, and adhere to the surface—be it wood, plaster or paper—for a brief time.—Lippincott's.

The Deadly Lamp.

Of the 3,500 fires to which the London Fire Brigade was called last year, no fewer than 335 were caused by petroleum lamps. This is an increase of 8 per cent. since 1870.

Retribution, that inevitable thought often slow-coming grist of the Divine mills, seems now to be face to face with the people of the kingdom of Spain.

There is a burglar in Chicago who plays the piano while he burgles. Lucky is the Chicago family that can't afford a piano.

A LITTLE DOG'S TALE.

CIVILIZATION AMONG THE PRAIRIE DOGS.

The Way to Live Without Labor Is to Place Others in Such a Situation That They Must Work for You. John S. Crosby's Advice.

I belong to the race of prairie dogs and was born on Flat Island, in Lake Michigan. Dogs are the sole inhabitants of the island, and now number many thousands. Still there is ample room for thousands more, and efforts are being made to induce dogs from other places to come and make the island their home.

The Flat islands are, perhaps, the only community of dogs making a just claim to civilization. The older inhabitants can remember when they all lived in the state of nature, little or no advancement having been made in the art of government.

In those days each dog was at liberty to dig his hole wherever he could without disturbing any other dog, but he had to dig his own hole and hustle to get food for himself and his little dogs.

Later on some of the more enterprising, progressive and influential dogs conceived the idea of appropriating all the unoccupied land and exacting certain artificial conditions upon which it should be used by those desiring to dig holes. It is not known whether the idea was original with them or borrowed from man, who, I observe, have adopted the same idea. Certain it is that its adoption wrought a great change in the condition of the inhabitants of Flat island.

Now there is no free land. The entire island has now become the property of a few enterprising dogs, some of the more wealthy controlling whole acres, partly occupied and partly unoccupied.

When a landless dog now wishes to dig a hole he must first get permission from some land holding dog, which is generally granted upon condition that he shall dig a certain number of holes, or gather a certain amount of food for the land-holding dog. Some of the more enterprising and public spirited have holes dug upon their land, which they rent out to landless dogs for a stipulated annual service of some kind or other. As those acquainted with the habits of our race are aware, we like to live in villages, perhaps from a sense of greater security, or the desire for social advantages. The result is a greater demand for village holes than for others, and correspondingly harder conditions for their acquirement. In some populous villages many families will be found crowded into a single hole, where they suffer from lack of room and air, the little dogs often dying from suffocation. There is really no necessity for this, however, since there is always a plenty of unoccupied land in such villages, but the dogs that control it prefer to hold it vacant until they can realize a greater return for its use than any dog is yet willing or able to pay.

The chief benefit arising from this improved and civilized system of land-holding is that it enables the land-holding dogs, those that hold more than they need for their own personal use, to live without the labor of digging holes and seeking food, as their uncivilized ancestors were obliged to do, and also gives leisure in which to devise plans for the further civilizing of their fellow dogs. It is to that system and the leisure it affords some dogs that I am indebted for the opportunity I now enjoy of going abroad and comparing the civilization of dogs with that of men.

To be sure, the great majority of dogs, the landless, and those holding only as much land as they use, have to hustle somewhat harder for holes and food than was necessary before the introduction of the new system, but they have become used to it, and some of them would hardly listen if you should tell them that one dog has as much right to dig a hole as another, so long, at least, as there are unoccupied hole sites enough to accommodate whole sights of dogs.

JOHN S. CROSBY.

Those Masses.

The cultured person sighed.
"The masses!" he exclaimed.
The esthete sighed.
"They're so vulgar!" he cried.
The exclusive individual sighed.
"They're so coarse!" he said.
The agreement was beautiful to see.
"The worst of it is," remarked the cultured person, "that we of the upper classes are so few."
"True," murmured the esthete, "the masses are able to overcome us by their numbers."
"The masses are certainly numerous," admitted the exclusive individual.
"It makes me shudder," declared the cultured person, "to think that those unclean and impolite people are to be counted in such immense numbers."
"At the same time," said the exclusive individual, "I must say I'm glad the masses are here."
"Dear me!" exclaimed the esthete. "Why?"
"I read in the papers this morning that there is war with Spain."
And when they thought about it, they did not so much regret the existence of the masses.—Twentieth Century.

Mr. Loud has finally got a postal bill through the house. It provides that private postal cards may be transmitted through the mail with a one-cent stamp affixed. That is all right, but it has not a great deal of bearing on the fact that we pay the railroad companies about seven times as much for carrying the mail as the express companies pay for like service.—Fresno Expositor.

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

A certain very rich man said unto himself "I have many interests and I will turn over the most important of them to a body of men whom I'll elect for a year or two years, and I'll call them a legislature." And he did it and went on his way. And the body of men met and they made money with the rich man's scrip and sold some and mortgaged others. And the sellers and others flocked around as vultures around carrion and the rich man's scrip sold and held mass meetings at which he himself spoke. And the people looked at him admiringly and said to themselves: "Surely we never had such men as these others and they are ours and [illegible] are bound to them and they [illegible] laughed in their sleeves at the rich man. And the rich man and the men of the same stripe got more trammeled power. And many moons waxed and waned and the rich man fell [illegible] [illegible] and said: "I will choose seven others, but we shall do things my way and ye shall do my things as I wish, and I'll veto any acts of yours that I do not like or the people will [illegible] and if ye will not join the [illegible] I myself will start them by the [illegible] tive." And the latter end of that man was better than the former.

Pingree is a bully boy with a glass eye. He's the nightmare of the Republican party. They don't know what to do with him. He's the bull in the China shop of corporation privileges. A combination forms to raise the price of asphalt for paving the streets of Detroit. He slips off to Trinidad or some other place and brings back a company ready to furnish asphalt at one-third o f the price asked by the trust. It grits its teeth and swears, but can do nothing. The legislature passes a law about the sale of mileage books at two cents a mile. The Michigan Central refuses to obey it and says, "What are you going to do about it?" Pingree as a private citizen offers them money for such a ticket and brings suit because they refuse, and, unlike most suitors, instead of getting on his knees, he brings them to theirs. And now, worst of all, he's actually called the legislature together to remedy the inequality of taxation, and he says:

"In violation of the spirit if not the letter of these provisions of the constitution, laws have been passed from time to time by which railroad companies, express companies, telegraph and telephone companies, now owning, according to their sworn returns, at least one-third of the property of this state, are required to pay only about one-twe[illegible]xth of the taxes levied for state, county, and municipal purposes, leaving their just proportion of public expenses to fall upon the farmers, laborers and manufacturers and other property owners of the state."

Now this is rank confiscation. It's opposition to special privileges, and everyone knows our civilization is built upon special privileges. The Republican machine has tried to down him, but he's bigger than the machine. He don't talk much, but he acts. It's well to keep your eye on Pingree. He's a bad, bad man and the people love him.

Yes, prosperity is on us. It's coming in great big chunks. The newspapers recently had a flamboyant paragraph about the starting up of glass factories at Stoneyville, O., and how they were working night and day. I was there recently and made some inquiries. The factories have started up. One at least is working night and day, and Sundays, too. It works the men and women in two shifts, no eight-hour day for them, but twelve and fourteen hours. And what does it pay? Abbreviated men's size get 50 cents a day for twelve to fourteen hours exhaustive work. The highest-paid get $1.20 a day. But they don't employ many men, women and children. They pay them an $1.00 a week for six days' work. And then they fine them for tardiness, insubordination and all sorts of things. One lady, who informant said, received no pay for seven days' work. The rest in the factories are constantly changing. I was told they made almost a clean sweep every three weeks. And, the sad part of it is, they can always get new hands at these rates. The dawn of prosperity has produced so many unemployed that such an employer can draw on the great reservoir of the unemployed almost indefinitely. Alas!

Some half-baked reformers are talking about a settlement of the money question by having free coinage at a changed ratio. Senator Wolcott has proposed 20 to 1. Now, if we're going to change the ratio let us have it at 16 to 3-4ths. There's a profound difference between the two. We changed the ratio in 1837, but we kept the same number of grains in the silver dollar and changed the weight of the gold dollar. Let us do the same thing now, and have the ratio 16 to 3-4ths, if that will suit them, and not 20 to 1.

ELTWEED POMEROY.

A London Confession.

The continuance of the present gold standard in the United States is necessary to the supremacy of England's commercial dominion over the world. An offensive and defensive alliance will settle the question for all time. A good time to encourage an alliance is during the present trouble between the United States and Spain. If we do not succeed in forcing it now, then farewell to our primacy as the financial ruler of the world.—London Times.

EMINENT DIVINES SERMONS

DISCOURSES BY TWO ABLE WORKERS IN GOD'S VINEYARD

The Subject of the Address "The Sword: Its Mission and Its Doom"—Mighty When Wielded in a Righteous Cause—Great Achievements Wrought by Arms.

TEXT: "My sword shall be bathed in heaven."—Isaiah, xxxiv., 5.

It has come at last—the war that we have prayed Almighty God might be averted. The prows of the battle-ships are cutting the seas, and troops from all the states of the American Union are on the way to the front. All the arts of diplomacy have failed, and momentous questions are to be decided in battle on sea and land. Three results will be demonstrated—the independence of Cuba, the rebuke of Spanish cruelty, and the triumph of the United states army and navy.

"Three hundred and fifty-one times does the Bible speak of that sharp, keen, curved, inexorable weapon, which flashes upon us from the text—the sword. Sometimes the mention is applaudatory, and sometimes damnatory, sometimes as drawn, sometimes as sheathed. In the Bible, and in much secular literature, the sword represents all javelins, all muskets all carbines, all guns, all police clubs, all battle-axes, all weaponry for physical defense or attack. It would be an interesting thing to give the history of the plow, and follow its furrow all down through the ages, from the first crop in Chaldea to the last crop in Minnesota. It would be interesting to follow the pen as it has tracked its way on down through the literature of nations, from its first word in the first book to the last word which some author last night wrote as he closed his manuscript. It would be an interesting thing to count the echoes of the hammer from the first nail driven down through all the mechanism of centuries to the last stroke in the carpenter's shop of yesterday. I propose to-day speaking of a weapon that has done a work that neither plow nor pen nor hammer ever accomplished. My theme is the sword, its mission, and its doom.

"The sword of the text was bathed in heaven; that is it was a sword of righteousness, as another sword may be bathed in hell, and the sword of cruelty and wrong. There is a great difference between the word of Winkleried and the sword of Catiline, between the sword of Leonidas and the sword of Benedict Arnold. In our effort to hasten the end of war we have hung the swords with abuses and execrations, when it has had a divine mission, as when in many crises of the world's history it has swung for liberty and justice, civilization and righteousness and God. At the very opening of the Bible and on the east side of the Garden of Eden God placed a flaming sword to defend the tree of life. One of the officers of the law, St. Paul declares: He beareth not the sword in vain." Through Moses God commanded: "Every man his sword by his side." David, in his prayer says: 'Gird Thy sword upon Thy thigh, O most mighty.' One of the battle-shouts of the Old Testament was: 'The sword of the Lord and Gideon.' Christ, in a great exigency, said that such a sword is worth more important than a coat. He declared: 'He that hath no sword, let him sell his garment and buy one.' Again he declared: 'I come not to send peace, but a sword.' Out of His mouth went a sharp, two-edged sword. This, sometimes figuratively, but often literally, the divine mission of the sword is announced.

"What more consecrated thing in the world than Joshua's sword, or Caleb's sword, or Gideon's sword, or David's sword, or Washington's sword, or Marion's sword, or Lafayette's sword, or Wellington's sword, or Garibaldi's sword, or hundreds of thousands of American swords that have again and again been bathed in heaven. Swords of that kind have been the best friends of the human race. They have slain tyrannies, pried open dungeons, and cleared the way for nations in their onward march. It was better for them to take the sword and be free, than lie under the oppressor's heel and suffer.

"There is something worse than death, and that is life if it is mistering and crouch before the wrong. Turn over the leaves of the world's history, and find that there has never been a tyranny stopped or a nation liberated except by the sword. I am not talking to you about the way things ought to be, but about the way they have been. What force drove back the Saracens at Tours, and kept Europe from being overwhelmed by Mohammedanism, and, subsequently, all America given over to Mohammedanism? The sword of Charles Martell and his men. Whoever died enough definitions to tell what was accomplished for the world's good by the sword of Joan of Arc? Years ago I looked off and saw in the distance the battle-field of Marathon, and I asked myself what was it that on that most tremendous day in history stopped the Persian hosts, representing not only Persia, but Egypt, and Tripoli, and Afghanistan, and Beloochistan, and Armenia, a host that had Asia under foot and proposed to put Europe under foot? And, if successful in that battle, would have submerged by Asiatic barbarism, European civilization, and, as a consequence, after time, American civilization? The swords of Miltiades, and Themistocles, and Aristides. At the waving of the swords the eleven thousand lancers of Athens, on the run, dashed against the one hundred thousand insolent Persians and trampled them down or pushed them back into the sea. The swords of that day saved the best part of the hemispheres, a trinity of keen steel flashing in the two lights, the light of the setting sun of barbarism, the light of the rising sun of civilization. Hail to these three great swords bathed in heaven!

"What put an end to infamous Louis XVI.'s plan of universal conquest, by which England would have been made to kneel on the steps of the Tuileries, and the Anglo-Saxon race would have been halted and all Europe paralyzed? The sword of Marlborough, at Blenheim. Time came when the Roman war eagles, whose beaks had been punched into the heart of nations, must be brought down from their eyries. All other attempts had disgracefully failed, but the Germans, the mightiest nation for brawn and brain, undertook the work, and, under God, succeeded. What drove back the Roman cavalry till the horses wounded, ding their riders and the last rider perished and the Hercynian forest became the wood of Roncesvalles annihilation? The sword of the triumphant sword of Arminius. In bypassing the high Frankonia nerves [illegible] and with [illegible] and I rose in the [illegible] to see the battlefield of [illegible] the mounds and breastworks still [illegible] hundred years [illegible] Attila, [illegible] himself the [illegible] punishment of [illegible] nations, [illegible] into [illegible] the saddles of [illegible] on top [illegible] devastating [illegible] marching [illegible] the [illegible] just to the plow. What power arrested that sword and stayed that red deluge of cruelty that was rolling over Europe? The sword of Theodoric and Aetius.

"Coming down to later ages, all intelligent Englishmen unite with all intelligent Americans in saying that it was the best thing that [illegible] American colonies [illegible] government of Great Britain. It would have been the worst [illegible] for [illegible] if this continent were [illegible] in loyalty to the throne on the other side of the sea. No one would propose a Governor General for the United States as there is a Governor General for Canada. We have had splendid Queens in our American Capital, but we could hardly be brought to support a Queen on the other side of the Atlantic lovely and good as Victoria is. The only use we have for Earls and Lords and Dukes in this country is to treat them well when they pass through to their hunting grounds in the far West, or when their fortunes have failed, re-enforce them by wealthy matrimonial alliance. Imagine this nation yet a part of English possessions! The trouble the mother country has with Ireland would be a paradisiac condition compared with the trouble she would have with us. England and the United States make excellent neighbors, but the two families are too large to live in the same house. What a godsend that we should have parted, and parted long ago!

"But I can think of no other way in which we could possibly have achieved American Independence. George the Third, the half-crazy King, would not have let us go. Lord North, his Prime Minister, would not have let us go. General Lord Cornwallis would not have let us go, although after Yorktown he was glad enough to have us let him go. The battlefields of the American Revolution were proof positive that they were not willing to let us go. Any committee of Americans going across the ocean to see what could have been done would have found no better accommodations than London Tower. The only way it could have been done was by the sword. your great-grandfather's sword, Jefferson's pen could write the Declaration of Independence, but only Washington's sword could have achieved it, and the other swords bathed in heaven.

"Arbitrament will take the place of war between nation and nation, and national armies will disband as a consequence, and the time will come—God hasten it!—when there will be no need of an American army or navy, or a Russian army or navy. But some time after that cities will have to keep their armories and arsenals and well-drilled militia, because until the millennial day there will be populations with whom arbitrament will be as impossible as treaty with a cavern of hyenas or a jungle of snakes. These men who rob stores and give garroter's hug, and prowl about the wharves at midnight, and rattle the dice in gambling hells and go armed with pistol or dirk, will refrain from disturbances of the public peace just in proportion as they realize that the militia of a city, instead of being an awkward squad, and in danger of shooting each other by mistake, or losing their own life by looking down into the gun barrel to see if it is loaded, or getting the ramrod fast in their boot leg, are prompt as the sunrise, keen as the north wind, potent as a thunderbolt, and accurate and regular and disciplined in their movements as the planetary system. Well done, then, I say to the Legislatures and Governors and Mayors, and all officials who decide upon larger armories and better places for drill and more generous equipment for the militia. The sooner the sword can safely go back to the scabbard to stay there, the better; but until the hilt clangs against the case in that final lodgment, let the sword be kept free from rust; sharp all along the edge and its point like a needle and the bandit polished, not only by the chamois of the regimental servant, but by the hand of brave and patriotic officers, always ready to do their full duty. Such swords are not bathed in impetuosity, or bathed in cruelty or bathed in oppression, or bathed in outrage; but bathed in heaven.

"Before I speak of the doom of the sword, let me also say that it has developed the grandest natures that the world ever saw. It has developed courage that sublime energy of the soul which defies the universe when it feels itself to be in the right. It has developed a self-sacrifice which repudiates the idea that our life is worth more than anything else, when for a principle it throws that life away, as much as to say: 'It is not necessary that I live, but it is necessary that righteousness triumph.' There are tens of thousands among the Northern and Southern veterans of our Civil War who are ninety-five per cent. larger and mightier in soul than they would have been had they not, during the four years of national agony, turned their back on home and fortune, and 'at the front sacrificed all for a principle.

"But the sword is doomed. There is one word that will yet be written in every throne-room, in every war office, in every navy yard, in every national council. That word is Disarmament. But no government can afford to throw its sword away until all the great governments have agreed to do the same—until disarmament and consequent arbitration shall be agreed to by all the great governments, any single government that dismantles its fortresses, and spikes its guns, and breaks its sword, would simply invite its own destruction. Suppose, before such general agreement England should throw away her sword; think you France has forgotten Waterloo? Suppose, before such general agreement Germany should throw her sword away; how long would Alsace and Lorraine stay as they are? Suppose the Czar of Russia before such general agreement should throw away his sword, all the eagles and vultures and lions of European power would gather for a piece of the Russian bear. Suppose in some future time the United States, without any such general agreement of disarmament, should throw away her sword, it would not be long before the our great harbors would be ablaze with the bunting of foreign navies coming here to show the folly of the "Monroe doctrine."

"What a horror is war and its cruelties was well illustrated when the Tartars, after sweeping through Russia and Poland, displayed with pride nine great sacks filled with the right ears of the fallen, and when a correspondent of the London Times, writing of the wounded after the battle of Sedan, said: 'Every moan that the human voice can utter rose from that heap of agony, and cries of water! For the love of God, water! A doctor! A doctor! never ceased. After war has wrought such cruelties, how glad we will be to have the old monster himself die. Let his dying couch be spread in some dismantled fortress, through which the stormy winds howl. Give him for a pillow a battered shield, and let his bed be hard with the rusted bayonets of the slain. Cover him with the coarsest blanket that picket ever wore, and let his only cup be the bleached bone of one of his war-chargers, and the last taper by his bedside expire as the midnight blast sighs into his ears. The candle of the wicked shall be put out.

"In this time of our national trial let us dedicate ourselves anew to God and our country. In the English conflict, called the War of the Roses, a white rose was the badge of the House of York, and the red rose the badge of the House of Lancaster, and with these two colors they opposed each other in battle. To enlist you in the holy war for all that is good against all that is wrong I put over your heart two badges, the one suggestive of the blood shed for our redemption, and the other symbolic of a soul made white and clean, the Rose of Sharon and the Lily of the Valley.

"And as for our beloved country in this crisis, there are three reasons why we should do our best for that. Three reasons: Our fathers' graves, our own cradles, our children's birthright. When I say your fathers' graves, your pulses run quicker. Whether they sleep in city cemetery or in village graveyard, their ashes are precious to you. They lived well and they died right. You will not submit to have their tombs dishonored by the foot of any foreign foe. Then this land has been our cradles. It may have rocked us roughly, but it was a good cradle to be rocked in. Oh, how much we owe it. Dear land of our childhood days! And it is to be our children's birthright. We will after a while be through with it; we will see on a few more blossoms of the spring, we will gather only a few more of the harvests of the summer; we will pluck only a little more of the fruits of the autumn, but our children, they must get it through us, as we got it from our fathers—a free land, a happy land, a Christian land.

Since B. C. 4,000,000,000 men have been slain in battle.

A Woman's Burden.

From the Evening News, Detroit, Mich.

The women of to-day are not as strong as their grandmothers. They are bearing a burden in silence that grows heavier day by day; that is sapping their vitality and clouding their happiness.

Mrs. Alexander B. Clark, of 417 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, is a typical woman of to-day. A wife with such ambition as only a loving wife can have. But the joys of her life were marred by the existence of disease.

Suffering as thousands of her sisters have suffered, she almost despaired of life and yet she was cured.

I became blind.

"For five years I suffered with ovarian trouble," is Mrs. Clark's own version of the story. "I was not free one single day from headache and intense twitching pains in my neck and shoulders. For months at a time I would be confined to my bed. At times black spots would appear before my eyes and I would become blind. My nerves were in such a state that a step on the floor unsettled me.

"Eminent doctors, skilful nurses, the best food and medicine all failed. Then I consented to an operation. That, too, failed, and they said another was necessary. After the second I was worse than ever and the world was darker than before.

"It was then I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I heard that they had cured cases like mine and I tried them.

"They cured me! They brought sunshine to my life and filled my cup with happiness. The headache is gone; the twitching is gone; the nervousness is gone; the trembling has ceased, and I have gained twenty-six pounds. Health and strength is mine and I am thankful to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for the blessing.

These pills are a boon to womankind. Acting directly on the blood and nerves, they restore the requisite vitality to all parts of the body; creating functional regularity and perfect harmony throughout the nervous system. The pallor of the cheeks is changed to the delicate blush of health; the eyes brighten; the muscles grow elastic, ambition is created and good health returns.

ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS.

Something About the Way in Which They Are Made.

The ancient Egyptians made artificial flowers of horn shavings, stained in various colors, and leaves of painted linen have been found in tombs at Thebes. From a remote period the Chinese have used the pith of a certain kind of bamboo for making flowers. Crassus, one of the Roman triumvirs, was the first in Rome to have them made of gold and silver.

During the middle ages flowers made of metal, satin, silk, wax and paper were used in the Roman Catholic Church with symbolical significations; on festal occasions they were merely worn for ornament.

In 1728 Sekuin, a botanist and chemist, began the manufacture of flowers in Paris, employing parchment for the flowers and bristles for the stems. His work was so perfect and artistic that the jealousy of some of the leading painters was aroused. From that time the manufacture of artificial flowers steadily grew and developed in France, and to-day the French excel in this work.

The art was introduced into England during the French revolution by refugees who made use of it as a means of subsistence. It has been successfully naturalized in the United States. Knives of various sizes and shapes, stamps, goffering irons of different kinds, molds called velners, and agate or glass burnishers, are the chief tools made use of in the manufacture.

The leaves and the petals are usually made of silk or cambric; the material to be shaped is folded several times, laid upon a leaden table and a stamp is driven through it. Goffering irons are made use of to hollow the petals; velners, as the name implies, are used to vein the leaves, and the burnishers are employed to give the petals a polished appearance. The stamens and pistils are formed of wire, covered with silk; the stalk is made of wire coated with a green material and is fixed to the stamens and pistils, around which are attached the petals and, lastly, the calyx. Buds are made of cotton or glass balls covered with silk or cambric.

The florists' fingers, guided by skill and taste, have much to do with the beauty of the flowers produced. Great ingenuity is often displayed even in a cheap sprig consisting of several materials well put together and arranged.

French wholesale houses engaged in the manufacture of artificial flowers have each some special branch; thus, one makes only roses, another wild flowers, a third leaves, etc. The best and most expensive flowers are hand-painted.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

Another Poser for Pa.

Willie—Say, pa, is the earth round like a ball?"

Pa—Yes Willie.

Willie—And does people live on the other side of it?

Pa—Certainly, my son.

Willie—Why don't they fall off?

You will find that the guilty ones are the last to forgive a sinner.

GERSTLE'S Female Panacea

Cures All Diseases of Women.

MANY women are under the impression that the diseases peculiar to their sex are natural and incurable because so many suffer constantly from them. This is a mistake. Few women are so badly diseased that they cannot be cured. It is true, that had they taken a remedy that was efficient when the first symptoms of disease appeared, a more rapid cure would have been the result. No woman should neglect herself. When the monthly period becomes too frequent, painful, profuse, obstructed, irregular in any way, or if she suffers from falling of the womb, whites, or any other female trouble, she should at once resort to the use of

Gerstle's Female Panacea
TRADE (G. F. P.)

Which is absolutely the best female remedy ever offered her. Even if she has been neglected and allowed disease to fasten itself upon her she should not despair of being cured. This medicine is a purely vegetable tonic, containing those ingredients intended by nature as a remedy for suffering women. If Gerstle's Female Panacea will not fail. If there is any tendency to costiveness, indigestion or biliousness, move the bowels gently with a few mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator. If your druggist does not keep these tried and proven remedies, Gerstle's Panacea, $1.00 per Bottle. Liver Regulator, 25c per Package. We send by mail or express upon receipt of price.

TENNESSEE'S BEAUTY

Pearl Ogden

Doyle's Station, Tenn., writes: Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine needs no commendation. It speaks for itself. It cures Liver Disorders and breaks up Biliousness and Bilious Colic. I think it is far better than "Thedford's Black Draught."

Menstrual Suppression.

This occurs in early womanhood, especially when the constitution is not strong. It may result from sudden exposure to cold, immersion of the hands and feet in cold water, sitting on the cold ground or damp grass, sedentary habits, confining occupations, continued standing on the feet, irregular hours and forcing the development of the mind at school. Rest is essential and moderate exercise in the open air most beneficial. The bowels should be moved at least once a day by small doses of Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine, and the restorative effects of Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine should be secured by taking regularly a dose three times a day for several weeks.

A. V. Beets

Celina, Tenn., writes: Have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine 10 years for Sick Stomach, Loss of Flesh, Low Spirits. It also cures Liver Disease, Biliousness, Constipated Bowels. It does not gripe, and takes less to operate on me than either "Black Draught" or "Zeilin's," and it has a more thorough and gentle effect, and leaves my system in better condition than either "Black Draught" or "Zeilin's."

General Lassitude.

We are provided with five organs for keeping the blood pure; they are the skin, the kidneys, the liver, the lungs and the bowels. The blood becomes impure for one or both of two reasons:

First, something impure has been put into it; Second, the five excretory organs have not been sufficiently active.

Owing to its complicated formation, the blood is liable to many morbid changes. If any of the organs just mentioned are not in perfect working order, so that impurities are retained, the blood becomes disordered and even diseased. When corrupted, its impurities are absorbed by the tissues, causing eruptions, fevers, lassitude and languor. For restoring the above organs to a healthful condition there is no medicine so effective as Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine.

WINE OF CARDUI

For Mothers!

THE discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost entirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives tone to the genital organs, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

McELREE'S

has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. LOUISA HALE, of Jefferson, Ga., says: "When I first took Wine of Cardui we had been married three years, but could not have any children. Nine months later I had a fine girl baby."

THE NEW TIME, 56 Fifth Ave., CHICAGO

FROM MILLIONS TO CENTS.

An Illuminative Incident In Extensive Financial Transactions.

They boarded a car at Wall street and pushed to the rear and squeezed themselves side by side into one fortuitously vacant seat, thoroughly oblivious of the feelings or countenances of the men and women about them.

One was a rather young man of striking clothes and features, both pretty well set off by a fine diamond pin in a very red tie; the other, an older man, whose well cut clothes and wrinkled face impressed observers with a combination of dollars and dyspepsia. Their conversation was neither remarkably loud nor remarkably low. The only thing remarkable about it was the size of the dollar marks they dealt in.

"If you will make it $5,000,000, I will have the parties at your office in the morning."

This from the young man. The answer of his companion was lost in a lurch of the car, which landed a woman and a baby in his lap. They paused politely to accept her apologies and frown at the baby. The second capitalist continued the conversation.

"The deal is good for over $30,000,000 in three years, and"—

A second interruption occurred, more ominous than the first. The conductor had forced himself through the throng.

"Fares, please."

The woman with the baby paid.

"Fares, please."

This time to the five and thirty million dollarites, whose imposing figures had evidently not reached the ears of the conductor. He held out his hand. His two passengers kept both theirs running from one pocket to another, without result. The gentleman next to them in the corner reached out and paid his fare.

"Fares," repeated the conductor.

The dyspeptic clutched 4 cents nervously. He had got that for a newsboy, after spending $20 worth of time, at $1 a second, waiting on the corner. The other 6 cents was forthcoming. The passengers stopped growling. Those who had attempted it stopped reading their papers. Even the baby snickered, but the mother accidentally knocked it against the conductor, and, as it partly in sympathy with the plight of its late enemies, it began to howl.

"Hurry up, gentlemen."

There was very little patience left in the conductor's voice.

"That's all right," said the young man. "We haven't got any change."

Possibly the millionaires were short of Metropolitan and didn't want to take any chances of increasing its dividends.

"You'll have to get off," said the conductor.

"Wait a minute," said the dyspeptic. He had struck something in the depths of his overcoat pocket. His anxieties had fallen from $30,000,000 to 6 cents in two minutes, and no wonder he was excited. The young man's countenance was as undisturbed as the car window itself, though he moved to get out. But his cocapitalist had at last extricated one lone coin from his overcoat. It was a nickel, and their total available assets had now risen to 9 cents. The conductor reached for the money. The car had been stopped.

"Never mind about the cent," he said, and the 9 cents was passed in to his hand.

A few more snickers among the standers and a few from the sitters, and the millionaires were both buried in their newspapers, and the car moved on. But the passengers had lost forever all chance of hearing the rest of that $30,000,000.—New York Sun.

A Philosophical Vicar.

A dishonest gardener of the Rev. S. C. Malan had received notice of discharge, and after an unsuccessful attempt to vindicate his character by plausible platitudes said mournfully to the vicar:

"Ah, sir, you will miss me before I be gone half an hour!"

"I shan't mind that," answered Mr. Malan cheerfully, "if I don't miss anything else."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to premise particular features that will appear in "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for as Dodman says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such it gives its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the political, economic, and literary world, which are of value to thinking men and women. The "Progress of the World" is directly an illustrated record of the month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazine articles; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of serious import.

"We know of no review published in this country or in Europe, which combines so successfully as the American Monthly, the alertness, intelligence, and energy of journalism with the sound judgment, carefully weighed opinions, exact knowledge, and well chosen English of the purely literary periodical."—The Outlook.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly publication information needed by intelligent people of "live" instincts is best shown in the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library"; "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a trifle extravagant"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

Editor BANNER. I trust you will allow me space in your paper to say that while on the 29th ult., I was defeated in the nomination for Judge of Probate, I am no less a People's Party man now than I was eleven years ago; yes six years ago and I might say ten days ago. Now, gentlemen, we have nominated a ticket of true Populists and I am sure that all true Populists will join me in indorsing this ticket and in doing what we can that is honest and honorable to elect the gentlemen composing our ticket to office on the first Monday in August, 1898. Yours respectfully
J. W. MOORE.

Kincheon, Ala., May 7, 1898
Editor BANNER. Will you allow me space in your paper to say a few words to my friends? I desire to express to them my many thanks for the honor they have bestowed upon me in giving me the nomination for the Circuit Clerk's office of this county. I hope they never will have any reason to regret the kindness they have rendered me in the primary election, and will do all they can to bring about my election on the first Monday in August.

I congratula e those that supported my opponents, for it is our privilege and duty to support the man of our choice.

In canvassing the county, I asked the people everywhere to act as their judgments dictated.

Now, friends, let us, as a party, consider well the condition of our country and party, and on the first Monday in August let us elect the present nominees of the People's Party.

Again thanking you all for your kindness toward me, and wishing the BANNER success, I am most respectfully yours, E. B. DEASON.

WHAT A MOTHER SAYS
Of Dr. Hartman's Famous Family Remedy and Spring Tonic.

Mrs. Hannah Lind, 1132 East Long street, Columbus, Ohio, is one of the many enthusiastic advocates of Pe-ru-na. She says: "For many years I was subject to nervousness, despondency and neuralgia, for which doctors and remedies seemed of no use. At last I was persuaded to try Pe-ru-na. I found it to be exactly the remedy I had been so long in search of. It relieves the tired, depressed feeling I felt in spring-time at once. It never fails to restore to me natural appetite and the best of sleep. It has cured permanently my old despondency and neuralgia, and I wonder why so many people continue to suffer through spring and early summer when Pe-ru-na is such a prompt and perfect relief. As a family medicine I believe Pe-ru-na to have no equal." It relieves at once cramps, colic, prostration from heat, the ill-effects of sudden checking of the perspiration, and all other bad effects of hot weather. As a remedy for nervous prostration it has no equal, and the thousands of men and women of this generation who "have nerves" find it a priceless remedy.

Every family should have a copy of "Facts and Faces." Finely illustrated. One of the best books of testimonials ever published. Sent free. Address the Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Besides these there is a fleet of 13 vessels of the Compania Trasatlantica of Cadiz available for arming as cruisers; 4 iron gunboats mounting 3 heavy guns and a machine gun each, of 500 tons displacement, but suitable only for coast defense; 4 iron and 7 steel gunboats, slow and suitable chiefly for police duty, with displacement ranging from 100 to 525 tons; 2 composite gunboats of a light class; 18 small steel gunboats for service in Cuba, carrying 2 small guns each.—New York Post.

The Law of Blockade.

There are complexities in the law of blockade, but its essentials are simple enough.

A blockade must be proclaimed so that ships of all nationalities may be notified of its existence.

Ships already at sea when proclamation is made must upon arrest be notified and permitted to depart for some other than the blockaded port. Until such notice the ship is not liable to capture.

Ships so notified and all ships sailing after proclamation of blockade has been made are liable to capture upon attempting to pass the blockade.

In case of capture they and their cargoes are confiscate, but neither their officers nor seamen, if the ship carries a neutral flag, are subject to any other penalty. They are guilty of no crime.

No neutral nation is bound to respect any blockade till it has been made effective. If it is not so, neutrals resent and resist the seizure of their ships attempting to trade with "paper" blockaded ports.

Ships of the enemy are subject to capture anywhere at sea, without reference to the ports from or to which they are going. Neutral ships are subject to capture only when trying to break the blockade.

This for information.—New York World.

Late to bed and early to rise, prepares a man for his home in the skies. Early to bed and a Little Early Riser, the pill that makes life longer and better and wiser. Stanfield & Matthews.

Many old soldiers now feel the effects of the hard service they endured during the war. Mr. Geo. S. Anderson, of Roseville, York county, Penn., who saw the hardest kind of service at the front, is now frequently troubled with rheumatism. "I had a severe attack lately," he says, "and procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It did so much good that I would like to know what you would charge me for one dozen bottles." Mr Anderson wanted it both for his own use and to supply it to his friends and neighbors as every family should have a bottle of it in their home, not only for rheumatism, but lame back, sprains, swellings, cuts, bruises and burns, for which it is unequalled. OR GREENBACKS AND INDUSTRIAL FREEDOM.

A Vital Issue Revived by the War with Spain — The Free Silver Alliance Should be Cemented in Opposition to Bonds.

Secretary Gage has been in Wall street begging the bankocracy to accept a 3 per cent mortgage upon the industries of this and future generations to the extent of a $500,000,000 war loan, with more to follow when the contractors have eaten up that vast sum. And of course the bankers of Wall street are willing to buy the bonds, since under their manipulation of the finance the three dollars which they will receive as annual interest upon each hundred dollar bond will buy more labor and labor products than ten dollars did thirty years ago.

The people must try to establish a blockade against the scheme, and they can succeed if they will show enough energy in upholding the allied free silver senators and representatives who are fighting it, and retiring those who have connived at it. As long as the war lasts this bond proposition will come up again and again, and organization in opposition to it should be kept up by the Populists and their free silver allies.

The alternative propositions, an income tax, the free coinage of silver, and the issuance of greenbacks, will certainly rally a majority at the polls next November. "We propose," says Mr. Bailey, "to tax the rich men now rather than mortgage the energies of poor men for future generations." That is very well put. "Interest bearing bonds," said Thomas Jefferson, "are a robbery of posterity." They rob the present generation, also, to the extent that interest payments fall due, and as the war can easily be conducted without the payment of a dollar in interest it is a crime to saddle an interest burden upon the people.

The Cleveland Recorder says:

"The proper way for the government of the United States to raise money is to issue greenbacks. There has never been a better plan than that which was invented by Secretary Chase in the last war. It is a crime for the United States government to pay interest on its loans from the people. It is little less than criminal for citizens to accept interest from the government in times of its necessity. The trouble with the whole money problem in these latter days comes from the bond business in the time of the slaveholders' war. The bonds were bought at 40 cents on the dollar and were bought with greenbacks. Now it is insisted that they shall be paid at par and with gold. Silver is not good enough for your shark. He must buy with the poorest money and must have his Shylock's pound of flesh back in the best money. If the government needs money, let the printing presses be started. Let the expenses be paid in greenbacks."

Following are some reflections by "Holt" on the workings of the war bond system:

"The debts of nations are about thirty-five billion dollars. They are all payable in gold alone. Their interest also is payable in gold alone.

"The gold stock of the world is about four billion dollars. Notwithstanding the increased product of gold it is unlikely the stock will ever increase very much above five billions, if so much, as it is a perishable metal, easily wasted in the handling and has to be carefully hoarded to prevent this waste. Yearly the arts demand more of the product in wasteful ways. The debts of the world, especially national debts, are increasing as never before, and without some fearful revolution, under present methods of administration, they must continue to increase. If banks or individuals had their own obligations out in the same proposition, all payable in gold only, and it was known that they had but one-ninth of their promised sum in gold, and that it would be impossible to procure enough gold to pay them, what would that condition be called? Bankruptcy, total and irretrievable.

"But here is something worse. Certainly some of these national bonds must be good for their entire principal in the very nature of things. Some of them like mortgages, are older than others. Some are even older than are several of the most recklessly indebted governments. When the first bonds were issued, the gold was delivered for them, and that gold has all been returned as interest. The owners of some of these oldest bonds hold all the gold stock of the world. They have the bonds, and have delivered back to them, in interest, the gold also. They demand that the gold shall be in the possession of them in the next few millions or so [illegible] impossible. Gold bonds would be worthless."

The Outcome of the Golden Basis System.

The outcome of the golden basis system by which all the real money of the nations, the paper and silver, is declared no money and gold is made the sole legal tender—gold that never does any work as money, but effects it through its so-called representatives—all of which are in reality made bankrupt and worthless by that law of legal tender. Positively, if people would study this subject in the light of common sense, the system could not exist one day longer. It is robbery, piracy, fraud and the sum of all the villainies enthroned by law and compelling the admiration, wonder, worship and tribute of the whole world at the beck of a few supernaturally avaricious men."

PROSPERITY NOTES.

Between 300 and 400 employes of the Beckman Woolen Mills, in Cleveland, Ohio, who went on strike recently for an advance in wages, have nearly all returned to work without gaining the increase demanded.

A daily paper gives a description of the jewels of twelve women of our uncrowned nobility "which would equip 52 regiments." Mrs. George Gould's dog collar represents $27,000 in jewels. Mrs. Belmont has the jewels of Marie Antoinette.

Workers in the American silk weaving industry have had their wages reduced severely within the last few years. Broad silk weavers in Paterson, N. J., the center of the industry, formerly received from $20 to $22 a week. They now get $10 to $15 a week. Ribbon weavers who work by the piece, made $25 to $40 a week a few years ago, now the most expert earn but $15 to $20.

The trust-forming business is still booming. New arrivals are the Bessemer iron trust, which includes all the Bessemer iron manufacturing plants of the Cleveland, Mahoning valley and Shenango iron districts with the exception of the Cleveland Rolling Mill company; bridge builders of all parts of the country formed a bridge trust at Cleveland; and furthermore, in Toledo a hay trust has been organized under the name of American Hay company; all the middle states are represented in it.

The Corporations Control.

The railroads are making a great deal of trouble over the bill now before the senate increasing the powers of the interstate commerce commission. The railway lobbyists oppose giving the commission more power on general principles. It is now under the absolute control of the corporations, so that if the bill became a law the immediate effects would not be very embarrassing to the railways. But the dread of the corporations is that their present control will slip away from them, in which event it would be very inconvenient to have such a law as the one proposed on the statute books. One of the provisions is to do away with the long and short haul clause and give the commission power to establish arbitrarily such regulations as it may deem fit in the adjustment of rates to existing circumstances and distances. However, as we have said, the corporations are opposed to giving the commission any more power, so that, unless this attitude is changed, the bill will be defeated. This is to be regretted, because the only prospect we have of government ownership of railways is through the enlargement of the powers and functions of the interstate commerce commission. — Twentieth Century.

J. Pierpont and Uncle Sam.

J. Pierpont Morgan now has control of nearly all the leading railroads, the latest report giving him 20,000 miles. He will soon have all the principal roads under his control, says the Tacoma Sun. We used to hear people remark that government ownership was an impossibility, for the reason that there was too much money invested in railroads for the government to afford to buy them and that it would take the combined capital of thousands of the very wealthy to own them. How do these people take to the prospect of this one man controlling and owning our railroad system? Are they willing to admit that Morgan is greater than the government?

Debt Feeds Upon Production.

"Our money rests on gold," says the Portland Oregonian. Yes; why does it? Simply to perpetuate a paternal debt system which feeds upon production like a weir-wolf. Our money will likely continue to rest on gold so long as the people support the idea that the government should encourage debt making, protect debt owners and otherwise meddle in business affairs. But the money of no people capable of real self-government would have to rest on gold or any other product. In short, under the form of government which would best serve the whole people money would be simply a representative of value.—East Oregonian.

Bonds Versus Greenbacks.

Greenbacks would bear no interest, and hence would put no money into the pockets of the robbers of Wall street. And you will see the administration turning the nation's pockets over to the gang to be picked.—Uncle L. Traubel.

Both Liberty and Bread.

Once we have developed the people to whom liberty is more than bread, we shall have liberty and plenty of bread also.

FOR CHEAPER MONEY.

THE REASONS FOR THIS POPULAR DEMAND.

What the People Need Is a Dollar That Carries with It a Just Proportion of Labor and No More—D. O. McCarthy Gives His Views.

Senator Sherman once said in a speech that "those who wanted more money wanted cheap money in order to pay debts with a currency of less value." Senator Blair added "or with less days' work." These statements were made as an argument against free silver and casually suggest the idea of repudiation. Such assertions in the past have closed the mouths of many good men, but failed to convince their judgment. That, however, was during the flood tide of national bank rule, when to doubt was to be destroyed. The ideas of the people have changed somewhat since that time, and the infallibility of past and present legislation is being challenged throughout the entire country. The condition to which these senators referred in derision the people are demanding in earnest. It is a cheaper dollar and a dearer day's work that they must have or become enslaved. It is not a cheap dollar in the offensive sense in which it is used by plutocracy, but a cheaper dollar as compared with all honorable ideas of fairness and right. Which is nearer the line of justice, a cheap dollar worth 54 cents, or a dear dollar worth 200 cents, and which carries with it the greater power to oppress? Money is bought with the products of labor; consequently, the dearer this money is the more labor is required to purchase it. It is the few who own the money, and the many who must work to earn it; therefore, cheaper money benefits the majority, and is in strict accord with the teachings of the constitution. What the people need is a dollar that carries with it a just proportion of labor and no more. The present dollar distributes the products of labor unjustly; it is to neutralize this unfairness that a cheaper dollar is demanded. It is claimed by the advocates of a dear dollar that a cheaper dollar has and always will be the workingman's abiding curse; that the purchasing power of this dollar would be less, and therefore operate against labor in production. The first and last propositions are absolutely untenable, and cannot be sustained either by precedent or argument. But the proposition that the purchasing power of the cheaper dollar would be less is true, and it is primarily upon this fact that labor is demanding a less costly dollar. Labor in production never prospered as during the period of cheap money from 1863 to 1867. All labor was employed at remunerative wages, tramps were unknown, and failures in business the exception and not the rule, as at present. Even Senator McCulloch was enabled to state that the people were comparatively out of debt, and not obliged to labor incessantly for a living. To confound cheap money with worthless money is unfair, and discloses a want of better arguments. It will hardly frighten the people as it once did. Cheaper money than the country now has is a necessity, and is sure to come in the near future. Cheaper money means more money, and that in turn means higher commercial values and better times. It means that the farmer can pay off the mortgage with less days' work; that the mechanic can finish paying for his little home with less hours of labor, and that labor, wherever it may be and of whatever kind, will be enabled to pay less tribute to those who own or control the money. Labor demands a cheap, flexible volume of currency, that will eliminate the speculator and the usurer by establishing a price that is reasonable and will not fluctuate.

D. O. M'CARTHY.

No Longer a Theory.

Direct legislation is no longer a theory to be considered at some future time, but has come up before the people to be settled. Shall we have a government by the people and for the people, or a government by and for the money changers? Delegated government has proven a failure, and we should assert our right to have a voice in the management of the government. Under the present system we elect a man to a legislative office, and then he will not do a thing that he is instructed by his constituency to do, and the bigger rascal he is the more chance he stands for re-election. Under the initiative and referendum the people could have just such laws as they wanted. There would be no power above the people. You will not have to give up your other ideas for this one. If you are a free silver Democrat you can continue so to be. If you are a gold standard advocate and believe that a majority of the people want monometallism, you cannot object to this principle.—Legal Tender.

Scratch a Goldbug and See.

Scratch an energetic goldbug and you uncover an apologist for trusts and every other sort of thieving rascality by which the many may be robbed by the few in such a manner as to escape the penitentiary. If you do not think so, just mention the iron trust, or the Standard Oil octopus to one of them and see how quick he will begin to talk of the benefits derived by the people from such great concerns, in the reduced (?) price at which we get their products.—The Advance.

A set of the works of Aristotle, the Greek philosopher, printed on vellum and of the date 1483, brought £800 at the Ashburnham sale.

PROSPERITY BOOMERS.

A Labor Paper Strongly Objects to Their Methods.

Our attention has been called to some figures printed in the Pioneer Press and alleged to have emanated from officials of the state federation of labor, which form the basis for an argument on the improved conditions prevailing among the organized trades in this state. It is claimed that the reports show that the members of those trades are "more generally employed now than at any time for several years." Further along it is asserted that 88 per cent of the union men in Minnesota are at work.

Whether or not the officials of the state federation have made the reports as alleged, Labor World does not know. But no union man or any other man with his eyes open is deceived by such allegations. That the public may know just how much truth there is in the report it is only necessary to state that not one union in ten ever makes such a thing as an official report on the matter in question. Unions have to report their membership to their national officers because their dues are determined by the numbers of members; but as a rule they never go farther. It is customary for central bodies to have a statistician whose duties it is to gather statistics regarding wages, men out of employment, etc., but so far as experience goes the mission of the office is an entire failure because the affiliated organizations will not report. Hence, the officials of the state federation have no data on which to figure, and the assumption that they have, to every intelligent union man, is a dead give away on the "prosperity boomers."

This boom business does the cause a positive injury. It misleads the public as to actual economic conditions, and justifies the perpetuation of influences that are sapping the strength of the social foundation. The first essential to a scientific understanding of the social problem is a correct knowledge of actual facts and the cause can have no greater enemy anywhere than those who, from over enthusiasm or other motives, deliberately misrepresent conditions.—Duluth Labor World

PROSPERITY NOTES.

In Wilmington, Del., this happy, prosperous winter, a mother of a large family earned in a week of sixty-nine hours exactly $1.77, at shirtmaking.

A lockout and strike of stonecutters is on in fifty-two establishments of Greater New York. Bosses attempted to annul the eight-hour workday, which the stonecutters enjoyed for several years, and which the men have struggled hard to attain.

An unhappy young woman starved to death in a lonely house near New York the other day. She had been reared in every luxury. She was a graduate of a convent in Paris and in her father's will she had been bequeathed $200,000. But the father's fortune had been swept away very shortly before he died, leaving this girl quite unprovided for. She had no friends, and family dissensions made it too humiliating for her to seek aid from her relatives. So she drifted about, pawning her clothing and her jewelry, vainly trying to get pupils in music, French, painting and the like. The poor thing was, like so many other poor things, unable to get a start in life. At last she had to give up, and take refuge in an old house in the country that once belonged to her father. Here she sickened and died, literally, of hunger. And there are many children of the well-to-do who will die deaths as dreadful and even more dreadful. Such is civilization.

Failures Increase.

Though no mention is made in the leading dailies about the alarming increase in failures since the inauguration of McKinley, the fact still exists that we are in the midst of a cyclone of financial and business destruction. Bradstreet and Dun both are keeping tab on the conditions, and their reports show that during the past week there were forty-six more failures than were reported for the same week last year. Not a paper comes from the press but shows a general crash in business houses all over the country. Their frequency has, to a large extent, allayed alarm, and vampire-like, lulled the people into quiet, while the work of destruction is augmented with each succeeding day.—Dallas Mercury.

Discouraging Improvements.

Assessors generally have got into the habit of assessing improvements at not less than 60 per cent of their actual cost, and land unused or partially used land at 30 to 40 per cent of what the proprietor holds it up for sale at, thus encouraging the speculator in keeping from using the bounties of the Creator. Assessors generally are imbued with conscientious motives, still that does not alter the fact that taxing or fining one for having made an improvement is enough to keep people idle when they might as well be working.—Schenectady (N. Y.) Journal.

Results of Class Legislation.

Is it not strange that a free country like the United States has more tenant farmers than England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales? Texas alone has 80,245, while the remainder of the states combined have 6,929,755. Class legislation and the rule of the money power have produced these results in the past 100 years. How long will it be till the people will all be slaves?—Southern Mercury.

Farming For the Present, or Farming For the Future.

With as fine a climate as the world produces, and a naturally good soil, the South ought to produce fifty per cent. more than she does, and would do under a proper system of cultivation and management. But the false economy of continually taking out and not giving back anything, which has been so long practised in the South, has naturally reduced the lands to a worn-out condition. Now, how are we to reclaim them, and bring them up to a high state of fertility? That it can be done I know from my own experience.

Conditions have changed since the war, and we must adapt ourselves and our methods to the changed conditions. We must take more pride in our business, and conduct all our farming operations on business principles. The farms of the future are going to be smaller than in the past, the term "planter" and "plantation" is fast dying out, and the time has come when the farmers of the South must get into line on this idea, and plan for the future generations by improving their farms, and have a general clean up all around by improvement of farm buildings and surroundings. There is a lack of the thrift here that is so characteristic of the North and which is so apparent in the well kept grounds and the air of neatness of home environments.

With the advantage of climate which we possess, we can raise two crops in a season, and in gardening sometimes three or four. I have raised a fine crop of corn after a crop of oats. I am now arranging and maturing plans to raise four crops from three acres that lie in a section of bottom land. I shall plant it first with Irish potatoes, with irrigation when in bloom, followed by corn which I shall sell for roasting ears, cutting the stalks for fodder. I shall then let the land grow up with our annual grass, cutting that in September, and then plow and sow with white globe turnips for the winter market. This will need heavy manuring. I shall do it all with commercial manures, using one-half ton to the acre of a special potato fertilizer, and shall use for the corn crop two hundred pounds per acre of nitrate of soda. That will leave the land in fine condition for the grass and possibly for the turnips.

My observation, from twenty years' experience at the South, is that Southern farmers do not take the pains in the preparation of their lands for the different crops that they ought to. There is a scarcity of improved agricultural implements, but sub-soil plows don't cost much, and sub-soiling is what our lands need. The farmers of the South don't plow deep enough; there is a great amount of fertility locked up in the sub-soil, and you must go down to get it. Lands that have been plowed deep will stand the drouth better and are less liable to wash. The amount of commercial manures to be used per acre depends on whether we are farming for the present or the future. We should use all the stable manure that can be made on the farm, supplementing it with such commercial manures as our lands need the most and the plowing under of pea vines. We need no analysis of our soils if we experiment with the different fertilizers. I have contended that the majority of fertilizers sold in Georgia do not contain potash enough to carry the crops through to maturity. The average of the different brands sold here at Macon contain from one to two per cent., whereas they should contain from four to six per cent., and for some crops not less than eight to twelve.

The average application of fertilizers in this section of Georgia runs from seventy-five to two hundred pounds per acre. I claim that this is not enough. While it might produce a medium crop, yet the addition of say one hundred pounds more might produce a full crop. It does not pay to use cheap grade fertilizers, and all should be bought on their analysis. Farmers should study the fertilizer question more than they do, as it is a vital question that concerns the agricultural prosperity of this country.

Plant that portion of your farms that you can manure and cultivate properly; then your lands will be gaining every year in fertility and value.—C. W. Morrill.

FITTING TRIBUTE TO DEWEY

Senate and House Pass a Bill Creating Rear Admiralship for Manila Hero.

Fitting tribute was paid by the senate Monday to Commodore Dewey, the magnificent victory he achieved in the battle of Manila bay. A message from the president was received recommending that a vote of thanks be extended by congress to Commodore Dewey and the gallant officers and men of his command. Without a word of debate and without a dissenting voice the senate agreed to the resolution to carry into effect the recommendation. A bill was presented increasing the number of rear admirals in the navy from six to seven in order that the president might nominate Commodore Dewey to the highest position in the navy within his gift and that, too, [illegible] passed without dissent. In the house a joint resolution was unanimously agreed to directing the secretary of the navy to present to Commodore Dewey a sword of honor and to have struck in commemoration of the battle of Manila, a bronze medal for each of the officers and men who participated in the gallant fight. The resolution appropriates $10,000 to enable the secretary to carry its provisions into effect.

By a unanimous vote the house passed the bill creating an additional admiralship for the hero of Manila.

GOOD ROADS NOTES.

A System of Military Highways.

An elaborate system of good highways for Pennsylvania is proposed by Arthur Kirk, of Sharpsburg, Penn. As the constitution of that State says "there shall be no State debt created except for military purposes," he proposes that the State create a complete system of military roads, which shall traverse the State from east to west in parallel lines forty miles apart, and in like manner from north to south. These military highways are not to utilize old roads, but are to be laid out new under the most expert supervision; be constructed in the best manner; have no grade greater than three per cent., no matter what grading may be required, and to be from forty to sixty feet wide.

The whole charge of building and maintaining these military highways is to be in the hands of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, who is to have three competent civil engineers as his counsellors. All applicants for positions of engineers in charge of the construction of these roads are to be rigidly examined before they can be appointed. The Secretary is to appoint a court to hear all claims and award damages for property taken for the construction of the roads. Before each section of road is completed, the Secretary is to sell at public auction the right to lay and use a double track street railway on it for transporting freight and passengers, for a period of twenty years, and money received from this source is to become part of the road-building fund.

Before the end of November in each year, the Secretary is to notify the State Treasurer how much will be required for the following year, which sum shall not exceed $12,000,000. On the first Tuesday of each month, the Treasurer shall sell at public auction twenty-year, three per cent. State bonds, to an amount not exceeding $1,000,000 per month, until the sum required by the Secretary is obtained.

Such highways are expected to benefit the people so greatly that they will demand that they be built but twenty miles apart, and then ten, and then five. Mr. Kirk has given the road question much attention both here and abroad. His proposed Military Road Law has been printed with full explanations.

Statistics Regarding Good Roads.

This is the time of the year when the average cyclist begins to look around to find out the condition of the roads. It is only the enthusiast who has done more or less regular riding during the winter, but this class is increasing every year. Frederick J. H. Merrill has issued a good-road bulletin for the New York State Museum of the University of the State of New York, which shows that he has made a close study of the good-roads problem. The bulletin treats of road-building and good road material, and it also includes maps and illustrations of stretches of good roads. The writer shows that this country is in the same condition in regard to roads that Great Britain was at the beginning of the present century, or, in other words, that we are a hundred years behind England in road-building. Mr. Merrill says that the Romans showed a better knowledge of road-building three hundred B. C., than the officials of this State do to-day. He gives the mileage of the important roads of this State at 123,000 miles. Much money, he says, is spent in repairing roads improperly, leaving the highways in worse condition than they were in before the improvements were made. The maps show the quarries in the State and the kind of stone to be secured in each. The ideal stone for road-building can be had around the Palisades on the Hudson. Mr. Merrill argues that it is not necessary to destroy the Palisades or blast for this stone, for, he says, there is enough loose material at the foot of the Palisades to last for road-building in this district for some time to come. The writer argues that all that would be necessary would be for the road-builders to get barges, pick it up and bring it over. This particular stone is known as "trap-rock," and it can be found in quantities in no other part of the State.

New Road Law Already Popular.

Before Governor Black had attached his signature to the Higbee-Armstrong State roads bill, the property owners along two important highways in Monroe County had taken steps to secure the benefits of that bill when it shall become a law. The movement was first started on the road between Rochester and Brighton, and the property owners on the Ridge road, between Hoosic Hill and Lake avenue, are a good second. Both of the thoroughfares mentioned are important ones leading into this city. The Ridge road, for example, is a splendid natural highway leading westward from the Genesee River to the Niagara. Its greatest breadth makes it appear like a superb boulevard, and along its entire length, country cross-roads from the north and south run into it, many of them from important villages. But as it is a great natural ridge of sand, the wagon tracks along this road are, during most of the year, very heavy. An improvement which would give teams and wagons a good, solid driveway would immensely expedite and relieve the large traffic over the road.

The evidence thus promptly furnished of the prospective popularity of the proposed law is specially gratifying to its friends. Something was needed to stimulate property owners on country highways to adopt measures for securing good roads. This something is furnished in the State and county aid secured under the bill. Under the new system there will be a fair prospect that the money will be intelligently and scientifically applied instead of being practically wasted, as the money and labor in the existing system of working out the tax are. After two or three conspicuous object lessons, such as the Brighton and Ridge road improvements will be, have been furnished, there will be a rush of applications from rural property owners for road improvements under the new law.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Maryland and Good Roads.

There is simple common sense for the good roads question, says the Baltimore American. Get good men, and make the money reach the roads. As things are at present organized—or disorganized—in Maryland, not one dollar in four or five appropriated for roads reaches the work on the roads. This fact is known. It is admitted. It is one of the chief scandals of the State.

Now the time has come for the money to be honestly used. There should be new laws, new regulations, new men and new methods. The lack of good roads is keeping down the price of every farm in the State, costing every farmer more to get his products to market, keeping back that progress which would come if we had better highways.

It is a simple matter, but we hope the Legislature will study it and begin by wise laws that progress toward better things, which will lead Maryland to the destiny that belongs to it by right of position and by the exhaustless value of its resources.

Working of Permissive Laws.

Permissive road laws will not bring the millennium of good roads upon us with a rush. There is still much opposition to road improvement, and it will take a good while, and much hard work, to overcome it. If county supervisors are simply given permission to indicate what roads they want improved, and their constituents don't want any done, they will not call for any road building in their districts. Under such laws, the only inducement for a county to build roads that it does not want, is the State's promise to bear half the expense. As some one remarked, "this is a good deal like asking a man, into whose intellect no ray of spiritual light had pierced, if he wouldn't like to be taxed for his salvation."—Good Roads Bulletin.

Preserving Good Roads.

The effect of wide tires on roads has been shown clearly on a street in Springfield, Mass., over which heavy quarry wagons are driven. The road was formerly badly cut up, but a number of years ago it was given a heavy surface coat of gravel with the understanding that wide tires should be put on the wagons carrying the quarry stone. This was done, the tires being four to five inches wide, and since that time the street has been in good condition, although little has been done on it.

In the Wrong Place.

It is said that 27,000 tons of water fall every year on each mile of road. This water does its best to run off and join some watercourse, but is generally so hampered in its efforts that much of it soaks directly into the surface, so that dirt roads become mud, and stone roads are ruined. Proper drainage alone would go far toward improving all our highways.

Oldest Wooden Building in the World.

In St. Nicholas, Miss Ida Tigner Hodnett writes of "The Little Japanese at Home." Miss Hodnett says:

The old castles which were the homes of the daimio princes were built of stone; but these, too, were constructed so as to offer as little resistance as possible to earthquake shocks. The walls slant from the base to the roof, and are supported within by immense timbers, the inward slope itself being a safeguard against danger from earthquakes. Buildings erected according to the Japanese idea of what is necessary to give security against earthquakes have stood for centuries. Some wooden pagodas of great height are known to have been in existence for seven hundred years; and the old wooden museum at Nara, in which are preserved the Mikado's rare treasures of ages, is fully twelve hundred years old. This is a large, oblong building made of logs of keaki (kee-ah-kee), a reddish-brown wood, put together in the log-cabin style, and it is supported merely on wooden legs resting upon loose stones, as in the case of the ordinary house described above. No part of the building has been renewed except the roof, and this has been put on only three times. The present roof is made of tiles, and is about one hundred and fifty years old. This is, in all probability, the oldest wooden building in the world, and it is certainly a notable example of the almost imperishable nature of some Japanese woods.

Odd Place to Grow Mushrooms.

A tunnel sixty feet below the level of the streets of Edinburgh, constructed for the use of the North British Railway some fifty years ago, has been used for the past ten years as a place for the cultivation of mushrooms. It furnishes a constant temperature and an absence of light, both of which conditions are favorable for the growth of the mushrooms, and so successful has the propagation been that the Scottish Mushroom Company is said to be in control of the British market for cultivated mushrooms. It uses 800 mushroom beds, twelve by three feet, and the output at times amounts to 5000 pounds of mushrooms per month. The effect has been to diminish the amount furnished by the French growers, who formerly controlled the English market almost absolutely.

A Cheerful Woman.

From the Democrat, Brant, Ind.

Every woman cannot be beautiful, but a cheerful face often supplies the deficiency. But no one can be cheerful and bring joy to others unless they have perfect health. Fortunately, science has placed this priceless boon within the reach of every woman as the following incident proves.

Mrs. Amanda Robinson, wife of William Robinson, farmer and stockman, near Howesville, Clay County, Ind., is thirty-two years old and had for several years been in declining health and despondent. For three months she was not only unable to attend to her domestic duties but too feeble to be up and about. To-day she is in good health and able to attend to her household affairs. She relates her experience as follows:

"I was afflicted with female troubles and was in a delicate state of health. I lost my appetite, grew thin and was greatly depressed. After taking various remedies without being benefited I was induced by a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

A Priceless Boon.

"Early in the summer of 1897 I procured five boxes of them and before finishing the second box I began to improve and by the time I had taken the five boxes I was able to go about my usual work and stopped taking the pills.

"Our daughter Anna, twelve years old, was also afflicted with decline and debility. She lost flesh, seemed to be bloodless and had no ambition. She took two boxes of the pills and they restored her appetite, aided digestion and brought color to her cheeks. She is now in the best of health. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People the best medicine we ever had in our family and recommend them to all needing a remedy for toning up and rebuilding a shattered system.

No discovery of modern times has proved such a blessing to women as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They restore strength and health to exhausted women when every effort of the physician proves unavailing. These vegetable pills are everywhere recognized as a specific for diseases of the blood and nerves.

The various uses of the word lady illustrate the elasticity of the English language. Thus a London newspaper has this self-explanatory but somewhat startling advertisement: "Wanted, in Jan., an experienced Working Matron (not a lady), for a boys' school."

Maybe this discussion of promiscuous kissing in the South is only another shrewd desire to influence emigration to and settlement in those favored latitudes.

The announcement that Prof. Elisha Gray discovered the theory of the telephone while experimenting with the bathtub is another great boom for cleanliness.

MISSISSIPPI GIRLS NOT AFRAID.

Menstrual Non-Appearance.

Absence of the flow may arise from some organic defect or constitutional condition of the blood or nervous system. As the time approaches there are many symptoms that should be apparent to an intelligent mother. When they are tardy, the attempt to establish this function is attended with pains in the head, loins and back, chilliness, nausea and bloating of the abdomen. The treatment necessary is moderate out door exercise, the use of Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine to correct the action of the digestive organs and a dose twice a day for some weeks of that great uterine stimulant, Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine.

W. W. Graves

Postmaster, Merchant and First Assistant Principal Hebron Normal High school, Fuller, Miss., writes: I am 25 years old, and my Father, who died when he was 55 years old, had been using and selling Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine ever since I could remember. It does all that is claimed for it, and is as staple as Sugar, Flour and Bacon. I consider it much Superior to "Zeilin's Medicine," which I don't use at any price.

Girls Approaching Puberty

Frequently suffer from irritability, restlessness, smothering sensations, palpitation of heart, depression of spirits, nausea, constipation and sometimes fainting spells. Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine, taken with the original Dr. M. A. The Alabama Press Association met at Tuskaloosa yesterday, and after the business is got through with, brobably to-day, the members will go on an excursion to Washington D. C., and next Wednesday will be present at the launching of the battleship "Alabama."

The President has asked Gen. Wheeler of Alabama to accept a commission as Major General in the volunteer army now forming. He could not have done anything more sure to attract the young men of the South and Southwest to the colors, for there is no surviving commander of the Confederate armies, not even excepting Fitzhugh Lee, who enjoys the confidence and affection of so large a part of the Southern people.

Nor is the President likely to be disappointed in any estimate he has formed of Gen. Wheeler's efficiency in actual service. He is sixty-five years of age, which is about as young as a man can be with experience of four years in the civil war and two years (he was graduated from West Point in 1859) in the United States Army, and he is sound in health and strength. All things considered, his career was perhaps the most distinguished in the cavalry arm in the Confederate service. After the battle of Shiloh he was placed in command of the cavalry of the West and performed constant, laborious, and brilliant service. His work was especially appreciated by Gen. Sherman, to whom he was opposed during the campain that ended in the capture of Atlanta. Gen. Sherman is reported to have said after the close of the war that if we ever had to fight a foreign foe Gen. Wheeler and Gen. Forrest should have commands.—N.Y. Times.

The European powers, though jealous of the rapid progress and great prosperity of the United States are also aware of the thoroughly peaceful character of our people and our government. Their jealousy of us is a trifling matter when compared with thair jealousy of one another. All that is necessary to save us from European interference is to know our own mind, to be less boisterous in talk, and to be more prompt and decisive in action. The discussions of the Cuba question in the messages of President Cleveland and President McKinley have been of a nature which in any European country would have been promptly followed by the mobilization of troops and a declaration of war. From the moment when Mr. Cleveland made his famous intimation that we would have to interfere on high grounds of humanity if the Cuban war ware not soon ended, war betwen this country and Spain has been practically inevitable.—From Review of Reviews for May.

MARK TWAIN'S ADVICE.

When Taken, It Always Landed a Man In a Comfortable Berth.

Mark Twain has found situations for many a man in a unique way. When any one asked him for help along that line, he would write the delighted applicant a cordial affirmative, asking him to pick out any position he preferred and to aim high. The desired position being selected, Mark would simply fire back at the applicant the following instructions. In every case, where they were carried out in good faith, they landed the worker at the top of the ladder. Here they are:

Formula:

First.—By a beneficent law of our human nature every man is ready and willing to employ any young fellow who is honestly anxious to work—for nothing.

Second.—A man once wonted to an employee and satisfied with him is loath to part with him and give himself the trouble of breaking in a new man.

Let us practice upon these foibles.

Instructions:

First.—You are to apply for work at the office of your choice.

Second.—You are to go without recommendations. You are not to mention my name, nor any one's but your own.

Third.—You are to say that you want no pay; that all you want is work—any kind of work. You make no stipulation. You are ready to sweep out, point the pencils, replenish the inkstands, hold copy, tidy up, keep the place in order, run errands—anything and everything. You are not particular. You are so tired of being idle that life is a burden to you. All you want is work and plenty of it. You do not want a pennyworth of remuneration. N. B.—You will get the place, whether the man be a generous one or a selfish one.

Fourth.—You must not sit around and wait for the staff to find work for you to do. You must keep watch and find it for yourself. When you can't find it, invent it. You will be popular there pretty soon, and the boys will do you a good turn whenever they can. When you are on the street and see a thing that is worth reporting, go to the office and tell about it. By and by you will be allowed to put such things on paper yourself. In the morning you will notice that they have been edited and a good many of your words left out—the very strongest and best ones too. That will teach you to modify yourself. In due course you will drift by natural and sure degrees into daily and regular reporting and will find yourself on the city editor's staff without any one's quite knowing how or when you got there.

Fifth.—By this time you have become necessary, possibly even indispensable. Still you are never to mention wages. That is a matter which will take care of itself. You must wait. By and by there will be a vacancy on a neighboring paper. You will know all the reporters in town by this time, and one or another of them will speak of you, and you will be offered the place at current wages. You will report this good fortune to your city editor, and he will offer you the same wages, and you will stay where you are.

Sixth. — Subsequently, whenever higher pay is offered you on another paper, you are not to take the place if your original employer is willing to keep you at a like price.—McClure's Magazine.

One Exception.

It is very funny to watch a man with a toothache, unless you watch him in a mirror.—Somerville (Mass.) Journal.

Think Success.

The oftener one gives exercise to any faculty—uses, not abuses, it—the stronger and more flexible it becomes. A Frenchman said once on a time that whenever he wanted a book on a certain subject and could not find it he wrote one.

There is a tremendous lesson in that; it means that each one of us can find out as much about anything we wish to be informed upon as any other human being in the world if we will only determine to do so. We can achieve and conquer anything another can if we make up our minds to the performance of it and make the determination the law of our life. Success has its laws, the basic principle of which is, "Give your best to get the best." A writer on mental forces says, "Think success and you win success."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Erudition on the Force.

"What on earth is that?" asked the sergeant.

A Quiet Wedding

Tuesday morning, at 5:30 o'clock at home of the bride's parents, Capt. and Mrs. C. T. Hardman, 1630 Third avenue, Miss Minnie Hardman and Mr. Rudolph Ehrman were married by Rev. L. S. Handley. The marriage was a quiet one, and was only witnessed by the immediate families of the bride and groom. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Ehrman came down to Clanton, where Mr. Ehrman has extensive lumber interests. They will soon return to Birmingham, and will occupy the handsome Ehrman residence on the South Highlands. The Banner extends congratulations to Mr. Ehrman, and welcomes Mrs. Ehrman in our midst.

Mr. W. H. Merritt was in Montgomery Tuesday.

S. C. P. Jones, Milesburg, Pa., writes:—"I have used DeWitt's Little Early Risers ever since they were introduced here and must say I have never used any pills in my family during forty years of house keeping that gave such satisfactory results as a laxative or cathartic." Stanfield & Matthews.

Dr. W. E. Stewart returned from Birmingham Monday evening, accompanied by his mother, who has been quite ill for the past several months. Her many friends will be glad to see her at her old home again, improved in health.

Mr. W. W. Dunkin was on the streets a few days since, shaking hands with his numerous friends.

Mrs. VanDerveer and Miss Will Phillips are visiting in Montevallo this week.

Mrs. Crasswell, of Verbena, accompanied by Miss Mary Louise visited relatives here this week.

Master Duke Logan has returned from a visit to Verbena.

Mrs Dunkin of Prattville, visited here fater's family this week.

We are glad to say Mrs. Matthews is much better.

Are You Weak?

Weakness manifests itself in the loss of ambition and aching bones. The blood is watery; the tissues are wasting—the door is being opened for disease. A bottle of Browns' Iron Bitters taken in time will restore your strength, soothe your nerves, make your blood rich and red. Do you more good than an expensive special course of medicine. Browns' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

Miraculous Benefit
RECEIVED FROM
Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

ELI P. BABCOCK, of Avoca, N. Y., a veteran of the 3rd N. Y. Artillery and for thirty years of the Babcock & Mussel Carriage Co., of Auburn, says: "I write to express my gratitude for the miraculous benefit received from Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I suffered for years, as result of army life, from sciatica which affected my heart in the worst form, my limbs swelled from the ankles up. I bloated until I was unable to button my clothing; had sharp pains about the heart, smothering spells and shortness of breath. For three months I was unable to lie down, and all the sleep I got was in an arm chair. I was treated by the best doctors but gradually grew worse. About a year ago I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and it saved my life, as if by a miracle."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address,

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Circuit Court of Chilton county, and State of Alabama, and to me directed, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of a certain judgment recently obtained against S. A. Foshee, out of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the said S. A. Foshee, I have levied on the following property:

Lot Number 17 in the town of Maplesville, Chilton county, Alabama, together with the dwelling house thereon.

Therefore, according to said command I shall expose for sale, at public auction, all the right, title and interest of the above named S. A. Foshee in and to the above described property on during the legal hours of sale, at the Court House door in Clanton, Alabama.

MONDAY, MARCH 21, 1898,

J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.
Clanton, Ala., Feb. 17, 1898.

The above sale is continued to Monday March 28, 1898. J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued to Monday April 11, 1898. J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.

The above sale is continued until Monday, April 25, 1898.

J. T. COOLEY, Sheriff.

Valuable to Women.

Especially valuable to women is Browns' Iron Bitters. Backache vanishes, headache disappears, strength takes the place of weakness, and the glow of health readily comes to the pallid cheek when this wonderful remedy is taken. For sickly children or overworked men it has no equal. No home should be without this famous remedy. Browns' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

The Cuban question and political issues sink into insignificance with the man who suffers from piles. What he most desires, is relief. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures piles. Stanfield & Matthews.

"Arrest Him"

To any lawful officer of Chilton County you are hereby commanded to arrest any person found guilty of not buying goods from W. D. Lawrence at Maplesville, Ala., while he is offering his entire stock of merchandise at and below cost to close out before going to the Spanish war. "By order of the court."

Etiquette in the Queen's Presence.

Nobody can sit down in the queen's presence without being requested to do so by her, and in the open air men must not come nearer than three paces to her person. The queen must not be addressed unless she speaks first, and people may not speak to each other in her presence.

A Boston Suggestion.

A Turkish woman is not permitted to speak above a whisper in the presence of her husband's relatives. Just a little Turkish sauce might not be altogether amiss among some American wives.—Boston Globe.

Skin Diseases.
